215 A surprise (5)

The surroundings were too dark and she couldn't see her fingers. Su Wanwan wanted to see where PEI Munian had gone, but she couldn't see anything even when she tried to open her eyes wide.

Where did PEI Munian go?

"PEI Munian!"

Su Wanwan opened her mouth and called out again. She raised her hand and groped forward.

The more she walked, the more flustered she became. What was Yingluo doing out of nowhere?

She took a few steps forward and a small light suddenly lit up above her head. Su Wan's footsteps stopped and she looked up. It seemed to be a star-shaped light.

Then, with this light as the center, the lights on the outer edge lit up one after another.

Su Wanwan stared at the ceiling in a daze. In the blink of an eye, the entire ceiling was lit up by star lights, as if the vast universe was presented in front of her eyes. The stars in the sky were breathtakingly beautiful.

"Wanwan."

A low and pleasant voice came from the front. Su Wanwan unconsciously followed the voice and looked over.

She didn't know when the handsome man had returned to stand in front of her. He was standing three steps away from her, and they were surrounded by beautiful and enchanting red roses, forming a big heart.

Su Wanwan's Black eyes opened slightly, and her pupils unconsciously contracted.

This is Yingluo.

The corners of PEI Munian's lips curled up and she smiled at her. Then, he took a step back, bent his knees, and slowly knelt down. He raised his hand and a jewelry box appeared in his hand. He opened it and there was a dazzling diamond ring inside. It was more beautiful than the real stars.

PEI Munian's Black eyes lifted slightly. The gentleness in his eyes was like water, as if he could drown people in it. He opened his thin lips slightly, his voice low and hoarse, with a charming magnetism, and spat out word by word clearly, "su Wanwan, are you willing to marry me?"

Su Wanwan's hands unconsciously covered her mouth.

She would never have thought that PEI Munian's so-called surprise tonight was actually Wanwan's proposal to her.

Too shocked, su Wanwan was stunned in place and simply couldn't react!

PEI Munian was extremely patient. She maintained her posture, her smile, and her affectionate look as she continued, "Wanwan, are you willing?"

Her marriage with PEI Munian was a forced deal.

When they got married, they only went to the Civil Affairs Bureau to sign their names and nothing else. Even when she moved to the villa, she had to carry her own luggage and wait at the door for so long.

She had thought that she would never have such a dreamy and beautiful proposal in her life again. She might not even have a wedding.

However, this man had proposed to her in such a Grand and sincere way.

Fresh flowers, beautiful scenery, delicious food, kneeling on one knee, a diamond ring, he had prepared everything. He had prepared everything seriously.

Su Wanwan's long, curly eyelashes trembled hard. At such a happy moment, her eyes unconsciously turned red and a touch of moisture floated in the bottom of her eyes.

She had been waiting for his proposal for three whole years. How could she not be willing? She was willing, willing to die!

Su Wanwan was happy, but her voice was choked with sobs. She squeezed out those three words from her throat with great difficulty, "I'm willing."

PEI Munian smiled. His handsome face bloomed with a smile that was so affectionate. However, there was an undetectable mockery hidden in his eyes. It was full, thick, and spread out bit by bit.
