

Deeply 388

388 The worst case scenario (8)

Su Wanwan didn't know a thing about medical terms and didn't know what the doctor was talking about. However, when she heard that there might be a problem with the child, she didn't think much and immediately nodded in agreement.

She trusted this doctor because she was Yu Jia's friend. Originally, she wanted Yu Jia to do her pregnancy test, but unfortunately, she was sent to a hospital abroad for an Academic Exchange and would only be back in a month, so she recommended this doctor.

The doctor led su Wanwan to a room. There was a large instrument in the room. The doctor said, "Miss su, please remove the necklaces, earrings, hair clips, and other accessories from your body."

Su Wan nodded her head, took off the necklace and earrings she was wearing and put them in her bag.

The doctor guided her to lie on the bed and said, "just take it as you're taking a short nap with your eyes closed. It'll be over in about 20 minutes.

"Alright," he said.

After the doctor gave his instructions, he turned around and left the room, closing the door behind him.

After su Wanwan lay down, she slowly closed her eyes.

—

After the doctor came out of the room, he walked into the observation room that was connected together. There were already two people in the observation room. One was a man in a doctor's robe, and the other was a young man with a handsome face and a cold aura.

She turned to the man in the doctor's robe and said, "Director, miss su is ready. She can start the examination at any time."

The director nodded and looked at the man beside him. He pursed his lips and said seriously, "boss PEI, I have to emphasize again. Although we have weighed the pros and cons and feel that miss su can do an LM scan to check the condition of her brain, we will do our best to protect miss SU's fetus from being affected. However, the technology for the protection of the fetus 'hearing is still very weak at the moment. It may affect the fetus' hearing to a certain extent. So, Yingluo, are you sure you want to do this test? If you're sure, then we can start now."

PEI Munian stood in front of the glass window and looked at su Wanwan inside. She was lying there quietly, waiting for the examination, afraid that there would be any problems with the child.

He knew how much she cared about this child. If it was possible, he did not want this child to be hurt in the slightest. He did not want her to be sad.

However, in the two months she was pregnant, she only cared about protecting the child and forgot to care about herself.

Her headache was getting more and more frequent, and her memory was getting weaker by the day. Her sleepiness was getting worse. Sometimes, she could sleep for more than 20 hours in a row. She would feel dizzy and when she woke up, she would not remember how long she had slept.

He also looked forward to it and waited. Maybe su Wanwan's situation was not so serious, but the cruel reality was approaching step by step. He had to make a prompt decision.

PEI Munian closed her eyes and clenched her fists tightly before releasing them. He opened his mouth and said in a deep voice, "let's start."

—

It was night.

PEI Munian drove to the apartment building. He rolled down the window and looked upstairs. The light in su Wanwan's room was on. Through the thin curtains, he could vaguely see a figure moving inside.

As PEI Munian looked on, her heart gradually filled with endless pain.

In his mind, he couldn't help but think of the smile in su Wanwan's eyes when she was doing the ultrasound examination. He was resentful that he couldn't protect her smile.