that's great. It's rare for you to be so understanding. Mrs. PEI laughed. The big stone that was pressing on her heart slowly dissipated and she couldn't help but be a little satisfied with su Wanwan.

Su Wanwan was the first to say such words, so Su Zhenhua couldn't say anything, but his face was particularly ugly.

Mrs. PEI naturally saw Su Zhenhua's dissatisfaction. Since su Wanwan was so sensible, she certainly wouldn't make things difficult for her. She thought about it, smiled, and said, " old Mr. Su, I heard that your company has encountered some problems recently. I think that we will be a family in the future, so we naturally won't sit by and do nothing.

Although Madam PEI's words were vague, her sincerity was already displayed.

No matter how dissatisfied Su Zhenhua was, he had to give Mrs. PEI face at this moment. Besides, Mrs. PEI's words were exactly what he wanted. He smiled and relaxed his tone. Mrs. PEI, you're too kind. I just don't want Wanwan to suffer any grievances.

"Of course, of course."

PEI Munian and su Wanwan's marriage was decided by Su Zhenhua and Mrs. PEI.

It was night.

Su Wanwan lay on the bed. Her head was muddled and she still couldn't react.

A few days ago, she had thought that she and PEI Munian would never cross paths again in this life. They would be like two parallel lines, you walk your own path, I walk my own. And now, she was actually going to marry PEI Munian!

However, she didn't have the joy of becoming a bride at all. Instead, she felt extremely depressed and heavy.

Every girl would yearn for a happy and perfect marriage, and she was no exception. However, her marriage was already destined to be a Path of Blood and tears. Not only would she not be happy, but she might not be able to have any happiness in this life. She had no way out.

Su Wanwan stared at the ceiling in a daze and felt that it was good. It was good that she had already given up. If she had given up, she wouldn't be sad and wouldn't be hurt.

The phone suddenly rang in her ear. Su Wanwan subconsciously reached out to take the phone. She glanced at the caller ID and her thoughts were suddenly pulled back.

She quickly sat up and stared at the name jumping on the screen. She took a light breath, moved her finger, and pressed the answer button. She said hello softly.

The man's voice was as cold as ever, and his words were extremely concise and clear. He went straight to the point. tomorrow morning at nine O'clock, at the entrance of the Civil Affairs Bureau.

Su Wanwan was stunned for a moment. Only then did she realize that PEI Munian was informing her to get married tomorrow.

She did not expect PEI Munian to register with her so soon. She had thought that it would take a while. As she was too surprised, she blurted out without thinking, "so soon?"

The other end of the phone fell silent. If not for the fact that she could still hear the faint breathing on the other end, she would have thought that PEI Munian had already hung up.

This kind of silence made su Wanwan inexplicably feel guilty and a layer of coldness slowly climbed up her back.

About a minute later, PEI Munian's voice rang out without warning. It was calm, cold, and full of sarcasm. quickly? You shamelessly seduced me to bed and even exposed your dirty behavior to everyone. Didn't you want to marry me quickly and protect your su family's wealth and prosperity?"
