

Deeply 47

Chapter 47 I won't disturb you VII

As the car drove at a steady speed, the sunlight from the window shone on the red booklet. The words " marriage certificate " glittered.

Su Wanwan slowly opened it. The photo of her and PEI Munian entered her eyes.

In the photo, PEI Munian was expressionless and her lips were tightly pursed, showing his anger and unwillingness. As for her, she sat carefully beside him, even her smile was stiff.

The two of them sat side by side, but their hearts were far apart.

Nanny Li said that once you married over, that place would be your home. But she knew that Hanhan would never become her home.

—

Su Wanwan followed the address and found PEI Munian's Villa. She stood in front of the large iron gate and looked inside. She didn't see anyone. She couldn't help but go forward and press the doorbell.

However, no one came out even after she pressed for a long time. She frowned slightly. Was no one home?

What should he do? She didn't have the key, so how was she going to get in?

Su Wanwan hesitated whether she should give PEI Munian a call. But very quickly, she shook her head and denied this idea.

PEI Munian would definitely not be happy that she had called him.

She still remembered what he had said to her at the Civil Affairs Bureau in the morning. She decided not to embarrass herself. At most, she would just wait.

He didn't expect that he would wait until late at night.

Su Wanwan was woken up by the car lights that were suddenly projected over. She had waited for too long. She was just pretending to sleep while leaning against the suitcase, but she didn't expect to fall asleep just like that.

The car lights were too glaring. She quickly covered her eyes with her hands and narrowed her eyes.

After a while, her eyes got used to it and she slowly opened them. She saw PEI Munian getting out of the car and walking towards her.

When PEI Munian walked over, su Wanwan was standing up from the ground. However, she had squatted for too long and her legs were already numb. She lost her balance and fell straight forward, pouncing on PEI Munian.

PEI Munian subconsciously reached out and wanted to support SU Wanwan. However, su Wanwan fell into PEI Munian's arms. The moment she touched his body, she seemed to be burned by something and suddenly retreated from his arms.

Because she had retreated too quickly, her steps were unstable and she swayed twice before she managed to stand firmly.

PEI Munian's hand stiffened, and her handsome face darkened.

Su Wanwan didn't notice his expression. She only secretly rejoiced that she didn't fall on PEI Munian. Otherwise, she didn't know what ugly words he would say to mock her.

PEI Munian's hands clenched and she took a deep breath to suppress the anger in her heart. She asked coldly, " why are you here? "

Su Wanwan swallowed her saliva, deliberated over her words, and replied in a low voice, " I rang the doorbell. It seemed that no one was home. I didn't have the key, so I hesitated.

"So, you're complaining that I didn't give you the key?" PEI Munian's voice was getting colder.

Su Wanwan immediately shut her mouth and no longer spoke. No matter how careful she was, he was still not satisfied because the person he was not satisfied with was her, ah Huahua.

Her silence made PEI Munian feel as if she had punched cotton. She could not exert any strength and felt even more uncomfortable. He was the one who was angry and angered every time!

PEI Munian's chest heaved up and down violently for a while. She retracted her gaze and entered the password to open the door. Then, she ignored her and strode inside.