Chapter 50 I won't disturb you (10)

A kiss was supposed to be a sweet and moving thing, but at this moment, PEI Munian's kiss was only filled with surging anger and towering hatred. She really wanted to push PEI Munian away and stay far away from him. She did not want to do this kind of thing with him at all, but no matter how hard she tried, she could not lift her hand.

They were already married, so it was only natural for him to do this to her. Besides, what right did Qianqian have to be unwilling?

Didn't she marry him because of concubine su? She did marry him with such a dirty purpose. He spent money, so he wanted something in return from her. No matter how afraid she was, no matter how much she disliked him, she could only silently accept it.

Su Wanwan's body unconsciously tensed up and her hands clenched into fists. Then she closed her eyes, hoping that time would pass quickly.

Su Wanwan's obedience was as if she had silently agreed to PEI Munian's words. It aroused his ruthlessness even more. She would always have a way to force him out of control!

Since she was willing to sell him as a commodity, since she was willing to demean herself, he didn't need to be so polite to her!

PEI Munian propped up her body. He didn't even take off their clothes. He only lifted su Wanwan's skirt, pulled off her undergarments, and held su Wanwan's waist tightly with both hands. He barged in just like that.

The pain surged and su Wanwan almost cried out in pain. But at the last moment, she gritted her teeth and swallowed it back. His actions hurt her and humiliated her, but she was unwilling to let PEI Munian see her pain and embarrassment.

PEI Munian could feel su Wanwan's body trembling and a few inaudible groans. But after that, there was only calmness left, so calm that it was as if she didn't feel pain.

PEI Munian looked at su Wanwan's appearance. The frustration and anger in her heart were like a ball, rolling bigger and bigger. He no longer had any scruples and let his temper control him, madly punishing her.

Su Wanwan's hand clenched tighter and tighter. Because she used too much force, her nails dug deep into her flesh, but this little pain couldn't be compared to the pain PEI Munian brought her.

It wasn't her first time, but it was a hundred times, a thousand times more painful than the first time.

Although she was drunk that night three years ago, she still had some memories of it. Even though PEI Munian hated her at that time, she could vaguely feel that Yueyue was gentle.

Perhaps it was her imagination, or perhaps it was her own imagination, but that night was a beautiful memory that she had carefully cherished.

It was just that between her and PEI Munian, there would never be such a beautiful relationship again. From now on, he would only bring her endless pain and suffering.

After an unknown amount of time, everything finally ended.

Su Wanwan lay there stiffly. In a trance, she felt as if she had returned from the gates of hell.

After PEI Munian got down from her body, he lay beside her and calmed down his slightly rapid breathing. Then, he turned his face and looked at su Wanwan, who was quiet and numb from head to toe. He curled his lips and laughed. His voice didn't have the slightest warmth as he said, " su Wanwan, with your reaction like a dead fish, you still have the nerve to use your body as a trade. It seems that I have to reconsider whether to make this trade or not!

After throwing this sentence, he didn't wait for su Wanwan to react. He got up, slammed the door and left!
