

Deeply 57

Chapter 57 Payment in installments (7)

Su Wanwan didn't have much experience in kissing. Although she had had a few boyfriends in the past three years, she didn't have any intimate behavior with them. Even Gong Lingyu, who she had dated for half a year, the most intimate step she took with him was only to kiss his cheek, so she only kissed him based on her instinct.

Su Wanwan's kiss had no technique and was messy. Rather than a kiss, it was better to say that she was gnawing.

However, her rusty kissing skills strangely pleased PEI Munian. He had checked on su Wanwan's Affairs for the past three years and knew that she had had one boyfriend after another in the past three years. Her kissing skills were so bad. It could be seen that Huahua had not kissed any other man.

What a good-for-nothing, the anger in his chest dissipated a little.

He unconsciously raised his hand and hugged su Wan. Then he put her on the bed, turned over and pressed her down, turning the guest into the master and kissed her back.

PEI Munian's kiss was as rough as ever, as if it was carrying a storm and ruthlessly attacked su Wanwan. Su Wanwan's brows furrowed slightly, but she didn't say a word and silently endured it.

Seeing her like this, the trace of joy in PEI Munian's heart disappeared in an instant. He had seen su Wanwan smile sweetly at Gong Lingyu and had seen su Wan shed tears of sadness for Gong Lingyu. But in front of him, no matter what he did or said, she seemed to be indifferent.

Because she didn't love him, she ignored him. Because she didn't have feelings for him, she didn't care about what he did, right?

PEI Munian's kiss that originally landed on su Wanwan's neck suddenly turned into a bite. He increased his strength and bit down heavily, as if he wanted to vent out all the pain and unwillingness in his heart and let her know how much pain he was in.

Su Wanwan trembled in pain and cold sweat broke out on her forehead. Her hands clenched the sheets under her body tightly. She gritted her teeth and forcefully suppressed the painful cry that had rushed to her throat.

Until she tasted blood in her mouth, PEI Munian slowly let go of su Wan. He supported his body with his hands and his black eyes looked at her calm and empty eyes. He pulled the corners of his lips and smiled.

He laughed a few times and then, his smile disappeared. He stared at su Wan as if his eyes were mixed with ice. His five fingers pinched su Wan's chin hard and his voice was indifferent. remember, shout out loud. If you're like that dead fish last time, don't think of taking a single cent from me!

As soon as he finished speaking, he pulled her nightdress down with force. Because he used too much force, it made her tender and white skin red. PEI Munian's movements paused for a second, but su Wanwan only frowned and didn't have any other reaction. He laughed at himself. Regardless of whether she was ready or not, he lowered his waist and went straight to the point. Then, he seemed to be venting something, wanton and crazy.

After a long time, PEI Munian finally ended his punishment. He leaned on su Wan's body and calmed his rapid breathing.

Su Wan lay there in a daze. After a while, her muddled brain slowly recovered consciousness. She moved her stiff eyes and looked at the man on top of her.

Even though she knew that he hated her so much, her gaze still fell on him involuntarily, just like the sunflower that circled around the sun. There was no reason for it, it was just an instinct.

Su Wanwan looked at it and her eyes were slowly dyed with a trace of infatuation.