Chapter 60 She just doesn't love me (2)

Su Wanwan secretly complained. She had forgotten that Grandpa was always concerned about her relationship with PEI Munian.

Her dark eyes quickly turned and su Wanwan squeezed out a smile. I saw that there was still a little bit left and wanted to finish it all at once so that I don't have to drag it to tomorrow.

you'll never be able to finish your work. Go home after work. You've just gotten married. You should spend more time with Munian so that you can cultivate your relationship.

As Su Zhenhua spoke, he stood up directly and said, " "Let's go. I'm about to leave too, so I'll give you a ride."

Su Wanwan was a little unhappy, but she couldn't refute her grandfather. She pursed her lips and nodded helplessly. alright, I'll clean up.

Su Zhenhua sent su Wanwan back to the entrance of the villa. After watching su Wanwan walk in, he asked someone to drive away.

It wasn't until the car was far away that su Wanwan turned out from behind the door.

She stood there for a long time. Instead of entering the villa, she walked out of the door and down the mountain.

The villa was located halfway up the mountain. There was a coffee shop at the foot of the mountain. After su Wanwan walked down the mountain, she walked into the coffee shop, found a corner seat, sat down, ordered a cup of coffee, and killed time.

In the villa.

Auntie Wu knocked on the door of the study. When she heard someone say, " come in, " she pushed the door open and took a few steps in. Then, she asked respectfully, " young master, it's already eight o'clock. Would you like to have dinner? "

PEI Munian sat behind the large desk, her dark eyes looking at the computer. She was very focused, her long eyelashes hanging down. From time to time, she would raise her hand and slide a few times on the computer's sensor area.

It was as if he did not hear what Auntie Wu said. He only said indifferently, " is the young Madam back? "

Auntie Wu shook her head. he's not back yet.

PEI Munian furrowed her brows slightly.

Auntie Wu looked at her young master's expression and seemed to understand. She thought about it and said tentatively, " why don't I call and ask when young Madam will be back? "

PEI Munian did not say anything, but there seemed to be a ray of light in her eyes.

Aunt Wu smiled and didn't avoid her. She directly took out her phone from her pocket and called su Wanwan. The phone rang a few times and the call connected. Aunt Wu quickly said, " "Young Madam, it's me, Auntie Wu."

When aunt Wu and su Wanwan were on the phone, PEI Munian's face was still expressionless, but aunt Wu could clearly see his body leaning in her direction without a trace.

Aunt Wu couldn't help but secretly laugh. However, she soon couldn't laugh anymore because su Wanwan said that she was still busy at the company and wouldn't be back for dinner.

It had been nearly a week. Su Wanwan said she was busy with work and wouldn't be back for dinner.

Every time she didn't come back for dinner, the young master's expression would turn sour and he would be in a bad mood. How was she supposed to tell the young master now?

Even if she didn't know what su Wanwan said over there, PEI Munian knew what was going on when she saw aunt Wu's hesitating expression. His face quickly sank and the next second, he stood up. With a straight face, he left the study without a word and returned to the bedroom. He changed his clothes, picked up his car keys, went downstairs, got into the car, and the car drove away quickly.

Auntie Wu stood at the door and watched the car disappear. She couldn't help but sigh.

She had heard from her son that her young master liked young Madam, and from what she could see, young Madam didn't seem to have no feelings for young master. Why were the relationship between these two people so tense?
