When su Wanwan fell asleep again, the sky was already bright. PEI Munian gently closed the book cover and placed it on the bedside table. Then, she gently moved the woman in her arms out of his arms.

After putting su Wanwan back on the bed, PEI Munian rubbed her sore arms and then looked at the sleeping su Wanwan and couldn't help but smile.

He had taken a ten-hour flight back and was already very tired. He still had to coax her for half a night. It was really not easy for her, su Wanwan, to be her man.

This was also good. She was a little squeamish, and only he could stand her.

Her phone suddenly rang. PEI Munian's eyes turned cold as she immediately took the phone and hung up.

A few seconds later, his phone rang. It was a text message.

PEI Munian got out of bed and walked to the balcony with gentle steps. She then looked at the text message on her phone. It was from assistant Wu, reminding him that the important meeting in the morning was about to start.

PEI Munian turned around and looked at the woman who was curled up on the bed. She thought about what she had said. will you be there when I wake up? "

PEI Munian took out her phone and clicked on the reply message. Her slender fingers typed the word 'cancel' without hesitation. After she sent it out, she turned off her phone.

When su Wanwan woke up again, it was already three o'clock in the afternoon. She slept a little muddleheaded and stared at the ceiling for a long time before she woke up.

Her hand subconsciously reached to her side, but it was empty.

She sat up with the blanket in her arms and scanned the bedroom with her dark eyes, but she did not see PEI Munian.

Didn't he say that he would always be by her side? You didn't keep your word?

Su Wanwan pouted. She lifted the quilt and got up. She had obviously slept for a long time, but her whole body still didn't have any strength. Su Wanwan listlessly walked into the bathroom, simply washed up, and walked out of the room.

When su Wanwan went downstairs, aunt Wu was wiping the coffee table. When she saw her, she smiled and said, "Young Madam, you're finally awake?"

Su Wanwan was also a little embarrassed after sleeping for so long. She touched her nose.

"Are you hungry?" Auntie Wu asked. Young master has instructed me to keep the food warm for you. Go and have some first."

PEI Munian also instructed this woman to warm up su Wanwan's resentful heart. Although she didn't have much of an appetite, she didn't refuse. okay.

"By the way, Xiao Zeze should have already eaten, right? Are you sleeping again?"

Auntie Wu: " yes, the young master has eaten. He was the one who fed him today. He played with him for a while just now. He should be asleep now.

After aunt Wu finished speaking, she saw su Wanwan standing there in a daze. She looked at her in surprise. young Madam, what's wrong? "

Su Wanwan blinked, blinked again, and grabbed aunt Wu's arm. Her voice trembled slightly, " niannian is still here? " Didn't he go to the office?"

Auntie Wu was wondering what was wrong with her, but it turned out to be this. She couldn't help but laugh. young master didn't go to the office today. He said that he wanted to stay at home to keep little master company and to keep you company, young Madam.

So he didn't break his promise.

"Where is he now?"

"She should be in the young master's room,"

Wu Sheng's words had yet to fall when su Wanwan quickly turned around and ran upstairs.

Aunt Wu looked at su Wanwan's unconcealed joy and excitement, as well as her anxious look. She shook her head and laughed.

Su Wanwan excitedly ran to the baby's room and stood at the door. She took two light breaths, then reached out and pushed the door open. She saw PEI Munian standing by the bed on the phone.
