Shen Ziwei raised his wrist to look at the time. It was already past eight o'clock in the evening and the observatory had already sent out a warning. He was too busy today and forgot to remind su Wanwan. However, he didn't expect su Wanwan to suddenly think of going up the mountain.

She didn't bring her phone. No, he had to bring her back immediately, otherwise it would be too dangerous.

Shen Ziwei quickly turned to the lobby manager. our friend must have gone up the mountain. Can you send a search team from your hotel? I need help.

"What?" The lobby manager looked at him in shock. why are you going up the mountain now? Oh my God, Yingluo is good, I'll contact her immediately. Please be patient, Sir."

Outside, the wind and snow were starting to pick up. As the wind blew, snowflakes began to fall. Shen Ziwei stood in the hotel lobby, looking at the scenery outside with a deep frown.

After the lobby manager returned from a phone call, his face was extremely serious. Sir, the storm is about to hit, so the entrance to the mountain has been completely blocked. It's already late, and the search team can't go up the mountain now.

"What do you mean you can't go up the mountain? Wanwan's on the mountain right now, are we just going to let her be?"

Sir, please calm down. We will try our best to send people over to take a look. Perhaps miss su did not go up the mountain. There are notices at the foot of the mountain. She might have seen it and will come back later.

"Forget it, I'll go and look for it myself!" He couldn't wait here. Once this storm started, no one knew how long it would last. If Wanwan really went up the mountain, she would be in danger at any moment.

Shen Ziwei was about to leave when the lobby manager stopped him. Sir, you're not going up the mountain right now. Please calm down. The search team will go up the mountain based on the situation. If you go up the mountain alone, not only will you not be able to save your friend, but you'll also be in danger. It's better to wait for news first.

Shen Ziwei's hands clenched tightly. Although he was extremely worried, the lobby manager's words were also very correct. Even if he went up the mountain now, he might not be able to save su Wanwan. Moreover, she might not have gone up the mountain.

He took a deep breath and said to the manager, " then send someone to look for her in the resort. If you see my friend, you must bring her back to the hotel as soon as possible.

"Yes, sir."

Su Wanwan was focused on going up the mountain to find her ring and didn't notice the notice at the foot of the mountain. It was just that she didn't expect that the originally good weather would suddenly become bad. Snowflakes flew and the wind blew, hitting her face again and again. She squinted her eyes in discomfort.

However, she thought it was just normal snow, so she tightened her down jacket and walked up the mountain step by step.

The higher she went, the more difficult it was. However, in a short time, the mountain had accumulated a thick layer of snow. Su Wanwan didn't take a step and her feet were about to sink into the snow.

The wind was getting stronger and stronger, more and more fierce, blowing people's eyes to the point where they couldn't open them. Su Wan gradually realized that it shouldn't be an ordinary snow.

However, she had already walked about two-thirds of the way, and the skiing place seemed to be in front of her. She was not willing to go back just like that.

Su Wanwan gritted her teeth, raised her feet, and insisted on walking forward step by step. However, she had only taken a few steps when a bang suddenly came from above her head.

A part of the mountain above their heads was crushed by the wind and snow, and large snowballs rolled down rapidly like water.
