su wanwan stopped struggling and raised her head from pei munian's arms. she met pei munian's equally surprised eyes and said in a low voice, "Is someone calling for help?"

As soon as she finished speaking, the voice came again from not far away. help ...

Su Wanwan and PEI Munian looked at each other.

someone's really calling for help. It's a woman's voice. As su Wanwan spoke, she subconsciously lifted her feet and ran towards the sound.

"Wanwan!" PEI Munian shouted, but she did not stop him. He furrowed his brows and chased after her.

Su Wanwan listened to the constant cries for help and unconsciously ran to a small alley. In the narrow alley, three tall and strong men surrounded a petite woman and were approaching her step by step.

The woman was so scared that she was trembling. Her hands clutched the collar in front of her chest, and she tried hard to call for help while retreating. However, there was a wall behind her, and she had nowhere to go. She could only bluff, "you guys, don't come over. Otherwise, I'll make you regret it!

When the few strong men heard the woman's words, they laughed disdainfully and teased her like rogues. Let's see how you'll make us regret this!"

One of the brawny men strode forward and was about to grab the woman. A dagger appeared out of nowhere and she stabbed the man while he was unprepared.

The back of the man's hand was stabbed, and there was pain. He was immediately enraged and pounced over ferociously. He snatched the dagger from her hand with one hand, then grabbed her hair and slapped her. He cursed, "b * tch, you dare to stab me? I'll f * ck you to death later!

The man's vulgar words caused the fear on the woman's face to deepen. She struggled hard, wanting to break free from the man's shackles, but it was in vain. In despair, the corner of her eyes swept to su Wanwan at the entrance of the alley. Her eyes widened as if there was a glimmer of hope and she shouted at her, "help, save me, I beg you to save me!

The strong man reflexively turned back and looked over with his black eyes. His sharp gaze was fixed on su Wanwan, and then his eyes were filled with evil. He touched his lips and stared at su Wanwan with an impudent and naked gaze. another beauty has come. Brothers, it seems that tonight we have a good time with women!

The other two burly men laughed in unison, their eyes filled with excitement. They had been worried that such a petite Eastern woman would not be enough for the three of them to share. Now that there was another one, they could play to their hearts' content tonight!

Su Wanwan really didn't expect this to be the situation in front of her. She originally wanted to quietly walk away to call the police or get someone to come. In the end, she was shouted by that woman and the strong men noticed her. Two strong men walked towards her.

She looked behind her. Perhaps she had run too fast just now, but PEI Munian had not caught up. This was bad! She couldn't be caught by these two people, or she and that woman would be in danger!

Su Wanwan took two steps back, turned around, and ran away. As long as she ran out, as long as she ran to PEI Munian's place, she didn't need to worry.

As soon as she ran, the strong men behind her also ran. Each of them had long arms and legs and quickly caught up. Su Wan didn't dare to look back, but when she heard the footsteps behind her, she felt that they had already run ahead of her. One of the strong men reached out to her and wanted to grab her shoulder.
