

Deeply 921

921 Do you want me?(11)

What if I say that I don't just want you to be my friend?

Such a simple sentence lingered on his lips a few times, but he still couldn't say it. The heart in his chest was beating wildly, making him nervous for some reason.

He had been in so many relationships and had seen many women, so he was already an experienced man in love. Who knew that at this moment, he would actually become a young and inexperienced boy, stammering and unable to speak.

Gong Lingyu closed his eyes and took a deep breath to calm himself down. He licked his dry lips and his Adam's apple bobbed up and down before he opened his eyes again. Meeting Yu Jia's already impatient eyes, he opened his mouth again. what if I say that I don't just want you, Yingluo? "

Before he could finish his sentence, a voice came from behind him. Jiajia.

"Be my friend."

The shout behind him and Gong Lingyu's last few words sounded at the same time, but Yu Jia had already turned around and looked at the person behind him.

Then, her eyes suddenly lit up, and they were filled with surprise and surprise. wind? "

Dr. Xu was standing on the beach not far away, dragging a suitcase in his hand. He was as gentle as ever, handsome and elegant. He smiled warmly and said in a gentle voice, " Jiajia, I'm here.

Yu Jia's eyes widened slightly, and she subconsciously shook off Gong Lingyu's hand. Gong Lingyu was caught off guard and was shaken off by her. He reflexively wanted to grab her hand again, but she had already strode toward doctor Xu.

Walking to Dr. Xu, Yu Jia sized him up and still couldn't believe it. Feng, what are you doing here? " He didn't even tell me? When did you arrive?"

When she was on the phone with Dr. Xu in the afternoon, he clearly said that he stayed at home and read books every day. Why did he come here without a sound?

"I just arrived. I wanted to give you a surprise." how is it? " doctor Xu smiled and said gently, " is this a surprise? "

Yu Jia nodded with a smile. of course. I'm glad you came.

She meant what she said. If doctor Xu was here, her heart would not be wavering because of Gong Lingyu. If he was by her side, she would be able to settle down and not be led by Gong Lingyu.

He had come at the right time. It couldn't have been better.

Yu Jia was so excited that she couldn't help but open her arms and hug Dr. Xu tightly, as if she was holding on to her last life-saving straw.

Doctor Xu was stunned.

This was the first time Yu Jia had taken the initiative to get close to him since they started dating. In the past, she had always been calm. Although he had tried to hold her hand and kiss her, she had not refused, but he could not feel her love and anticipation at all. So that time, he had originally wanted to kiss her lips, but in the end, he kissed her forehead instead.

He had a good impression of Jia, but it wasn't because of the blind date. It was because he had run into her at the stairs not long after he was admitted to the hospital.

At that time, she must have just finished a major operation. She didn't know how many hours she hadn't rested and was so exhausted that she fell asleep leaning on the handrail of the stairs. She was holding a half-eaten bun in her hand.

He walked up the stairs, and when he passed her, her body tilted and fell directly toward him. He reached out to help her out of reflex, and she fell directly into his arms.
