

Deeply 953

953 Let's see who will have the last laugh (9)

Did niannian come back?

Su Wanwan quickly kicked off the high heels on her feet. She didn't even have time to put on her slippers and had already rushed into the house. She first swept a glance at the living room and dining room. There was no sign of PEI Munian. Then, she quickly went upstairs.

She ran to the study but didn't see him. Su Wanwan decisively ran back to the master bedroom.

Pushing the door open and entering, she could see PEI Munian's clothes scattered on the bed at a glance. Su Wan's heart was beating wildly with excitement. Sure enough, he's back.

Hearing the sound of the bathroom door being pulled open, su Wanwan reflexively looked over. The man came out of the bathroom, bringing out a mist. He had just taken a shower and there were still some water droplets on his body. He only had a towel around his waist. Those water droplets followed the curves of his body and slid down all the way, hidden in the towel, extremely charming.

Su Wanwan looked on and subconsciously swallowed her saliva. Then, her heart was filled with excitement. She lifted her feet and quickly rushed towards PEI Munian.

She threw herself into PEI Munian's arms and almost jumped onto him. PEI Munian caught her quickly, but she was still pushed back two steps by the force of her impact.

The woman's soft and pleasant voice rang in her ear, not hiding her longing at all. niannian, I missed you so much.

PEI Munian looked at her from the side and curled her lips. miss me? I came back earlier today, but I didn't see you. Did you miss me?"

then why didn't you tell me? I accompanied brother Ziwei to the company for a meeting today. If I had known that you were free to come back today, I wouldn't have gone anywhere and would have waited for you at home!

"I called you, but your phone was turned off.

"Ah? Then it might be out of battery, Yingluo."

As su Wanwan spoke, she hugged PEI Munian even tighter and muttered, " niannian, we haven't seen each other for half a month. I really, really missed you.

"Me too,"

The man's low voice entered su Wan's ears. She raised her head and looked at him. His black eyes were burning, surging with deep longing and love. His thin lips opened slightly, pausing after each word, " I miss you very, very much.

The man's words had just fallen when su Wanwan had already passionately kissed his lips. All her thoughts turned into a passionate kiss to convey her feelings.

PEI Munian was stunned for a moment before a smile flashed across her eyes. She then closed her eyes, opened her mouth, and regained control of the situation. Her sharp tongue pried open her teeth and barged in, entangling her little lilac snakes. They entangled and stirred wantonly, tasting all the sweetness in her mouth, not letting go of any inch.

Su Wanwan also responded to him enthusiastically. Her hands and feet were wrapped around his body, tightly stuck to him, tightly clinging to him like a vine.

The two of them kissed intensely and walked from the bathroom to the bed. Very soon, su Wanwan and PEI Munian fell onto the soft bedding together. PEI Munian pressed down on her body and her big hands hurriedly pulled at her dress. Su Wanwan raised her hand and got up. Her clothes gradually faded away. Without the clothes, they could feel the temperature of each other's bodies. They were so hot that they seemed to be burning each other up.

Perhaps it was because a long absence makes the heart grow fonder, PEI Munian was a little anxious. Before she could fully open her body, she had already barged in. Su Wanwan groaned and couldn't help but frown.

Only then did PEI Munian's movements slow down. She bent down again and gently kissed her lips.

In the midst of their entanglement, PEI Munian's mobile phone on the bedside table rang again. Su Wan reflexively looked over.