

Defying Fate: The Unstoppable Eileen Chapter 1

Defying Fate: The Unstoppable Eileen Chapter 1

Chapter 1

“How dare you run away? You rotten bastard Cant nin anymore, can you? I'd to see how you're gonna bolt now

An infunating voice echoed in her ears.

No, no, no!

Was she still unable to escape” She'd tried to kill herself already, why was she still not free!

An immense pain pierced her heart, and then, she snapped her eyes open!

Her eyes were bloodshot, staring straight at the man in front of her

No time to think, Eileen Lopez grabbed a heavy ashtray by her side and smashed it towards the man's head!

“You bitch! How dare you resist me? Your fiance has almdady sold you to me, you can't nun away tonight!

Fiance Hubery Cooper?

Wait no, hadn't she tried to preserve her innocence by ending her life in that live streaming factory filled with machines, props, and cameras?

This is a hotel room?

Eileen was shocked again. This man was not a black market worker, he was director Harlan?

Her memory quickly returned.

This was a scene from five years ago.

Back then, she had just entered the entertainment industry and offended an influential producer because she refused to accept sleeping with him. He spread many rumors about her and she was under heavy online attack. Feeling down, Hubery called to comfort her and invited her to meet him at his TV drama shooting site.

But that night, the director of the TV drama barged into her hotel room and attempted to sexually assault her. She resisted, began to feel unwell, and just when she thought she was done for, the hotel's fire alarm suddenly rang. Harlan thought there was a fire and hurriedly fled

She was framed and offended Harlan, which made her life in the entertainment industry unbearable. The online attacks on her increased, and once she was nearly splashed with sulfuric acid by a crazy fan when she went out

But that was all in the past Why was Harlan now night in front of her?

She didn't have time to think. She seized the ashtray and with all her strength, repeatedly smashed it towards Harlan's head!

Forced to retreat, Harlan was still cursing

"How are you still so strong, didn't Hubery drug you? Do you know who I am?!"

Eileen spotted a fruit knife on the coffee table. She quickly went over, picked it up, and thrust it hard into Harlan's shoulder

"You bea

Sharp screams echoed in the room.

Eileen felt her body weakening, she could barely muster any strength.

She bit her tongue hard, her eyes determined. She tried to awaken her consciousness with pain

After being pierced, Harlan also showed a fierce look his face distorted!

Eileen clenched her teeth, the fruit knife in her hand pierced Harlan again!

She shifted her position, the knife plunged straight into Harlan's thigh!

"Arghhhhh!"

The spot where he was stabbed was very close to his private area.

Harlan's face instantly turned pale

He let go of Eileen, retreating several steps, finally collapsing to the ground in agony

"No don't don't come over Harlan's face was filled with fear. Blood was flowing from the wound on his thigh..

Eileen clutched the blood-stained knife, her body had surpassed its limits and she swayed and fell to the ground.

Harlan looked at her state, knowing that the drug was starting to take effect, but he was covered in blood and couldn't do anything else. He left with a "Just you wait, then clutched his wound and hastily fled

The room door was opened, and outside was the bright red carpet of the corridor

Eileen's vision was blurry, but she knew she couldn't faint here.

if Harlan came back, she would have no chance of survival

She gathered her strength and staggered outside.

As she reached the door, she saw a man coming out of the room next door

She couldn't see who it was, only a dark blurry figure. Holding the bloody fruit knife, she suddenly collapsed in front of him.

The man seemed to be taken aback and instinctively caught her.

Eileen grabbed the man's collar, leaned in close, then shook her head, trying hard to see his face... it wasn't Hubery

That was Eileen's last conscious thought

As long as.. It wasn't Hubery

She leaned her head against the man's sturdy chest with relief, whispering. Please help me... call an ambulance..."

Chapter 1

With that, she passed out completely

"Egbert, wait for me! That reality show just now was pretty interesting. You're free anyway, just come with me for fun... oh my God! When Egbert Reed's agent Gilbert Tumer rushed out of the room, he saw his star actor standing in the corndor, holding a girl with closed eyes and an open collar