

Defying Fate: The Unstoppable Eileen Chapter 19

Defying Fate: The Unstoppable Eileen Chapter 19

Chapter 19

By the time they got back from the tourist spot, it was already late at night. Eileen simply offered everyone some cheap burgers for dinner before shoing them off

When they returned to their place, Kenley was lying in bed with bandages wrapped around his head, looking pale as a ghost

Phyllis got a shock when she saw him and immediately asked, "Kenley, what happened to you?"

Kenley's gaze shifted from Eileen, who was standing in the back of the crowd, to Egbert, reminding him of what Egbert had said earlier Biting down hard to endure the pain, he said, "I took a tumble in the bathroom"

"You re so clumsy" Phyllis reached out to touch Kenley's head, her face showing her worry

With Kenley injured, the once lively atmosphere of the show immediately became heavy, and most of the audience's comments were about their sympathy for Kenley

Later that night, Hubery came to join the group

Hubery knew Kenley and wanted to get close to him, but seeing Kenley in such a bad state, he decided to drop the idea.

Just then. Hubery saw Eileen walking down the hallway, reminding him of the phone call from Hedy a few days ago about Eileen hitting her and her mother Hubery immediately stood up, planning to chase after Eileen for a good chat. However, when he went out, he found that Elleen was with Bblythe. Seeing others were around, Hubery thought it wasn't appropriate to approach, so he went back to his room.

Back in his room, just as Hubery was about to pack his belongings, he heard Kenley, who wasn't exactly friendly to him, suddenly call out to him, "Hubery, was that Travel Concierge's sister outside?"

Hubery's heart skipped a beat, afraid that he might be found out for going after Eileen, so he quickly explained, "Yes, but I thought it was Josiah. I wanted to borrow his razor, I must have got it wrong"

Kenley raised an eyebrow, eyeing Hubery thoughtfully. Kenley believed he was much smarter than Hubery. He had been in the business much longer than Hubery. Did Eileen and Hubery have some special relationship? Kenley began to ponder. He wasn't going to let this injury of his slide like that.

In the evening, Eileen went to the front desk to ask about the bus schedule for the next day. On her way back, she bumped into Phyllis

Phyllis was holding a remote control and said, "I think it's broken"

Eileen took a glance and said. "It was fine just now"

Phyllis said, "It's not ours. It's from the boys' room, I found it when I was getting water for Kenley. Can you come with me to tell the staff?"

Eileen didn't want to deal with her and walked away, saying, "You go by yourself"

Phyllis stamped her foot and said, "You're supposed to be our Travel Concierge."

Eileen ignored her and went straight back to her room.

Phyllis ended up going downstairs alone, with the cameraman following her

When Phyllis reached the first floor, she smiled politely at the front desk staff but was a little at a loss for words.

-Eileen is so mean]

–[There are actually fans of Eileen in the comments? I’m flabbergasted Have you guys forgotten about Eileen’s scandals? You guys are supporting a girl with such a character, it shows what kind of people you are in real life. Birds of a feather flock together]

–[So we’re attacking people now?]

–[Actually, I didn’t particularly like Eileen at first. I just thought she was efficient, but now, I mally like her]

[Go Eileen Beat these people!]

The comments were a cacophony of debates.

Having arranged her stuff for tomorrow’s trip. Eileen was about to ask Phyllis where a black bag was. Then she looked up and realized that half an hour had passed, and Phyllis hadn’t come back

She asked Bblythe, “Where’s Phyllis?”

Abylthe had just come out of the shower, drying her face as she said, “Haven’t seen her, maybe she’s taking care of Kenley?”

Eileen frowned and got up to go out. The door to the boys’ room was closed, so she knocked.

The door was opened by Hubery, who brightened up at the sight of Eileen outside. In a voice that only the two of them could hear, he quietly asked, “Did you come to see me?”

Eileen really didn’t want to exchange words with him. She bypassed Hubery, asking Josiah inside. “Josiah, have you seen Phyllis?”

Josiah was folding clothes and looked up to say, “She left with a new remote”

Eileen frowned, looked ground the room, and saw Egbert standing on the balcony making a call. Seeing her looking over, he leaned half his body against the railing of the balcony and looked back of her.

Eileen averted her gaze, and looked around again but didn't see Kenley. "Okay, got it," she said and turned to leave.

The cameraman in the comdor had been filming her. Eileen, recalling that it was this cameraman who had been following Phyllis earlier asked him, "Didn't you see Phyllis?"

The cameraman shook his head. Phyllis had asked him not to follow, so he didn't. Although it was a reality show, they still had to respect the guests wishes. If a guest explicitly said not to film, the cameraman would not force it.

Thinking that Phyllis, as an adult, couldn't possibly have gotten lost, Eileen went back to her room.

Another hour passed, and Bblythe was already asleep, but Phyllis hadn't come back. It was past one in the morning when the door finally opened, and Phyllis came in with a big grin on her face Eileen was sitting on the bed watching her. Seeing Eileen still awake, Phyllis rolled her eyes and went straight into the bathroom.

When Phyllis came out. Eileen casually asked. "Where have you been?"

Phyllis shot her a glare. "None of your business"

Eileen let out a sarcastic laugh and laid down on her bed, ignoring her

The next day. Kenley was well enough to hang out with everyone. He wore a hat, covering his bandaged forehead slightly

When Eileen came downstairs, she happened to see Phyllis and Kenley together. Kenley was sitting on the couch, chatting away with Phyllis, who was laughing heartily, leaning

Kenley every now and then

-What's up

She's like a spineless jellyfish]

-Can she stop leaning on Kenley is she nuts"]

-[They aren't siblings can she keep her distance?]

total skank]

a big deal. He's got a ton of fans, and suddenly the whole chat room was filled with people trashing Phyllis.

Eileen walked over She handed Egbert a mask ready to take everyone on the bus

Just then. Phyllis suddenly said "Give Kenley a mask too."

Eileen glanced at Kenley, who was looking at Phyllis with a tender gaze. She snorted. Does he need one?"

lost it right then and there "Do you know how popular he is right now! You wouldn't understand. You've never having been famous or ever know how annoying it is! be recognized by random people on the street!"

Phyllis spoke so fast and abruptly. Everyone around went quiet all of a sudden.