

Chapter 41 - Denying the Alpha

“I'll get it”, I screech at the top of my lungs as I run desperately to the front door. My voice bounces off the walls and hurts even my own sensitive ears. I shoved right past Amelio, who had his hand on the doorknob already and jerked it open myself.

“Oh, hey Kyle, I forgot you were coming over.” I act as casual as I possibly could and lean against the door frame lazily.

Amelio, Amy and Kyle all chuckle.

“What, what's so funny?” I play ignorant.

“You just about ripped my arm clean off my body to get that door open before I could” Amelio outs me right in front of everyone. I bite my bottom lip to keep myself from smiling. I did allow myself to get a little too carried away.

“I could hear you yelling, you know. Not to mention that it was quickly followed by a whole lot of little thuds. My money is on you were running,” Kyle teases.

“More like she was doing hurdles. I swear she leapt straight over that couch.” Amy just had to chime in.

I stood straight from the door frame and pouted at my aunt. Okay, maybe I wasn't so casual about it. But they didn't all have to tease me like that.

“Way to embarrass me”, I whine, but I don't mind.

All three of them laughed at me once again.

“Okay, okay. You got me. It's actually all my wolf's fault. Sapphire is just so eager to get out. Very very eager, and we got carried away.” I try to save at least a little face. Mate or not, I could play it cool, couldn't I?

Don't you dare blame me. I would never. My wolf scoffs.

You, missy, are a liar. She has been trying to convince me to sniff out Kyle for hours now.

“Well, we better not keep her waiting then.” Kyle holds his large hand out to me, and I quickly take it.

“Oh, thank goodness she's being a pain”, I complain.

Uhm, excuse me, I am not!!! You take that back at once. She demands.

Nope, never. I meant it. I tease her.

Oh, I'll get you back for this. Just you wait and see. She warns, but I choose to ignore it.

“Be good”, Amy warns us.

I turn my face towards her so that Kyle and Amelio can't see,

“Shut up”, I mouth at her. She sniggers to herself, and the boys look at me curiously, but I pretend not to notice.

“Why are we still waiting around.” I nudge my arm gently into Kyle side.

We make it to the edge of the trees. I kick off my flip flops and enjoy the feeling of grass beneath my feet.

“That feels nice,” I comment to myself.

Kyles hard body pressed against my back.

“Indeed, it does”, he rumbles. How does he always make me blush? He nips my ear lobe playfully.

I yip and giggle.

“Come on. I have something I want to show you.” his hand roams over my arse and squeezes. His simple touch makes me want to beg him for me. For a virgin, I was having some filthy thoughts. I want him to hoist me up against one of these trees, pull my panties to the side and take me quick and rough. I was making myself wet just thinking about it.

“Mind out of the gutter”, he snickers and squeezes my arse one more time.

I'd respond, but I don't trust myself right now and just enjoy the sensation I get from standing so close to him.

“I'm just going to go behind those trees and shift” Kyle points to a large clump of trees just ahead of us to the left.

I watch him walk away. I could do this forever. He pulls his shirt over his head as he gets closer to the trees. My mouth waters at the sight of all those rippling muscles. His skin was so tanned and beautiful.

“We don't have all day Faith” he turns and takes two bold steps backward to stare at me.

I hide my red face immediately. I pick out any old thick tree, and I quickly strip behind it. I hang my clothes on a low hanging branch close by and pray that no one steals them.

“Come on, Sapphire,” I whisper to my wolf. It's finally time we show her off.

The sensation of shifting was still new and a smidge uncomfortable but not at all painful. It took me but a minute, and I was standing on all fours. I jotted out from behind the trees. Sapphire pranced happily over to Duke, who was patiently waiting for us.

The pair sniffed at each other eagerly. Sapphire happily rubbed his snout in Duke fur. I have never felt so many feelings as I did right now. They weren't really my feelings, they were all Sapphires, but it was amazing to share that with her.

Run. Duke's gruff wild voice ordered as he bolted through the trees.

Sapphire proudly runs behind him, eager to prove that she has what it takes to keep up with her sexy Alpha mate.

The first time I ran through the forest, I marveled at the world around me. It was like I was seeing everything for the first time. I still had that same excitement. Everything was just so much clearer looking through Sapphires eyes instead of my own, only this time I watched Kyle. The Little balls of dirt flicked off his feet as he padded faster and faster across the forest floor. His thick dark grey fur shimmered a little when the fleeting bits of sunlight made it through the trees and bounced off his fur.

The intensity of witnessing the way his wolf's body worked, and it leapt, dodged and skidded various obstacles such as large rocks or fallen trees was indescribable. I would say it was beautiful, but the word just didn't do it justice. I could not think of a single one that would.

The trees started thinning out, and more and more sun was bearing down, warming my damp fur. The smell of the world around us was changing. I could smell less dead wet leaves and soft dirt and some things more floral.

“Stop here. Don't look yet. Let's go shift.”

Before I could hide behind a tree and panic that I left my clothes behind, Sapphire shifted, leaving me stark naked right in front of Duke. I could hear her snickering. I was far too mortified even to tell her off right now.

I told you that I would get you back. She laughs at me.

I hate you! I snap at her, but I don't mean it.

I quickly tried to cover myself with my hands, as I had nothing else, but they weren't doing a very good job.

I could barely cover both of my nipples with one hand, and I held the other over my little lady.

Duke slinked his way over and began to sniff. I reacted by smacking him forcefully on the snout and quickly recovering my sensitive areas.

Kyle shifted back immediately.

Oh, my oh my, that thing was huge, my eyes almost bugged out of my head at the size of it.

He noticed my staring and cupped his junk but not before a cheeky wink.

“My eyes are up here, Faith”, he teases me. If I had a free hand, I would slap him too.

“Sapphire did this. I wanted to hide.” I defend myself.

“I know. Duke said. Sorry about him, by the way” he apologizes, but I don't care. I just don't want to be naked anymore.

As if sensing my unease as a good mate should, he darted for what looked like a nearby burrow. He returned with a handful of clothes. He tossed me a light t-shirt dress and a pair of knickers and slipped on some shorts himself.

I caught them quickly, and my boobs sprang free. I tucked the clothes hastily under my arm. I gathered my perky lady lumps and darted behind a large leafy bush to dress.

Don't you ever do that to me again. I berate Sapphire. I was so embarrassed.

Why are you so stroppy? He liked it. She teased.

I don't care. I wasn't ready. I know I am being a little catty, Kyles, my mate, I shouldn't mind him seeing me naked, but I was caught off guard and left feeling unexpectedly self-conscious.

Your right. I am sorry it won't ever happen again. I promise. She gets that what she did is wrong, so I chose to drop it.

“Are you ready?” Kyle calls for me.

I don't answer; instead, I emerge from my hiding spot and join him.

“Are we talking about it or not?” he asked.

“Not”, I shot him down. I was still a little too embarrassed.

“I think it goes without saying, but sapphire was beautiful.” I feel her pride as he compliments us.

“Duke was amazing,” I tell him. I hope Duke appreciates the compliment as much as Sapphire did because I mean it wholeheartedly.

“Follow me.” his fingers wove between mine as he led me towards the clearing.

As we got closer, I could hear the distinct sound of water smashing against rocks, and I immediately felt excited. I loved the water.

“This is my spot,” Kyle explains to me as we emerge into the most beautiful little space I have ever seen.

There was a large rocky cliff face. It was green and magnificent. Water flowed steadily from the top into a large pond of water. As the water hit the surface below, specks of water flicked up on the surrounding rocks.

“Wow” was all I could manage. This was breathtaking.

“That”, Kyle points to the water, “actually leads to an underground cave. I can't even swim to the bottom of it.” he brags.

“You can hear everything from here. Frogs, insects, birds, I think that's deer I can hear a bit further on. It's like it's, its own little world. Thank you for bringing me here. It's gorgeous. I love it.” I gush.

“It will be our little secret spot.” he gives me a cheesy toothy grin, and I lap it up.

“Come here” his large hands wrap around my waist and pull me in. I happily lean into his arms.

“Kiss me”, he demands without waiting.

His lips crash to mine.