Chapter 31

The moment Evan entered the room, with his group of assistants behind him, the atmosphere in the entire room instantly felt off. They immediately crowded the tiny consultation room, making the situation seem like it came out of a Mafia movie.

The entire room was completely shrouded in darkness.

Evan obviously noticed how close Anya and Jake were with each other as he was crouching on the ground while grabbing onto her leg.

Evan's gaze instantly darkened menacingly. But he glanced away quickly, tending to his bleeding forehead in another room.

Soon, the female doctors, one of them had treated both Anya and Jake earlier, nervously entered the room. Since Evan is the boss of Welton Group while both Anya and Jake are ordinary citizens, they were completely focused on Evan. They fully ignored Anya and Jake.

"We'll get your wound treated immediately, Mr. Welton." The middle-aged female doctor stuttered as she frantically bandaged and treated the wound. The younger female doctor on the other hand was carefully treating the wound on Evan's forehead with some cotton and alcohol.

His handsome face was stained red with trails of blood. However, this did not seem to affect his appearance at all but instead made him seem somewhat more attractive. His sudden attractiveness made the younger female doctor's heart began to race violently while she treated his wound.

Since it was extremely rare for Evan to show up in the clinic, when he showed up for the first time, it baffled the doctors.

It seemed the younger female doctor had followed some of Evan's interviews on television and some financial magazines. It turned out that not only was the man extremely capable for his young age, he was also very disinterested in women.

Moreover, he was an extremely well disciplined man. Men who rich, attractive and disciplined like him were extremely rare. Not to mention, he was the heir to the leader of the Nordenic Quartet. It seemed that the wealth and power Welton Group had would stun anyone.

It was only natural for the young doctor to admire him since a man like him would never show up so abruptly to the clinic even when he's injured. He had his very own team of professional medical team for himself. However, he showed up so suddenly this time.

As her round cheeks were starting to blush, her hands were starting to tremble while she wiped his bloodstains clean. She spoke in a shaky voice, "Mr...Mr. Welton...Do you feel unwell anywhere else though?"

Evan relaxed as he allowed her to treat his wound. He replied in a calm voice, "No." It seemed that his injuries happened quite suddenly that day.

He had originally invited his friend to a game of golf earlier this morning.

However, when he drove out of the Welton Group's building, a car suddenly appeared out of nowhere that he nearly collided with. When his driver slammed on the breaks, he was caught off guard. This threw him against the glass window. As he pull back, he noticed blood dripping from his forehead. It was cut by the edges of the document's folder that he was holding onto.

That incident made Evan wonder if anyone was out to get him. He suspected the driver of the car which came out of the blue but he was nothing more than a regular person. So, he decided to let the incident go.

"Mr. Welton, you need to tell us if you're feeling unwell, okay?" The middle-aged female doctor spoke in a very sweet voice. Evan simply replied with a cold grunt without saying much.

Anya withdrew her gaze as she whispered to Jake who was applying some medicine on himself, "Mr. Hanson, I'm done. Let's head back to our office?"

This was what Jake had in mind as well. However, he wanted to talk to Evan about some work related projects before leaving.

Jake screwed the medicine bottle shut before helping Anya off the little bed. It seemed that the duo once again unintentionally touched each other.

After Evan, who was sitting close to them, noticed that, a resentful glint flashed across his eyes. It seemed that after the woman had previously manipulated him, she was ready to switch targets now?

Evan spoke in a carefree tone, "You're quite caring towards your staff, aren't you, Mr. Hanson?" However, Evan realized that the comment he made sounded quite off.

It sounded as if he was jealous?

Him being jealous? That would be ridiculous! How could he be jealous when he absolutely had zero feelings towards such a manipulative woman anyway, right? Evan immediately purged that thought from his mind and continued to tend his injuries.

However, it seemed that Jake was oblivious about the conflict between Anya and Evan, which made him assume that Evan was praising him, so he immediately said, "Oh Mr. Welton, it's my duty to care about my staff members."

To Evan, Jake was a man with ulterior motives. He could already tell when he bought their company over. The only thing was, he lacked any skills to match his wild ambitions. There was a high chance that the project would be a complete waste of time.

After hearing such a cold reply from Evan, Anya's heart thumped when she instinctively glanced at Evan's menacingly sharp glare. She wondered why was the man staring at her.

Could he possibly think that I'm intentionally trying to get close to him again? Anya would truly be speechless if that was exactly what Evan was thinking.

In order to prevent more misunderstandings, Anya rushed out as she said, "I'll be heading upstairs to prepare the documents for the meeting first, Mr. Hanson." However, Jake actually actually wanted to head upstairs with her, so he stopped her from leaving as he said, "Please hold on a second, Ms. MacMillan, You should stay and listen to Mr. Welton's advice too. It'll be very helpful to your work."

It seemed that Jake was buttering up to Evan in a very casual manner. However, Evan seemed completely uninterested in him. Evan simply closed his eyes and replied in a cold tone. "I need to be alone for a moment, Mr. Hanson."

It was only after Evan said that did Jake realized that he was being too pushy as he immediately apologized while lowering his head, "I'm terribly sorry Mr. Welton. We'll leave you alone now,"

Anya let out a sigh of relief as she listened. She could finally return to her office.

After both Anya and Jake left, Evan could not help but ask while the female doctors were treating him, "What's wrong with Ms. MacMillan anyway?"

"Oh...Ms. MacMillan...well, she's fine, it's nothing more than a sinus scratch anyway. Bont vor," The middle-aged female doctor replied respectfully. The content is on Read the latest chapter there!

Evan did not look back as he simply replied with a soft grunt while he continued to walk outside.

However, just as he was about to arrive at the elevator, his phone started ringing from his pocket. It was from Mdm. Welton.

Chapter 33

Chapter 33 Evan was mortally terrified of receiving Mdm. Welton's calls. That was because the only reason why she would call was to rush him to get married and have children. This annoyed him a lot.

However, as much as he was annoyed by it, Evan still respect Mdm. Welton very much. He picked up the call as soon as his assistant pushed the floor button for him in the elevator.

Once the call was connected, Mdm. Welton, who was walking her golden retriever in the garden of her mansion, immediately hinted at her grandson that she wanted a great-grandchild. She spoke in a very lively tone, "Oh Evan, | had a dream last night. Why don't you guess just what kind of a dream | had?"

Evan chuckled and replied, "Oh grandma, it must've been a really great dream." The truth was, he knew exactly what his grandmother dreamed about without even guessing.

As the old lady patted the golden retriever in her arms, a subtle smile could be seen on her loving face as she said, "Exactly. | had an amazing dream. Well, | dreamt that you've brought home an adorable looking wife and not to mention, your mother—in—law had even brought a pair of fraternal twins with her!"

It seemed that all the old lady needed to be happy for the entire day was to think about the adorable and chubby little fraternal twins. If only that dream was real. She really wanted to cuddle up with those twins.

Evan frowned immediately after he heard that. It was just as he expected, she was rushing him to get married and have children and this time, she wanted twins. Evan could not help but to applaud his grandmother's imagination. He was uncertain if he could even give birth to a pair of twins and yet his grandmother was able to dream about it.

"Wow grandma, your dream sure is amazing alright" Evan replied as he snapped out from his train of thought.

The old lady knew he was brushing her off again as her delightful expression instantly turned into a dispirited look. Her voice sounded slightly shaky as she lamented, "Oh Evan, all I could do is dream. All I wanted is to cuddle up with a pair of twins and in the end, I get nothing. The only way I could cuddle with them is in my dreams. Say, don't you think my life is quite pitiful as an elderly person?"

"Did you know that all of my friends already have great-grandchildren? Did you know how lonely I feel every time I hang out with them? I watch them cuddling up with their great-grandchildren while they have a blast as a family."

"Oh, it hurts me...thinking about it now makes me want to cry." The old lady lamented as she started to actually sob. She intentionally made herself sound extremely depressed.

Evan could no longer keep himself together while he listened to her as he said, "Grandma. If I meet someone I like, I promise to bring her home. The only thing is, the current state of Welton Group isn't stable and I don't think I can afford thinking about getting a girlfriend."

"You keep saying that Welton Group isn't stable all the time. Does getting a girlfriend have anything to do with you managing Welton Group?" The old lady was furious when Evan brought that up as she exclaimed, "Bring your beloved girlfriend home and I will no doubt treat her well. You don't have to worry about anything at all."

"You can work on your career and build the Welton Group's empire as much as you want and I will help you take care of your Girlfriend. I will love her with all my heart and will never allow any harm to come to her, okay?"

Evan was speechless when he heard that. It seemed that he was no match against the old lady.

"I think about it, Grandma. I am in the middle of something right now. I'll make some time to be with you when I'm done with work."

Chapter 34

When Carol, who had previously deliberated to trip Anya, noticed her entering the meeting room with Jake. She clenched her fists enviously while stomping her feet on the ground.

hat little wench is truly a pain to deal with It seemed that she had never once hated any women before. However, Anya was the first to her.

While Carol was brooding near the meeting room, a designer who was quite close to her came over and asked, "Hey Carol, your meeting is about to begin soon, what are you still standing about here for?"

"What else can | do anyway?" Carol relaxed her clenched fist before furiously exclaiming while gritting her teeth, "It's all that little wench's fault. Say, when designers like us first got employed in JK Group, we don't intentionally flirt with Mr. Hanson, right?"

"That little wench has only been here for two days and yet she went on ahead to flirt with Mr. Hanson. How can | not be furious?" Carol furiously exclaimed.

It was only natural for the designer to stand on the same side as Carol as she exclaimed, "She is a wanch alright. Just look at her, she thinks she can do whatever she wants just because she's beautiful."

Carol scoffed as she said, "What do you mean beautiful? She's nothing more than a shameless wench."

“Oh come on now, don't get so worked up now, Carol. Isn't she your staff? Just make her life difficult and when she messes kick her out of JK Group. Let's see how she flirts with Mr. Hanson then ”

The instant Carol heard that, a sinister glint flashed across her eyes.

She's right, why didn't I think of that? That little wench is directly under my supervision!

If she was to cause Anya to mess up intentionally, she would be able to kick her out from JK Group.

up, you'd be able to Carol's mood improved slightly when she thought about that. She would make sure she kick that little wench out of the company. It did not take long for most of the staff in the design department to arrive at the huge meeting room when the meeting began.

Since Anya was still an inter, she was unable to share the same table with the other more experienced designers during the meeting. All she could do was sit at a corner with her laptop in the meeting room while she listened attentively to Jake.

The main topic for the meeting was about upcoming work projects in the next six months and put their focus in expanding their high-profile clients. The meeting lasted for an hour.

Everyone was expressing their own opinions about those topics during the meeting. However, since Anya was aware that she was still an Intern, she dared not to express her own thoughts about the meeting agendas.

All she did was take notes in silence. Everyone returned to their work after the meeting was over.

Carol, who originally intended to make things difficult for Anya could not do a thing since her supervisor suddenly came to have her work on something at the factory.

It seemed that Anya had dodged a bullet then. A Chapter 34

When things were slowing down during the afternoon, Anya snuck back home to feed and play with her toddlers before returning to the office.

However, just as she arrived at the company, her phone rang. When Anya glanced at her phone, it turned out to be from her best friend, Cindy whom she had not seen for years.

Anya was stunned for a second as she stared at the name whom she has not reconnected for a long time, before picking up the call, “Hey. Cindy?”

71% me. Anya, I'd be returning home soon" Cindy's excited voice could be heard coming from the phone When Anya heard the familiar voice, waves of nostalgia washed over her instantly

Cindy grew up with her but it seemed that she chose to study abroad after graduating high school. However, due to Anya family's circumstances, she was unable to study abroad, thus they had no choice but to part ways with each other.

Who knew that the farewell lasted five to six years long. They actually had not seen each other for five to six years Anya could not help but soba ittie neem jou mume saving "Of course. I came back to inherit my family's business after all!" It seemed that compared to Anya's shaky voice, Cindy actually sounded quite excited and happy.

She too had not seen her beloved best friend for years. They had grown up together and had initially agreed to study abroad together right after they were done with high school. They agreed to gaze at the moon by the Seine River while singing love songs together as they drank beer. They also agreed to travel across Paris together.

However, some things happened to Anya's family and her mom was forced out from her family by a mistress. After that, she had fallen extremely ill, so Anya was unable to travel abroad with her.

It seemed that she had tried to contact Anya for all these years. Perhaps it was due to the series of unfortunate events that had happened to Anya's family that caused her to not be as cheerful as she used to when they spoke..

However, all of that did not matter anymore because she had returned home now. As long as she was able, Cindy would no doubt help her beloved Anya.

"That's awesome. When you come back, we'd be able to hang out all the time." Anya sniffled before explaining in a much serious tone, "Well, the thing is, I am no longer part of the MacMillan family anymore nor am I the daughter of the MacMillan family. You won't abandon me, right?"

"No way, Anya! You're my best friend for life." Cindy assured her.

She would never be like Anya's step—sister who schemed against her. So, when exactly are you returning home then?" Anya asked. She still trusted Cindy with all her heart. "Tomorrow" They discussed when they're going to meet each other and hung up after.
