Chapter 541

“Evan, what are you talking about? Marry who?” Gina was shocked. She strode toward Evan and stared at him with wide eyes.

“I’m going to get the marriage license in a few days. I’m here to update you.” Evan said calmly.

Gina’s face twisted in anger. He just canceled his engagement with Minta, who was he going to marry this time?

Did he say that on purpose to piss her?

Or did he do that because he was still mad at her about Shyla?

“Who is she? Getting married is not like getting engaged. You will disgrace our family if you get a divorce. Gina gnashed her teeth when she said.

“This time is different. I won’t divorce her the rest of my life.” Evan said with a serious face.

Hearing that, Shyla clenched her fist.

Who on earth was he going to marry?

“Why did you do that to me?” Gina was so angry with Evan that she trembled slightly, shouted. But she couldn’t do anything with her precious son. So she could only turn to target the woman who confused him!

“Tell me. Who are you going to marry?”

“You will know.” Evah said and stood up. “That’s why I came back today. Also, mom, after I married her, you should treat her well. Otherwise, I will take her away from here for good.”

He was rather serious about what he said.

“Evan!” Gina was white and trembling with anger.

Mdm Welton didn’t say anything, though. She was glad secretly that her grandson was finally going to get married.

If Evan married Anya, she would try her best to protect them.

She would protect Anya from Gina.

“That’s what I want to say. Mom, grandma, I’m leaving now.” Evan said and then he wanted to leave.

Seeing her son was about to leave, Gina felt a sharp pain in her chest and dizzy. With a bang, she suddenly blacked out on the ground.

Shyla and Mdm Welton were both shocked when they saw Gina passed out.

Evan came over with a frown immediately.

“Evan, your mom is blacked out. Call the doctor.” Mdm Welton put her finger under Gina’s nose and made sure that Gina was still breathing. And then she ordered Evan to call the doctor at once.

Evan nodded and took out his phone.

After called the private doctor, he picked Gina up and took her upstairs.

He couldn't back to the mansion until the private doctor arrived

When Anya back to the mansion, she tried to Facetime Evan after bathed the two kids, but Evan didn't accept the invitation. After half an hour, he sent a message to her, "Sorry. Talk to you tomorrow. Family emergency."

Anya had no idea what was going on.

But since he said that he wasn't available, she decided to help the kids go to bed first.

The next day, Anya and Cindy woke up at the same time and were ready to work.

When they went into the kitchen, they found Ellie had already prepared their breakfast.

Anya pulled out the chair and sat down. Cindy poured her a glass of milk and whispered, "So, you and Evan, you're back together?"

Anya picked the glass up and said, "Yeah. Sort of"

She took a sip of the milk, but before she swallowed, she suddenly spat it all out.

Seeing this, Cindy pulled off some tissues and handed them to her, "Are you okay? What's going on?"

"I'm fine. I just feel sick since yesterday. Maybe I should go to see the doctor." Anya wiped off her mouth and touched her belly.

Cindy agreed, "Yes. You have to go to see the doctor as soon as possible."

After that, Cindy's eyes lit up as she suddenly realized something. She asked tentatively, "Are... Are you pregnant?"

Chapter 542

Cindy went on drinking milk.

But Anya was thunderstruck. She widened her eyes with shock and said, "It's been a while since we've had sex. And I'm on the birth control pills. How... how can that be?"

Cindy blushed as Anya anxiously explained. Cindy was still single yet. She was not interested in any details about how great Anya and Evan were in bed.

"Forget it, Anya. I'm just kidding. You don't have to explain to me."

"..." Anya was confused.

Ellie came out of the kitchen with a frittata in her hand. Ellie was curious when she saw Anya and Cindy's faces turning pink. "What are you talking about?" Ellie asked.

"Nothing special," replied Anya, putting down the glass.

"Take your time with it. I'll see if the children are up or not." Ellie put down the frittata and gave a pat on their shoulders.

Then Ellie made her way to Nathaniel and Eudora's room.

Anya rubbed her temples and said, "Should I buy a pregnancy test? Speaking of which, my period is late:

Anya paid little attention to it when her period was late.

Because it had happened before.

Anya felt a pregnancy test would be necessary, just in case.

“You’d better take a test. If it’s positive, please tell me. I can’t wait to be the godmother of your third child,” Cindy said with a smile on her face.

Anya knitted her brows. “But I want to focus on my career now,” Anya sighed.

“Stay calm, okay? Go get the test first.” Cindy knew that a year would be too long for Anya, who cared about her career at the moment.

“You’re right. Maybe I’m just under the weather,” Anya murmured and returned to her breakfast.

Moments later, Cindy drove Anya to work.

Anya bought a pregnancy test in a drug store on her way to the company

Anya put the pee stick in her purse and then went to work.

In JK Couture. Jake came over as soon as Anya sat down. He needed to keep his distance from Anya since he knew she was dating Evan. “Anya, Queensly Entertainment wants to talk about the dress with you on Friday.”

“Okay, Mr. Hanson.” Anya nodded.

“You might need to go to Queensly Entertainment at 10 a.m. tomorrow.”

“No problem.”

“Alright Get back to your work.” Jake had mixed feelings when he looked into Anya’s eyes.

Jake thought,

Jake took his eyes off Anya and decided to forget about her.

He hoped Anya could be happy with Evan.

Jake went back to his office with a look of sadness.

He noticed that Shyla’s office was dark with a closed door. Jake asked one female designer who passed by him. “Where did Shyla go?”

“She took a leave of absence.”

“Again?” Jake didn’t care about why Shyla asked for leave. She couldn’t get off work so many times. It was against the company rules.

“Yeah, that’s what I heard. But I don’t know why. Sorry.”

HR didn’t tell her the reason.

“Never mind.” Jake decided to go ask HR.

Shyla couldn’t do whatever she liked in the company even though she had somebody behind her.

Chapter 543

However, Jake went to the personnel department and all he got was that she asked for another day off for a personal affair.

He didn't ask further and decided to ask her when she came to work tomorrow.

Anya had been busying herself with the design of the film queerts dress.

Only when she grabbed lunch with her colleagues at noon did she realize that she had forgotten to test her pregnancy

While her colleagues were eating out, she took two pregnancy test sticks to the washroom for testing.

She got a few drops of her urine and did the test.

Anya nervously fixed her eyes on the red line of the pregnancy test stick.

In a few seconds, the two red lines were clearly displayed in an instant.

Anya's face paled in horror.

She found it hard to believe she was pregnant.

But it was impossible as she had taken medicine after sex.

She couldn't figure it out.

Biting her lip, she took another one and tested again to see if she was really pregnant.

The whole process took less than a minute.

Still, two red lines showed.

Anya grew restless and uneasy.

It was true.

But she didn't understand.

She did take precautions.

Anya stared at the stick in her hand, her breathing racing. She wondered if she should tell Evan about it.

She dropped the idea immediately at the thought that she hadn't fully accepted it..

She needed to calm down.

Anya struggled to throw the two sticks into the dustbin. Sitting on the toilet, she sent a message to Cindy

"Cindy, I'm pregnant. I've tested it, twice!"

Cindy, who was having lunch, was startled when seeing the message. She immediately put down her chopsticks and replied, "Really? That's a good thing! Congratulations!"

"Don't make fun of me. You know how things are going with me and Evan right now. It's a mess. Our parents are not very supportive. I don't know what to do. Should I keep the baby?" Anya got pregnant at a bad time. The Weltons, except the matriarch, showed no support for her relationship with Evan. Besides, they disowned Nathaniel and Eudora.

She had no idea what to do with the baby.

Things were hard on her side too. On the one hand, Ellie disagreed with her to see Evan. On the other hand, she was on the threshold of her career. With the baby, her career would be ended.

She had to waste a year.

This was what was bothering her.

She wanted to keep the baby, to be honest..

It was her and Evan's baby.

She was reluctant to give up on him.

Anya was in a dilemma and bewilderment.

Knowing Anya's trouble, Cindy tried to calm her down. "Don't worry and stay calm. You should ask Evan what to do with the baby. After all, he is the father," Cindy said in her message.

Anya sighed and replied, "Well, I know. I'll think about it."

It was because of Evan that she was so annoyed. When she was pregnant with Nathaniel and Eudora in college, she was too young to think further. But now things were different.

Now that she had entered the society, she knew the hard work of raising children, and Evan's promise didn't seem helpful as marriage was not just about two of them but also two families. The thought of this bothered her so much.

"Well, in fact, the pregnancy test stick might go wrong. If you are not sure or afraid, let's go to the hospital for examination another day. It can't be wrong!" said Cindy

Anya typed after a moment of thought, "Okay, how about tomorrow?"

“Okay, no problem, replied Cindy.

Anya felt less tensed after talking to Cindy. She lingered in the washroom for a while before coming out for lunch.

Chapter 544

In the Welton’s villa.

Gina had fainted yesterday. Fortunately, she recovered soon after the rescue of her private doctor. But now she pretended to be ill in bed. She was still irritated with her son.

Evan did understand Gina’s intention. However, he would never give up the thought of marrying Anya anyway

And Evan had got two kids now with Anya. He was their father and they would never forget each other for the rest of their lives.

Therefore, on the next day, Evan stayed with Gina in her bedroom instead of going to work.

He carried a bowl of pumpkin soup to her and said. “The doctor said you’re fine. Just take it easy”

Gina’s face went an ugly green. She refused to have the soup and asked Evan angrily, “Are you expecting me to die so that you can marry that woman?”

Sitting well beside the bed, Evan answered calmly and slowly, “Mom, don’t irritate me with the curse. My marriage is my own business. I wouldn’t accept any of the suggestions, including dad’s and yours.

“And I believe that you guys know me very well, right?”

“Please look at those great families in Nordeny. Is there any inheritor whose marriage will be decided by others? Why can’t you listen to us? We are just looking out for you!” Gina knew that Evan would defy her as he always had his own opinions

Evan had been an independent person since he was with Ralph.

He would never listen to any others’ suggestions unless Ralph was still alive.

For now, Gina, her husband, and even Mdm Welton couldn’t manipulate him.

“That’s their businesses, not mine. And is my marriage a show for them?” Evan found their conversations ridiculous. But he knew what his mother was thinking.

He thought,

“Even if Anya won’t show her face in public, she still needs to help us with some businesses. But she’s too ordinary. I don’t want to suffer shames because of her” said Gina through clenched teeth.

“Relax, mom. Don’t worry about us. I hope you can get along well with Anya and our kids.” Evan stopped talking around.

He told the truth frankly.

Gina was shocked by him all of a sudden. She clutched one corner of the quilt and goggled at Evan, “So... you two had babies, right?”

“Yes. So I have to marry Anya,” Evan continued.

Was it worthy of marrying her just because of those bastards? Maybe paying some money was enough.

Gina was driven mad. “What’s wrong with you, Evan? You must think of us.”

“Mom, you may have been confused. The Weltons have been supported by men rather than women. It’s my grandfather, my dad, and I who built up this great business empire. Ladies should not be burdened. And we need to build a home for them to settle, Evan said.

“Evan!” Gina realized that she couldn’t persuade her son in any case.

She clenched her hands in desperation.

And the veins stood out on the hands.

“I’ve told you everything, mom. I need to go back to work. Please have a good rest,” Evan left without hesitation.

Being trembling on the bed, Gina was pale as death.

At this point, Shyla walked inside the room with misty eyes. She was heartbroken and felt injured as Evan had promised to marry her last night.

“Gina, I’m so sorry to let you down. I’ll go back to Selolia tomorrow.” Shyla sobbed.

She used to be so proud here but finally became a shame.

After a while, Gina came to herself. She looked at Shyla and said promptly, “Wait, Shyla, Don’t give up. We haven’t tried yet.”

Chapter 545

“Gina, I know you are good to me, and I like Evan, but... How can I retrieve this situation now?” Shyla cried and walked to Gina.

Gina felt sorry for her. She had always liked Shyla, a lady with a good background.

It was a pity that her son was too blind to like a woman like Anya, “Shyla, I will try to get Evan back to stay for one night. You have to seize this opportunity!” Gina stretched out her hand to hold Shyla and said softly.

“Tonight...?” Shyla stopped crying and looked at Gina.

Gina wiped her tears and said, “Shyla, I didn’t bring you back to let you leave. So don’t give up. Although Evan has his own opinion, you have to know... A man always cares about a woman’s first time.”

“You know what I mean? As long as you treat him well tonight, even if he still wants to marry that woman, it would be useless. He has to be responsible for you, right?”

Shyla lowered her eyes and bit her lips. She wondered if this would work.

“So wait another night, will you?” Gina encouraged her

Shyla was silent for a while and nodded obediently. “Okay.”

After Evan got downstairs to the living room of the villa, he called Hayden and arranged for him to go to Fenteon. Although Devin Crick was arrested last time, he was a member of the gangsters in Fenteon. People over there should have heard of it.,

So to avoid troubles in the future, he still had to go to Thailand to deal with them thoroughly.

After Evan finished the call, the matriarch came over, “How is your mother?”

“She’s fine, Evan replied.

The matriarch sighed. This matter ... It's really an embarrassment for you."

"There is nothing to be embarrassed about. No one can change my decision." Evan said firmly.

The matriarch nodded. "Evan, treat Anya well after you marry her, will you?"

"Grandma, don't worry. I will treat her well." Evan smiled. "Grandma, I gotta go back to the company."

The matriarch didn't keep him. "Drive safe."

"I will."

In JK Couture, ever since Anya found out that she was pregnant during lunchtime, she had been flustered and messed up all afternoon, and was not in the mood of working on the dress.

After getting off work, she sat in the office and didn't leave.

Instead, she took out her mobile phone and started to search for information about abortion.

She especially focused on the sequelae of the operation.

The more she looked, the more she panicked, but she still kept searching.

She sat in the office until dark when all the employees were gone, and she was still sitting there browsing the web pages.

She was so focused that she didn't even notice Evan when he came to see her.

Until the man walked to her and saw the abortion web page on her phone, he frowned instantly and took the phone. "What are you searching this for?"

Anya was shocked by his sudden appearance and taking her phone. She turned pale, and when she raised her eyes to look at Evan, she stammered nervously, "No... no... I was just searching for my colleague..."

"She has this trouble." Anya snatched her phone back and said, "Why are you here?"

Evan didn't suspect Anya's explanation. He said softly, "Everyone's off work. Why are you still here?"

"I'm in charge of a new order, so I was working on it! And now that I checked this for my colleague, I'm done. Let's go." Anya didn't want him to think much about what she just searched.

She stood up anxiously and was about to get off work.

Evan was not in a hurry: He held her shoulders and said, "There's something I want to tell you."

"What is it?" Anya turned and looked at him.

Chapter 546

"I'm going on a business trip for a few days at the weekend. Take care of yourself Evan didn't intend to tell her the danger of the trip to Fenteon. He planned to tell her after he handled everything

"Oh, where are you going?"

"Trade secrets sealed my lips. Evan pinched her face and said gently.

Anya snorted, pretending to show her discontent. "Really?"

"It's a little bit complicated. If you are interested, I'll tell you later Evan took back his finger and took a look at his watch. He was about to go.

“Shall we go back after dinner?”

Anya agreed. She packed the bags and said when she got up, “What happened to your family yesterday? I asked Nathaniel and Eudora to take a bath and prepare to video with you!

“They haven’t seen you for a long time and miss you very much.

As for the two children. Evan felt very guilty for them. “Sorry, something was wrong last night. When I deal with that, we will be together forever.”

Anya nodded. Her eyes glistened with love. She also wanted to be with him all her life.

But she didn’t know if they would face the pressure from their families.

When Anya came out of JK Couture with him, she couldn’t help asking. “Evan, do you really want to marry me?”

“Of course! Why ask?” Evan said.

“Ellie and your mom... It seems that they can’t accept it.” Anya sighed slightly..

www

“It doesn’t matter. The most important thing is that we love each other and we are willing to form a family.” Evan never thought of judging his future wife by her family background.

His opinion was that he recognized Anya, and he would devote all his heart to marry her.

“Anya, although marriage is a matter for two families, it’s more about ourselves, isn’t it? As long as we love each other, we can face all difficulties together, Evan continued.

Anya nodded silently. She was really touched.

She had felt Evan’s sincere love for her. He was a man worthy of trust.

But she was still hesitant to abort the child. She wanted the child but couldn’t give up her promising career.

“Evan, do you like children very much?” Anya glanced at the elevator door and suddenly asked Evan next to her.

Evan smiled, “Very much. When he was single, he didn’t know what his children might mean to him.

But Nathaniel and Eudora had changed him dramatically, as a light lit up his whole life.

They brought him the feeling of being related.

Also, he knew that he had to take more responsibilities as a father.

“Well... Of course!” Anya was too flustered to answer him.

She was almost sweating with his words.

Pregnancy really made her nervous.

“Well, that’s good.” As Evan saw that she didn’t object to another baby, he smiled with satisfaction. He bowed his head and kissed her while Anya was distracted.

Then they had more kisses and went downstairs to eat in a restaurant.

While they were eating at the restaurant, Gina suddenly called Evan, meaning that she changed her mind and asked him to come back and have a talk.

His mother, who was used to being strong, suddenly changed her mind. Evan didn’t buy her words, so when he promised to come back, he still kept everything in his mind without telling Cina.

Gina couldn’t allow him to marry Anya for no reason.

There must be some problems..

Evan didn't know what the problem was until he went back to see it, but that meant he couldn't accompany Anya tonight. When the meal was over, he arranged for the driver to take her back to the mansion. Before getting on the car, Anya affectionately took the initiative to hold his waist. "Be careful. I'll wait for you."

Evan enjoyed the tenderness of her embrace. He hugged her tightly and said with a smile, "How about we get a marriage certificate when I come back from Fenteon? Ellie would also bless us as our marriage would be officially confirmed at that time."

Anya looked at her handsome and gentle boyfriend fondly in her eyes. Her heart seemed to be overwhelmed by his love and sincerity.

"Why not?" Seeing that she didn't answer, Evan was worried that she might disagree, then he frowned and asked nervously "No one could take you away from me!"

Anya was amused by his words. "Well, if you propose to me."

"Without hesitation." Evan touched her soft hair and continued, "Go back early."

"I'll miss you."

"I know." Evan smiled. "Kiss me."

Anya blushed, but she stood on tiptoe, put her arms around him and kissed him gently.

Evan didn't want to let her go until she was almost out of breath because of the kiss.

Then he escorted her to the car. When her car disappeared at the corner, he took another car to come back.

Then they went to their respective destinations.

Anya sat in the back seat and subconsciously reached out and gently touched her lower abdomen. There was not much sign, let alone obvious fetal movement.

But she seemed to feel the child's response magically.

Chapter 548

Evan returned to Welton's villa.

When he entered the living room, Gina had already got out of bed and could sit there and watch TV dramas with the matriarch.

Shyla sat on the other side.

Gina smiled gently at him as he walked in. "Son, come and sit down."

Shyla blushed subconsciously when she saw him.

Her hands were slightly clenched. She still felt a little nervous as she would use some drug to force him to sleep with her.

Evan glanced at Shyla, nodded, walked slowly over, and sat down at the matriarch's side.

As soon as he sat down, the matriarch said naively, "Evan, your mother just told me that she would no longer prevent you from marrying Anya. That's gratifying “Really? My mother has changed her mind so quickly.” Evan thought as he was not as simple and deceptive as the matriarch. He didn’t buy Gina’s words.

“Of course, she told me this afternoon and she figured it out.” The matriarch was happy when she thought that the whole family could live happily together in the future.

“We can be a family in the future.”

When the matriarch’s words finished, Gina took up her coffee cup and continued with a smile, “Evan, I do apologize for my bad temper before. In the future, I won’t interfere with your marriage with Anya.”

Evan replied thoughtfully, “Mom, why do you suddenly change your view?”

“Even if I don’t change my mind, you will still insist on marrying her, right? If I continue to make trouble, our relationship might deteriorate. I don’t want this.” Gina took a sip of coffee and continued.

“Oh really? It’s good for you to figure it out. I’ll get the certificate with Anya next week. I hope you won’t stop us,” Evan said calmly.

Gina smiled and said, “Of course not, I would be really glad. She paused for a moment. “Stay at home tonight. I miss you so much, and Shyla will go back to Selolia in a while.”

Sure enough, Evan knew there was something behind her words

Would she change her mind so easily?

“OK.” Evan thought deeply for a few seconds and readily agreed,

Gina then smiled and said, “I’m so happy today. I’ll prepare some snacks.” After that, she got up and walked to the kitchen.

Shyla saw this and took the initiative to help. "Maybe I can also help."

"Fine." Gina smiled.

The two went to the back kitchen together. Naturally, the matriarch didn't notice it. But Evan saw all their hints in his eyes.

What an embarrassing day–

“Mrs. Welton, I’m sorry... Shyla blushed immediately. She felt ashamed and put on her skirt fast. Then she left the bedroom quickly with her head down.

“I’ll move away right now,” Shyla replied quickly and ran out.

The matriarch looked back at her, not caring about Gina’s angry face outside the door. She immediately closed the door and waited for the private doctor to come over.

matter how eager she was to marry Evan, she couldn’t be shameless anymore.

Then she wiped her tears and went to her room to pack.

And Gina was furious.

She thought, “Any... It’s a tough job to be the daughter-in-law of the Weltons.”

Chapter 550

In the bedroom on the second floor, Evan fainted. Then the family doctor of the Weltons, Lamont Edison, came. Cina tried to put on a brave face when she saw him.

Gina thought, “If Mr. Edison went into the room, he would know the truth. At that time, not only the matriarch would blame me, but also Evan would hate me.”

Afraid of her trick seen through, Gina hurriedly stopped Edison and said, “Mr. Edison, Evan is fine. He just needs a good sleep. Please don’t bother.”

When Mr. Edison received the call from Mdm Welton, he thought Mr. Welton was seriously ill. Therefore, on the way to the villa of the Weltons, he had run a few red lights to come earlier.

But now, Gina said Evan was fine. Lamont was confused.

Wiping the sweat from his forehead, Lamont asked, "Mrs. Gallo, is Mr. Welton really feeling good now?"

"Sure. I'm his mother. I won't joke about that. Thanks for coming anyway. You can go home now, Gina spoke with a wry smile.

Thinking for a few seconds, Lamont didn't insist on seeing Mr. Welton..

He returned home with his first-aid kit.

In the bedroom, there was the matriarch who was looking at her grandson, Evan. She signed and wondered,
