

Desperation 98

Chapter 98

Jessica was overjoyed when she knew the situation online, but she still pretended to be anxious about Ashley. "But would it be harmful to Ashley? She will hold a press conference tomorrow..."

Bertha held her hand and sighed, "Jessica, you are too sensible. Ashley has cut all ties with the Ramos family. You don't need to care about her. I gave her a life, and she should repay me.

Now I just let her be abused online. It won't be harmful to her anyway. Don't worry about her."

Bertha finished speaking and then looked at Frankie aside. She ordered, "Frankie, keep an eye on tomorrow's press conference.

I won't accept Ashley's apology. She also has to apologize to Jessica and the Ramos family."

Frankie was looking forward to watching tomorrow's press conference. "Okay. I know."

At the Kingsley Villa, Ashley saw the abuse online, but her mood was not affected.

She received many comforting messages from many friends.

Joseph, Bryce, and Miranda also sent her messages.

Ashley replied one by one, telling them not to worry.

In the afternoon, she went to Royal Entertainment to discuss tomorrow's press conference with Laura..

After discussing the details, Ashley left Laura's office.

She glanced at the time. It was almost five o'clock in the afternoon.

As she was walking out of the company, she bumped into two strange cleaners in the corridor. The two "female" cleaners were tall. They wore work clothes and masks. Their long hair covered their shoulders, and their bangs half covered their eyes.

Ashley glanced at them subconsciously and didn't pay attention to them.

She just thought they were tall, over six feet.

Ashley continued walking forward, preparing to take the elevator downstairs.

But after walking a few steps, she discovered that the two cleaners were following her furtively.

She frowned and thought, 'Are the two cleaners my anti-fans? Did they scold me online and want to curse me in real life?'

Ashley stopped and turned around.

The two cleaners didn't expect her to turn around suddenly. They panicked for a moment, then pretended to look around and started mopping the floor with the mops in their hands.

But they were unskilled and didn't even know how to use a mop. They stained the clean floor.

Ashley glanced at them casually and asked, "Why are you following me?"

The two cleaners remained silent and just waved their hands.

Ashley glanced at the dirty floor and looked at them. "You watched the news on the Internet and believed that I pushed down my mother. So you want to scold me in person to vent your dissatisfaction, right?"

Upon hearing this, one of the cleaners became anxious and shouted, "No! Absolutely not!"

The "female" cleaner shouted in a resonant male voice.

Ashley was shocked.

She stared at the cleaner and looked puzzled.

The cleaner who was exposed took off the mask. "Okay, okay. I won't pretend anymore. Matthew, take off your mask."

Ashley saw their faces. She suddenly frowned, and her face turned cold.

The two cleaners who wore women's clothes and wigs were Jeremy and Matthew.

They were not allowed to stand at the company's entrance, so they disguised as cleaners and sneaked in.

Matthew wore a cleaner's skirt. He waved his long, curly hair, threw away the mop, and rushed to Ashley.

Ashley felt this scene was disgusting.

She wanted to close her eyes.

Matthew said excitedly, "Ashley, I saw the videos online. You must have had a good reason to push Bertha. I believe you!"

He wanted to say, "Even if you pushed Mom", but he thought of Bertha's interview video. Bertha blatantly framed Ashley, belittled her, and promoted Jessica. She had gone too far this time.

He didn't want to call Bertha "Mom".

Jeremy also threw the mop away and rushed over. "Well done, Ashley. I also believe you."

Ashley didn't want to see them. They were annoying.

She turned around and wanted to leave, but Jeremy blocked the way. "Ashley, don't read those curse words on the Internet.

They are blind and stupid.

Matthew took out his mobile phone, showed her the screen, and looked at Ashley with a loyal expression. "Look, I retorted every comment that cursed you. And I also paid Internet trolls to scold the Ramos family."

He even scolded himself.

Jeremy worriedly asked, "Ashley, what will you do at tomorrow's press conference?"

Ashley didn't answer but looked over with an indifferent look. "Get out of the way."

Jeremy stood in front of her in a skirt and wig and said cautiously with sad face, "Ashley, no matter what happens tomorrow, Matthew and I will always stand on your side."

Ashley lost her patience and said coldly, "Get lost. Didn't you hear me?"

Jeremy felt pain in his heart. A bitter feeling surged in his chest. He lowered his head and silently moved out of the way.

Matthew wanted to say something, but when he saw Ashley's expression. of disgust and resistance, he shut up in despair.

Ashley left without looking back, pressed the elevator button, and went downstairs. She needed to call Laura and remind her not to let Matthew and Jeremy slip in again.

It wasn't until Ashley disappeared that Matthew picked up the mop on the ground. "Jeremy, she always ignored us. What should we do?"

Jeremy thought of something and snorted proudly, "Ashley only ignored. you. She talked to me just now."

Matthew frowned.

Jeremy showed off. "Ashley said two sentences to me just now."

She said, "Get out of the way." and "Get lost. Didn't you hear me?".

They added up to 11 words in total..

Matthew was speechless and jealous. "She scolded you."

Jeremy was not embarrassed. "But she didn't even scold you. It seems she doesn't want to pay attention to you. Listen, even if you are my biological brother, you are not allowed to steal her from me in the future. It was me who found Ashley's kindness first."

Matthew glared at him. "Ashley is also my sister!"

Jeremy picked up the mop on the ground and wanted to hit Matthew, but he wore a skirt and almost accidentally exposed his butt.

He ignored his image and wore women's clothes. Fortunately, his effort was not in vain, and he finally met Ashley.

But Jeremy frowned again when he thought of the netizens' curses on Ashley.

The next day, the press conference was held on time.

As public opinion fermented, the online abuse against Ashley reached its peak. Reporters from all major media came to the scene and crowded the press conference hall. They waited for Ashley to give an explanation.

Frankie, Bertha, and Jessica also paid close attention to this press. conference.

There was a long table on the stage in the press conference hall. Ashley sat in the middle. Laura was on her right, and Joseph was on her left.

Ashley's incident was influential. Since she was an artist of Royal Entertainment, it was necessary for Joseph, the general manager of Royal Entertainment, to come to the scene.

From yesterday to now, a day and a night had passed.

Under Frankie's malicious spread, Ashley had been dubbed "the person who cruelly pushed down her biological mother", "a heartless daughter", and "a daughter who abused her mother".

Just two days after the news that Ashley was Ash had been made public, such negative news broke out, which was more likely to attract public.

attention.

Many media and reporters reported and expressed their opinions on this matter.

[It takes two to tango! It seems that it is not the Ramos family's fault that Ashley severed ties with her family!]

[Even if Ashley is Ash, she can't abuse her biological mother! She has not moral integrity! Such a person doesn't deserve the public's attention!]

[Ashley, you are an unfit daughter. Apology to your mother!]

There were many reports with highly provocative headlines on the Internet.

In addition, Frankie paid Internet trolls and took advantage of netizens' kindness and filial piety to create a buzz. Netizens did not know the truth and were furious. They commented indignantly and cursed Ashley, asking her to explain to the public.

At this moment, those reporters in the press conference hall were staring at Ashley on the stage with excitement.

Ashley was indeed the focus of topics.

Anything related to her could become trending news.

Before Laura officially kicked off the press conference, a reporter couldn't wait to ask loudly, "Ashley, respecting parents is the basic quality of a