

Destiny 151

Chapter 151 - A Moment in Destiny

“Sherry, you can’t be so heartless! Please beg your father to let me go!” William shouted with dissatisfaction. She seemed to treat him like a stranger.

Sherry stood up and watched him being brought away by Cohen Sutton. Her lips curved, she did not want to help him at all!

Although she forgave him, she did not want him to break her principle in making friends. He did not allow her to meet Reggie Kelly again, he was so heartless, Reggie had saved her before.

After shutting the door, Sherry went onto her bed and covered herself with the blanket. It was a cold winter day. Although she turned on the heater, she still felt cold. She felt awkward without William, it was so cold, she missed his warm body temperature, it was as warm as a stove.

Sherry curved her lips when she recalled the moment Mr Sutton pointed at him with a gun, it was so funny! If she did not miscarry, she would live blissfully now.

She would have a father, William, sons and a daughter!

In the study room.

Cohen brought William to the study room. He sat on the chair and said with the gun pointing at William, “Tell me something!”

“What should I tell you?” William pretended to be ignorant.

“Shit! Don’t you want to see my daughter again?”

“Do you allow me to see Sherry?”

“If you can make me satisfied, I will turn a blind eye on you and allow you to do so. If you can’t make me satisfied, I will hire more people to protect my daughter!” Cohen knocked the table with his long finger, he showed a dominant expression.

“I can make Sherry call you daddy!” William said.

After a moment of silence, Cohen moved his sights fast. Out of the blue, he opened his eyes big and said with an exciting tone, “Are you sure?”

“Yup! Sure! But it may take half-a-month duration, can you wait for it?” William raised his brow.

William was so confident and made Cohen interested in it, he must be keen to be called daddy by Sherry. When Sherry called him Mr. Sutton just now, he was so disappointed. William grabbed the opportunity when he noticed that, it was important for a businessman to seek opportunity all the time to gain benefit.

Cohen frowned when he thought of the duration, “15 days are too long. I can warm my daughter’s heart by myself in 15 days! Do I need you?”

“Two weeks!” William strengthened his fingers.

“Three days!” Cohen said.

“It is impossible! Sherry is so stubborn! It is not easy to persuade her!” William shook his head but he felt hopeful when he noticed Cohen had loosened the rules.

“Five days, it is a deal!”

“Twelve days!” William said again, “I need to work for her every day! Some more, I need a procedure to persuade her!”

“Cannot, seven days, seven days is the deadline!”

“Then you wait by yourself! I don’t want to do it!” William said, he was afraid that if he successfully persuaded Sherry, Cohen would suddenly not allow him to see Sherry. He had to get the support from Cohen in this limited time and got permission from him to marry Sherry!

Cohen slightly moved his sight. According to his progression, he worried that Sherry would not call her daddy after a month. No matter what he had done for Sherry, she still called him Mr. Sutton in this month. He was so dispirited.

William’s term was so attractive! Furthermore, William had established rapport with Sherry. He seemed cunning and good at fighting. He was amazed to see him escaping from the attack of the security guards.

So, he said, “Ten days!”

William was stunned and nodded, “It is a deal, is tonight included?”

“Don’t you want to leave?” Cohen was surprised, such a cunning man, did not want to leave tonight.

“I don’t want to leave Sherry even for one second!” William said firmly, “Father-in-law, please trust me, I will not let Sherry suffer again! Never!”

“Do you try to take advantage of my daughter? No way, calculate from tomorrow onwards!” Cohen looked at William, he knew what did William want to do, “You go back now!”

William wanted to sleep with his daughter, he had guessed it right! He did not want to give him the chance!

“Father-in-law, the ten days that we promise are 24 hours, 24 hours of every day, you will not go back on your words, right?” William said with some meaning in it, his cold face showed a suspicious expression.

“William, you are indeed a cunning man! 24 hours, so what? If you dare to touch my daughter, I will shoot you with my gun immediately!” Cohen was so smart, he bit his lips and smiled, he felt that his heart was trembling. He hoped that Sherry could call him daddy as soon as possible.

“I will not touch her, I am not animal!” William shrugged his shoulders, “Father-in-law, can you treat today as a bonus day for me? It is too late now, I am too tired to go back. This winter is extremely cold, Sherry needs me to get her warmer!”

“Hum! I will ask Gracie to prepare warm water bag for her!” Cohen blocked him instantly, “William, if you bargain with me again, I will break the ten-days promise!”

“But the warm water bag will become cold in the midnight,” There was a few lights shining in William’s deep and black eyes. If he did not bargain, how could he get back his dear wife and kids? “Don’t you worry that Sherry will blame you?”

“Why will she blame me?” Cohen raised his brow, it was obvious that he started to worry. What should he do if Sherry blamed him?

“Don’t you notice that she forgives me today?” William was confident because he found that his father-in-law had started to worry.

“William, what are you intended to do?” Cohen narrowed his eyes, he stared at William with sharp sights. He could observe that William smiled evilly and cunningly, it was so complicated, “You don’t say scary words to threaten me, I am not a kid, I know what are you thinking.”

William smiled like a cunning fox and said, “If you chase me away today, although Sherry will not voice out her dissatisfaction, she will blame you in her heart! Women always behave differently to what they think.”

He did not want to leave no matter how because he did not see Sherry for a long time.

He missed her so much!

“Hum! Ok, today is considered as one day, you still have nine days left! I tell you, Sherry just gives birth to a baby, if you dare to touch my daughter, I will not forgive you!” Cohen said angrily.

“Thank you, father-in-law!” William thanked him instantly, “I will go to accompany Sherry now!”

Cohen bit his lips, why he felt like he had been cheated?

Damn dude, ten days would pass soon! If Sherry did not call him daddy, he must throw William out of his house.

“Wait!” Cohen shouted again.

William was stiff, did Cohen want to go back on his words?

“Are you the one taking revenge on the gangsters that harm Sherry?” Cohen recalled that he had asked Keegan Fox to take revenge for Sherry but someone had done it.

William was relieved, in fact, he wanted to talk about the case, “You are so smart, nothing can be hidden from you!”

“Do you do it too harsh?”

“I am kind enough not to kill them!” He would never allow those who had harmed his wife to enjoy their life happily.

“But it is too brutal to harm their dick!” Cohen shook his head, “You’re so cruel!”

“They will not harm women anymore if they lose their dick!” William’s sights were full of hatred when he thought of the gangsters, his baby was lost, how could he not hate them? “They deserve it!”

Cohen moved his sights and nodded, “I warn you again, my daughter is very weak now, don’t make her angry!”

“Father-in-law, how can I make her angry?” William only doted on her!

“Get lost!” Cohen said, his sights were full of compliment. This guy had high efficiency, he could settle them easily. Although he was regretful that he did not take revenge for his daughter by himself, he was satisfied by William’s action. If he took revenge by himself, it would be crueller than him!

When William went back to see Sherry, she froze for a while, “You, why you come back again?”

Didn’t he drag out by Mr. Sutton already?

But William smiled evilly and locked the door, “I will never leave you anymore!”

“What?” Sherry thought that she heard it wrongly, she sat up immediately. Her hair was scattered and made her fair face even prettier. She looked alluring at the moment.

“Father-in-law has given me permission to live here!” William took off his shoes and his suit before he got up her bed. He held her shoulder with his hands, “Wifey, it is late now, let’s sleep!”

Sherry was stunned when she looked at William’s smiling eyes, she did not know how was he able to persuade Mr. Sutton, why Mr. Sutton would agree? Because Mr. Sutton always made up his mind not to let him see her.

“Wifey, don’t be dazed, let’s sleep!” William pulled her in his arms and turned off the big lamp, left one small lamp on beside the bed.

The light in the room became dimmer, created an indescribable atmosphere.

“Who allows you to sleep here? You faster go out, I don’t want to sleep with you!” Sherry was in a hurry to push him away but William blocked her lips with his fingers, “Shhh...”

William said softly, “I will not simply touch you, I just want to hug you!”

He lowered his head and kissed Sherry’s forehead, he said softly by her ear, “I don’t want you to reject me. Wifey, I miss you so much. I want to stay by your side to protect you...”

William’s voice became softer gradually, he buried his face in her hair, Sherry could feel his bitterness and worry in his tone.

Sherry felt a sense of sourness and pain in her heart, she could not control herself to hold his neck. She wanted to console him and relied on him. The night was so cold, she needed him to warm her just like he needed her as well.

William moved his tall and fit body, he was surprised and raised his head delightedly. His heart was touched when he saw Sherry’s eyes filled with tears, then he smiled and said, “Don’t be sad, my heart will be painful when you are sad!”

She controlled her tears. Under the faint light, their sights met and tangled, the time seemed to freeze at the moment...

Out of the blue, they started to kiss and hug, the kiss rest on their eye, brow, nose and lips...

It was so eager and so exciting, they keen on each other.

Their bodies were tangled, they kept hugging and rolling on the bed...

Chapter 152 - A Moment in Destiny

After being separated for so long, the feelings that were suppressed for so long were now exploding like a volcano, it reddened each other's eyes, they shared hot kisses and warm hugs, they shared passionate lingering, Sherry closed her eyes and hugged him close.

She was hopeless, why was she so addicted to this man?

Even after going through so much, she still noticed that she fell in love with him!

They were both panting, and as William was lying on top of her, his hard body against her softness, he suddenly stopped and his head was clear.

What was he doing? Her body couldn't cope with anything right now, anger crawled onto his handsome face, and William was glad that he didn't spark accidentally.

"I'm sorry!" He said.

She didn't answer, her face was red like fire, it was burning hot, and she buried her head in his neck. She was touched by his thoughtfulness, her body really couldn't take such passion.

"I am sorry Sherry, it's all my fault!" He should be damned, he almost didn't control himself, he almost touched her, and he almost hurt her, she was still recovering, he had to endure it, until she was completely healed, before that, he couldn't allow himself to touch her.

The William of today was completely tied to his feelings, he wanted to spend his life with her, he wanted to protect his woman, not allowing her to get hurt ever.

Sherry looked down, thankful the light wasn't too bright so he couldn't see her red face.

In that moment, none of them spoke, they just enjoyed the feeling between them.

He held her to his chest, then lifted her chin to look at her, their eyes met and the shy expression on her face made him feel something again, but he only inhaled and sighed, "Let's go to sleep."

He turned the lights off, and the room was dark, he closed his eyes and counted silently in his heart, he didn't know if he was going to be able to sleep with her in his arms.

Sherry found a comfortable position in his arms, and relaxed, then she feel asleep.

William looked at the watch on the nightstand again, and sighed, he listened to Sherry's breathing and smiled, then he looked at her rolled up on her side, her small body suited perfectly to his manhood, and now he couldn't fall asleep for sure.

He didn't know how much time had passed while he was just looking at her, hoping that time could stop, he just wanted to look at her, that satisfied him.

Sherry was sleeping tightly when she subconsciously trembled, she wrapped herself around William like an octopus, her face was on his chest, and her hands hugging his waist, sleeping tightly.

William shook his head helplessly when he was confronted with this sweet temptation, it was killing him to hold his beloved woman like that and not being able to do anything with her.

He sighed and sighed and his hands wrapped themselves around Sherry again, so that she could sleep better.

When Sherry woke up in the morning, she felt warmth, with tired eyes she slowly looked at the face on the pillow next to hers. A handsome man, his brows shaped like swords, still slightly knitted even in his sleep, his nose tall and his lips sexy and red, he was just as handsome when he was sleeping.

She subconsciously rubbed her head...

Her eyes cleared up, she remembered that he sneaked into her room last night, then she pulled on the blanket and noticed that his hand was on her tummy, even in his sleep he was holding her dominantly, as if he was afraid she might run away.

She tried to free herself, but accidentally woke him up.

"Are you awake?" His hoarse morning voice was sexy and tempting.

"Yeah." She nodded, "I want to get up!"

...

In that moment, someone was moving the lock, shit, he really had to change the lock to one where nobody had the key to. With the noises from the lock, Daniel was yelling from outside, "Mom, Grandpa said there was a lady killer in here, are you inside? I want to get the lady killer!"

She couldn't help but to laugh awkwardly, her son was going to save her life, "William, go and open the door, otherwise he will come in by himself!"

"How can I open the door like this!" He said, and quickly put on his pants, he looked awkward, but when he saw the tent in his crotch, he blushed.

"This is not my fault, he got up himself! Because he hadn't seen you in a month! And it is early in the morning!" William said.

Sherry's face blushed as well, and she grumbled in a flirtish manner, "Shut it!"

"Don't come in!" William held the door handle, "Wait!"

"Why can't I come in!" Daniel yelled from outside, then he suddenly said, "So the lady killer is you! I will bring you down!"

"Open the door!" Sherry came over and wanted to open, but William pulled her into his arms.

"Hey!" Sherry whispered.

"Sorry, but I gotta wait for him to go down, then I will open!" He pointed at his dick.

Sherry looked down, and her face that just went back to its normal color blushed again, she looked up in his arms, and stared at him, saying, "You are an animal!"

"Haha..." William black eyes that were bright as the stars were filled with warm laughter, he hugged Sherry close with one hand, and said into her shoulder, "Only when I am with you!"

"Go away and open the door!" Sherry didn't want to dawdle with him anymore.

"Mommy, open the door, I want to protect you, I won't let the lady killer hurt you!"

When William heard the words "lady killer" his face suddenly turned green, "Am I really that lustful?"

Sherry couldn't help but to laugh, she couldn't say that he wasn't, a lady killer was the perfect way to describe him! It was just perfect! "What do you think?"

William took a few deep breaths, finally little William calmed down, Sherry pulled him to the side and opened the door.

She saw Daniel and Samuel standing at the door, with a toy gun in his hand, Daniel said, "Time to catch the lady killer!"

"Daddy..." Samuel actually wanted to run to him happily, but suddenly realized something, then he looked at Daniel carefully and then took a step back again, he looked down to his feet, and looked really pitiful.

William covered up his awkwardness, and looked at the two kids, "Daniel, Samuel! It's been a while, have you missed me?"

"So when Grandpa was talking about a lady killer, he was talking about you!" Daniel scanned the room, there was no one else inside, and then he suddenly understood, screaming, "Samuel, let's get the lady killer!"

As he said so, Daniel pulled up his gun, and pointed at William.

Sherry laughed as she watched them, then she sighed, "Right, Daniel, take this lady killer and get him out, I need to change!"

"Yes, Ma'am, please don't worry, we will take care of him!" Daniel went over and pointed the gun at William, "Mr. Bad Guy, raise your hands in the air and come with us for your interrogation!"

William was helpless, "I won't go!"

"Mommy needs to change, you gotta go out right now, Grandpa said if you don't go, he will shut you out!" Daniel blackmailed him.

William looked at Samuel, who hadn't spoken the whole time, he just looked down on the floor like a child who had done something wrong, "Samuel, what's wrong?"

"Daddy..." Samuel wanted to say something but didn't.

"Samuel, Grandpa is calling for you, you should go!" Daniel interrupted him.

"But I didn't hear it!" Daniel said.

"He just did, you should go!" Daniel was worried Samuel would be a renegade so he made up a lie.

Sherry only had to look at him once to know that he was lying, but she didn't say anything, so Samuel went.

Sherry then looked at Daniel and said, "Daniel, I don't like children who lie."

Chapter 153 - A Moment in Destiny

Cohen heard Sherry's nagging from outside the door and felt bad for little Dan. Sammy was standing next to him and he was holding Sammy's hand, even though he didn't call for him. He needed to help Dan out, "Sherry, I did ask for Sammy!"

Dan turned his head and saw Cohen, he couldn't believe that Cohen lied on his behalf. He said honestly, "Mom, I lied! It's my fault!"

William felt bad looking at Dan lonely and dejected expression. He went up and hugged him, "Sherry, he's still young! We should forgive him as long as he learns from his mistake!"

"I don't need your sympathy!" Dan pushed William away. "I was at fault. I will go to my room and reflect on my actions!"

"Dan?" said Sammy, "I'll go with you!"

"What? I thought we were apprehending a pervert? I cannot do that alone!" Cohen tried to make up a story. "Dan, we have not accomplished our mission!"

"Mr. Sutton, they made a mistake and should reflect on their action. Don't help them! Dan, go to your room. Sammy, you cannot go with him. You didn't do anything! Dan, you did something wrong and hence you have to shoulder this yourself!" Sherry was strict about it.

Dan pouted and felt wronged. He bit on his lips and said stubbornly, "I'll go to my room if Mr. Rowland leaves! I don't want to see him bully you, mom!"

William was dumbfounded. He tried to help Dan, but Dan still wanted him to stay away from his mother. What a child!

Cohen laughed and exclaimed, "The boy is right! You should get going, William."

"I'll go to your room with you!" said William frustratedly. He carried Dan and said, "Dan, you have not forgiven me, do you?"

“Well, you didn’t protect mom!” Dan was surprised that William was willing to get punished together with him, but it didn’t mean that he forgave William.

“Which is your room?” William looked at the long corridor. “Is it that one?”

Dan pouted and walked into the room around the corner. He stood next to a wall in the room and faced towards the wall. He didn’t say anything else after that.

“Dan, why are you giving me the silent treatment?” William was puzzled. He stood right next to Dan. It was weird seeing two people with very different statures, standing side by side facing the wall.

Cohen rubbed his chin contently and held Sammy’s hand. He yelled across the corridor, “You guys reflect on your actions! I’ll go have breakfast with Sammy.

“I don’t want you here with me!” Dan grumbled.

“Just take it as me trying to make it up to you.”

“I don’t need that. I don’t like you either way!”

“Why?”

“I lost my sister because of you, I hate you!”

William was speechless.

...

Sherry saw them standing in the corner of the room, both facing the wall. They had similar postures even though they were so different in stature.

William turned his head as he heard sounds, he saw Sherry and said, “Sherry!”

“Be quiet!” said Dan. He ordered William to shut up.

“Dan, I’m done making up to you. You can be alone now, I’ll go accompany your mom!” said William as he pursed his lips. He was already walking away.

Dan frowned, “Mom, don’t be with him!”

He was small, but he was stubborn and sure of himself. He declared war against William and he had a serious and stern look on his face.

“Dan, come eat after 5 minutes!” said Sherry as she ignored William.

“Yes, mom!” The expression in his eyes then turned child-like and meek, “Mom...”

It was because he saw William grabbing his mother by the waist. Sherry pushed William’s hand away, but William just moved his hand to another part of her body.

Dan was shocked. His eyes were filled with worries, “Mom, ground me later okay? I’ll do this again later, okay?”

“Yes, you can do this later!” said Sherry. She glared at William and slapped his hand which was on her waist. She then held Dan’s hand and walked downstairs with him.

“Mom, I want to sleep with you and Sammy tonight. We’ll drive the pervert away!” said Dan very seriously. He turned his head and peered at William. He realized that William’s face was twisted and he looked odd.

“Okay! You guys can accompany me tonight!” Sherry nodded.

Dan blinked his eyes and said, “Mr. Rowland, are you eating with us?”

Damn it! William rolled his eyes seeing the two slowly disappearing from his sight. He settled the issue with his father-in-law but couldn’t handle this kid. Why was this kid such a smart ass? Why couldn’t he act more like a kid?

He was drowned in self-pity. He got abandoned!

‘Should we have more children in the future? These two are more than enough. Sherry might completely ignore me if we have another child!’

William felt conflicted!

Cohen noticed Sherry and Dan coming down the stairs. He said, “Come eat!”

“Morning Mr. Sutton!” Sherry was late with her greeting.

“Sherry, would you stop calling me like that?” Cohen’s hand froze up as he was getting some soup. He glanced at William who was walking down the stairs. He made William try to convince Sherry last night, but it seemed like William was useless.

William shrugged. Sherry still needed some time and so Cohen couldn’t do anything about it.

After the meal, the two children had to go to school. Cohen needed to go to the office but he wasn’t so sure about leaving William here. He felt conflicted and was cheerless.

“Mr. Sutton, don’t worry about me! Head on to work!” said Sherry.

“I know!” But Cohen was worried about William.

“I’ll take care of Sherry, don’t worry about it, father-in-law!” William volunteered.

“No need, he can go back. I want to be alone for a bit!” said Sherry.

“Alright, that’s what my daughter said. Go back, William. Don’t you need to go to work?” Cohen yelled.

“No need, I’ll go after Sherry gets better!” said William as a matter of course.

Cohen was even more conflicted. Why did Sherry let William stay last night if she hated William? Did she really hate him? But why was she trying to make him go now? What was going on? He pondered briefly and said, “William, you heard the lady. I’ll get rid of you myself if you’re not going to leave! I’m heading to the office now!”

He decided to leave first.

William understood what Cohen was trying to tell him. He gently helped Sherry up and said, "My dear, should we watch some television today?"

He realized that he had never done anything together with Sherry before. He wanted to make it up to her.

"I don't want to!" Sherry helped Gracie with packing. She could finally go out in two days. She wanted to do so earlier, but Gracie didn't allow her to. Gracie told her that she had to rest properly after giving birth, or else it would be bad for her health.

She then walked up the stairs.

Sherry asked abruptly as she walked up the stairs, "Is my bag at your place?"

The photo album that was filled with pictures of William and Lucille was still in her bag. She assumed that since William didn't bring her bag over, he probably didn't see what was in it.

"Yeah!" William nodded. "It's in the car, I'll go get it!"

He then went to get the bag.

Sherry's phone rang the moment she got to the second floor. It was Celia.

"Sherry, Sue had gone missing. Do you know where she is?"

"She said she was taking some days off. How come she went missing?" Sherry felt her heart thumped.

"I just wanted to see if you know anything about it. My brother is engaged with Ashley! Their engagement party will be held next week. Do you know where Sue is?" Celia didn't want to give up. To her, the only person who was suitable to marry her brother was Susan!

"Leon is getting engaged with Ashley?" Sherry was shocked at the news. "Sue never contacted me. I'll call her right now, wait for a bit!"

Susan and Leon were a perfect match, so why did Leon get engaged with Ashley? What would happen to Sue? Sherry took out her phone and called Susan's number. But Susan's phone was turned off.

She then called the company and they told her that Susan had resigned.

William got to the second floor and realized that Sherry's face was blanched. He quickly asked concernedly, "Sherry, what happened?"

Sherry ignored him and called Celia, "Celia, I couldn't find her. She resigned. She told me that she took some days off, but the company told me that she resigned. Do you know where she used to live?"

William didn't know what happened, but he knew that something bad was going on seeing Sherry so nervous.

Sherry hung up the call listlessly and sat down on the sofa, "William, do you know where Susan lives?"

William was taken aback, but he quickly caught on, "Susan left her job?"

“Yes!” She nodded. “Leon is going to get engaged with Ashely. Susan turned off her phone and we don’t know where she is! Can you try to contact her?”

“I can think of something!” William didn’t know about the engagement. The issue seemed pretty serious, “I’ll get Liam to help!”

William called Liam and Liam was surprised at the news as well.

The news made everyone worried. William hung up the call and hugged Sherry tightly, “Sherry, don’t worry. You have to focus on recovering, don’t think about anything else!”

Sherry sighed, she was depressed, “They were a match made in heaven. Why couldn’t they be together? They loved each other so much, but they couldn’t be together. Such a tragedy!”

...

William suddenly remembered seeing Susan and Cohen in Japan together. He had a sudden realization and quickly called Alexis, “Alexis, help me look into Susan and find out what she was doing for the past 5 years, as soon as possible!”

Sherry glared at him, she didn’t understand what William was doing, “Are you going to find her like that?”

“Yeah, it’s possible. Sherry, I’m afraid that Sue and your father might have a past together!”

Sherry was shocked. She remembered Susan telling her the other day that she wasn’t involved with Cohen in any way even though Sherry saw them kissed. Gosh, this was getting more and more complicated. She said worriedly, “William, what are you suspecting?”

“Sherry!” William looked at Sherry seriously and said after a long pause, “I suspect that father-in-law and Sue had an affair. This might be the reason why Sue refused to keep in touch with Leon for the past few years! They were going to get married and then Sue suddenly disappeared. And she came back after two years, working as a designer at AVL! Nobody knew where she was for the past two years, it was a mystery! And then we saw them kissing at the airport. They might really have something between them!”

“But what would happen to Leon if she was really in a relationship with Mr. Sutton?” asked Sherry.

“You should ask your father about it,” William sighed.

“Well, yeah! If Sue really had an affair with my father, will Leon still be able to accept her? And what will happen to Ashley?” Sherry was utterly confused, this was getting way too complicated!

Chapter 154 - A Moment in Destiny

“Or maybe we were wrong!” Sherry didn’t want to jump to conclusions. At the same time, she was also afraid that it was the truth. What would she say to Celia if it was all true then?

Her expression turned bitter thinking about it. William felt sorry for her and hugged her tightly, “Okay, stop thinking about it. You need to stay calm. Just leave everything to me!”

“Leave it to you? Can you convince Leon and Sue to make peace with each other?” she said harshly.

He didn’t mind her harsh tone and said, “I don’t know. But I first need to find out about Sue and father-in-law’s relationship, then only I can decide what to do!”

“I guess that’s all we can do for now!” Sherry sighed. She then noticed her bag and grabbed it.

“I have your bag with me for some time now, it was sitting in my car the whole time. I feel like you’re with me every time I look at the bag. Sherry. I was miserable without you by my side,” he told her his thoughts earnestly.

“You didn’t open my bag?” It seemed like he didn’t.

“No! It was your privacy, I couldn’t just invade it!” he said.

Sherry smiled bitterly. If that was the case, the album should still in the bag! She opened the bag and took out the album. She placed it right in front of him.

“What’s that?” he asked as he arched his eyebrow.

“Pictures of you and Ms. Mclean. Please return this to Ms. Mclean!” said Sherry calmly.

As time went by, Sherry felt like she didn’t mind the pictures as much as before. Time had past and Sherry finally understood the meaning behind the saying “time heals all wounds”. She was now as calm as ever.

But William wasn’t, “Shit, when did she give you this?”

“I saw this album first. I saw this before I saw the one in your apartment!” said Sherry plainly.

William knew that he was done for. He felt scared hearing her emotionless and cold tone of voice, “Sherry, I’ll destroy them right now!” He then took out a lighter and walked to the bathroom.

“There’s no need!” said Sherry plainly, “Just return it to Ms. Mclean! It belonged to her and she should be the one making decisions about what to do with it!”

“No! I burned the ones at the apartment already. I don’t want them to exist!” he said stubbornly.

“But William, so what if you burned it?” Sherry sighed and said calmly, “Memories are not something you can just get rid off so easily. You have a complicated past with her, and you guys almost got married! For all these years, nobody could be a part of you guys’ relationship! But to me right now, it’s just a photo album! I also have my past. For example, I had a crush on the guy who was good at basketball at school, but that was in the past! Nobody should write off anybody’s past, we should accept each other’s instead!”

William suddenly hugged her tightly, his heart was thumping, “Sherry, you had a crush on someone else?”

Sherry nodded, "Yeah, doesn't everyone have one when they were a teenager? I still remember how handsome that basketball guy was! He was probably around the same height as you! I think I picked up the ball for him once. But I was too far away and couldn't see his face properly!"

"Who is he?" Feelings of jealousy and sadness were brewing in William even though it was just a crush from a long time ago.

"I couldn't remember his name!" Sherry shook her head, "I was really young, I was about 13 or 14 years old I think. It was a wonderful memory!"

"Sherry!" he growled.

Why couldn't he accept the fact that she had a teenage crush back then when she was young and naive, and that she couldn't even remember his name? Why was it driving him crazy?

Sherry turned her head and looked at him, "The past is in the past. I've been through a lot and I know that I should stay open-minded in order to be happy! So we shouldn't let ourselves be trapped by the past and we should try to move on!"

"I don't care, I'm still going to burn this!" He went into the bathroom and lighted the lighter. The album was burned and nothing was leftover. He wasn't heartless, he just really wanted to destroy and forget everything!

The house was then filled with the smell of burnt plastic. Sherry choked and coughed repeatedly.

William watched the album burn until the end and threw the ashes in the toilet bowl. He flushed it away. He walked out hastily and saw that Sherry was in a coughing fit, "Sherry, let's get out. We'll come back after the room is aired!"

Sherry sighed and walked out of the room. Such an unnecessary thing to do. He was so careful yet so clumsy. Was this really the stern and resolute Mr. Rowland she knew from before? She was dumbfounded.

...

Sherry frowned as she looked at him, he seemed unhappy. She was annoyed, why could he be unhappy about?

"William, everyone has their past. I didn't mind you living together with Ms. Mclean before, but you are depressed now just because I had a crush on some guy whose name I don't even remember? You're outrageous!"

"Sherry, it's not outrageous!" he growled.

Sherry's quiet and serene eyes met with William's gaze. She raised her hand and moved away from his hand that was grabbing hers, "Don't touch me."

"Sherry, I don't mean it like that," he quickly grabbed her hand again. He forcefully pressed his large body on her and she was trapped between him and the bed, "I just feel uncomfortable that you had a crush before."

“William, then you should be grateful that I wasn’t wild in the past. My chastity was still protected when I first met you, but how about you?” William had a lot of sexual intercourse with different women in the past, she should be the one feeling uncomfortable.

“Sherry, I’m sorry!” he growled. He knew that she was right. In comparison to her, he was the more disgusting one. “Alright! Just promise me that you won’t think about him anymore!”

Sherry shook her head, “Why should I? You also couldn’t forget Ms. Mclean! Stop telling me what to do, I hate it!”

“Sherry!” said William as he hugged her, “You’re mine, I want you to only think of me!”

“You don’t love me, you’re obsessed!” she said.

“I love you!”

“No, you just love yourself!” she said.

“Sherry!” He was still hugging her tightly. She wanted to break free, but he strengthened his grip. She gave up.

William used the chance to lie down next to her. He held her hand tightly and said earnestly, “Sherry, love is selfish. But I won’t think about anyone else but you anymore, will you do the same for me too?”

Upon hearing that, Sherry felt an odd and sad sensation flowing through her heart. Sherry stared at him, he was so obsessed. She felt afraid and helpless!

“Please?” He stared at her. He couldn’t help it and wanted to kiss her.

The moment he inched closer, Sherry turned her head. William’s kiss landed on her cheeks and Sherry closed her eyes listlessly as his thin cold lips touched her cheek, “I’m tired. Get out.”

“Okay, go sleep! I won’t bother you!” he said. He was dejected, she wouldn’t let him into her heart anymore.

“I’m not leaving!” he whispered next to her ears. His warm breath made Sherry shudder.

Her soft and supple earlobes made William's heart throbbed. Shit, he got hard!

He growled and wanted to punch himself, “Okay, you should sleep. I’ll go downstairs!”

At night, it was merry at the Sutton family. The two children got back from school.

Sherry wanted to go shower after dinner. She was still smelling like smoke because of William’s deed in the morning and felt uncomfortable.

“Mom, I’ll be at the door looking out for you!” Dan volunteered. He stood in front of William, not letting him get close to Sherry.

“Sherry, I’ll get you your clothes!”

“No need, I’ll get mommy’s clothes!” Dan didn’t even glance at William. William’s face turned dark, but Dan was still vigilantly standing in front of the door.

“Hey kid, I’m you mom’s man. This is my job!” William got angry, Dan was his born nemesis.

Dan scoffed and raised his head, “I rather have Mr. Fox going after mommy than you. Stop threatening me!”

“What? Did Keegan slip you some candies or something?” William blinked and met with Dan’s protective eyes. William then had an idea, “Dan, but your mom doesn’t like Mr. Fox. Your mom will get angry and not like you anymore if you convince Mr. Fox to go after you mommy.”

“Hmph! That wouldn’t happen!” Who was he trying to bluff? His mother was not that small-hearted. “Mom, you wouldn’t hate me, right?”

Dan walked over and held Sherry’s hand. His expression turned from provocative to meek, his puppy face pulled everyone’s heartstrings, “Mom, do you not like me anymore?”

“How could I? I don’t want anyone else but you!” said Sherry. She pecked him on his cheek and said, “Good boy. Protect the door and don’t let anyone come in. I’ll go shower now.”

“Yes! Go ahead, mommy!” Dan glanced at William smugly.

“You! When will you stop blocking my advances?” said William coldly. He swiftly went up to Dan and carried him up. Dan was dumbfounded and William threatened him complacently, “I’ll send you to Africa and you’ll be lion’s feed!”

“I dare you!” said Dan, “Mom will hate you to death and you won’t get to marry her!”

This bastard! William’s face turned darker, he was so pissed at the child.

“Mr. Rowland, I’m going to sleep together with Sammy and mommy tonight. You’re not welcome here, please go back!” said Dan as he tapped William’s shoulder as if he was comforting him.

“You are my nemesis. Did God send you here to punish me?” William frowned as he looked at the small hand tapping his shoulder.

“Are you afraid of me?” said Dan contently.

“Yes, yes I am!” William put Dan down. Suddenly, his phone rang.

“Alexis, how was it?” he said as he picked up the call.

Alexis was talking on the other side of the phone and the creases between William’s brow burrowed deeper and deeper. He glanced at the bathroom door and had another shady idea in his head. He hung up the call and glared at Dan, “Hey, kid. Your mom won’t be sleeping with you guys tonight!”

“Why?”

“Because she needs my wide chest for love support. You guys are still too tiny!” said William.

When Sherry got out of the shower, Sherry had to make Dan leave after hearing William said, “Sherry, Sue and your father had an affair!”

Dan protested as he was being pushed out of the room, “Mom, you promised to sleep with us!”

“Be a good boy, this matter is urgent!” said Sherry as she closed the door.

There were only two people in the room now. Sherry said shockingly, “Is it real?”

William dried her hair with a towel and said, “Alexis’ information is trustworthy. Sue was father-in-law’s mistress for 5 years!”

“What!” Sherry trembled and felt cold all over.

“There’s one more thing, please don’t be too shock after hearing about it!” said William.

“What?” She didn’t think she could handle another shocking news.

Chapter 155 - A Moment in Destiny

William said, “And she has your daddy’s baby in her tummy.”

“Oh, my gosh!” Sherry covered her mouth with hand, trying to stop herself from shouting.

William shook his head and asked, “Could you accept that you daddy will have a new baby even younger than your son?”

Sherry was astonished without saying anything to him.

In the study of Cohen’s house, there was a tall man who was smoking beside the window. He was going blank right then and seemed to forget to flip the much ash from the cigarette.

It was dark at night; Sherry encouraged herself to come to see Cohen Sutton who was lonely standing beside the window.

She was trying to say something but failed to say anything.

This was her biological father.

But Sherry did not know how old he was, what he loved and what his hobby was; she had not yet called him “daddy”, neither asked him how he knew Mrs. Jones. She refused to know all the truth because she hated to betray Clark. Sherry would always keep in mind that it was Clark who raised her; he was her daddy forever.

However, as soon as seeing the lonely man, Sherry still felt some of sad. It might be from the biological relationship; she was still worried with seeing him like this.

She was also selfish to see Susan accompany him for his remaining life. How she wished she could forget the love between Susan and Leon! She hated to be so selfish.

Finally, Sherry called him in a lower and hoarse voice slowly, “Boss...”

Cohen turned around and was surprised, “Sherry, you are here.”

Sherry saw the familiar man but did not know what to say.

Cohen continued to ask with great care, “What happened? You are not happy with William?”

“No!” Sherry was moved by his continuous care about her; she knew he tried to compensate her for his absence for years. Unluckily, she was not a kid anymore.

“So?”

“Susan...”

“Uh!” Cohen’s eyes followed Sherry but not said anything; he was waiting for her to tell him something.

Sherry raised her head to look at him and said slowly, “Susan is pregnant...”

Cohen got stunned by these words; he lost his mind. Susan had a baby?

Sherry passed him a paper on which there was an address checked by William, “This is her address! She lives in an easy home. I heard she will give birth to the baby.”

It took Cohen a minute to accept it. The information made him try to explain to Sherry, “Sherry, I will handle it. You are my only daughter forever. All my wealth will belong to you. Anyone else cannot take it!”

“Boss, I don’t talk about it. I will not get your wealth.” Sherry was embarrassed and shook her head; she did not get his point, “How will you deal with it?”

Cohen finished his cigarette and got his coat to go. He said, “Don’t worry. I am going now.”

Sherry thought he was going to pick up Susan. But she was wrong; Cohen misunderstood her.

Susan left for G City which was around two hundred miles from H City.

At midnight, when Cohen knocked at the door, she was greatly surprised to see him just outside her home. She was unhappy while holding the door frame and covering her chest, “Why are you here?”

Cohen watched her and said, “You had a baby in your tummy?”

Susan did not expect him to ask the question, just looking at the handsome man who sounded coldly. She asked him angrily, “How did you know?”

“Is it mine?” Cohen was obviously annoyed and pinched Susan’s chin. Though he was unwilling, he had to tell the trembling Susan, “Susan, you cannot keep it.”

He was not so cruel; he just would not like to see Sherry got sad.

He was forty-five years old and not young anymore, fifteen years older than Susan. Even Sherry’s son was five years old; how could he allow the baby to come to the world?

Cohen was also afraid that Sherry would not admit him as her daddy once the baby was born. At that moment, all he was eager for was to be admitted by his daughter.

Susan burst into tears soon after hearing what he said; she could not believe it and shook her head. “No! It’s none of your business. This is my baby! I will not let it go. It’s nothing related with you; I had another man. You can’t ask me to terminate it!”

“Susan, I know it’s mine. You are not the type of woman as you talked. But Susan, don’t keep it!”

Cohen clenched his fists. He hated himself to do it as well!

Susan calmed down and said to him, "Fuck off!" She pushed him away to the door.

Keegan on the stairs listened to the talk between them. He got to understand why Cohen had to be here so late at night; he knew Cohen very well for being with him for years.

Keegan believed Cohen did it for Sherry.

Just then, Cohen said, "Susan, you know I have never been a loser. Now please go with me to the hospital or I take you there?"

Susan said with tears in eyes, "Why are you doing it to me?"

He said, "Sorry, I have to do it for my daughter."

Susan watched the cold-blooded Cohen and realized that words would not work out at all to change his mind.

She asked, "For Sherry? She knew I am pregnant?"

Suddenly she lowered her voice.

"Sure. She told me that."

Susan got sickness right the moment; she stopped feeling in this way long time ago, but now she got choke, nausea, dizzy and almost fainted.

Although stopped crying, she said with some tear mark on face, "Cohen, it is three-month old."

"I know!" Cohen said with the same sadness, "But I have Sherry."

Susan said in the sharp voice, "But I have nothing! Can you leave our story as a dream? I am just asking to keep the baby! Doctor said I am not strong enough to terminate the baby. And I am over thirty years old; I love the baby more than everything else! Please, please allow me to have it."

Cohen closed his eyes to say, "I'm really sorry."

Hearing it, Susan was extremely disappointed.

She touched her tummy where there was a baby of three months, "Cohen, it is your child!"

He closed the door and carried Susan in his arms to the sofa. Then he had another seat there. Both of them kept silent.

Susan got some smell of cigarette from him, which pushed her to accept the truth. He came here to ask her for abortion as the priority. She felt too heartbroken just like a part of her body was leaving her.

This was an easy condo where was decorated nicely. Besides, Susan bought a cradle, toys, a small bed as well as some colorful cloth for the baby. Cohen had a look at the condo where was not spacious but lovely. Susan should greatly look forward to the baby.

Susan just stopped crying and curled up on the sofa.

She tried best to control her tears and encouraged herself to calm.

However, her lips were bitten to get some of blood. She was helpless then and looked pale.

Cohen extended his hands to Susan. He would kill his baby? It hurt him to the core. But...

He would be much joyful to get it if he did not have Sherry.

Anyway, he had Sherry as his daughter who he had lost for so many years. He had to try to be nice to her, so, he had to hurt Susan.

Cohen said, "Let's go."

Susan shook her head hard and shouted, "No! No!"

Cohen was some of worried with seeing the scaring Susan, but still looked peaceful and thought in mind, "Don't keep it. You will be free to love anyone else. Don't tell him your story and you will have a better life."

At last, he did not say it out; he knew he had to be cruel to Susan and said, "Anyway, we cannot keep it!"

Susan was sure he was a person of his word. She was not strong enough to fight with him. To Cohen, she was as small as an ant.

Susan tried her best to promise him, "Please allow me to keep it for the last night."

It did not change Cohen's mind. He watched the small bed and said, "You are so young to have another one with your true love. You will have a lovely kid and live a happy life. We have to go now! Don't waste one more night."

It was difficult for Susan to promise him, but she still agreed.

She tried to stand up with trembling. She did not look fit due to the sickness in early stage of pregnancy. She was staggering, almost falling down.

Cohen reacted soon to hold her waist. He saw she was unwell and blamed, "You lost much weight. How did you take care of yourself?"

She kept silent with controlling the tears and felt much heartbroken.

Just coming to the door, Susan turned around to hold Cohen's neck where she hid her face. She said, "Please leave it with me! I promise not to interrupt you forever! You can let us go anywhere you like. We will not see you anymore. I promise you. Please leave it with me. Please!"

She cried out. Cohen tried to hold her back, but stopped in the air to leave her crying.

It hurt him. After a while, he held Susan and closed his eyes. A tear drop came down from his eye; it was so soon that Susan did not see.

Cohen did not say anything which made Susan depressed. She knew she failed to persuade him. If he was changed the mind so easily, he would not be the one she knew well.

Leaving his arms and looking at him, Susan said with tears full of eyes, "Ok, terminate it if you don't like."

She watched his face and eyes. Though he was not young, he was a charming but cold man. She knew he was too scaring.

"Let's go!" She said.

Susan was regretful to beg him one more time.

Chapter 156 - A Moment in Destiny

The evil did not allow the baby to stay with Susan overnight.

Susan touched her tummy and turned to resent him, "Cohen, I hate you! Forever!"

Cohen unclenched his fists and said, "Ok."

Keegan heard someone opening the door and ran downstairs to call Sherry soon. This time, he stood against his stepfather for the first time.

Sherry was shocked when answering the call, "Keegan, pardon?"

"Sherry, Mr. Sutton asked Ms. Gill to abort it."

"Oh!" Sherry screamed, "How can he do it? Where are you? In the hospital? I am going there now! Please tell him not to do it! I will also call him now."

"Sherry, they are having a talk. Ms. Gill refused it. But you don't know Mr. Cohen well. It's hard to change his mind. If he got to know I give you the call, he would..."

Sherry hung off the call nervously, "I am going to stop them! Please also help me!"

She turned back to see William and said, "Cohen asked Susan to terminate the baby. We have to stop them. Go quickly."

"Um!" William was concerned about how Sherry was then; there was another day left for her. He said, "Sherry, don't worry. I will go. You'd better stay here until the day after tomorrow."

"No, William. I am ok now." Sherry did not have so much break after giving birth to baby. She said, "Hurry up! We don't have much time. If I were not going, he would ask Susan to do abortion for sure. William, the baby is my younger sister or brother; it's my mate in the family!"

William nodded and watched Sherry with worry. It occurred to him that at that night, she lost Luke and wailed.

"Ok, I am getting your coat." William got her coat to help her put it on and let her get into the car. "Put on your hat. Keep warm."

Just then, Samuel and Daniel came to ask, "Mommy, where are you going?"

Sherry was getting into William's car and said, "My dears, please stay with Gracie. Mommy has to do something now. Talk with you later."

Daniel got an answer and said, "Mommy is going to have a date with your daddy?"

Samuel hoorayed; he turned back to see Daniel and said, "Hey Dan, don't reject my daddy. He is my daddy as well as yours. If they get married, I will be so glad for not calling anyone else daddy."

Samuel asked, "Would you like them to get married?"

"Sure!" Daniel nodded, "Sammy, could you please not let daddy down?"

"Yes. He made my mommy suffering too much. I will not be nice to him until I am satisfied."

"But I think daddy loves mommy. He knew he is wrong."

"..."

William drove his car in a high speed to G City; Sherry still urged him, "William, please be faster."

William saw a police car chasing them and said, "Sherry, I am trying." He believed later he would have to pay much fine for overspeed driving.

They did not care about it. They had to go to save a baby's life.

William did not what to say, anyway he could not imagine Susan would give birth to such a younger baby for Sherry's father.

Oh! The world really sucked!

In the hospital, the doctor did an ultrasound check-up to Susan and said, "Sir and Madam, the baby is very healthy to have strong heartbeat. It is three-month old. So, madam cannot have curettage and has to be done labor induction. Are you sure to terminate it? I am sorry if you decide. But both of you should keep it..."

Cohen was impatient to hear it, "Stop please!"

The doctor was surprised with his reaction.

"Well. Please go to the women's clinic to pay."

The doctor knew they determined to do it, not saying anything, but he felt it strange that they came to make it rush in the midnight.

Cohen kept silent and passed the slips to Keegan.

"Mr. Sutton..." Keegan tried to say something.

"Shut up!" Cohen stopped him.

Keegan had to go to pay and also hoped Sherry would be here soon.

Susan was too sorrowful and went blank. Cohen held her hands to the operation room of women's clinic. The nurse led Susan, but Susan was stepping backwards to protect her baby.

“No, I won’t do it.” She shook her head hard and got rid of Cohen to run away. “No, no!”

The baby grew up in her body in the past one hundred days. Susan was too happy with it. So, she could not kill it!

The baby was all she expected in her remaining life. Susan lost her love or would not love anyone else. She had nothing left; why did Cohen still take the baby from her?

“Susan, stop!” Cohen ordered her in her back.

“Cohen, you can take my life, but you cannot take the baby! I need to keep it!” She shouted and cried out.

Cohen chased her to hold her wrist and carried her in his arms.

Susan started to kick him; on the quiet corridor of the hospital, she made much noise.

Cohen did not let her go, just locking her in his arms with his shoulders. Although being kicked, he was numb enough to ignore it.

“Cohen, I hate you! You go to the hell!”

Cohen shouted angrily to the nurse, “Please take her to the room. Quickly!”

The nurse scared him and had to come to take Susan; she had not known what happened.

Suddenly, Susan bit Cohen’s hand until it got bleeding. But Cohen did not move at all, just watching her with sympathy.

If she did it to make her feel better, he would prefer being bitten by her again.

Even this, Cohen kept her in his arms so that the nurse got Susan.

Keegan came back to see Susan’s blood on her lips as well as Cohen’s bleeding hand on which there was some tooth mark.

He could not help saying, “Mr. Sutton, please think it twice. Sherry is on the way here. She would not like you to do it.”

“Why you told her?” Cohen roared in rage.

“Cohen, please! This is your baby. How can you kill it?”

“Keegan, please help us. Please...”

Susan begged for Cohen’s kindness. She was so helpless that made everyone here not have the heart to see it.

“No! I only need Sherry.” Cohen closed his eyes with sadness. He had to do it for Sherry as well as Susan’s future. He said, “Nurse, please take her for operation.”

Susan cried like an injured little animal and was taken to the operation room. All the corridor was filled with her miserable shouting. “Cohen, you are an evil!”

She screamed in desperate just like her life would come to an end soon. She hated Cohen and kept saying, "I hate you!"

Cohen mumbled, "It's ok."

The door of the operation room was closed and it was quiet everywhere.

Sherry was here just that moment. She held William's hands, "No! William, please save her!"

Hearing the voice, Cohen and Keegan turned back to see Sherry and William. Sherry ran to them out of breath and grasped Cohen's hand, "If you asked Susan to terminate the baby, I will not call you daddy for all my life!"

"Sherry!" Cohen was astonished to hear it, "Why are you here?"

William and Keegan kicked the door open to see the stunned Susan lying on the bed.

Susan got up as soon as hearing the door was open.

"William, help!" she called William in a lower voice just like a drowning person trying best to get a rope.

William felt relaxed for coming here in time, "Susan, don't worry. We are here now. Sherry and I will definitely save you and your baby! You have my brother-in-law! Don't worry."

Keegan had a look at William who was kidding at such a moment. But he also felt relaxed about saving the baby.

Sherry also ran to the room to see Susan; she had not yet known what she would call Susan.

She only went to cuddle Susan and told her quietly, "I'm sorry I am late. Let's go home. I need the baby brother or sister. It's a member of my family."

Susan raised her head to look at the crying Sherry. She understood Sherry really worried her. Susan almost gave up the baby just then; she could not think about it again and cried, "Sherry..."

Cohen stood beside the door and saw Sherry cuddle Susan and cry. He was hesitated.

Sherry just told him if he forced Susan to terminate the baby, she would never call him daddy.

How kind the daughter was! She loved everyone of her family. Nevertheless, was it wise enough to keep the baby? Cohen stepped backwards and got a cigarette.

"Mr. Sutton." Keegan got to see how disappointed he was, "I know Ms. Gill loves you. I never mind having a young stepmother as her. Sherry neither minds having a brother or sister younger than her own son. Why are you so insistent?"

...

William held Sherry's hands to the restaurant on the second floor. Leon was surprised at their holding hands and started to be envious. He was always envious of any perfect couple, finally he got a girlfriend and would be engaged soon.

Leon asked, "It's not dinner time. Would you like to have some food or coffee?"

William looked at Leon; he found Leon looked happier today than they met many days ago. He said, "No, thank you. We are here for only one question. Leon, are you going to be engaged?"

Leon was embarrassed about his question, but tried to answer him easily, "Sure. Did you receive my invitation card? Don't forget to come."

Sherry held William's hand hard; William also did the same thing to her as a reply, "Leon, congrats."

Sherry called him in a lower voice, "William." She did not know when he was going to talk about Susan with Leon.

Leon was doubtful, "Sherry, what happened?"

William held Sherry's waist to stop her from talking. He started first, "Leon, could we have a talk in your office? Sherry, please wait for me outside."

Sometimes, it was easier for men to have a talk in the absence of women. Or Leon would not like to tell the truth.

"Ok!" Sherry nodded.

Leon also agreed while seeing how serious William was.

Chapter 157 - A Moment in Destiny

Sherry found a seat and sat down. She could not go in because she felt awkward with her position, thinking that William would ask what kind of affection did he really had for Susan! However, if Leon did not want to let go and did not care about it, what will happen to father?

Father?

Uh!

Father!

Sherry sighed, what should she do? One of them was her father, the other was Leon. Leon and Susan were also very compatible with each other, but Susan was now pregnant with father's child! What should be done about it?

She remembered that Susan had said that she would give birth to this child. However, did she intend to raise the child together with Leon? 'No! How can a man accept this?' She thought.

While she was deep in thought, a figure suddenly appeared in front of the table. She subconsciously looked up and could not help but be excited when she saw Reggie Kelly. "Eh! Reggie, why are you here?"

"When I saw you guys coming upstairs, I followed you guys up. So, how's it going? How is your body recovering?" Reggie hooked his lips slightly while sitting down opposite to Sherry.

"I feel much better! I was going to thank you, but I haven't been able to reach you. The contact number you gave me seems to be off all the time!" Sherry had called many times trying to thank this person who had saved her.

Reggie's elegant and handsome face raised a smile, "I went back to France, I just came back yesterday!"

"What's the matter?"

"Something happened at the company, but it's now taken care of!"

"That's great!" As they chatted, Sherry thought of that day when he said that when she recovered, he would tell her everything about him and Lucille.

Recently, William had not mentioned about Lucille, and she herself did not know how Lucille was doing! She did know know if William was still taking care of Lucille.

"Reggie, did you meet up with Lucille recently?" She asked tentatively.

"Her illness got serious again!" Reggie said indifferently, his expression remained clam, only a flash of pain could be seen in his eyes. "I went to visit her once, and she actually recognized me as William!"

Sherry suddenly remembered that day, Lucille said William was blue-eyed and black-haired, at that time, Reggie's appearance flashed in her mind, but she did not think that it was really him. "How can she recognize the wrong person? Maybe the person she thought about was you and not William?"

"How could she had thought of me" Reggie shook his head, "She never loved me!"

"Reggie, isn't it strange that she called out William's name, but said his eyes were blue? However, when William stood in front of her, she actually said that he's not William! That's really strange!"

Reggie was slightly surprised. "She doesn't recognize William anymore?"

"She could not recognize the last time William visited her! However, before that, she could recognize him, I have no idea why!" Sherry still had not figured it out until now, "Maybe she has feelings for you, she just doesn't know it herself! Or maybe she was too focused on the past, or she was forcing herself to focus on the past. That's why she kept remembering Williams's name, lying to herself that she was devoted, or had stopped loving other people long ago and just couldn't accept that William had lied on her! Or perhaps, she was preoccupied with the fact that William had cheated on her and was hurt too deeply to extricate herself for a while which caused everything up until now to happen!"

"Sherry?" Reggie was slightly surprised, why did everything she said was similar to was Jesse said before? He remembered that when he was about to left, Lucille was clinging on to his hand to prevent him from leaving!

'Was it possible? Did she ever love me?' He thought.

Reggie smiled bitterly, "I said I would tell you this story, and now, I'm telling you! I won't go back on my word! Maybe after hearing this story, you won't think she loves me!"

That year.

Three years ago.

Paris, France.

From Korea to Paris, Lucille came to this strange country, looking at strange people. She could not help but squatted at the exit of the airport and cried. She lost her love, the man she trusted most had a child with another woman, how could she not be heartbroken?

"Miss, are you alright?" Someone talked in Mandarin with a deep voice. Lucille jerked her head up.

Just like that, a pretty face crashed into Reggie's line of sight. In that instant, Reggie's heart trembled, and his handsome face wore a warm smile.

Then he said another sentence in Japanese, but Lucille replied, "I'm Chinese!"

"Oh! What a coincidence, my father is also Chinese!"

Lucille froze and looked at Reggie. The man in front of him had handsome and prominent features, perfect face shape and a happy-go-lucky aura around him. Moreover, with his deep blue eyes, he looked wild and sexy.

"Miss, are you alright? Why are you crying here?"

"That's none of your business!" Lucille's tone was impulsive. She stood up, then pulled her suitcase and left.

Reggie did not chase after her.

However, at night, in a bar, he saw Lucille again. She was drunk and was being pestered by some Frenchmen, Reggie went over and took her from the French men's hands and told them that this was his wife.

The Frenchmen did not pester her anymore.

The slightly drunk Lucille raised her eyes and saw Reggie again. She grinned and said, "Handsome man, it really is a handsome man!"

That night, he took her to a hotel.

When he finally put Lucille down on the bed, she hooked her arms around his neck and tears sprang up again. It was obvious that she was very sad.

Then he heard her say, "Handsome guy, let's do it!"

This sentence aroused Reggie's desire.

However, he was not that kind of man that will do it with every woman he meets, he was a person with principles.

"You're not looking for a man you can sleep with at the bar, are you?" His sexy thin lips rose slightly, and his dark pupils were like magnets locking onto Lucille's soul, causing a moment of surprise in her misty eyes.

"How do you know?" She grinned again, then hooked her arms around his neck. "I've got my eye on you! Handsome guy!"

Reggie narrowed his eyes, a subtle change flashed at the bottom of his pupils. He looked at her coldly for a moment, and lowered his head to kiss her on her lips. "Woman, you should pay for your actions!"

"I don't want to!" Her tone was with aggression and a hint of resentment. At that time, Reggie did not know what she was aggrieved about.

It was just her sweet lips that tempted his senses. Suddenly, his hand pressed violently on her big right breast, squeezing her breast as hard as he can.

He heard Lucille draw back a breath and her body started to become tense, making her cry out in shock at such an intimate move as this.

He leaned down and kissed her on the lips, tossing, sucking and tangling.

He ripped off her clothes, leaving her exposed to himself. She had a nice figure, typical for a woman who was from the east, voluptuous yet enchanting.

He kissed her and she was passionate enough to teased him back.

His knees went between her legs, spreading her legs maliciously. His fingers that were rubbing pinching and pulling on her private parts intensified violently. Other than that, he was also kissing her aggressively. Lucille already cried out by how overwhelming she felt.

"Woman, you are really beautiful!" He nibbled on her tender earlobe and licked the slippery skin on the back of her ear, immediately triggering a fierce gasp from her.

"That hurts!" He heard her cry out ...

And he saw blood flowing out ...

At that moment, he was surprised because she was a virgin... he was the first man to do it with her!

After they had done it, as Reggie saw the rose-color virgin mark on the bed sheet, he decided to marry this woman!

After sobering up, Lucille stared blankly at the marks on the bed, and remained silent for a long time. After that, she got up and dressed. She did not want him to take responsibility, she just wanted to leave, but he already fell in love with her scent and did not allow her to leave him again.

In the days that followed, Reggie began his mad pursuit. A week later, he proposed to her, "Lucy, please marry me!"

Lucille froze and looked at him. She did not speak for a long time, so long that he thought she would not agree, but she said with a complicated look in her eyes, "Reggie, I am not a good woman, you will regret it if you marry me! If you find out later that I'm not actually as perfect as you think I am, will you regret it?"

"No! I will never regret my decision!" Reggie said with certainty.

So, they got married! Their marriage gave off a feeling that it happened on the spur of the moment!

But, six months after the wedding, she began to call another man's name when they have sex. At first her murmurs were soft enough that it was considered inaudible, but after some time her murmurs became so loud that it was insuppressible. Reggie heard that person's name ~ William.

At that time, he was in shocked!

He asked her who William was!

However, Lucille started crying loudly. He could not bear to continue asking her after seeing her mournful look on her face.

He never questioned her again. After that, she also stopped shouting that name.

He thought it was her first love, and he was not a petty, unreasonable man. However, three months later, she began to shout that name again. When a woman started shouting another man's name when they were enjoying having sex, it should be considered a shame to any man.

With a "slap", Reggie slapped her and bought her back to reality.

"Boohoo..." Lucille cried. At first it was just soft whimper and escalated into a loud sob.

"Who the hell is William?" He finally could not stand it anymore.

However, she still remained silent.

Feeling helpless, Reggie sent someone to find out everything about William.

When the investigation results were sent from the mainland to France, Reggie looked at that result and his whole body was in shocked. It turned out that he was not the first man to ever slept with Lucille. It turned out that she had a hymen repair operation in Korea! It turned out that she had had intimate relations with many men before!

After the truth was poured over Reggie's head like ice water, he went and questioned Lucille, she also admitted without hiding anything. "Yes, I lied to you, I'm not a virgin, I don't love you, Reggie. The one I love is William, I've always loved him! If I could still have children, William and I would have been married and living happily together!"

He was dejected, for a few months, Reggie could not even have an erection! He finally recovered after seeing a doctor!

However, he never touched Lucille ever again!

Lucille started to drink all day. Sometimes she will cry when she is drunk, and continue drinking after she cried.

He had no choice but to divorce Lucille after two years of marriage.

After the formalities, when he went back to get his things, he found her hurting herself.

When he found her drunkenly burning herself with a cigarette, he was stunned. Only then did he realize that she was actually hurting herself! He went to stop it, but she hugged him and shouted William's name. He lowered his head and looked at her, but hated her for not getting up.

This was because he realized that it seemed like a year since he had looked at her carefully, and only then did he realize that her already pale face was now even more heartbreakingly pale. She was even thinner than before and her cheeks had sunken in. Her eyelashes had also covered her eyelids, hiding deep shadows that were the result of exhaustion as well as anxiety and chronic alcoholism. She was in a bad state, in a state of madness.

He had no choice but to notify her family, but her sister was the only one who came to France.

Chapter 158 - A Moment in Destiny

He finally knew, eventually, Madam Mclean was not Lucille Mclean and Darcy Mclean 's biological mother. Their mother had passed away in a psychiatric hospital 20 years ago. She had a hereditary psychosis.

But at the moment for Lucille's own good, he recommended sending her to a psychiatric hospital. But Darcy was extremely unwilling to do so, Lucille's condition was only getting worse.

Darcy had no choice but to send her elder sister to the hospital.

Reggie Kelly had visited her a few times. But every single time, she would hug him and screamed William Rowland's name out loud.

Finally, his patience had gone out so he was determined to find William. He wanted to know what kind of superpower did this man had and why Lucille was so obsessed with him all the time. She even hurt herself just for him!

But before he did anything, William had unexpectedly fetched Lucille back from the hospital...

"You know everything that happened after that!" Reggie said.

Sherry shockingly looked at him and suddenly felt poignant for this man. 'How could Lucille do something like that to him?'

"Don't stare at me with a pity look!" Reggie laughed, "Would you mind if I smoke a cigarette?"

"Uh! Just smoke!" She replied immediately, "Reggie, you really love her, right?"

"I have no idea!" Reggie shook his head, "I have no idea what is love right now!"

"Ok, I think William is about to come out anytime, I am leaving as well!"

"I will walk you!" She stood up. She did not know how to console him at the moment.

The two of them entered the elevator.

"Don't pity me, I have thought about chasing you and then get rid of you. I want William to spend the rest of his life living in regret and pain, so I can seek revenge for Lucille."

Sherry was astonished, then smiled, "But you did not do it, right? You even saved my life, you are a nice guy! You have never abused Ms. Mclean. You knew Darcy was trying to slander you but you have no complaints about it, it proved that you are a kind person! But since we first met, your glance was filled with hatred when you were staring at me! I guess maybe you are trying to hate me like how you hate William!"

Reggie was slightly shocked, "How did you know that? There is hatred in my look?"

"Yes! I am scared of your gaze at that time!" Sherry was thinking about it and she thought it was funny.

"It is true! I really hate William at that time! But I did not know he was a responsible man! It's all because Lucille was too extreme, this is what she gets! She needs to take the blame herself!"

"I am afraid that Ms. Mclean is just someone who will get infatuated in love. When she falls in love with someone and does something extreme, she will start to regret it and live in terror all day. This might twist her mind, she is actually pretty pitiful!"

Reggie glanced at her sideways, "Sherry, you are really kind!"

In the meantime, they had arrived outside of the restaurant.

"Sherry, you are free to go back upstairs!" Reggie smiled. Suddenly, he saw a person who was quickly approaching them from the elevator. Within a glimpse, he showed a smart yet cunning expression.

"Huh?" Sherry was stunned.

"I didn't chase you but can we just hug?" Reggie raised his eyebrow as he saw William was walking towards them.

Sherry shook her head and chuckled. She stepped forward, "I think I will be the one to give you a hug. I hope we are friends. Besides, thank you so much, Reggie!"

She sympathized with this man from the bottom of her heart.

But William had already come down to the ground floor. He just happened to witness the scene where Sherry took the initiative to hug Reggie while Reggie gave him an extremely provocative look.

'Did she take the initiative to hug Reggie?'

William was shocked, his attractive eyes were fully loaded with anger and jealousy.

Reggie took a glimpse at William. He then got closer to Sherry's ear and whispered, "Sherry, you are a nice lady. Although William is fully packed with flaws, he is passable! Cherish him, I hope you live a happy life! Don't give up on your happiness because of Lucille! You deserve to be happy!"

"Thank you, I will be happy, Reggie, I wish you to be happy as well!" Sherry patted his shoulder. She raised her head and smiled at Reggie, "Bye!"

Little did she know, her intimacy with Reggie had strongly aroused William's jealousy. He walked towards Sherry swiftly and fiercely then mocked her with an irritable tone, "Sherry, I only left for a while and your loneliness is already killing you?"

Sherry heard that indifferent and insulting voice, she turned back over and saw William. Before she even reacted, she saw William's face turned purplish as if she was cheating on him.

"William..." She wanted to explain.

"Enough! Come over here right now!" He could feel the pain as if his heart was getting fried by oil. Damn it, he could not bear any man from hugging her!

But his tone had provoked Sherry's rebellion. Instead of turning back to William, she turned to Reggie and asked, "Reggie, can I have a ride?"

Reggie was surprised and smiled, "Of course! Welcome!"

"Sherry!" William shouted softly. He wanted to pull her over but his self-esteem as a male had stopped him from reaching out. He indifferently said, "Sherry, come over here right now, I said right now!"

Sherry turned back over and stared right into his icy cold eyes. She felt even madder in her heart, 'What is that facial expression? No! Hell no!'

"Reggie, let's go!" She said.

So, she got onto Reggie's car.

William clenched his fist tightly instead of stopping her from leaving. He angrily yelled, "Sherry, you better come back here, otherwise..."

The only response he got was the car that was leaving while he inhaled a load of car exhaust gas.

'Damn it!'

William cursed softly. He immediately got into his own car and followed the car closely.

When he saw the car was driving into YX road, he did not continue to follow. Luckily she was not following him there but the billows in his heart were already rolling furiously!

When he saw they were saying goodbye to each other on the ground floor, he entered the corridor one step ahead and waited for Sherry.

"Bye, Reggie!" Sherry got out of Reggie's car. They were both standing next to the car and Sherry said, "No matter what, just be happy! Besides, take good care of yourself! Goodbye! Thank you!"

"Ok! Don't mention it, you are Mr. Sutton's daughter, so you are considered as my sister. You are welcome, and remember to call me whenever you are free!"

Reggie slightly raised his lips.

"Ok! Bye!" Sherry nodded her head.

The two of them were talking and laughing while saying goodbye. Sherry walked towards the condominium. She had not been here for quite a long time and she wanted to clean it up. She was thinking about where was she going to live.

She entered the staircase and raised her head, she then saw a towering figure standing in the corridor. There was anger blazing in her heart, 'Why was he so mad just now? He was so rude!'

He was leaning against the wall that was facing him. His posture was nutty as he slightly bent his slim and long legs.

His black eyes were particularly abstruse when he was persistently staring at her, they were serene while flickering with a bizarre radiance.

"You, who permits you to follow me?" Sherry frowned and took out her keys to open the door.

"You had the balls to cuddle another man, didn't I mention not to meet him again?" He locked on to her looks, he seemed to be unpalatable or just mad. Yes, he was quite mad and jealous.

"What do you mean cuddle?" Sherry frowned and was unwilling to listen to what he said, "Reggie is the one who saved my life. Without him, I could have died! Why are you making such a big deal for a hug? I just want to hug him, you cannot stop me! Go away!"

Without Reggie, maybe she had already passed away because of the mass bleeding! She was thinking while flattening her lips. She was also mad at William's tone when he was talking with her.

Sherry opened the door and ignored him. The moment she wanted to walk in, he suddenly grabbed her.

She did not have enough strength than him, damn it! She actually ignored his presence! He was furious.

All of a sudden, he made a bigger step and walked into her door before her with an extreme speed.

Sherry flattened her mouth and followed him. She switched on the light, it had been one month since she came back last time. She looked around the narrow living room, there was a thin layer of dust in the unit. It seemed like Celia Hickman was not here for a long time as well.

He pressed her against the door right after entering. He looked down at her, his dashing eyebrows were holding back the anger.

Sherry looked upwards at him, "What are you doing? Are you mad? If you are mad, get out of the house, no one is forcing you to come here!"

William did not mean to step away. His towering body figure was just like a wall which created a shade.

"Sherry, why are you not listening to me? I do not like it when you are with him!" He sounded a little bit aggrieved, "When I asked you to come back over, why aren't you coming back?"

"He is my friend, Reggie and I are friends. You do not have the right to stop me from having friends. William, this is my freedom!" She tried to talk some senses to him calmly but the words spilling out were not in balance. "Besides, I am just giving him a hug, didn't you hug Lucille? No, didn't you sleep with Lucille too? When compared to the two of you, mine was just a hug while you guys were way more intimate! You cannot even bear it when I just gave him a hug! Then I cannot bear with you either!"

William was stumped, 'Yes, she was right. But... isn't it in the past? Didn't they promise not to mention it ever again?

Sherry instantly pulled a long face. She was furious, "Go away, I do not want to see you anymore!"

"..." William flinched. She was trying to get rid of him again, he was thinking what he had done wrongly. Which man could be the demeanor even after witnessing his lady hugging another man?

Sherry moved one step to the side and wanted to pass by him.

But he suddenly reached out his hand and dragged her into his arms with his strong arms. He tightly secured her in his chest and would not even leave a single chance for her to escape. Sherry could not struggle and escape and she was too afraid to disturb her neighbors. She gritted her teeth and yelled, "William! Let go of me! You are being unreasonable, I don't want to talk to you!"

William pressed her torso fully against himself. Her body was soft and smooth with a hint of fragrant. The scent of the milk soap plus the unique smell on Sherry induced a stream of hot current to pass through his abdomen, "Sherry, I will never hug any other women. My chest will always be yours! But please do not hug another man, is that ok? Can you promise me that?"

Sherry tried her best to calm down but still could not help and pushed him away, "Let go of me! I do not believe you! You never ever stick to your words. Even when the situation today repeated, I would still hug Reggie anyway! Humph!"

She purposely said that as he did not have the right to keep her on a tight leash.

"Haha... Sherry, are you telling me that you are jealous?" He laughed as he found out she seemed to be jealous. Suddenly, his mood turned better.

She was mad, "William, I am definitely not jealous at all!"

William put his arm around her waist and made her get closer to him until their abdomens were touching, "Dear wife, I am glad that you are jealous. But all of that is from the past, you cannot punish me by hugging others!"

Sherry was instantly stunned, she raised her head to look at him. His good looking eyebrows were just right in front of her eyes. The edges and corners of his face were obvious. But at the moment, his eyes were packed with the power of a leopard while she was just like his prey.

She suddenly apprehended, "Let go of me! I am not punishing you!"

"Sherry!" William's handsome face looked slightly sad. He was hurt and asked with a lowered voice, "In this case, are you trying to tell me that you truly wanted to hug him? Would you die if you did not hug him?"

'What does he mean by I would die if I did not hug him?'

Sherry flinched and her heart sank within a moment, 'Why was everything coming out of his mouth so offensive?'

This time, she furiously pushed him away. He did not expect her to have such great strength.

"Sherry!" His tone was a little bit upset.

Chapter 159 - A Moment in Destiny

“Get out, William Rowland!” She was already sad. She started cleaning up her apartment as she tried to ease her feelings of sadness and being wronged with some work.

He did not say anything at the moment. He looked at her cleaning up the house but did not leave.

Yet, he was worried about her body that had not recovered yet as she kept doing work. Seeing her walk into the bedroom to clean up the bedsheet and quilt cover, he followed her into the room.

“You cannot do all these now. Your body has not recovered yet! Follow me!” He walked towards her and held her waist. Then, he carried her and walked away without any explanation.

“William, what are you doing?”

“I am taking you to go back to our home!” He said with a deep tone.

“I don’t want!” She continued to fall out with him because his words were too hurtful. She was really angry and she only wanted to yell at him, “William, I hate you. Let me tell you, if I did not hug Reggie Kelly, I would die! Let go of me!”

“What did you say?” He immediately let go of her after she yelled. He had a terrifying sullen face.

At that moment, the ambience was a little weird. She could feel his gaze with a murderous intention on her and it stiffened her whole body.

Sherry Murray did not speak. She took a step back and laughed coldly, “You, get out!”

William took a step forward and held her fair wrist tightly. He said coldly, “So, so, you really care about Reggie that much!”

William’s handsome face had been distorted by the anger of jealousy. He clenched his teeth while holding Sherry’s slim wrist. The force on his hand was getting stronger!

Sherry bit her lower lip while bearing the pain from her wrist. Her hand was almost broken by him!

Sherry glared at William fiercely. Her eyes were full of tears inadvertently, “You bastard! It is not like what you are thinking. You are the one who thinks I am that bad! I hate you!”

Sherry’s tears fell down on her face like a broken pearl necklace.

Her tears immediately made him come back to his senses. He suddenly sighed, hugged her, and carried her to the bed. He put her onto the bed and laid down his body to press on her. He hugged her tightly while burying his face into her neck. He sighed and said, “I am sorry. I am just afraid that you would leave me!”

What did he say?

Would he be afraid? He was William Rowland!

The cold tears of feeling wronged drenched over her pretty face to the back of her ears. His mouth tasted a salty taste. He knew they were Sherry’s tears because of melancholy. His movements became gentle as his fingers gently wiped off the tear stains. Yet, she cried harder as he helped her to wipe off the tears.

Everything became messy. William could not remember how he became angry, how jealous he was, and how he lost his senses. At this moment, William only wanted to hug this crying woman, kiss her tear stains because of sadness, and make her belong to him alone, from the body to soul.

He gently kissed her.

At the moment, Sherry was already tired of crying. Her consciousness became a blur and she leaned against William's strong arm while sobbing with a low voice.

"Okay, stop crying! It is my fault. It is all my fault!" He was finally beaten by her tears. Since when did he apologize to others? However, it seemed that he had only apologized without doing other things since these days that he stayed with her!

Upon hearing his apology, her tears suddenly fell down again, "Actually, actually it was my fault!"

She said softly with sobs, "It... It is me who did not think about your feelings... It is my fault. Yet, you were so fierce. You have said you would dote on me, but you did not... You even got angry at me..."

'Why did it sound like it was still his fault? Could it be that women in love were this unreasonable?'

She rubbed her tears on his clothes and said with a low voice, "I am sorry. Today I did wrong!"

Upon hearing that, his eyes were full of joy and he hugged her tightly. She was still a little woman. She wished to act like a spoiled child and wished him to dote on her. However, he could not help to say, "I don't allow you to hug any other man!"

"Okay! I won't!" Her voice was muffled as she buried her face in his chest. She did not dare to look at him as she knew that she was acting unreasonably. She was guilty.

"Look at my eyes and answer me!" He raised her chin and made her look at his eyes. "I want your guarantee!"

There were tears in her big eyes on her little pretty face, "I won't!"

"Won't what?"

"I won't hug any other man!" she said and pouted.

He smiled extraordinary sweet. "Sherry, thank you! I also guarantee you that I will not hug any other woman!"

She was a little embarrassed, "Today I have met Reggie. He told me about the matter between Ms. Mclean and him. William, Reggie is actually really a pity!"

She told him about the story that Reggie had told her. Then, she looked at his frowned eyebrows and said, "That was only a comforting hug. It did not mean anything! If you don't like it, I won't do it anymore. I won't break promises that I have made, don't worry!"

"I did not expect the matter was like this!" William could not help to sigh. He had never expected that Lucille Mclean got married in such a way. Now, he only hoped that she could get better and he would not be guilty towards her anymore!

“Anyway, I still think that she loves you too much! Yet, I feel like she loves Reggie too!” Sherry thought for a moment and stopped thinking about it. “Do you know? Reggie said he wants us to be happy and he has no bad intention!”

“It is impossible! You did not know how provoking his eyes were when you hugged him!”

“Probably, he was only pranking you!” she said.

“I don’t allow you to defend him!” He proclaimed domineeringly. “I don’t like him!”

“Are you sure that the reason you don’t like him is only because of me?”

“Then who else?”

“I thought there is also Ms. Mclean. He is Ms. Mclean’s ex-husband!”

“Sherry!” His voice became serious. He answered seriously, “You are the only one in my heart!”

She looked at his eyes, his gaze was fully on her. She believed in him. “William, you are also the only one in my heart!”

“But you had a crush on a big brother!”

“That was when I was still young, okay?” She smiled. His jealous look was really funny. “You are the only one in my heart!”

“Anyway, I won’t allow you to hug any other person! You are not allowed to hug Sammy and Dan too!” he said again.

“But they are my sons!”

“But they are also men!”

“William...” She shouted with a deep voice.

“I have no other way. I would be jealous, even if they are my sons!” He admitted without hiding anything. He did not care if she would laugh at him. He only wanted to protect her.

“They are still so young!” Sherry was speechless but she loved him so much for acting domineering.

“They are still men!”

“No matter how young they are, they are still men. They are not women. No, you cannot hug women too!” There was still dissatisfaction within William’s deep voice.

“Okay. I won’t do anything you don’t like, okay?” She wiped off the tear stains on her face. She took a deep breath and lowered down her head as she felt embarrassed. Why were they fighting for such a small matter? They quarreled again right after the reconciliation. She did not want to do this anymore!

“Really?” He was surprised. “Are you really going to listen to what I say?”

She had an urge to roll her eyes but she suppressed it. Her lips twisted into a curve and she doted on him while rubbing his hair like dealing with a kid, “Yeah, I will listen to you. I will stop doing anything that you don’t like! Okay, let’s stop this. Let go of me quickly, I have to clean up the room!”

“No! I have a more important thing to do!” He said with a tone of vague feelings. “Sherry... I want...”

“No!” Sherry showed a serious face after hearing his tone. She said seriously, “No, my body has not recovered yet!”

Suddenly, he smiled cunningly, “I never say I want to do that. I say I want to kiss you!”

“You...” Her face blushed.

‘What was she thinking about?’ Sherry was a little upset. When she was in a daze while thinking, William’s voice was heard around her ears and it made her come back to her senses, “Darling, let’s go shopping!”

Although he wanted to have sex with her, he remembered that her body had only recovered after one month. Although it was fine to do that in terms of medical, he did not want to hurt her. So, he bore it!

Sherry was stunned.

“Your body has not recovered yet. I won’t do that to you. I will bear it! I will bear it for another ten days, okay?” He set a time limit for himself.

She was a little touched. Actually, her body was fine a long time ago. Yet, she was really touched after hearing his words. Her eyes became red. “William, how did you suddenly become so considerate?”

“I have always been considerate but sometimes I would neglect you because I was careless. I will definitely pay attention to you in the future. I won’t let you feel wronged anymore!”

He stood up as he said. He held her up too. “Let’s go shopping!”

“Okay!” She had never gone shopping with him. “But I haven’t cleaned up here!”

“Stop cleaning. We are going back to No. 15 Villa. We are not living here! Don’t worry, as your husband, I won’t harm you!” He pulled her hands and they walked out of the apartment.

In the shopping mall.

Sherry held William’s arm. She had not expected that he was the one who would buy things when they came shopping. He was a shopaholic but he bought them for her.

They went to a high-quality women’s clothing store. William pointed at the new arrival winter clothes. After looking at the size, he said to the salesgirl, “This one, this one, pack them for me. Pack this one too. This one too!”

“Sir, don’t you want to try them?” the salesgirl asked.

“No need. I know my wife’s size very well!” he said confidently to the salesgirl.

...

In the end, Sherry’s face blushed, “William, don’t buy anymore, okay? You have bought too much! It was such a waste!”

"No. I have only bought so little!" William quickly wrote a note and said to the salesgirl, "Miss, I need a delivery. We are going to buy shoes and underclothes. Send all of them to this address!"

"William?" Sherry was speechless.

"Darling, if you are too touched, just give me a kiss!" he said.

"I don't want!" She immediately shook her head.

"Then, let me kiss you!" After saying that, he kissed her lips domineeringly. He kissed her beside the clothing store in the shopping mall as if there was no one around them...

'Oh my God!'

Sherry immediately turned her head away as she was shocked. Yet, she was given a hot French kiss while being hugged by him. When he finally let go of her, her body became weak. She could barely stand steadily while using William as support.

Sherry's face completely blushed.

A surprising sound was heard from people from the surrounding, Sherry's face became even red.

"William, it's all because of you. I have no face to meet the others!"

She really felt very shameful. He actually kissed her in front of the public in the mall.

William boasted without shame and whispered in her ear, "Darling, why are you afraid? We are not having an affair! Don't be so shy!"

Looking at her blushed face, it was so attractive. Damn, he wanted to kiss her again.

Chapter 160 - A Moment in Destiny

"I'll go wait for you outside!" Sherry Murray immediately avoided William Rowland and fled to ten meters away from him. But she still couldn't escape the jealous and envious eyes of other women, making her want to bury her head in the sand.

William walked over. He was so handsome, and with a charming smile on his face, Sherry's heart pounded rapidly, and she was unable to calm down. She then became nervous and walked away.

"Wait for me, Sherry. Let's go buy underwear!" William shouted from behind.

"No!" She shouted, walking even faster.

"Stop, you said you'd listen to me!" His voice carried an accusation.

"I don't want to buy it anymore!" She shouted back but stood still.

William walked up, ignoring the people around him. His handsome face looked more and more attractive, and he exuded a charming aura. He scratched Sherry's nose and said with a smile, "Good. Come on, let's go buy underwear!"

"I can buy it myself!" Sherry said, items like underwear, she could just buy it herself.

But William pulled her and went to the lingerie counter.

Looking at the dazzling array of ladies' underwear, he ran straight in without feeling any embarrassment, searching for the latest styles this year.

"Sir, madam, what can I help you with?" The saleswoman greeted them warmly.

Sherry felt embarrassed and lower her head as buying underwear with a man was too humiliating!

"Miss, get me the latest style!" William looked like a big boss.

"Yes!" The saleswoman couldn't help but blush as she looked at the handsome man. "You are so considerate. Madam, your husband is really the perfect man!"

"Uh! Thank you!" Sherry instinctively thanked the saleswoman, but then she blushed again when she thought that they were not yet a married couple.

"Sir, here is the latest model. This underwear just arrived!"

Sherry and William both saw a black lace bra with a mysterious black colour. The scientific design of the bra lifted the breasts to the maximum concentration, and the panties were made of openwork lace fabric, the effect was great!

William said, "This is it. And this, and this, and this, bring them all here. Can you try them on?"

"I'm not trying them on!" Sherry exclaimed. How could he ask her to try on underwear?

"Why not? There's a fitting room over here!"

But William had already pulled her inside and turned back to the saleswoman outside and said, "Go and pick out twenty more models for size 36B!"

"How do you know what size I wear?" Sherry almost screamed out.

The saleswoman immediately went to look for them.

William smiled slyly, pushed her into the fitting room and followed her in!

"William, I'm not trying on! Why do you want me to try on the underwear but not the jackets? I don't want to try them on!" The small space made her feel suffocated, and she felt a little dizzy as his scent poured over her.

"Honey, I don't want you to try it on in here! What if there are cameras? I'm just want to kiss you in here!" With that, he kissed her chattering mouth again, dominantly. He hadn't had his enough earlier, so now he came in here to make up for it!

Shy and annoyed, Sherry's pretty face turned red and reached out to push him, but he clasped her waist tightly and kissed her lips, enjoying the joy of it.

His kisses were tinged with thought and wet desire, so dominant, so full of passion that her heart trembled! For a moment, her mind drifted off. She was utterly stunned by William's madness and passion, allowing him to do anything to her.

After being kissed by William violently, Sherry was so embarrassed that she tried to struggle, but she was too weak. So, she could only be crushed between the wall and William's chest, unable to move.

It was only when his kisses drained her breath that he finally released her, but his lower abdomen was already against hers. She was so surprised that he could have a desire at all times.

William's sturdy body was close to her, but she dared not scream as she was afraid that the people outside might hear, she only felt hot and agitated. At this moment, an image that they were rolling together repeatedly flashed in her mind.

Sherry was panting, and her flushed little face indicated that she was panic. At the same time, his lower abdomen got hotter and harder. He couldn't resist teasing her, "Honey, your face is so red! What's on your mind!"

"You! You..." Sherry stopped talking and bit her lip tight.

He narrowed his gorgeous eyes, and they were dark and deep, "Honey, did you miss me too?"

"I didn't!" She denied quickly, hiding her panic.

Looking at Sherry's delicate look, William's heart fluttered again. He held on the back of her head, lowered his head and kissed her, wrapping one hand around her waist and pressing her even further against him.

Her beauty was too tempting that he could not stop once he started. If she didn't reject it, and if they were not outside, he wouldn't have let her go so easily.

William looked at Sherry and whispered, "Honey, what should I do? I don't want to leave you even for a second!"

His voice was low and charming, with slight hoarseness, "We would not meet for ten days, this is so hard! It's hard for you too, isn't it!"

Sherry's already scarlet face was so red that it was bleeding. She reached out her hand to cover William's mouth and said in a trembling voice, "Don't you dare say any nonsense!"

"Why can't I say?" William whispered, and his mouth curled into a teasing smile, "I want to say it. I just want to say it."

On the way back.

William suddenly thought of something and said, "Oops, why did I forget the most important thing!"

"What?" Sherry was shocked and looked at him.

His hand gripped the steering wheel tightly. "Sherry, it's about Leon Hickman. How did I forget to tell you?!"

"Yeah, you haven't told me how your talk with Leon went. What did he say? Does he want to meet Susan Gill and talk to her one last time?" Sherry also suddenly remembered something important, how could she have forgotten about it too?

William pursed his lips and nodded. "Probably Leon has forgotten about Susan. Sherry, we may be too persistent, maybe Leon had already changed his heart long ago! He said he was responsible for Ashley Jones because he had sex with her while he was drunk!"

"Ah! How did that happen?" Sherry froze.

"It's true. Leon said it happened during the time when we sang together at the KTV. They got drunk that day and could not control themselves, so that was how things happened. After that, he wanted to be responsible for Ashley, and she also came to see him a lot! They even went to see the stars on the West Hill! Then another one-night stand happened. Do you think Leon can still be with Susan? Then what about Ashley?" The decision of William's talk with Leon was that he decided to be responsible for that Ashley.

"Oh my god!" Sherry was speechless for a moment.

"But I didn't say anything about Susan's relationship with Cohen Sutton. However, I did mention that she had her reasons, and she left five years ago because she had no choice! How could I have imagined that Cohen would use the demolition of the mountain in Susan's village to coerce her to be his lover? He is really domineering!"

"You know what the reason was?" Sherry was stunned. "You know why Susan became Cohen's lover?"

William looked at the car and turned into the panoramic road. "Alexis Houston helped me find out that Cohen wanted to demolish the land in Susan's village in the countryside to build a feng shui villa. But if the villa is built, it will become a private site, and the people in her village will lose their income. This is because the hundreds of households in her village all rely on that piece of mountain for short term tourism as income. After the demolition, the survival of these people will face a huge test! She, therefore, went to Cohen, but to her surprise, he made such an offer! I think it's probably because he has feelings for her! I heard that he had seen a fashion runway show once before and saw her photos.

It may be because he fell in love at first sight or was very interested in her. Anyway, what he did then was a surprise to many! When he wants something, he will take it no matter what, which is in line with his character!"

After all, Cohen was in the triads!

"So that was what happened! Why do men always bully women?" Sherry murmured.

Her father would actually force himself on a virtuous woman and break up a couple!

What she felt at that moment was complicated and could not be expressed. She was even angrier at what Cohen did. "How could he bully Susan like that! It was retribution that her daughter was bullied too!"

"Sherry! This is not the same!" William was shocked in her heart. "I didn't bully you. We should be thankful for that contract, and also, thank you for giving birth to a son with me."

Sherry rolled her eyes and said emotionally, "You're just like my father, a man who bullies women. He's even more evil than you. He actually broke up a couple! The saying of all men is up to no good, is so true!"

At the moment, she really thought so in her heart that women were all born to suffer!

"Sherry, the two people you are talking about are your father and your man, me!" William cried out in injustice.

"Anyway, what both of you have done was wrong; you are all evil! I'm so mixed up and guilty right now. I felt like I'm the one who let down Leon, and I will feel guilty when I see him!" Sherry spoke on the matter.

"Sherry, it's fate! You should look at it from a different perspective!"

"Ill-fated!" Sherry sighed. "He broke up Leon and Susan, what now? What exactly did you tell Leon? Did you ask him if he still likes her?"

"Sherry, if Leon truly loves Susan, he probably wouldn't have gotten engaged to Ashley, or maybe he wouldn't have had promiscuous sex with her. I think maybe the love wasn't deep enough, or it was too deep. Just like a dream, no matter how good it is, there's still a time to wake up! And now, isn't it great to have him with Ashley and Susan with Cohen?" William also spoke on the matter, thinking that Susan should be with Cohen. She was carrying Cohen child, so how could she be with Leon?

"Ugh!" Sherry let out a long sigh.

Suddenly, she felt that love was really hurting, and couldn't help but feel a little melancholy, for herself, Susan, Cohen, Reggie Kelly, and even for Lucille Mclean.

"But Leon promised to ask Susan out to talk!" This was the result of a long talk he had with Leon.

"Talk about it?" Sherry froze.

"Well! He said he'd call!"

Sutton House.

Cohen was standing at Susan's door front, wondering if he should go in. But at this moment, the door opened.

As soon as she looked up and saw him, she was not surprised, and she said indifferently, "What do you have to say?"

Cohen moved closer to her, very close. He saw that her face was a little pale and he called out in a low voice. "Susan!"

"I'm going out!" Susan was shivered by his breath, her body stiffened and said awkwardly.