

Destiny 61

Chapter 61 - A Moment in Destiny

"You lascivious woman enjoy having sex with man very much right, right? Could they satisfy you? Could they?" he shouted, no one knew whether he did it out of jealousy or something else.

Sherry's eyes slowly became teary as his harsh words hurt her.

"I'm very easy... I am an easy girl, and I was easy to have a child with you!" he successfully mocked her, she thought that he was talking about easily signing the contract with him.

Yes, she was not a good woman, and that'd be the pain of her life! It was the most painful thing in her heart!

Sherry couldn't say anything else as she pressed her chest tightly, she almost couldn't breathe because it was very hurtful for her...

The next day.

In the MH Residence.

William didn't turn the lights on, the room was surrounded by smokes as the cigarette in his hand was still burning. He was sitting on sofa, and it was obvious that he'd been in that posture for a very long time.

He suddenly heard his call ring tone.

William didn't want to accept the call, but it kept ringing so he finally accepted the call.

"Mr. Rowland, you finally accepted the call... There's a problem!" that was a call from the company's office manager, he's a man but his voice was shockingly piercing as he said, "Mr. Rowland, our computer system is hacked!"

"What happened, speak slowly!" William asked, it was the first time for him to receive such call.

"Mr. Rowland, the other party infiltrated our computer system. The company's monitoring installations and networks are all paralyzed!"

"I'll be there!" William hung up.

Soon after, there's another call from Edward, the computer room engineer, "Mr. Rowland, this time we're facing a master of hacking!"

Edward had never said such thing because he was arrogant and he had always been very confident with his own firewall... But he unexpectedly admired that hacker so much that William realized the seriousness of the matter.

He said, "Edward, I'll be there in a minute!"

When William arrived at the company and saw both of Edward hands were tapping on the computer keyboard so quickly, he stopped smiling and looked very serious. After Edward finished tapping it with a loud sound, he covered his face with those two hands! "Oh my gosh, it was such a mental breakdown!"

"It still can't be restored?" William asked.

"Will, Will!" Liam also rushed over as he shouted, "You're not letting me sleep, huh? Calling me over in the middle of the night?"

Liam immediately shut his mouth because William glared at him... He realized that it's a huge problem.

"Is it very hard to deal with?"

Even if the reason was unknown, but William knew that the opponent was very skilled. "The hacker also infiltrated the company's internal system?"

"Yes, Mr. Rowland!" Edward was tapping on the keyboard again, but then he looked strangely excited after a minute had passed, "Oh my gosh, this guy is so smart, I can't even get his location... He's absolutely a master in hacking! He unexpectedly avoided my firewall, successfully planted a new virus, and hacked the whole system... Oh my, that guy must be so smart!"

Edward spoke excitedly like he had met his match.

"You're not his match?" Liam was quite dumbfounded.

"I'll definitely find him!" Edward continued tapping his keyboard.

William frowned, someone who was able to invade the company's computer system in such a short time was definitely not an ordinary guy, was such an expert hacker his business competitor or what?

What the hell did the other party want to do?

"When did it happen?" William asked.

"It's been half an hour!" Edward said, "Howard called me... Luckily, I was around the company so I immediately rushed over. I didn't think that it would already be hacked!"

"Will, do you want to handle it yourself?" Liam looked stern too, "The other party seems to be very good at it!"

William was surprised and he immediately asked Edward, "Can you handle it?"

"Pretty much!" Edward said, "It seems that there's no evil intention, I'm in! Mr. Rowland, oh my! You see, the hacker puts a pile of shit on your name!"

Edward entered a page and saw that there's a golden shit sticking to William's name company profile.

"Ugh! No way, Will, who did you offend?" Liam somehow felt like it was just a prank.

William looked cold, he just stared at that page like he was lost in thought.

"It seems that he has put that picture on Mr. Rowland's name on every computer in our company, oh my gosh!" Edward shouted, "What does it mean?"

Liam suddenly chuckled, then he stopped smiling because William glared at him, but he still said, "Isn't it very obvious? The other party is saying that Mr. Rowland is shitty!"

Once Edward turned his head, he saw William's icy cold gaze and felt the atmosphere around him was suffocating

Edward and Liam glanced at each other, then Liam was dumbfounded... That was right, William's temper had been very bad since the day before, how could he be in the mood for jokes?

Liam also looked stern after smiling, he twisted his eyebrows as he said, "The other party seems to have personal grudge, it's not a cutthroat competition... Perhaps it's just a prank, Will, you don't need to worry so much!

"Let me handle it!" William sat in front of the computer beside it, started tapping the keyboard, and quickly entering the page...

"Dan, stop playing and go to sleep!" Sherry's eyes were still swollen. After she returned from the villa, she had tried hard to suppress her grief and picked Dan up.

"Mommy, I'm almost done, you can just go to sleep!" Dan didn't even turn his head as he was immersed in the computer... He was smiling happily as he played.

"Dan, about yesterday..."

Dan interrupted her before she finished speaking, "Don't worry Mommy, I'm fine... It just won't get published, right? Don't we have a million yuan now? You can buy things that you like, I'll earn more and when I do, you won't need to work so hard anymore!"

"Dan, I'll say it once more, there's no need for you to help me earn some money, I'll go and find a job tomorrow! Also, I'll contact the elementary school for you, are you sure you want to go to the elementary school?"

"Yes!" Dan nodded.

Seeing Dan playing happily, Sherry didn't say anything. She just nodded, turned around, and walked out of Dan's room.

Dan was very happy, but then he suddenly frowned. After hesitating for a moment, Dan looked at the screen and his eyes glistened strangely, there was a counterattack?

Dan immediately became alarmed, knowing that the other party was an expert, he quickly entered the program and the previous screen... Strange, why couldn't he enter it?

Dan stopped, immediately went offline, and plugged the network cable out because he knew that the other party started to counterattack.

Giving an emergency response so quickly... What a huge company! Dan was frowning as he thought about it.

Meanwhile, at The Rowland Group.

After William entered the system and continuously tapped on the keyboard, the other party escaped! William frowned, because he found out that the hacker stole a lot of the company's data, damn it!

That hacker was indeed very skillful. William frowned even worse.

Dan smiled after he turned the computer off and plugged the network cable out.

Those who dared to provoke him must know how powerful he was! Dan thought that William was a good uncle, but he unexpectedly was so hateful and fired Mommy... Doing such thing for no reason was really hateful!

Mr. Big Dick was shitty. But Dan felt guilty when he gave it a thought, it was not right to consider him as such a person, huh?

"Dan, why are you still awake? I told you to sleep, right?" Sherry suddenly opened the door and saw Dan lying on the bed in deep thoughts... She couldn't help urging after seeing that it was already 10 o'clock, "What are you thinking?"

"Mommy, why did that uncle fire you?" Dan didn't really understand it.

Sherry was stunned because of Dan's question, she didn't quite understand it either, "I don't know why, but I don't want to work there anyway, working in a new place will be great too!"

"It's so strange, that uncle was very good back then... Why did he suddenly become even more hateful than shit?" Dan talked to himself.

"It's him? He's the one that you're acquainted with?" Even if she was sure that William was the person who bought all the condoms on the plane, Sherry still asked Dan.

"Yeah! I think he's very compassionate!" Dan still couldn't understand it. He suddenly felt very bad for hacking William's company, wouldn't he be as unreasonable as William for doing that?

"Stop thinking about it!" Sherry patted Dan's face and covered him with a blanket, "Just go to sleep!"

"Okay! Good night, Mommy!" Dan obediently kissed Sherry's face.

"Good boy!" Sherry smiled and turned the lights off for Dan.

When she returned to her bedroom and saw the beautifully packaged box which Sammy gave to her... What a lovely child, he was so sincere.

Sherry took the box and stroked it at she sighed... She wanted to give that to William so she wouldn't owe them anything.

After Sherry went to sleep, Dan still couldn't sleep... He kept thinking whether he had done it wrong! Even if that uncle very hateful, Dan shouldn't be as hateful as him!

Dan got up again, plugged the network cable in, turned the computer on, and connected it.

"Monitor it at all times, when you found him again, call and inform me at once." William stood up coldly. People who had the guts to provoke him, must be wishing that they could die!

"Yes, Sir!" Edward was still clearing the Trojans, "Eh, he's here!"

William just stood up, but then he hurriedly sat down again.

Things that had yet to be fully cleared on the interface were all gone.

All of the sudden, the company's system was back to normal, then he saw that the lost files suddenly appeared and every computer that was connected to the internet was back to normal too.

"No way, this guy is toying us!" Edward said.

William wanted to track the hacker, but the other party already disappeared.

When it finally recovered, Edward sighed in relief.

William ordered, "Tomorrow, enhance the monitoring and reformulate the VPN!"

He didn't dare to imagine the irreparable loss and fatality that'd happen if the company's internal confidential data was attacked.

That hacker reminded him that he shouldn't put confidential data in the computer that was connected to the internet, not even a single page.

...

"Will! Want to go and have some drinks?" Liam said that after they walked out of the building.

After firing Sherry, Liam wanted to talk to William, but he seemed to be avoiding the subject. Liam didn't know what happened either... It was just a bit inexplicable and he was also worried because Sherry lost her job. Even if she got a one million yuan check, Sherry and her son seemed very pitiful, and most importantly, very innocent.

William looked away to conceal his complex thoughts and said, "Okay!"

Chapter 62 - A Moment in Destiny

"I'll meet you at Zero Bar!" Liam knew that William had agreed and immediately said where to meet.

At Zero Bar,

Two handsome men appeared there and caused an uproar.

William's cool and handsome face was like an exquisite statue, and his deep eyes seemed to have magic, making people unconsciously indulge in them.

William glanced at a position in the corner and went straight.

They sat down and the waiter brought the wine.

William sat down, and lit a cigarette.

"William! Don't you think what you did yesterday was sloppy?" Liam took a sip and said seriously.

William didn't answer him immediately, but his fingers holding cigarette trembled. Of course, Liam found this subtle movement. As a matter of fact, Liam liked frolicking and seldom revealed what he really was. Seeing William's reaction, Liam said, "It's not easy for Sherry to raise her children alone. Since you want to develop that game, why do you suddenly terminate a contract? I don't think it's in line with your usual practice!"

"What benefits did she give you to speak for her?" William asked.

"William! Have you eaten gunpowder?" Liam raised her eyebrows, "Why do you become like this every time we mention Sherry?"

William's expression became gloomy, with his eyes full of coldness. He took a puff of smoke, slowly puffed out the smoke, and then said faintly, "It's that child!"

"What?" Liam didn't understand.

"The hacker is that child!" William said faintly.

"What?" Liam was surprised, "How do you know that?"

Was that possible? Edward Rogers was a top student of computer programming and he had a master's degree. Couldn't his firewall withstand the attack of a child?

"This is my intuition!" William flicked the ash off his cigarette, and that little face came to his mind. Although he was angry that the child was Sherry's child, he had to admit that the child was a genius!

"Intuition? That's impossible." Liam shook his head, "Daniel is still a child! Although he has a high IQ, he can't be a hacker. Don't doubt!"

"What are we betting on?" William curled his lips faintly.

"Bet?" Liam was surprised, "William, really? How long have we not bet?"

"This weekend, my father will have a party at our old residence!" William glanced at Liam faintly, "If you're interested, go and have a look! It's said that it's a blind date dinner! "

"Ah, uncle Rowland wants you to go on a blind date?" Liam always knew that John wanted William to get married. After all, the Rowland family was a big family, and the old people wanted to have many grandchildren. So, John hoped William to get married early and have a few children to inherit the family's business, "Well, do you agree?"

William had always been very opposed to blind date. Why did he agree this time?

William just smoked and suddenly laughed sarcastically.

Liam looked at him and felt that William was not happy, "Since you don't want to go on a blind date, just don't go. Why do you promise your father? Marriage without love is not happy, and you must be cautious!"

"Has she contacted you?" After a while, William asked slowly.

"Who?"

William remained silent, continued to smoke, and then finished a glass of wine.

"You mean Lucille?" Liam understood, "No, I haven't been in touch with her for a long time!"

William suddenly clenched his glass and blinked, "If she gets in touch with you, you can tell her that Dr. Lee has new equipment that can treat her disease!"

"Oh! OK!" Liam nodded, "William, you'd better forget her."

"Can I really forget easily?" William whispered. He seemed to ask Liam, and seemed to ask himself. Then, he stood up and said, "Go back!"

Liam shouted, "Hey, we haven't talked about Sherry yet!" But William had gone out. Liam had been looking at his back for a long time. Today, William was abnormal again.

When William walked out of the bar, there was a family of three on a motorcycle passing by William. The child was squeezed between two adults. The man rode a bicycle, and the woman held the child tightly in her arms to prevent the wind from blowing on the child.

Looking at the three people, somehow, William felt a little uncomfortable. Neither he nor Samuel had experienced the warmth of home! Looking at the night sky, William suddenly felt very sad, letting him breathless.

"William! Drive carefully." Liam came out and patted him on the shoulder with concern.

William's mind was pulled back and he was stunned. What was the matter with him? When did he become sentimental? He didn't speak, just nodded.

Sherry sent her son to school early, and then came to The Rowland Group with a box, but she didn't go upstairs, just waiting for William at the door of the building.

She wanted to give it back to him.

William stopped the car and walked towards the building with a gloomy expression. From a distance, Sherry saw his tall figure, feeling it was strange yet familiar. Taking a deep breath, she walked over and said, "Mr. Rowland!"

William looked up at Sherry's white face, and then looked down at the box in her hand. William didn't speak. He looked at her for a few seconds. And before Sherry could speak, he passed her as if he didn't know her.

"Mr. Rowland, please give this back to Samuel!" In a hurry, Sherry said.

William's body was stiff a little. The two people stood at the door of the building, attracting a lot of attention.

She looked pale and handed the box, but William didn't held it.

"We never take back what we give. If you don't like it, you can throw it in the dustbin." He looked at the box.

"That's what you think, but I don't want to owe anyone!" Sherry was stunned. Then, she put the box into his hand, turned around and went out.

William didn't open the box and threw it in the dustbin.

"You..." Sherry stiffened by his behavior and then stopped her steps.

William looked at her sharply and said faintly, "Women should not be too casual. Are you here today to return the gift, or do you want to go back to work? Sherry, I'm sorry, your hope has been dashed!"

"What?" She was startled and angry. She seemed to be humiliated by him.

"You are a very scheming woman, but I know what you think." After William finished, he hooked his lips sarcastically.

Sherry clenched her fist and whispered, "Mr. Rowland's mind is so dirty. If I don't work with you, I will feel happy and lucky!"

She repressed her anger, turned around and left with a smile. William wanted to say something, but he didn't do that.

The door of Mr. Rowland's office was closed, and no one dared to disturb him. William hadn't been out since he came into the office in the morning.

In the room, there was smoke.

The cigarette in William's hand burned out. When his hand was burned by the smoke, he found that the cigarette had burned out.

On the table was a box, which he had thrown away in the morning. She didn't want to receive this gift. Damn it, why didn't she receive it?

When Sherry left, William looked at her determined back, feeling more depressed. This was a silk scarf that he personally selected, which was very suitable for her skin. Unexpectedly, she gave it back to him.

William opened the drawer and saw another box. This was the lighter Sherry gave him. To be exact, she compensated him!

William put the two boxes together. He took out the silver lighter, but soon put it back in the box.

As soon as Liam walked into the office, he found that William was in a very bad mood today.

Looking at the smoke all over the room, Liam opened the window and said, "You can kill yourself, but don't let others breathe second-hand smoke!"

"You're in charge of that project!" William looked up, holding a cigarette between his fingers and spitting out white smoke. "As for that game, I don't want to see that kid and Sherry again, but that game still needs to be developed!"

"Do you change your mind?" Liam was stunned.

"I'm a person who is scrupulous in separating public from private interests!" William said it slowly.

"William, can I ask you what changed your mind?" Liam blinked, very curious.

"Get out!" William shouted in a deep voice.

Liam thought that if he was in charge of the project, he would be able to visit Sherry and Daniel often. He suddenly laughed, "OK, don't worry. I promise to take charge of the game well. "

"All right!" William frowned slightly, with his eyes deep.

"So can we get Daniel to design new gaming equipment?" Liam asked. He wouldn't give up any chance to make money for Sherry and Daniel.

"It's up to you!" William stood up. "You attend the meeting this afternoon."

He picked up the suit on the sofa and strode out.

In the coffee shop,

There were two beauties sitting by the window.

The sweet girl in a T-shirt and jeans, with a pair of charming big eyes, said to the sexy hot girl in a cool dress, "I'm fired!"

These two were Sherry and Celia, of course.

"What did you say? Are you fired? Why?" Celia was very surprised. She pouted her red lips and said, "The Rowland Group is a great company. Many people want to work there, but they don't have a chance."

"I don't know. Mr. Rowland is a lunatic!" Sherry said. So far, she hadn't known why she was fired.

"Is William a lunatic?" Celia frowned, "Isn't he the perfect lover for many women? I haven't heard of his mental problems."

"Forget about him! Celia, this is the money I borrowed from you last time, and this is the rent!" Sherry handed the money to Celia.

"Hey! Don't mention it." Celia frowned, "I'm not short of that money. Give it to me when you make a lot of money. I don't want it now, but I'll charge you interest in the future!"

With a smile, Sherry said, "You think the money is not enough? Take it, or Daniel and I will move out at once!"

"Well! I'll take it!" Celia was afraid that she would do it. She knew that Sherry had always been proud and stubborn, "But now you don't have a job."

"I'm getting ready to look for a job!" Sherry took a deep breath, "I'll change my job. Anyway, I've been changing jobs all these years, and I don't work long in every job. I think I'm probably the most experienced one!"

"Why don't you work in my brother's restaurant? Your ability is very good, and his restaurant also needs an assistant in charge of ordering. You can answer the phone and arrange other people's parties. What do you think of it? This job is similar to being a secretary. It suits you very well too!"

"Thank you, but I want to find a job myself!" She didn't want to bother Celia anymore.

"Come on, my brother is recruiting people. He doesn't trust other people." Celia was going to call her brother.

"No, Celia, let me find another job first!"

Chapter 63 - A Moment in Destiny

"Oh! Don't call him, and I'll take you there now!" Celia picked her up and left.

When they arrived at Leon's restaurant, he was worried that there was no suitable person for his restaurant. So, as soon as Leon saw Sherry, he immediately made a decision, "OK, Sherry, you're going to be the assistant. Come to work tomorrow morning, I'll let you know what you're doing!"

Sherry soon had a new job.

Sherry strolled home. She seldom went home like this or enjoyed the scenery on the street.

While she was walking, she suddenly saw the news of The Rowland Group on the big TV screen on the street. William's disgusting face reappeared in front of her, and Sherry stopped looking at him. She shook her head, and she would never be harassed by William again!

But, when she thought of Mr. Fox, Sherry felt very sad. When would she see her son?

As soon as she got into the alley, Sherry blinked and saw Liam who was getting out of the car on the side.

"Liam?"

"Sherry, I have good news for you. Mr. Rowland said to continue to develop Daniel's game!" Somehow, Liam looked tired and he frowned, but he was still handsome and kept smiling.

"Didn't he say he was going to stop?" Sherry was a little surprised, but soon calmed down.

"He said he would continue to develop the game!" Liam said truthfully, then raised his eyebrows, "May I have a cup of tea at your house?"

With that, he stepped to her house first.

"Oh.....OK!" Sherry was stunned, nodded and followed him.

Sherry looked up at Liam's back. He looked really tired, "Liam, you look tired."

"Don't mention it. William doesn't care about work now. He lets me handle it, and I'm exhausted." Liam complained, "Sherry, since you left, the office has been like a funeral parlour every day. The atmosphere is very terrible!"

"What?" Sherry smiled and shook her head. "Liam, have tea!"

"Alas! After you left, I couldn't drink any good coffee and tea. Alice's coffee was not good at all."

Sherry couldn't help hooking her lips. Was that exaggeration?

Liam saw her reaction and said, "Don't you believe me?"

"No, Liam. I don't want Daniel to continue designing that game. Please tell Mr. Rowland that we don't want to do it anymore. I hope he will not go back on his word!" Sherry said faintly, without hatred in her voice.

"Come on, Sherry, it's a good chance!"

"Daniel is still very young, and I don't want him to focus on the game!"

"But your son is really a genius!" Liam suddenly thought of last night, "By the way, last night, our company's network was hacked. For a moment, all the places where William's name appeared had been labeled with stool. William said that the hacker was your son!"

"Ah!" Sherry was stunned, "Really?"

She knew Daniel had been in front of the computer for a long time last night, but she didn't expect Daniel to do that, "How did Mr. Rowland know Daniel did it?"

"He said it was his intuition!"

"Ah!" Sherry was stunned, "Didn't he have evidence?"

"Right, I also don't believe it!" Liam shook his head, "Edward in our computer department has a master's degree and he is a top computer student. Daniel is only five years old. How could he attack Edward's firewall? William must have made a mistake."

"Tomorrow, I'll ask Daniel!" Sherry thought it was strange, too. Did Daniel really do it? Sherry began to regret letting Celia teach Daniel about computers. Although Celia was a computer expert, how could Daniel learn so fast? Well, she had to call Celia and ask if Daniel really could attack other's firewall.

"What about the game?" Liam asked again.

"Liam, I don't agree. Daniel is going to boarding primary school next week. I respect his opinion and allow him to skip a grade. If he goes to primary school, his study will be hard. I don't want him to delay his study because of the game!" Sherry didn't want to have anything to do with William anymore. William was always liking to make strange decisions to make them unhappy.

"So, I respond to Mr. Rowland like this?" Liam raised her eyebrows.

"Yes," Sherry said.

The name of Leon's western restaurant was Wait.

Sherry looked at the creative signboard and thought about what the name meant.

In the office,

"Leon, I can work today!" Sherry, still wearing a professional suit, appeared energetically in front of Leon, with a gentle smile.

"Great! Sherry. We're going to arrange a family party this weekend. This Saturday night, three chefs will go with the dining car to the customer's home to make dinner for the party. Your task is to go to this house and discuss the menu with their housekeeper, write down their requirements and give them to the chefs!"

"Shall I go there today?" Sherry asked.

"Yes!" Leon gave her the address, "Our service tenet is to meet all the requirements of customers!"

"OK!" Sherry nodded and went to the address on the note.

The car stopped in the villa area. It was a very splendid old residence. It looked like a very old French building, but it was quite solid and had a beautiful garden.

Sherry was led into the hall by the servant. She looked around, and found that besides some maids, there was an old man there. Somehow, Sherry was a little nervous, but she politely introduced her purpose of coming here.

The old man seemed to be in his sixties, with thin lips. It could be inferred that he must have been a handsome man when he was young. And the old man looked familiar. Maybe she met him somewhere.

"Is that Miss Murray?" Sherry heard a serious voice.

"Yes!" Sherry nodded immediately.

"My son recommended your restaurant to me. I hope the menu on Saturday is special and can show the hospitality of the Rowland family."

"Yes! Old gentleman, don't worry, we will try our best to meet any request you put forward!"

"Am I old?" John raised eyebrows. He didn't like to be called in that way.

Sherry was a little nervous and immediately apologized, "I'm sorry, Mr. Rowland!"

The impatience on John's face just lingered for a moment, and then he said, "You can talk with my housekeeper!"

"Yes!" Sherry stood up politely, and watched John go upstairs, feeling relieved. At this time, a tall figure suddenly appeared on the stairs. John stopped and looked up at William. He was surprised and said in a deep voice, "Why don't you go to the company?"

"I have a cold!" Sherry was surprised by his low voice. She looked up at William, who was looking at her at the same time. For a moment, Sherry thought this man was familiar!

"Let the doctor come!" John said with concern.

When William saw the woman standing in the hall, he was slightly stunned. Why was she here?

Sherry nodded slightly, said nothing, and began to discuss the details with the housekeeper. William immediately understood that she represented Leon. Damn it, she got a new job so soon!

With a sharp look, William said to John, "I'm fine. I'll go to the company first."

John pursed his lips and went upstairs.

William went downstairs without stopping and walked out.

"Young master! Have some hot soup first. You still have a fever!" Mrs. Howe came out and grabbed William's sleeve, "Young master, you can't go. Drink some hot soup before you go!"

Sherry couldn't help looking at the door. It turned out that William had a cold. Would a strong man like him catch a cold?

William had no choice but to turn back and sit down at the table beside the hall, "Mrs. Howe, I have no appetite!"

"Oh! Have some soup! Did you suffer a cold wind all night? Now it's cold, you can't do that. Drink some soup!" Mrs. Howe anxiously brought the hot soup to him. She had been taking care of William as if he were her own child. So William listened to her!

After two mouthfuls of soup, William stopped and rubbed his forehead.

After conversation with the housekeeper, Sherry glanced at William again, then subconsciously dodged him, "OK, Mr. Butler. I'll see you on Saturday!"

"Thank you, Miss Murray!"

"You're welcome!" Sherry nodded politely and walked out.

Then William stood up and walked out.

"Young master, you haven't finished drinking yet!" Mrs. Howe shouted again.

But William had gone to the garage.

Sherry walked out of the Rowlands' old residence and went down the mountain. In the middle of the mountain, there were many villas, but few taxis. She could only walk down, hoping to meet a taxi.

The blue Bugatti came slowly. Sherry took a deep breath and walked calmly.

William stepped on the gas and the car left quickly.

Sherry watched Bugatti disappear in front of her eyes, then looked away and whispered, "I didn't expect that this is his home..."

After walking about 500 meters, Sherry still didn't meet a taxi. As soon as he looked up, he saw Bugatti in front of her reversing. Startled, she came to the side of the road.

The car stopped at Sherry's side. The door was opened, and William's handsome face came out, "Get in the car!"

"No!" Sherry shook her head.

"There won't be a taxi here. Get in!" William looked a little pale. After two words, he coughed and Sherry was stunned.

"Get in the car!" William gasped. The cold really made him uncomfortable.

"No, thank you." Sherry pursed her lips. She was no longer his employee, and she was no longer instructed by him, so there was no need to be afraid of him. Even though his tone was frightening, she was not afraid of him.

Then she helped him close the door and walked down the mountain.

The car drove 30 meters and stopped again. But this time, William got out of the car himself, came over, grabbed Sherry's wrist and said, "Get in the car!"

"No!" She was a little nervous.

He glared at her fiercely, and then she became quiet. Although he was not her boss, she was still afraid of him.

Sherry was pushed into the car by William, and then he got into the car with coughing.

"Mr. Rowland, I don't want to trouble you!"

"Why don't you agree to continue developing the game?" He looked ahead, took out a tissue and blew his nose. He didn't expect that he had a bad cold after he suffered a cold wind all night. It seemed that he was really old.

For a moment, with such a thought, William was a little irritable.

"Oh! There's no need to continue developing the game!" Sherry said faintly.

"Who is the father of that child?"

"I don't know!" Sherry said. She adopted Daniel, and she didn't know who his parents were?

"You were raped?" William roared.

Chapter 64 - A Moment in Destiny

Sherry Murray was shocked and she wondered whether if that was considered rape after Mr. Fox did that to her. Then, she nodded and said bitterly, "I was raped before!"

His face became stiff and he suddenly didn't speak anything, "Cough..."

"Mr. Rowland, let's go to the hospital. You are having a serious cold!" Although he was unreasonable and a bully, they still knew each other. He had saved her before so she said with concern, "Let's go to the hospital to take a drip!"

She was raped?

A loud voice sounded in William Rowland's brain. Did that mean she didn't mean to have sex with the others that time? However, it still happened! How could he ignore it? How could he pretend to ignore it?

"Mr. Rowland?" After seeing him not driving and being stunned, Sherry shouted. She still had to go back to the restaurant to discuss the menu with the chef!

William started the car and he looked depressed. After driving a few miles, he said, "You could still come back to work!"

"I don't need that. I am doing fine in Wait!" Sherry said softly.

"You could get a new job real fast!" William showed a depressed look while focusing on the road.

"For a living!" Her tone was still soft.

He didn't ask anymore. Then, he asked, "Where are you going?"

"To Wait!"

The car was driven to waiting room after getting down the hill. When they passed by the hospital, Sherry couldn't help to say, "Mr. Rowland, could you get some medicine at the hospital? Or could you take a drip? I could take a bus at the hospital!"

"No need!" His voice was cold.

"How couldn't you see a doctor?" He was coughing. It would be bad if he had Bronchial Inflammation.

He suddenly found out that this woman was a nag. He had fired her, why was she caring about him?

When the car passed by the hospital, Sherry said immediately, "Mr. Rowland, stop the car!"

He didn't stop and she continued to say, "Stop the car! Go to the hospital!"

He still didn't stop the car and she pulled the handbrake.

"Damn it!" William shouted with a deep voice and stopped the car. "Did you know that it is very dangerous?"

"Who asked you to not stop the car!?" she said naturally.

...

When they reached the hospital, the doctor asked William to be hospitalized immediately after measuring his body temperature.

"I only have a cold!" William glared fiercely at the doctor who was giving a prescription.

"You have 39.5 degrees Celsius body temperature. I am impressed that you are still being conscious. Madam, could you bring your husband to pay the deposit and handle the admission procedures? He could only be discharged until his body temperature goes down!" The doctor said quickly.

After hearing how the doctor addressed her, Sherry wanted to explain immediately, "He is not my..."

"Next!" The doctor stopped her words. "Madam, please do it quickly!"

Sherry's face was blushed and she subconsciously looked at William. He showed a peaceful look and pressed his lips without any expression.

She immediately lowered her head. Yet, after looking at her blushed face, William didn't speak anymore.

After handling the admission procedures, Sherry said, "Mr. Rowland, please take a drip. There will be a nurse to do that for you as I have talked to her!"

"Where are you going?" William reclined on the bed. After hearing that she was leaving, he immediately asked.

"I am going to work!"

"I don't allow you!" He ordered like a kid. "How could you leave a patient in the hospital?"

"Today is my first day of working!" She couldn't take leave on the first day of work, right?

"I will take leave for you!" He took his phone and called Leon Hickman, "Leon, it's me, William. Let me use your worker, Sherry for a while!"

Sherry didn't know what Leon said on the other side of the call. She glared at him fiercely, when would this man change his nature of being a bully? She helplessly looked at him calling Leon and wondered if Leon would be angry.

"I want to discuss the ingredients, menu, and details with her personally. Yeah, so she couldn't go to work today! OK?!"

He hung up the phone after finishing his words.

Sherry frowned and she was really speechless. "I never say I want to take leave!"

After saying that, she turned and walked outside.

"Where are you going?" William looked at her back as he shouted.

Sherry didn't reply. She remembered that he didn't have breakfast and it was hard for him to recover without eating anything. She didn't want to look after him the whole day. Since he had driven her down from the hill, he wasn't a very bad person. So, she decided to buy him a bowl of porridge.

She didn't worry anymore after thinking this in her mind. Sherry walked straight to the restaurant of the hospital and took away a bowl of porridge. When she went back to the ward, William was still lying on the bed but he looked very angry.

After Sherry walked in, William finally raised his head and looked at Sherry coldly. His cold face didn't show any expression and he acted coldly as if they had never met before.

"Sick patient should eat!" Sherry put the porridge in the disposable bowl on the table beside him, put a spoon into the bowl, and brought it to him. "Eat some porridge!"

He looked up at her eyes but didn't reply.

Sherry subconsciously frowned her thin eyebrows, "Mr. Rowland, aren't you eating?"

"Aren't you leaving?" A deep and cold voice sounded. He thought she had left and he was angry. However, she came back and he felt extremely happy. He was even upset before that. Looking at her, his face slowly showed a calm look.

"At least eat a little!" she said.

“Put it down!” He looked at the disposable tableware. He didn’t like the taste of it at all.

“Aren’t you eating?” Sherry frowned.

“It doesn’t taste good!” He was picky and he said, “I am allergic to this!”

Sherry looked at the disposable tableware and finally realized. “Should I buy another bowl? I will ask the boss to use a porcelain bowl.”

“I don’t want to bother you!” His deep voice was hoarse as he coughed. William shook his head, “I don’t feel like eating!”

Looking at the porridge in the bowl, Sherry put aside her slightly lost feeling and said stubbornly, “You wouldn’t have strength if you don’t have breakfast. It doesn’t benefit your body and in long term, it would affect your stomach! Mr. Rowland has grown up, could you not be picky? Don’t you know there are a lot of people who do not have enough food to eat!?”

“I didn’t know that you would care about me!” He suddenly said evilly, looking at her red lips. A mockery voice sounded as he coldly looked at her. If she didn’t have a child, he would marry her. However, if his father knew that she had a child, he would never agree with it...

“Eh!” Sherry twitched her lips and she felt her heart was stabbed. She ignored his mockery and said patiently, “Even a stranger would care a little. Mr. Rowland was my superior, I definitely hope you could recover quickly!”

“According to what you had said, does that mean you would have to care about which women I have sex with in the future? Otherwise, wouldn’t I be sick if that woman is not clean?” William said coldly. He looked coldly at Sherry with mockery, “You are no longer my secretary. Do you still have to worry about me?”

“You?” She had felt wronged after being ignored for buying food for him. Now, she had to listen to his cold mockery. Sherry immediately turned and said coldly like him, “I don’t care if you want to eat. You are the one who will feel bad if you do not recover.”

Sherry turned and walked outside. How could he be this unreasonable as a grown-up man? He threw a tantrum, be picky, and even talked in a bad manner!

A loud sound was heard. Sherry closed the door hard as she felt wronged and sat on the chair outside. Although she came out, she still worried about him. Damn man, he was like a child who threw a tantrum.

Bang! A thud was heard from the ward. Sherry was scared and she quickly opened the door. She saw William punch on the table beside him.

“Your hand!” Sherry quickly ran towards him and held his hand, checking the drip on his hand. Luckily, it didn’t fall off.

...

“You have a hard fist, don’t you?” Sherry didn’t expect him to punch on the table while taking a drip.

“This is my hand!” he said angrily.

Just now he thought she had left and he felt angry. He didn’t know he would act angrily like a child towards her.

He shook his drowsy and hot head and stopped talking.

Sherry sat at the chair beside him. Looking at his tired face and dry lips, she sighed. “Mr. Rowland, it is normal for a patient to lose his temper! I could pretend that I didn’t see and hear it!”

“You are really a nag!” His eyes showed an extremely sharp look.

Sherry replied arrogantly, “Women are nags!”

Then, no one was talking. William slept after taking half of the drip. At the moment, the single-bed ward was quiet. Sherry glared at William who with a pale look on the bed and covered him with a blanket.

He had a handsome look. His eyelashes were long and they could cover his eyelids. It made his eyes look deep. He had a high nose as if it was padded with a lot of bones. This was what it meant by skinny face right? His chin was skinny and his lips looked full. Even his skin was smooth and his beard around his chin looked manly.

William took a peaceful sleep until the afternoon. When he woke up, he didn’t know when had his drip been removed!

“Have you waken up?” Sherry stood up and touched his forehead, feeling his temperature. “You don’t have a fever anymore!”

Her little hand was warm. His heart popped when she touched his forehead. Then, he looked at her with a deep look, “Haven’t you left?”

Sherry nodded. “Yeah! The nurse said you could go home when your temperature goes down. I am requesting a thermometer for you!”

After saying that, she went to the nurse’s office and requested a thermometer. After measuring his temperature, he was indeed no longer in fever. The antibiotics really worked well. “You could go back after getting some medicine!”

William removed the blanket from his body and got out of the bed. He staggered and almost fell down.

“Ah!” Sherry immediately held him. “Take care!”

“You lay down first. I will get the medicine for you!”

“Go together!” He closed his eyes and ordered her. Even though he was sick, he was still a bully.

“Okay!” Sherry felt that she must have owed him in her previous life, that was why she was ordered by him. After discharging and getting the medicine, William was still weak. After taking the cold medicine, he seemed to be tired and he couldn’t drive.

“Mr. Rowland, let me hail a taxi to send you home!”

“No!” he said coldly.

“Why?” Sherry was confused.

“My father will worry about me!” he replied.

She was shocked and she looked at him in confusion. He was careful and he even knew his father would worry about him. “Then where should I send you? To MH residence?”

“Okay!” William nodded. He wanted to go there first as he still wanted to sleep.

After getting in the taxi, they went to MH residence. However, William suddenly said, “My key is in my car!”

“Does that mean you couldn’t get in?”

“Go to your house!” William ordered. He would be extremely pissed if he went back to get the key.

“Ah?”

“Stop talking. Sir, go to YX road!” William ordered.

Chapter 65 - A Moment in Destiny

“What makes you think you could go to my...” Looking at his pale face, Sherry Murray didn’t finish her words. Fine, since he had no one to take care of, she would take care of him with reluctance to thank him for helping her to get back her phone. Hopefully, she wouldn’t owe him anymore.

This was his first visit to Sherry’s house. After looking around the small living room, William Rowland walked straight towards her bedroom. Sherry was shocked, “Hey, Mr. Rowland!”

However, he was extremely precise to enter her bedroom. After seeing her 1.2m wide bed, he felt satisfied. That meant no other man had ever slept on her bed before! There were a few green plants with colorful flowers that he didn’t know on the balcony of the bedroom. It seemed that he could relieve himself after working hard the whole day when he looked at those plants.

William looked around and turned around with leisure, “The bedroom is well decorated. Your house feels cozy and comfortable!”

It was really decorated sweet, like a real home.

“Thank you.” Sherry’s face was a little awkward. She thanked him as she was stunned.

William took off his suit and shoes and got into her bed, “Stop disturbing me, I want to sleep!”

Sherry was speechless. Did he just act like the owner of the house? It was fine. Since he was a patient, she didn’t bother about him.

Sherry shook her head helplessly, turned, and walked towards the kitchen. She wanted to get some food. William who didn’t eat anything also needed some food.

It was the evening soon. She had to pick Dan up and cook. When she came to the bedroom, William had already fallen asleep.

Sherry bought some rice and fresh vegetables after picking her son up. When she reached home, she walked to the washroom and changed her clothes. Then, she started cooking.

“Dan, did you do anything bad?” Sherry showed her head from the kitchen.

Dan turned back with guiltiness and he looked away. “Mommy, I did not!”

Sherry was stunned and she walked out. “Dan, look at my eyes!”

Normally, Dan was lying if he didn’t look at her eyes. He lowered his head and got up from the sofa. “Mommy...”

“Mommy doesn’t like a child who lied!” Sherry said softly.

“I am wrong. I used bad uncle’s company network!” If this was the bad thing that Mommy referred to.

“It was really you?” Sherry was shocked. “How did you know to do that?”

“Celia taught me before!” Dan raised his head. “Last time when Celia used the Federal Police’s internal network, I had a look at it!”

“Oh my god!” Sherry was speechless. Celia Hickman was a computer expert. She was doing nonsense in front of a child. “Then, you learned from it?”

She knew Celia had said that Dan could learn easily after taking a look, especially those difficult programming. Celia used to study computers in the university and she was the only top student who was invited to the United States. However, Celia gave up the chance to work there. Sherry didn’t know what Celia worked as these few years. She only knew Celia had good pay.

“Yeah, I learned it after looking at it!” Dan realized that he did wrong, “But bad uncle made Mommy lose the job, I don’t like him!”

“Son, this is Mommy’s matter. Don’t do that again in the future! Say sorry to uncle, okay?” Sherry didn’t want her son to do wrong. That meant her education to her son was fail. No mother would hope her child to learn badly.

“Okay!” Dan lowered his head, “But I couldn’t meet uncle!”

“He is in Mommy’s room now!”

“Mommy, did you say that bad uncle came to our house?”

“Yes, he is at our house. He is sick!” Sherry put the things into the fridge. “Shh, don’t disturb uncle to sleep. He will leave when he is fine.”

“But he fired Mommy. He made Mommy lose your job!” Dan said softly, “Why are we keeping him? Doesn’t he have a home?”

“He is sick and his father would worry about him!” Sherry explained. “Dan doesn’t worry about Mommy’s matter, okay? Mommy has had a new job already!”

“He is an adult and his father still worried about him, he is so childish!” Dan curled his lips scornfully.

“Dan!” Sherry became serious.

“Oh! I know my fault. Mommy, don’t be angry!” he apologized. “Mommy, I go and see uncle!”

“Lower your voice!” Sherry told him.

“I know!” Dan walked into Sherry’s bedroom. He saw William with a pale face sleeping on Sherry’s bed. He twitched his mouth and walked carefully towards the bed. He showed an entangled look as he looked at William again and again. Then, he murmured.

“Uncle, although I dislike you a little, Mommy would be angry so I could only pretend to not dislike you. I don’t want my Mommy to be angry... But uncle you are so bad, how could you fire my Mommy? Mommy works hard. Uncle is a bad guy. Yet, Mommy doesn’t let me dislike you, but I still dislike you...”

William was awake when the door was opened. However, he chose to close his eyes and heard what Sherry said to Dan. He suddenly felt that this woman was cute and silly. Yeah, the word ‘cute’ suited her the most.

After Dan murmured, he was entangled to say, “Since uncle is sick and the god has punished you, I would forgive you!”

He felt that this uncle looked kind!

Suddenly, William opened his eyes and looked at Dan’s cool little face.

“Ah! uncle you are awake?” Although he just scolded the ‘sleeping’ William, he still felt excited after seeing him wake up.

“You disliked me!” William’s voice was husky as he just woke up and didn’t eat the whole day.

“Did you hear what I said?” Dan showed an embarrassed look as if he was caught. He swallowed saliva and opened his eyes wide, showing his black and round eyes with an innocent expression. At last, he nodded honestly, “Yes! I don’t like uncle anymore!”

Upon hearing this, William curled his lips, “I don’t like you too!”

If Dan wasn’t Sherry’s child, he thought he would still like this kid. He was very smart and he always liked the smart kid. Dan was even like him when he was a kid!

After Dan heard William’s word, the light in his eyes faded. This was the first time that someone said he didn’t like him. Looking at Dan’s sad expression, William actually felt pain in his heart for no reason.

Dan didn’t say anything. He turned and walked out while lowering his head in silence.

William was shocked. Was this kid angry?

In the kitchen, Sherry was cooking the porridge with a small fire. When she looked at her son walking out of the bedroom, she asked, “Does uncle wake up?”

Dan nodded. “He has woken up!”

“What happened?” Sherry noticed Dan’s expression.

“Uncle doesn’t like me!” he almost cried. Dan had never felt so wrong before. “Mommy, is Dan a nuisance?”

He was still a kid and his heart was fragile!

“How do you know that he doesn’t like you?”

“Uncle said it himself!” Dan said with a low voice.

After Sherry heard this, she was angry. She was kind to keep a sick person like him. Yet, he broke her son's heart. Sherry walked straight to the bedroom and saw William sitting there. “What did you say to my son?”

She looked angry. William didn’t show any expression. His eyes had an extremely deep look as always.

“I am asking you!” Sherry asked angrily.

“I don’t like him!” William answered honestly.

“Then you don’t stay at my house. Get out!” Sherry walked towards him and grabbed his clothes. “I would hate anyone who broke my son’s heart no matter how pity is he!”

“You are overprotecting your son!” William laughed softly.

“Ah?!” Sherry was shocked.

William looked at Sherry who was skinny in casual clothes with a ponytail. She looked like a pure little simple girl from a neighborhood.

“I am hungry!” William stood up and a sound was heard from his stomach.

“How does it relate to me?” Sherry was angry after recalling Dan’s pity expression.

“Who asked you to let me take a drop? If it wasn’t because of you, I should be staying in the office! At least, my secretary or assistant could take care of me. Now, they are off, who do you want me to ask?”

“You are so unreasonable!” Sherry couldn’t help to oppose him after listening to this bully’s voice. “You go and apologize to my son, how did my son offend you?”

“Would you like a child who put shit on your name?” William replied.

“???!” Sherry was stunned.

Liam Brooks had mentioned that matter before and Dan had admitted that. It was indeed frustrating. Sherry was in the wrong at first and she compromised, “Okay, I will send you back after having dinner but you cannot break my son’s heart again, okay?”

“Huh?!” William frowned. That kid actually dared to complain to his mother. “He has to apologize to me!”

“You have to apologize to him too!” After saying that, Sherry turned away from William and walked towards the kitchen. If he wasn’t sick, she would definitely yell at him to satisfy her urge.

"Dan, Uncle doesn't dislike you. Get ready to eat!" After leaving the bedroom, Sherry noticed Dan still showing a sad look and she comforted him.

However, Dan still didn't feel happy because of William's words.

Sherry noticed Dan was still unhappy and she comforted him again, "Son, you shouldn't put shit on uncle's name, right? You did the wrong thing first. No one would like a kid who does the wrong thing. However, everyone would like you if you fixed your mistakes!"

"I only put it on uncle's photo!" Dan explained.

"Wasn't it the same?" Sherry said patiently.

"Okay! I understand. I will apologize to uncle!" Dan said as he felt wronged.

"Good boy!" Sherry touched Dan's head. "Mommy will finish cooking soon, are you hungry?"

"Yes!"

"Then wash your hands first! Also, ask uncle to wash hands!"

"Okay!"

Dan walked back to the bedroom. He saw William smoking at the balcony, "Uncle!"

William turned his head towards him and looked at the short Dan standing there while lowering his head. He frowned, "Is there anything?"

"Sorry!" Dan took a bow.

William was shocked, "Why are you apologizing?"

"Because I did wrong!" Mommy said Dan shouldn't put shit on uncle's photo!" His voice went lower and lower. "It is normal that uncle doesn't like Dan because Dan is not a good kid."

Chapter 66 - A Moment in Destiny

Suddenly, he felt a stinging in his heart because of Daniel's words, he was just a child, so young, he said that he didn't like him, and Sherry was right, he shouldn't have done that to him, but as soon as he was reminded that Daniel was Sherry's child, he was more than just annoyed, actually he liked this kid, and now he is depressed about it.

"Uncle, Mom said you should wash your hands to have dinner!" Daniel looked up and waited for William to reply.

He wanted to tell him that it wasn't true that he didn't like him, but as he was just about to say it, he swallowed the words back again, "Let's go.!"

Daniel turned around, his face was full with disappointment, William didn't say that he forgave him, so that meant he still didn't like him, and for a moment, his little face was frowning.

When William saw the child turn his back on him, he went to the bathroom, and knitted his brows.

If anyone saw the two of them frowning, they would have been curious how it was possible for them to look so alike? Maybe, blood was connecting the two of them!

Daniel turned on the faucet and grabbed for the soap, as he was washing his hands, he said to William, "Uncle, you have to wash your hands twice! Only then they will be clean enough!"

William looked at him, even though he was always paying great attention to living a hygiene life, but being told by a child how to do that was weird for him.

"Uncle, did you not hear me? If you don't wash your hands, Mom won't allow you to eat!" Daniel was already done, and handed the soap bar to William. William looked at the little hands, their lines were so clear, almost the same as his own hands. He reached out to grab the soap, Daniel's little hands in his, and his heart strangely skipped a beat.

Daniel though suddenly yelled, "Uncle, I already washed my hands, and now you made them dirty again! Mom said this will cause cross infections!" As he said, he turned on the faucet again to wash his hands another time.

"My hands are not dirty!" William said annoyed, it has always been him to avoid others, this was the first time that he was being avoided by someone else!

"Hurry up, uncle!" Daniel rushed.

"Are you guys still not done?" Sherry already carried all the dishes on the table.

"Mom, I am coming!" Daniel ran outside, and sat down on his chair. Sherry went to get him porridge, but even when she was done, William was still not at the table.

Sherry looked towards the bathroom, "Daniel, let's wait for William, I will go and take a look!"

William looked around in the small bathroom, he saw shampoo and shower gel, there was not even face wash anywhere, then the spottet soap, a lot of soap. He frowned a little, she kept it really simple.

Until today, he couldn't understand why she never used the 7.5 million, so many other women would have gone crazy seeing such an amount of money!

First, he thought she was like the other ones, but when he saw the savings account untouched, and she only wanted to see her son, he knew that he must have misunderstood her a lot.

Actually he wanted to tell her that Samuel was her son, but who would have thought that suddenly another child of hers appeared, this messed up all of his plans. And he was overwhelmed! All the plans he made were so wonderful!

"Are you still not done yet? I thought you were hungry?" Sherry turned around and asked him, interrupting his thoughts.

"Sherry!" He looked at her in the mirror, her face was light, her skin smooth, she didn't even use face wash, how could she have such good skin? When he thought about that, suddenly his lower body started to react, and tipped up his pants. Oh my gosh, this little buddy didn't even stop when being sick? William took a deep breath, trying to cover up being uncomfortable.

"Hm?" She looked into his eyes through the mirror and as she saw the way he was staring at her, the sentiment in his eyes, her heart stopped for a second.

"Mr. Rowland, food is ready!" She turned, his eyes were filled with aggression, she didn't like that, so she turned around, "Hurry up!"

"Towel!" He said in his deep voice.

Sherry paused, turned around and looked at the towel on the hook, and said, "You can use this one, it has been washed and still unused."

He took it, wiped his hands, she watched his long skinny fingers hang it back, and said, "I will call a taxi for you after dinner!"

She wanted to chase her guest away so quickly, this woman really angered him, "I am not well recovered yet!"

"But there is no place for you to stay in my house!" Sherry didn't want to have a man stay over, especially not her ex-boss.

"Are you sure you want a sick person to go on a taxi all by himself?"

"I told you I will arrange it for you!" Sherry replied.

William saw that she again, didn't bother about him, and got angry, "I am not eating anymore!"

Then he walked towards the bedroom.

Sherry was startled, why would he not eat?

"Mom, when can we start eating?" Daniel was still waiting in front of the table, what were they doing? He was hungry, why would they not come to eat?

"In a second!" Sherry went after William, "Mr. Rowland please stop being so childish, come and eat something, you haven't had anything in a while!"

She walked into the bedroom, and heard William's stubborn voice, "I have a fever, I don't want to eat!"

"What? Again?" Sherry took a moment to react, "You got your IV, the fever should be down, how come it's back again? Let me see!"

Then, she placed her hand on William's forehead, "Doesn't feel like it."

William suddenly grabbed her hand, a hint of a smile on his face, the emotions in his eyes were unreadable. He just suddenly grabbed her hand like that, "How can I not have a fever, the doctor said 39.5 degrees!"

His sudden gesture made Sherry freeze, her eyes were widened in surprise, and stared at his hands that were holding hers, "Mr. Rowland, let go!"

Was he going to act indecently in her house?

Sherry's hand was still in his, she looked at him angrily, "Mr. Rowland, what do you want from me? Come and have dinner with us, my son is waiting for you!"

"You are the one who touched my forehead, you can touch me, but I am not allowed to touch your hand?" His eyes were squinted, still staring at her, her light and smooth skin was showing some redness, her lips were tender and beautiful, and William had to swallow hard, he thought of the nights that he spent with her, the feeling of lust rushed in his head again.

"Mr. Rowland..." Sherry was still startled, his words were simply shameless, she tried hard to pull her hand back, but he was holding on to it tightly, "You shameless man!"

She really regretted bringing him home, and was very angry.

"Shameless? This is the first time that someone calls me that!" He said calmly, she couldn't make out if he was being angry or happy. Horrified, she tried to pull her hand again, but because she did so too strongly, and he let go of her in that moment, she couldn't hold her balance, and fell back.

"Ahh!" She got scared and closed her eyes.

His strong arms reached to her, and caught her waist, "See, as soon as I let go, something happens to you!"

His thick hair covered half his eye, he looked through the curtain of hair. She suddenly opened her eyes and realized that she didn't fall on the floor, their eyes met, and Sherry blushed.

William scanned her face, the smile on his face seemed to be more unscrupulous. He lifted her chin, and lowered his head to plant his own lips on hers.

The temperature on his lips suddenly lit a fire in her.

Sherry looked at this handsome person, and clenched her fists. When he lifted his head again, Sherry had an describable feeling in her, her face was red, she stood up straight and pushed him away, then she turned around, a feeling of sadness filled her, this kiss reminded her of Mr. Fox, and she felt cold in her heart as she said, "Mr. Rowland, please control yourself!"

She wasn't a woman that could randomly kiss anyone, she just wanted to lead a calm life, but the way William was always taking advantage of her, she had no idea how to fight back.

She didn't want to be ambiguous with men, her face turned cold, and she turned around to walk out.

But before she could open the door, her hand was pulled by the person behind her, she turned around and was about to yell at him, but he was so close to her, that her heart started to race, her breathing became irregular.

His gaze was fixated on her, his lips formed into a smile, then he said to her, "Control myself? Sure, you don't like it when I do this to you?"

Sherry paused, her face expression turned even colder, "Mr. Rowland, I am not a whore, please don't go too far!"

She could endure Mr. Fox, but that was because he had her son. She couldn't endure William, she wasn't a prostitute!

He looked at Sherry who was speaking such harsh words, and raised his brow, he bear down on her angry face, "Alright, let's go to eat."

William walked out of the bedroom, and saw the many dishes on the table, it was all Asian dishes, but he usually liked to eat western food, because it was more convenient.

Sherry made spicy chicken, potato, tofu with mince meat, tomato and eggs, then there was porridge, she made it especially for William because he was not feeling well, he should eat something flavorless. And the chicken, she made for Daniel, it was his favorite dish.

"Can we eat now?" Daniel couldn't wait anymore, "Uncle, are you dumb?"

William was standing at the table, staring at the food, suddenly he felt warm inside, he has not that such feeling in a really long time. Samuel was right, she could really cook, and it looked all really delicious.

William who actually had no appetite took a chair and sat down, but before he started to dig in, he asked, "I didn't take my medicine yet, did I?"

He didn't want to be sick anymore, it was too uncomfortable. Especially having a women that tried to send him away all the time, he didn't want to stay there anymore. She already called him shameless, how could he, the president of Rowland Group, sink so low?

"Half an hour after meals, it will hurt your stomach to have it sober, you haven't eaten the whole day, I will remind you later!" Sherry put some porridge in his bowl and handed it to him, without any emotions on her face, she was cold to him, but her voice was still caring, she wasn't a heartless woman, especially not to someone who was still sick.

"Uncle, I will also remind you!" Daniel handed him some chopsticks, "Uncle, dig in, my mom's cooking is really delicious, last time when Mr. Brook was here, he ate a lot! And he was complimenting Mom all the tome!"

"Liam was here?" William's voice suddenly deepened, even he didn't know how cold his voice was, and how rude he looked.

Sherry nodded, but then thought she had no obligation to tell him about that, did she? So she added annoyed, "Didn't you ask him to come here?"

"I did?" When did William ask Liam to come to her house? Shit, why did he not know about Liam having lunch with her? "Who allowed you to cook for him?"

Chapter 67 - A Moment in Destiny

"Because Mr. Brooks brought me a lot of toys! Mommy wanted to thank him, isn't that how you are supposed to treat your guests?" Daniel didn't notice that something was hanging in the air, he raised his gaze to look at William, then he looked at Sherry, "Uncle, don't you like Liam?"

"Daniel, eat!" Sherry wanted him to stop talking, and subconsciously looked at William, even she didn't know why she needed to endure his moods.

William's feeling of stuffiness in his chest was getting stronger, he took the bowl Sherry handed her, and started to shovel it in his mouth, but it was so hot that he frowned. The hot porridge went down his throat, the burning pain stopped on chest level.

"Ahh! It is still hot, are you alright?" Sherry suddenly said, "Are you okay, Mr. Rowland?"

"Uncle, you must be really hungry!" Daniel saw that William was burnt by his porridge, and went to get a cup of cold water, he handed it to William, and said caring, "Uncle, drink some water, it will help."

When William saw how this little child was caring about him, he felt warmth in his heart, this child, if he wasn't Sherry's, how nice that would be. Maybe then he could tell John about him, but as he was looking at those two faces, he knew, John would never allow a woman with another child to marry into the Rowland family! Even if she was Samuel's birth mother!

"Thank you!" William squinted his eyes, and took the cup from Daniel, took a sip, and really, he felt better.

The little boy smiled happily, "You are welcome, uncle!"

Then, he ran to the kitchen and got a spoon, "Uncle, use this, then it won't be as hot!"

William had mixed feelings, he felt that he was too narrow minded when it came to this child. Children were all pure. He told Daniel that he didn't like him, and yet he went to get him water, and a spoon, that left him with mixed feelings.

"Eat!" William patted his head, and showed him a smile.

"Uncle, this one is good!" Daniel pointed to the spicy chicken, his favorite dish.

"No, he cannot eat anything spicy!" Sherry stopped him.

"Why?"

"Why?"

Almost at the same time, two voices were heard. The two pretty faces of a child and an adult were looking at Sherry, and for just a second, Sherry felt like in a trance as she saw the two of them in front of her.

"People who are sick should eat something mild, so you should have your porridge, not the chicken!" Sherry paused, then she explained.

"Then why did you cook this!" William raised his brow, "But now not allow me to eat!"

"This is for me and Daniel, Mr. Rowland, you can have the potatoes, and the tomatoes and eggs."

"Nope!" William took his chopsticks and went to get some chicken, "I want the spicy one!"

"Uncle, I also like to eat spicy!" Daniel said excited, "My mom also likes that! Let me help you!"

As he said so, Daniel already took the plate and handed it over, "Mom, he likes this, didn't you say sick people are allowed to eat what they like?"

"Daniel!" Sherry said, "He is not allowed to have that, it's too spicy, and he hasn't eaten the whole day, it will give him a stomach bug!"

"Okay, then you should have some porridge first, when you have something in your stomach, you can eat this!" The little boy was very satisfied with his idea.

"No!" Sherry shook her head stubbornly, "He hasn't eaten the whole day, he cannot have anything spicy, it will hurt his stomach!"

"I didn't know you cared so much!" William smiled.

"Who cares about you!" Why did he always twist her words?

"Mom, if you don't care about him, why did you bring him to us?" Daniel didn't understand either.

Sherry froze, "Daniel, eat your food, we are not supposed to speak while eating!"

"Oh!" Daniel looked down, and kept eating his food happily, without talking.

Suddenly, the atmosphere in the room got strange.

"Daniel, is it? Your name is Daniel?" William suddenly asked.

Daniel raised his head to look at William, his mouth was filled with chicken, his mother didn't allow him to talk, but she didn't say he wasn't allowed to nod, so he nodded.

Sherry looked at William, "Mr. Rowland, eat your food!"

William didn't even bother her, his expression was calm, and he looked at Daniel, he watched him shovel all the spicy chicken into his mouth and asked, "Is it spicy?"

Daniel shook his head, and couldn't help but to reply, "Uncle, it's not spicy, it's delicious!"

William laughed and shook his head, Samuel never ate spicy food, he noticed that Sherry liked the spices as well, and so did he, but why did Samuel not like it? Was there a gene mutation?

"Uncle, you don't have to eat the chilli, but you can have some chicken!" Daniel thought that William was craving, so he suggested, "This is not as spicy, you can have it to satisfy your cravings!"

William scanned Sherry, and acted casually, "Forget it, I don't want to make some people angry, because having to see an angry face while eating really spoils my appetite."

Daniel didn't understand, and looked at William, then he looked at Sherry, "Mom, I think he is talking about you, are you mad?"

"No!" Sherry changed her expression, "I am alright, just eat your food!"

"Alright!"

Sherry looked at William, this man was really detestable, and his words evil!

William's lips moved and he put on a smile, as if he was in an extraordinary good mood.

The food was really good, but who knew that Liam had the chance to enjoy it before him, William was thinking if he should come more often in the future to get a bite of food. But is this something he would do?

His restless eyes were looking at Sherry, he took some potatoes, they were crispy, and tasty, and cut just into the right size.

Sherry knew that William was eating, but she also noticed that his gaze was resting on her too often, on her face, her body, and made her uncomfortable.

William squinted his eyes, and stared at Sherry who was obviously not comfortable, then he said, "I will leave after the meal, don't be afraid, but..."

He paused intentionally, then he said, "But can you really live with it? I am still sick, you know!"

Sherry looked at him, "I have already done more than I should!"

"Oh, really?" William put down his chopsticks, with one hand he supported his head, and raised his brow. He had dashing eyebrows, sharp eyes, tall bridged nose, and charming lips which were just the right thickness. He smiled, and said playfully, "Alright, as long as you can live with it, then I will leave!"

After he said that, he took his chopsticks again, but his eyes were still fixed on Sherry, he looked at her breasts, and smiled.

Sherry lowered her head, and quickly ate her food, but she had no appetite anymore, why did she have the feeling she took home an animal?

"Mom, why don't you eat anymore?" Daniel asked.

William looked at Sherry, and said, "She feels guilty!"

"Why would she feel guilty?"

"That you will have to ask her!"

"Tell me, uncle!"

Sherry threw an angry look at William, "Mr. Rowland, are you done? If you are done, please leave!"

"As soon as I finish my porridge! I do have to thank you though, I have nothing here, so maybe another day, I will come over to thank you!" William's unscrupulous face did not show any strange expression.

Sherry on the other hand was shocked, she looked at him with her beautiful face, "Mr. Rowland, there is no need for that, this was no trouble for me. Please, go!"

William scanned her face, her pursed red lips were charming to him. She had no idea that the calmer she acted, the more she was arousing a man's desire to conquer her.

"Uncle, will you leave?" Daniel stood up and asked reluctantly.

"Yeah, your mom doesn't want me to stay, look at me, still being sick!"

Sherry's face froze, she wasn't heartless, but this man was really scary, "Mr. Rowland, it's not too late yet, you should go home, here is your medicine!"

William didn't take it, he looked down and said to Daniel, "Good bye Daniel!"

"Good bye!"

William took his suit and walked towards the door, but as soon as he got out, he noticed the gray sky, it was raining! The fragrant of mud was hanging in the air, and it was extraordinarily cold! He couldn't help but to look back inside, towards the tightly closed door. He knew that she was really scared of him, but it was amusing for him to see her like that!

And she still hadn't recognized who he was, if she knew that Samuel was the child she has been searching for, she would collapse! Especially if she knew that he was the person with the mask who had spent several nights with her, she would be furious. Would she maybe hate him?

William's eyes squinted, he was suddenly annoyed.

"Mom, uncle is still sick!"

"Don't worry, he will go home!"

"But didn't you say his father would be worried about him?" Daniel asked doubtfully.

"Yeah, he is already better!"

"Okay!" Daniel nodded, and went to his room.

Outside the building, a tall figure was standing at the door, smoking. He blew out the smoke and felt very unhappy. Was he too hasty at the dating party on Saturday?

Just as he was about to leave, the drizzle turned into pouring rain, and it was only getting heavier.

"Mommy, it is raining!" Daniel looked outside the window when he was in his bedroom, and saw the pouring rain outside.

Sherry paused, and looked out, it was really raining, earlier when she came home it was still okay, when did it start so suddenly? Won't he get wet?

"Mommy, it's raining, uncle is already sick, he will get worse if he gets wet!"

Sherry had a strange feeling, and said, "He doesn't even like you, why do you care so much?"

"But he is sick!" Daniel grabbed an umbrella, "I will go and look for him!"

"Wait!" Sherry stopped him, "I will go!"

He must have saved her in her previous life for her to owe him, she took the umbrella and went outside, she went downstairs, but didn't see him, while the rain was getting heavier.

This stupid man, did he really leave? Did he not think about hiding from the rain?

Sherry opened the umbrella and ran into the rain, she didn't understand why she felt so anxious, why did she care if he was sick or not?

Not too far in front of her, she saw a tall shadow in the rain, he had no umbrella and didn't walk too fast, as if he didn't care about the rain.

Sherry suddenly stopped, then she ran towards him, "Mr. Rowland!"

William paused, and turned around, but she was already next to him, holding the umbrella above him, but his clothes were already wet, and his hair sticking on his head, the moment he turned around, he was strangely fluttered.

Chapter 68 - A Moment in Destiny

"Why are you getting wet?" Sherry Murray angrily said, "Wait until the rain is over."

"Forget it! I don't want to wait anymore, just get out wet now!" The annoyance inside William Rowland's heart seemed to drift away and he was getting more excited when he saw Sherry chasing out.

"Go and stay in hospital if you get wet again!" Sherry angrily said again, "Come back with me!"

"You are the one who asked me go!" He was not in a hurry to go back with her. "I am going to get a taxi now!"

Sherry froze and had a look at the entrance of the alley, by the time when he got a taxi he would have caught a cold again. She then reached out to drag his shirt, "Hurry up, you will get a fever again when the wind blows!"

William blinked, "Let me get a fever then!"

"You?" The anger inside Sherry's heart made her unable to say a complete sentence, she inexplicably annoyed when she looked at his drenched clothes.

"What?" As if not sensing her anxiety, well, coming out and find him meant that she was really worried about him, but she had just called him shameless, "Am I shameless?"

"You!" Sherry was stunned, she then pulled him again, but how could she able to pull his strong yak- like body? "You are shameless!"

She then spoke angrily, "Come back with me now!"

Looking at the furious Sherry, William didn't say anything more. He then moved his arms upwards, reached out to hold her hand and pulled her closer with a smooth movement.

"Hey!" She whispered.

"Just an umbrella, do you want to get wet? How can you not get closer?" He said as a matter of course.

No time to think about anything, Sherry just let him run towards the condominium with his hand holding hers tightly, until when they entered the building, only then he let her go reluctantly.

Looking at the dripping umbrella, Sherry suddenly realized what a stupid thing she had done. What did it matter to her if William was going to die or live?

"It's freezing!" William grinned.

"And you are still getting wet!" She then angrily rushed to open the door, "Come in quickly!"

"Uncle, you got wet!" Daniel Murray ran over and shouted a little worriedly.

"It is alright!" He felt really good to be cared for, William thought.

"Dan, get a towel for me, Mummy will put the bath water on!" Sherry looked back at William.

"I don't bath!"

"You need to bath otherwise you will catch a cold!"

"There is no clothes for me to change!" William said, "Do you want me to be naked after a shower in your house? Wouldn't that be catching another cold?"

"I will get it for you! You go bathing first!" Sherry walked to the bathroom and adjusted the water temperature before walking out, "The water is ready, just go in and bath. Dan, wait for mummy buying clothes for uncle."

Sherry left hurriedly. As William looked at her back, he suddenly felt that this woman had quality to be a good wife and mother. It was just that...

Sherry bought a sports suit and a pair of underwear. She heard the sound of Dan and William's conversation coming from the bath room when she came back, "Uncle, mummy said I will be the same as you when I grow up."

"What is that?"

"The little bird!"

"Hmm! Your mummy is talking nonsense!" The laughter voice from William came too, and Sherry's face reddened, "Do you want a father, kid?"

"Why do you ask? Mr Brooks was fond of mummy and wants to confess to her! If someone who is as pretty as Mr Brooks, and also treat my mummy well, I can consider it."

"What?" William was shocked upon hearing this news, "Liam Brooks wants to confess to your mummy?"

"Yes!" Dan thought for a moment then nodded. It seemed like Mr Brooks didn't say about that but he didn't deny also. Yes, exactly, he wanted to be mummy's boyfriend.

"Damn it!" William roared lowly.

"Uncle, are you fond of my mummy and would like to be her boyfriend also?" Dan asked uncertainly.

Sherry wanted to stop Dan from continuing asking such an outrageous question but she was embarrassed and there was suddenly no any voice at all. Her heart started lifted and became unsure, how could William possibly want to court herself? Neither she was the fairy beauty, nor she had that qualification, she had already lost the qualification for sweet love.

Meanwhile, she then heard William speaking, "Your mummy is not popular, why do I want to court her? Aren't you too presumptuous?"

"Oh! I was wrong then!" Dan was a little disappointed, "I thought you like my mummy!"

"How could I possibly like her?"

Sherry's expression calmed down when she heard those words.

It was just that William's eyes flickered as he uttered those words and no one knew what he meant.

"Dan!" Sherry shouted.

"Are you back, mummy?"

"Bring the clothes in for uncle!" Sherry's tone was indifferent but she seemed to have a sigh of relief.

Sherry was washing dishes in the kitchen. William leaned against the wall in the corner quietly when he came out after changing his clothes and hearing the running water clattering.

His eyes faintly looked at Sherry who was busy in the kitchen. He felt a sense of happy when he saw a woman washing dishes which was just an usual image. His pale face turned to smile and he seemed to be happier with the scene he saw than signing an order of ten million yuan.

Sherry's mind was a little messed up when she was washing those dishes. When she felt the glances from the doorway, her emotions became more annoyed and undeniably, she had started noticing the changes in herself.

He was wearing the sportswear and this was the first time she saw him in such casual clothes. She really had to admit that he looked good in wearing everything!

Wiping the last bowl clean and placing it in the cupboard, Sherry turned back and looked at him leaning against the door. Not knowing when he had walked to the kitchen and leaning against the door there, the wicked smile made Sherry feel scared.

Taking a deep breath and with a flash in her eyes, Sherry calmly said, "Mr Rowland, it is time to take medicine!"

William was quite uncomfortable in wearing such a cheap clothes for the first time, and he accidentally showed his sexy chest as the zip of the sweatshirt didn't pull well.

His posture of leaning against the door looked that he was a bit lazy and this was not like his usual seriousness. His handsome face was sexy enough to attract any women. His pale face with a light smile on his lips was able to seduce people's senses, "Mr Rowland, I say it's time to take medicine! It is time!"

"Alright, get me a glass of water and bring it to the room!" William's voice became low and hoarse. When he glanced at Sherry's calm face, he then turned around and walked towards her bedroom.

He had been thinking about what Dan had asked him while he was in the shower, thinking that was he really just trying to find her son his own biological mother for that simple purpose? If he had no feeling on her, why would he go for the trouble of getting her body?

“Alright!” Sherry spoke indifferently at his back, she knew he was not fond of her and that was good, but why was there such a slight disappointment inside her heart?

“Dan?” Sherry shouted, wondering what her son was doing!

“Mummy, I am web-chatting with Celia!” Dan ran out of the bathroom and headed towards his room.

“Well, mummy will come to you as soon as I take the medicine for uncle and mummy will share a room with you tonight!”

“Hurry up then mummy!”

“Mr Rowland, the medicine and the water are here for you! Get some rest early!” Speaking quickly as if she was avoiding something, Sherry then quickly turned around and walked towards the door.

“Wait!” William shouted again, “I have something to ask you!”

“Anything else?” Sherry spoke but not turning around.

He was silent while staring at her back which was slender and slim, he could imagine the feeling of helplessness when thinking of she was being raped, such a woman really made people want to take her into arms and give her love and care. As she didn't hear the question, she then turned around.

Seeing him showing a confusing but embarrassing expression on his face, as if he wanted to ask something but he didn't. “ Mr Rowland, do you still need anything ?”

“You, really have been raped?” William's voice was low when he asked, he also felt inappropriate when asking such a question, but he really wanted to know.

Sherry froze upon hearing this question as this was something that all women felt humiliated of, how could he open up her scars again?

Sherry felt stuffy in her chest that she couldn't even catch her breath as his words hurt her directly.

“Mr Rowland, is that fun to repeatedly question people about their privacy?” Her tone was cold.

“I... I didn't mean that!” William just wanted to know who Dan's father was.

“Then what do you mean?” She asked coldly, tears glistening in her eyes.

“Is Dan the one you gave birth after you were raped?” That was what he meant by asking.

Sherry's face turned colder, “What does this have to do with you?”

“I just want to know if you are an easy woman.” He yelled, and his emotions was getting a little out of control as he was confusing whether this woman was worthy to him!

“I am easy! I am quite easy! I can sleep with a man whom I have never met before, even I still don't know his true face after that. Yes, this is me!” Sherry's tone got a little excited. “But what does this have to do with you?”

His expression froze, “How many men have you slept with?”

“One, isn't one enough?”

"How can it be one?" He staggered, "Then who is Dan's father?"

Sherry might have understood something if she had noticed when he said that, but she ignored it out of anger, "You bastard!"

Why did she have to tell him about her privacy? She was really out of her mind.

Dan suddenly heard the yelling and ran out with some concern, but just as he reached the door of the room, he heard the yelling again.

"I am asking you what is the number of the man you have had Dan with him? Why do you keep the man's child after you were raped?"

"I don't even know who is Dan's father, and I don't know his mother too." She yelled back, but tears welling up in her eyes, suddenly she felt so aggrieved.

He just despised her that much.

Shocked by her words, William asked, "What do you mean?"

"Dan isn't my child and he wasn't born by me, he is an abandoned child whom I picked up!" She didn't know why she spoke out such secret, and as she said it, her tears fell. "He is so pity that he was abandoned by his biological father and mother and I picked him up, I picked him up, did you get it?"

He froze.

Chapter 69 - A Moment in Destiny

He was not his mother's child?

He was found?

Daniel stood at the door, his big beautiful eyes were widened, and red.

Inside the room, William was just as startled, he suddenly felt mixed emotions rising up in him, he was even a little joyful, "Is what you told me the truth?"

Sherry shared at William's face, her eyes were filled with tears, "Yes! Mr. Rowland, please stop asking about my private matters, it is not a nice thing to do to rip open other people's wounds!"

William looked at her helpless face with eyes filled with complicated emotions, he went to her and took her into his arms.

Sherry struggled, but he held her tight, "I am sorry! I didn't know the truth!"

The door was opened, and Daniel wanted to ask something, but he saw that William was holding his mom.

"I thought Daniel was your child, I didn't know this was how it really was!"

"How can you force someone like that? Daniel is so pitiful, he is the only one I have, we have been supporting each other for so many years, if it wasn't for him, I didn't even know what would have happened to me! William, how can you always pour salt in other's wounds?" She was crying heavily on his chest.

William was so busy comforting Sherry that he didn't notice the little person standing at the door.

Daniel pressed his lips together, tears filling his eyes, all he heard in his head was, he was not his mother's child! He had no parents!

Then he turned, and ran outside.

"I am sorry!" William held back his emotions, and patted on her back, he didn't know what he could say to comfort her, suddenly, he remembered Daniel, "Hush, don't cry, Daniel is next door!"

Just one sentence made Sherry stop. Right! How could she loose herself? What if Daniel heard them?

William scanned the door, it was open, and then he asked Sherry unsure, "Wasn't the door closed?"

Sherry immediately looked up, and realized something, "Daniel? Daniel?"

There was no answer.

Sherry ran outside, "Daniel, where are you? Daniel, I am calling you, where are you?"

But nobody was in Daniel's room, the computer was still on, and there were notification sounds from one chat window, it was Celia, they were still chatting, but suddenly she got no answer anymore.

"No!" Sherry screamed in horror.

"Sherry, don't worry, we will find him!" Even William was shocked, did Daniel hear them just now? He didn't want to imagine what the child must be feeling!

"Of course you don't worry, he is not your child, William, I am warning you, if anything bad happens to my son, I will kill you!" If it wasn't for him, she would have never told anyone the truth!

Sherry ran outside.

William followed her, the rain was pouring outside, it was autumn, and cold.

Sherry shuddered, and looked into the dark rainy night, she was horrified when she couldn't see anyone, she put her hands around her mouth, and screamed, "Daniel, where are you? Tell me, where are you!"

In the rain, Sherry could only hear her own heartbreaking voice, "Daniel, tell me, where are you? I am sorry, we were just joking, of course you are my child, you are my everything, where are you? Please answer me..."

"Daniel!" William ran outside, and screamed, but they couldn't find him.

It didn't take long before both of them were soaking wet from the rain, but Sherry kept running, "Daniel, where are you? Tell me where you are, please don't scare me like this!"

Where did he go?

Did he really hear it? That is the only explanation! William couldn't imagine how a child would react after hearing such awful news.

He only had to think of Daniel's little face to feel pressure on his chest, and trouble breathing, his heart was aching, he thought it must be because of his guilt that he felt that way!

"Daniel, where are you? Tell me, me and your mother were only joking, that is not true!" William yelled, but no matter how loud he screamed, he didn't get an answer.

Sherry kept yelling herself while running, until she lost her voice, she ran out of their street, and the passengers walking there were all turning to look at her.

Sherry stopped someone on the road, "Sir, have you seen a five year old boy, about this tall?"

"No!" Everyone shook their heads.

"Daniel!" Sherry cried till her tears dried up.

William followed her, his heart was strangely hurting, he grabbed her wrist, "Sherry, don't worry, we will find him!"

It was getting dark outside, and people were going home, the helpless feeling of not seeing her child made her anxious, "Let go of me, William, let go, give me my son back, it is all your fault!"

She started to hit him and kick him, William didn't move, instead, he pulled her into his arms, "Don't cry, I will help you till we find him!"

"I want my son, I want my Daniel!" Nobody understood how important Daniel was to her, Daniel was her only backbone, if she hadn't found Daniel, she would have died long ago!

The two of them were soaking wet, and in a difficult position, the cars on the street were lessening, and Sherry felt her heart freeze, "Daniel... Daniel..."

"He doesn't want me anymore... my son doesn't want me anymore..." Sherry suddenly looked up into the rainy sky, and started to laugh, her eyes were stinging, but her heart already died, the depression spread in her, and filled it with a big hole, she felt taken back to when she was 17 and lost her brother, or when she was 18 and lost her own son...

"Why is even God walking out on me?" She cried, there were too many things she had to endure, but she didn't even know where to start anymore, her sorrowful face couldn't hide the pain.

"Sherry!" William wrapped his arm around Sherry's shoulder, so she could lean her head on his chest, only when he couldn't see her sad face, he could control himself, he regretted it, where could Daniel go on such a rainy night?

"William, you asshole, you... you asshole!" Sherry cried, like a little hurt animal, big tear drops tolled down her cheeks, she looked so helpless, so hurt, the darkness swept upon her, but all she could do was to cry, she lost her child...

Why? Why? Why was God always so mean to her? Why did he always bully her?

"Waaaaaaah..." In a dark building, a child's voice was heard, "Waaaaah, I am an orphan, I have no parents... Wahhhh!"

"My parents don't want me, waaaah!" The little face was covered in tears and snot, he had rolled himself together, and was crying silently.

"I was so good, why do they not want me?"

"Let go of me, I have to find my son!" Sherry pushed him away, and started to run.

She looked so weak in the rain, but she was so strong, William felt pain in his heart, as if thousands of needles were stinging him, all these years, she must have had such a hard life.

He suddenly wanted to tell her about Samuel, but, in that moment, he swallowed it back again, he was afraid she will hate him.

"Daniel..." Sherry screamed out of control, she looked so helpless, so pitiful.

It has been five years, Daniel and her have been sticking together for five years, there have been countless sad times, countless tears, countless satisfactions, countless happiness, countless surprises, he has long been part of her.

And what if he wasn't her birth child? She loved him! He was her son! They weren't related by blood, but she was already part of him, "Daniel! Please don't hide from me okay? I am sorry, I will never make such jokes again!"

Sherry's tears were turning in her eyes, she could see that little face in her mind, she saw people passing on the road, a little child being held by someone, Sherry screamed panicking, "Daniel!"

When William caught up with her, she had already run to the middle of the street, she was so fast and didn't even watch out for cars.

William's heart raced fast, "Sherry!"

He could see the upcoming car didn't have the time to stop in time, it was dark and raining, the roads were slippery. William ran towards her, hugged her and rolled over, away from the car, whose breaks were squeaking.

"Are you tired of living?" The driver stuck his head out and yelled, he almost hit them, "Crazy idiots, if you want to die, jump out of the window!"

William shot a look to him, and he was immediately quiet.

Sherry could hear the squeaking breaks of the car, but she didn't have the time to care, she got up, not minding that she was wet all over, "Daniel, Daniel!" She ran to the child like a mad woman, "Daniel!"

"Hey, Sherry, no, that's not him!" William held her wrist, Sherry had lost herself, and scared the little child!

"Ma'am, I am sorry, I think you mistook my child for someone else!" The child's mother said to her, feeling for Sherry, she took her son and turned to leave.

No!

Sherry's heart immediately started to ache horribly.

"Sherry, don't you think we are looking at the wrong spot?" William suddenly realized, Daniel was only a child, he couldn't have run so fast! "Let's go back and search there!"

Sherry's eyes looked like a burned field, lifeless, "Daniel..."

"Let's go back!" William's voice carried a hint of worry.

Sherry already lost herself, and she allowed William to carry her into their street.

They went back to their building, but no one was to be seen, and nobody was home. They were living on ground floor, Sherry collapsed at the door, her wet hair was hanging down on the side of her face, her teeth bit into her lips, and her fists were tightly clenched into fists.

William knitted his brows, his hearing was really sharp, "Ps, keep quiet!"

Sherry looked up at him, but William had already run out.

In the building next to theirs, he could hear someone sobbing. William ran towards the voice, "Daniel? Daniel?"

The lights turned on on his yelling, and he could see Daniel curled up lying under the stairs, his tiny body was trembling, he looked so pitiful.

William's eyes stung, and his heart twitched, he lowered himself down and reached out his arms to pull Daniel to himself, holding him in his hug, "Daniel, we were only joking, you are your mother's child, look how similar you two appear!"

"Waaaah, you are lying uncle!" Daniel swallowed, "They don't want me, I am a wild child!"

Chapter 70 - A Moment in Destiny

"No! You are not!" He felt so painful in his heart, the sad feeling rolling in William's eyes, "You are a good boy, not a wild child, it's all my fault, I made a mistake, I shouldn't have joked with your mother, let's go and ask her, she will tell you that you are her kid!"

"Daniel?" Sherry ran towards them and saw that William was holding him in his arms, covered in spider webs, and little face had tears all over, and his hands were clinging onto William's neck, sobbing, "I am not your son, I am not!"

"Daniel, Sherry ran to him, and took him, "Son, I was wrong, of course you are my son, I only have you, you can't just leave me like that!"

William turned his face away, his heart was twitching, not only Daniel, Samuel was her son too! But how was he going to tell her about that with everything going on?

William didn't expect that he would have tears running down his cheeks. He shook his head, and hugged the two of them tight, "Let's go home, you will get a cold!"

"Mom, don't cry, mom, I will be a good boy! But you can't leave me either, I will be a good kid!" Daniel hugged Sherry's neck, his tears fell on her shoulders, they were hot, so hot that her heart twitched.

"Son... Mom will never leave you, and you should never leave me too okay? Mom won't survive without you!" Sherry pressed Daniel against herself, she never wanted to let go again.

"Sherry, let go, hurry, let's go home!" William took Daniel, but Sherry didn't want to let go of him. William sighed, "Sherry, you are all wet, you are going to give Daniel a cold, let's go back already!"

Only then Sherry saw her own condition, "Daniel, let's go home and take a shower, I will help you!"

The two of them both had red eyes, and Daniel shook his head, "I don't want you to help me!"

"Daniel?" Sherry looked at him, hurt, "You don't want me anymore?"

"You are a woman!" Daniel looked down, "I want uncle to help me shower!"

Sherry nodded, "Okay, anything you say!"

William pressed his lips together, and took Daniel in his arms, then they went to the bathroom.

"Mommy, you will not leave me right?" After the shower, Daniel was lying on the bed in dry clothes, Sherry had also showered, and was holding him.

The two of them were leaning on each other.

"I only have you, I only need you!" Sherry hugged him tight.

"But I am not your child, it' because I wasn't a good boy, so my parents didn't want me anymore!" His voice was so low that she could barely hear him.

When she heard that, she felt pain in her heart, "Son, you are a good kid, you are the best! Did you forget how many people like you? I love you the most, you are the only reason why I am so happy everyday!"

Daniel was her life, he was so smart, so adorable, the moment she found him on the river bond, she knew that this child was hers, she would never give him to anyone.

She still remembered that night, she had been looking for her own son for a month without any results, she wanted to kill herself, life had no meaning to her anymore! But then, in that moment, she saw this baby lying on the stones next to the river.

His eyes were so bright, so big, he wasn't crying, and when he saw Sherry, he smiled. That moment, she felt as if someone planted a seed in her, she saw hope again, her life wasn't as dark anymore!

He was premature, compared to other children, he was so smart, he started walking when he was only 10 months old, he could say "Mommy" at 11 months, and when he was one year old, he could speak full sentences.

When he was 18 months, he could express his own feelings, he could read one's face expressions, and he knew to be very good when Sherry was tired, he never screamed or cried, when he saw other children's toys, he would simply look, but never said anything, then he would take her hand and say, let's go home!

He would take a towel to wipe her sweat, he would be by her side when she was sick, he would watch her injections and tell the nurse to change her medications. When he was about two years old, he was already such a good boy!

When she was going to work she would put him in his little baby walker, where he could stay for hours and wait for her to come home, he never cried, even when he was hungry!

He was such a good boy, how could she leave him? Even if she never found her own son, she only needed Daniel, he would give her hope to stay alive! She couldn't imagine how life would be without him by her side, if she would still be there.

"Good baby, go to sleep, Mr. Rowland and I were only joking, you are my baby, look how similar we are to each other, right?"

Sherry tried to cover up the mistake by making jokes, but it has already planted a seed in Daniel's heart.

"Mom, I am your son!" Daniel hugged Sherry's neck, he leaned on her, his little body was still trembling from the crying, "I only want you, I don't need a Daddy, and I don't want another mother, I just want you!"

Sherry felt her heart sting, she was so sad, "Baby!"

She just wanted to hug him, hug him tight.

Finally, Daniel fell asleep!

Sherry pulled the blanket over him, and left the bedroom. As she came out, she saw William at the door, he was wrapped in a towel, but his chest was naked, she paused, he was too close to her, and it made the atmosphere repressed.

"I am sorry!" He apologized, "Sherry, I didn't know this would happen!"

"Mr. Rowland, in the future, we should pretend not to know each other, okay?" She didn't want to have contact with him again, she didn't want to have such a bad strain again.

"Why?" William was panicking, his hair was sticking on his forehead, it wasn't yet dry, his face was pale, even his lips, his breathing was fast, he seemed to have a blocked nose.

He had scratches on his neck which were slightly bleeding, it looked like from nails! She must have injured him in the mess, she hit him, and he never stopped her, he just let her hit him!

But, he was the reason why Daniel ran away, she felt guilty about injuring him, but she couldn't forgive him, if it wasn't him forcing her to answer his questions, she would have never said all that.

No! She had to blame herself, she blamed herself for not keeping the secret!

She looked down, and said coldly, "You are simply my previous boss, we don't really know each other, and I don't need any more friends!"

Her words made him frown, his brows were deeply knit, he was only staring at her, her tired face, her red eyes, and didn't speak.

William suddenly felt annoyed, he subconsciously looked for his cigarettes, but they weren't there, his clothes were wet, all he had was a towel around him.

He turned pale because of her words. Something was twitching in his heart, causing William to feel very anxious, then he said in his deep voice, "Okay, I can pretend not to know you!"

"It's still raining, you can stay here and leave tomorrow morning!" She said calmly, then she turned and went into Daniel's bedroom.

William's gaze followed her, his eyes shone deep with thick light.

Sherry didn't know when William left, but when she got up in the morning, he was already gone, the jogging suit was hanging on the balcony.

Daniel was very quiet on the way when Sherry sent him to the kindergarten.

Sherry knew that after what he heard the night before, he lost his sense of security, he had nightmares the whole night, and she felt as if her heart was being stabbed. When they arrived at the gate, Daniel lowered his head.

"Babe, I will pick you up after work, you don't have to stay over night anymore, I will pick you up everyday from now on!" Sherry kissed him on the cheek, "Okay?"

"Mom!" Daniel looked at her, as if he wanted to say something.

Sherry felt a sting in her heart, she hugged him close, "I gotta go to work, you are my baby, you will forever be!"

"Bye Mom!" Daniel kissed Sherry on the cheek, then let go of her, but she could see that he wasn't happy, he never smiled again.

"Leon, about yesterday..." Sherry didn't even finish her sentence before Leon fell into her word.

"Sherry, yesterday William already called to take a day off for you. It's all good, this is a good thing, we are only serving him this week, have you talked about the dishes yet?" Leon was a smart person, he didn't ask for any details, because if William called, then something must have happened, because Sherry used to be his secretary.

Sherry nodded, "Yeah, it's been talked about, I will tell the chef right away!"

"Okay!" Leon nodded, then he smiled, "Sherry, I know you are smart, Celia has been praising you all the time, I know you had some rough times, and you learn very quickly. After you've talked about the menu, you can follow Ms. Fischer to learn about the lobby, how to greet guests, how to welcome the important guests, to make them want to come again. There is a science behind how to keep your regular customers!"

"Leon, I am flattered, actually I am quite stupid!" Sherry smiled, "But I will learn!"

"I know!" Leon laughed.

At lunch time.

The restaurant was filled with customers. Sherry was with Ms. Fischer in the lobby, she was about 40 years old, even though she wasn't the youngest anymore, she had the self restraint and the elegance of a mature woman, her gestures and expressions were all so beautiful.

Ms. Fischer was taking a group of customers upstairs, and Sherry was alone in the lobby.

Right in that moment, a tall man in black suit entered. Sherry welcomed him with a smile, but when she saw the person, she was surprised, what was he doing here?

William's eyes were looking playfully at her.

The president of the Rowland Group was declined by a woman! She even said that she will pretend not to know him, so he wanted to see how she was going to do that!

Sherry paused, then she smiled again.

He knew it, she smiled! William didn't think that she could pull it through, how could she pretend not to know him!

"Welcome sir! Is this your first time eating at our restaurant? Do I need to introduce our menu and service to you?" Sherry smiled at him politely like he was a stranger.

He was a little surprised, shit, she was really going through with this!

Okay, good! Did she think he would let her be?

He smiled playfully, suddenly, William's eyes had a hint of coldness, but deep and quiet, "Miss, excuse me, this is my second time! First, I would like a coffee made by you in person!"