

Detective 841

Chapter 841 Another person

In the water behind the yacht, a man wearing a jet black diving suit and goggles slowly stretched out his head.

After waiting for a few more minutes to confirm that there was no sound around, the man felt relieved and slowly swam towards the yacht.

After being in the water for nearly an hour, the man's physical strength had been exhausted. He struggled to climb onto the yacht, took off the oxygen bottle and collapsed directly on the deck.

"It refers to Vasseur who raised."

The man rested for a long time, took several deep breaths and finally regained some strength. He whispered a dozen dirty words to Vassell Vinny with an angry face.

A few seconds later, the man seemed to have thought of something for the last time. With a wry smile, he struggled to get up from the deck, preparing to throw the diving suit and other items into the bottom of the sea, and then quietly leave the place according to Vassell-Vinney's plan.

"It's true that Vassell Vinny has a brain problem, but his IQ is indeed not low."

The man struggled to change his clothes, pushed the oxygen bottle into the sea, breathed a long sigh of relief, then turned around to prepare to disembark, and whispered to himself:

"Let's go find something to eat first, otherwise I'm afraid I'll have low blood sugar."

"If you are afraid of hypoglycemia, just eat some candies. I happen to have two here."

On the side of the deck, Luo An chuckled, stretched out his hand and handed the man two candies:

“One with apple flavor and one with mango flavor, which one do you want?”

The man stopped walking and froze in place. He turned his head little by little like a puppet, the expression on his face froze, and he stuttered:

"you you you..."

"Do not be afraid."

Luo An opened the apple-flavored candy and stuffed it into his mouth, smiled and said:

“Aren't you afraid that you might be bitten by a shark if you stay in the sea?”

“You...why are you here?”

The man was Herman in the car. At this time, his eyes looked like he had seen a ghost, and a large amount of sweat suddenly appeared on his forehead.

Roan clapped his hands. Mona and Lacey held weapons and walked out from other positions on both sides of the yacht one after another. They looked at Herman expressionlessly.

“We'll discuss this later, don't panic, Mr. Herman.”

Luo An chuckled, handed the mango-flavored candy to Herman, and said with a smile:

“We are good people.”

Lacie opened the pistol safety directly.

Herman's eyelids twitched. He looked at the smile on Luo An's face in front of him and took a deep breath to slowly suppress the fear in his heart.

There are three levels in Wassell-Venney's plan. The first level is the motorboat that leaves quickly, making noises in the east and west, making people think that they have left by boat.

The second level is the yacht, which can provide them with a hiding place if something unexpected happens.

The third layer is the diving suit and oxygen bottle, just in case.

If an accident does occur, Vassell Vinny will come forward to attract attention, and the motorboat can also play the role of attracting attention again. Herman only needs to wait for everything to be over and leave quickly.

Where did Vasseur Vinny have the confidence to think that it would be fine if he was caught? Herman didn't know. The relationship between the two parties was currently a bit complicated, and Herman had no choice but to accept his plan.

Despite his displeasure, Herman still had to admit that Vassell-Venney's plan was layered layer by layer, and the success rate was indeed very high.

Unexpectedly, he bumped into Luo An and the others as soon as he came out.

Looking at the status of the three people, Herman found that they had obviously been waiting for him for a long time.

Took the candy tremblingly, opened the package and stuffed it into his mouth. The sweetness filled his taste buds and made Herman relax a lot. He swallowed and asked:

“Team Leader Luo An, how did you find me?”

“You will have a chance to find out later.”

Luo An chuckled, and discovered the other party's figure from the beginning of his "emotional perception".

He originally planned to send people directly to catch the opponent in the sea, but seeing the confident expression on Vassell Vinny's face, Luo An finally decided to let Herman soak for a while to make Vassell Vinny a little happier. Surrounded on three sides, Hermann was a scientist and did not have the fighting skills of a killer or a special soldier, so he had no choice but to raise his hands in a French military salute.

Luo An smiled and patted Herman on the shoulder, very satisfied with his current affairs attitude. After Lacey handcuffed him, Luo An took Herman away and walked away.

Not far from the road leaving the port, the Coast Guard personnel had already left. The troop carrier of the SWAT team and the MPV driven by Winslow were parked on the roadside waiting.

Inside the troop carrier, Vassell Vinny, who was surrounded, had a gloomy face. He had a bad premonition from the moment the car stopped here and waited.

After waiting for a long time, Vassell-Vinney finally couldn't bear it any longer, turned to look at Cheniere aside, and asked:

“Hey, why haven't you set off yet?”

Chenelle glanced at Vassell Vinny, sneered and didn't reply at all.

Wasser Vinny became even more angry when he saw this. Just as he was about to ask again, there was a sudden knock on the door of the troop carrier.

The SWAT team member inside opened the car door, and Luo An stuffed Herman in and said with a smile:

“Chenelle, here comes another one, keep an eye on this guy.”

Chenier nodded and took Herman to the side. Roan turned to look at Vassell Vinny, whose face was as gloomy as water, and said with a smile:

“Why do you look so ugly? Are you feeling sick in your stomach?”

Wasser Vinny stared at Luo An with an expressionless face. He was silent for a few seconds. He suddenly smiled and said:

“Team Leader Luo An, can you...”

Snapped-

Halfway through what Vassell Vinny said, Luo An closed the car door directly.

Wasser Vinny was so angry that he almost spat out another mouthful of blood.

Mona and Lacey closed the car door, and Roan also got into Winslow's car:

“The mission is successfully completed, drive back!”

“OK!”

The two cars started at the same time and drove slowly into the distance.

At 1:30 midnight, the group successfully arrived at Columbia City, the capital of South Carolina.

At the FBI branch building in Columbia City, two cars slowly parked on the side of the road. Luo An and others got out of the car, and Winslow drove to the parking lot. The SWAT team members also took Vassell Vinny and Herman into custody. A troop carrier.

“Thank you for your hard work, everyone.”

Roan smiled and exchanged greetings with several SWAT team members, and agreed to drink together later. Chenelle, Lacey, Mona and Michelle escorted Vassell Vinny and Herman to the building.

In the temporarily borrowed office, Herman and Vassell Vinny were locked in different rooms. As soon as Luo An put down the water glass, Winslow walked over quickly and frowned:

“Roan, I just received news that Vassell Vinny's lawyer will be here soon.”

“What?”

"So fast?"

Lacie and Michelle were surprised, while Chenelle realized a problem and said solemnly:

“We did not notify Vasseur-Venney's relatives, nor did we release news of the operation, and no one contacted a lawyer.

Then how did this lawyer know that Vassell Vinny had been caught by us? ”

“Don't forget the gold-toothed Vernon who was killed by a grenade.”

Luo An stretched his waist:

“This matter has already been in the news. For some people who are interested, it is not difficult to find out that Vassell Vinny was arrested.”

"damn it."

A few people looked ugly. Winslow cursed in a low voice, and then said:

"I said that this guy Vassell Vinny didn't panic at all, as if he was not the one who was arrested.

Now it seems that the person behind this guy is probably not simple. "

Mona turned to look at Luo An:

"What do we do next?"

Luo An raised his hand, yawned, and said softly:

"It's already early in the morning, let's take a rest first. As for the lawyer, let's talk about it after we have a good rest."

Chapter 842 Interrogation

Seeing that Luo An was not panicked at all, Winslow and Lacey looked at each other, laughed and put down the heavy stone in their hearts. They simply packed up and went to the hotel to rest with Luo An.

Everyone was really tired after a day of hard work. It was not until about ten o'clock in the morning that the group of people walked into the temporary office again without any hurry.

Not long after everyone arrived at the office, a white man in a suit, wearing glasses and a neatly slicked back hair who looked to be in his forties walked in.

"Hello, Captain Greenwood."

The man smiled and stretched out his hand towards Luo Anshi:

“My name is Ilhan, and I am Mr. Vassell-Venney's lawyer.

I will be with Mr. Vassell-Venney for the rest of the interrogation process. I hope Team Leader Greenwood doesn't mind. ”

There is indeed a law in the Federation that lawyers accompany suspects for interrogation. Luo An was not surprised by this and just stretched out his hand to shake the other party:

“Hello, Lawyer Ilhan.”

Lawyer Ilhan chuckled and asked:

“Then when will we start the interrogation?”

“Don't worry, we still have some work to do.”

Luo An took a deep look at Lawyer Ilhan, then waved his hand and said:

“Winslow, treat this lawyer Ilhan well.”

"no problem."

Winslow grinned and walked up to Attorney Ilhan:

“Please follow me, Mr. Lawyer.”

Lawyer Ilhan was half-invited and half-coerced by Winslow and taken to another room far away to wait. Luo An poured a cup of coffee and said:

"Mona, I remember you found out before that the Vassell-Vinney gang is related to several bank robberies in Georgia, right?"

"That's right."

Mona added:

"The police in Atlanta found many suspicious clues, but could not find the key evidence."

"OK."

Luo An thought for a moment and whispered:

"Mona, Michelle, please investigate the situation of this lawyer Ilhan, see who are the shareholders of his law firm, and then carefully investigate his interpersonal relationships."

"no problem!"

Mona and Michelle took the order and started busy. Lacey raised her hand and asked:

"What about me? What do I do?"

Luo An thought for a while and said:

"Lacie, Chenelle, go to Vassell Vinny's residence and search it carefully to see if you can find anything useful."

"OK."

Lacie and Chenelle nodded, simply packed up their things and turned to leave. Luo An was silent for a moment, took out his mobile phone and walked to the corner where the water dispenser was, found a phone number and called it:

"Good afternoon, I'm Luo An."

Time moved forward minute by minute, and soon it went from 10:30 in the morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Attorney Ilhan has been sitting in the room waiting, but Roan refused to bring Wassell-Vinney to trial.

When Lawyer Ilhan looked for Luo An, he found Luo An slumped on a chair to rest out of boredom. He even yawned when he saw him.

Lawyer Ilhan was very helpless, but he could not interfere with Luo An's work without interrogating him, so he could only choose to continue waiting.

Time continued to move forward. At seven o'clock in the evening, lawyer Ilhan left the FBI building and went out to have dinner. As soon as he reached the door of the restaurant, his cell phone suddenly rang.

"Hello, Lawyer Ilhan."

Luo An on the other end of the phone chuckled:

"I'm going to interrogate Vassell Vinny. You are his lawyer. You can come with me."

Lawyer Ilhan's eyelids jumped. He took several deep breaths to suppress the negative emotions in his heart, left the restaurant and drove back to the FBI branch building.

Twenty minutes later, in the interrogation room, Lawyer Ilhan sat on the same side as Vassell-Vinney, and Roan and Chenelle sat across the interrogation table. Lawyer Ilhan looked at Roan with a displeased look on his face, while Vassell Vinny looked up at the ceiling with a blank expression, not bothering to pay attention to Roan and Chenelle.

Luo An took the coffee and tasted it slowly, not paying attention to lawyer Ilhan's eyes. Cheniel was arranging the documents by herself, without saying a word. There were four people in the interrogation room, but the air was very quiet.

A few minutes later, Chenelle finished sorting and nodded to Luo An. Upon seeing this, Luo An put down the coffee cup, took the first document, coughed and said:

“Wasser Vinny, did you kill Goldtooth Vernon?”

Wasser Vinny turned to look at Lawyer Ilhan. Lawyer Ilhan sat upright and said in a solemn voice:

“Leader Greenwood, please show me specific evidence.

My client has the right to refuse to answer such leading questions without evidence. ”

Chenelle frowned. This was why she didn't like lawyers. She shielded criminals and betrayed their consciences.

Luo An smiled and seemed unconcerned. He put down the first document, picked up the second document and said:

“Wasser Vinny, is anyone else on the counterfeit team alive besides Herman?

Who is left alive in the treasure hunting team that was hacked by you? How's Benson doing? Where are others?

Did you start the fire in the warehouse...”

Luo An asked dozens of questions in a leisurely manner. Some questions were answered by lawyer Ilhan, who still refused to answer because there was no evidence. Some questions were prevaricated by Vassell-Vinney, and he even answered a few "I don't know" questions. .

Cheniel's face became increasingly ugly, but Luo An remained very calm.

“That is to say, Benson of the treasure hunting team was severely burned due to the fire, and was shot by Goldtooth Vernon to relieve the pain.

As for the counterfeit banknote team, two people survived, and one of them was killed by you. Herman was very useful, so you kept him until now. ”

Luo An nodded and summarized the answer he had just asked. Vassell Vinny looked at Luo An in disbelief, really not understanding what was going on.

Lawyer Ilhan looked at Vassell Vinny's expression, and then at Luo An, who had a calm face. His face suddenly became ugly, and he said in a deep voice:

“Leader Greenwood, please don't speak nonsense without evidence. The FBI cannot slander federal people.”

"There is no slander. Wassell-Venney himself knows whether the matter is true or false."

Luo An closed the document, turned his gaze to Lawyer Ilhan, and said:

“As for you, Mr. Lawyer, breaking the law is not a good thing.”

Lawyer Ilhan frowned, and just as he was about to speak, there was a knock on the interrogation room door. Luo An stood up and opened the door, and two white men in suits and ties walked in.

“Hello, Captain Greenwood.”

“Hello.”

Luo An smiled and stretched out his hand to shake hands with the two of them and exchanged a few words. The two men in suits did not waste any time. They directly took out an ID and placed it in front of lawyer Ilhan and said:

“IRS-CI, Mr. Ilhan Zorro, you have some problems with your financial situation. Please come with us.”

Lawyer Ilhan stood up instantly, his eyes widening in disbelief:

"impossible!"

The two men in suits were too lazy to talk nonsense and directly opened their clothes to reveal the pistols inside:

“Please come with us.”

Lawyer Ilhan was breathing rapidly and his chest was heaving wildly. Suddenly he turned his head and stared at Luo An, and said angrily:

“It's you! Leader Greenwood, you are so...”

“Don't say anything without evidence, Lawyer Ilhan, or I'll sue you for defamation.”

Luo An smiled, and Lawyer Ilhan was silent for a long time. Finally, he snorted and had to leave the interrogation room with IRS-CI.

Wasser Vinny looked at this scene in surprise. He didn't realize it until Lawyer Ilhan closed the door and left. Just as he was about to speak, Luo An smiled and said:

“Wasser Vinny, Herman has already explained everything, how do you choose?”

Chapter 843 The story behind the case-Part 1

Eight o'clock in the evening, Columbia City, FBI branch building, an interrogation room.

“Herman has explained everything, how do you choose?”

Hearing Luo An's question and remembering the scene in which Lawyer Ilhan was taken away just now, Vassel Vinny's face changed slightly, but he quickly thought of something again and snorted coldly:

“To be honest, Team Leader Luo An, your joke is very boring.”

Luo An chuckled and shook his head slightly, patted Cheniel on the shoulder, stopped talking, and left the interrogation room directly.

The moment the door to the interrogation room was closed, Vasseur-Venni's face instantly became gloomy, and beads of sweat slowly formed on his temples.

At the same time, in the corridor outside the door of the interrogation room, Winslow and Lacey looked puzzled. Seeing Luo An and the others walking out, Lacey immediately came up and asked in a low voice:

“Luo An, what happened to those two IRS-CI agents just now?”

“Both detectives said there were financial issues with lawyer Ilhan.”

Luo An smiled, but Lacey was still full of doubts. At this moment, Mona walked over from the office area, thrust a folder into Lacey, and said with a smile:

“Luo An asked me to investigate Lawyer Ilhan's interpersonal relationships before, and I found some clues.”

Lacie opened the folder and found that Lawyer Ilhan's interpersonal relationships were very complicated. Ordinary people, company bosses, and criminals of all kinds... all had his friends.

Lawyer Ilhan also knows many people in the business and political circles. The difference is that most of his friends in the business and political circles are people from the upper middle class and below the rich level.

“These people's status is not low, but they are still far from the top bosses.”

Michelle also came over at this time, and she explained seriously:

“Under normal circumstances, Lawyer Ilhan has such a wide network of contacts. If he meets friends again through friends and works hard to cater for a few years, he should be able to reach a higher level soon.

But Lawyer Ilhan has none of it. He has never expanded his network in the past ten years. This is not consistent with common sense at all. ”

Winslow's eyes moved slightly. He suddenly remembered a case he had experienced several years ago, so he guessed in a low voice:

“There is someone behind Lawyer Ilhan, is this guy a white glove?”

“It should be said that he is the guy responsible for cleaning the gloves and improving the life cycle of the gloves.”

Luo An took the folder in Lacey's hand, turned to the last page and found a circled name, and said:

“Harrison Hamid, an ordinary billionaire.

After cross-reference, it was found that he had no direct connection with Lawyer Ilhan, but as long as he took a few detours, every time Lawyer Ilhan took over the case, he would always be more or less connected to him.

The same goes for this guy Vassell Vinny. "

"What?"

Lacie was a little surprised:

“Wasser Vinny is a bank robber, how can he be associated with a billionaire?”

“It's really good.”

Michelle found another folder and handed it to Lacey, whispering:

“The bank robberies in Georgia happened at different banks.

But if you compare the accounts of these banks, you will find that these banks are related to the private equity funds of certain subsidiaries under Harrison Hamid, a certain parent company. "

"Forehead..."

Lacie frowned. She felt that Michelle's words were a bit convoluted. She thought carefully for a few seconds before clarifying her thoughts, and then said in surprise:

“Are you saying that the reason why Vassell Vinny robbed the bank was actually to help Harrison Hamid, a billionaire, clean up his accounts?”

Michelle looked at Luo An, who shook his head slightly:

“It is unlikely that the accounts will be settled, there should be other stories behind it.”

Lacie was stunned for a moment:

"what story?"

Luo An spread his hands:

“I don't know.” Lacey's head was suddenly filled with black lines. Luo An chuckled, put the folder back into her hand, and said:

“Because I didn't know, I called IRS-CI.”

IRS-CI, the Internal Revenue Service Criminal Investigation Division, has the highest priority among law enforcement agencies across the federal government.

Wasser Vinny is a bank robber who is connected to the rich man Harrison Hamid. It sounds like the things behind him are complicated and difficult to investigate.

In this case, it is better to contact IRS-CI (Internal Revenue Service Criminal Investigation Division) directly. They are not interested in the case itself, but the money in the case is very worthy of their attention.

IRS-CI has the power to arrest people first and provide evidence later. Even if Harrison Hamid is a rich man, he cannot resist the opponent openly.

“There's no need for Vassell Vinny to rush here. Once the results of the investigation from Lawyer Ilhan come out, he can solve the problem smoothly here.”

Facing the tough-minded Vassell Vinny, Luo An decisively chose to go off-site and activated the secret skills of human connections and asked IRS-CI supervisor Elmer for help.

Supervisor Elmer was also very happy about this. There is no doubt that Luo An gave him another big achievement.

Lacie's mouth twitched. Vassell Vinny in the interrogation room clearly knew nothing, but still felt that I had the advantage. In fact, Luo An had already arranged everything...

After a moment of silence, Lacey then asked:

“So, what do we do next?”

“Next, let's go talk to Herman.”

Luo An stretched his waist and said with a faint smile:

“He hasn't been soaked in sea water for long, and his brain should not be damaged yet, so he can distinguish between good and bad, pros and cons.”

“I say, I say everything.”

Five minutes later, in another interrogation room, Luo An and Cheniel had just sorted out the documents. Before they could raise their heads to ask, Herman said with a serious face and very proactively:

“The guy with the gold teeth in his mouth was killed by Vassell Vinny.”

Chenelle was stunned by Herman's cooperative attitude. Luo An laughed, reached out and poured Herman a cup of coffee, and then asked:

“What happened to that fire?”

Herman paused while taking the coffee and was silent for a few seconds. He took a sip of coffee and said:

“I started that fire.”

Herman said the fire was a last resort.

Before the fire ignited, Herman and several of his men had been living a boring life in a warehouse on the outskirts of Atlanta, eating, drinking, relaxing, and printing several large cardboard boxes of counterfeit money every day.

“Susan is my... um, friend.”

Facing Cheniel's somewhat contemptuous look, Herman smiled awkwardly and then said:

“More than a month before the fire, when Susan went out to buy food, two drunk guys came up to make trouble.”

The drunk guys mentioned by Herman were exactly two people in the treasure hunting team.

Herman happened to go out with Susan to buy food that day. When he saw this situation, he immediately stepped forward to stop the situation. The two drunkards got angry and started to fight, and Herman fought with the two of them.

In the middle of the fight, someone came out to start a fight. The other person was the alcoholic boss named Benson.

Compared to the two drunkards, Benson had a much better attitude. He apologized a few times and led the people away. Herman was taken back to the warehouse by Susan. When he was packing his things, he suddenly discovered that the fake goods he used to show to customers when doing business. The money was actually lost.

Herman immediately realized that the counterfeit banknotes might have been taken away by Benson and others, and hurriedly drove back to the location where they were fighting, only to find that Benson and others had already left, and Herman could not find them at all.

Herman planned to lead everyone to evacuate the warehouse, but Susan and others refused because the equipment was very large and difficult to move. It would be very troublesome and time-consuming to restart work in a new place.

“I should have taken them away by force.”

Herman smiled bitterly:

“If quality control is not strict, something will happen. This saying is indeed true.”

Chapter 844 The story behind the case-Part 2

When making counterfeit banknotes, the most important thing is quality control.

Whether it is electronic printing, paper, ink, or watermarking, we must not be careless or sloppy, we must do our best.

These are the technical aspects of making counterfeit banknotes. In addition, the location of the counterfeit banknote factory, the personnel who make counterfeit banknotes, the plan for selling counterfeit banknotes, and the identity of the buyers of counterfeit banknotes...

These require careful consideration and investigation. You cannot be careless at every step. Only by being cautious and careful can you get to the end. These are also quality control.

Considering that only one counterfeit banknote was lost, and that Susan and other subordinates opposed the relocation of the factory, Herman thought for a long time and finally chose to compromise.

Facts have proven that lax quality control can cause big problems.

Benson didn't recognize the twenty-dollar bill as a super counterfeit at first, so he took it out for shopping.

In the end, it was the banknote detector in the mall that found something wrong with the twenty dollars, and only then did Benson react.

Coupled with the fact that Susan and others went out to buy things every once in a while, and mysteriously did not go out at all other times, and their schedules were very regular, Benson instantly realized that there was something wrong with the warehouse.

Based on the total amount of food Susan purchased, Benson guessed that there were about 10 people in the warehouse.

He originally planned to find time to find out, but Leon said it was time to go out to sea to hunt for treasure. Benson had to put the matter behind him for the time being and follow the fleet to sea.

Benson and others' treasure hunt went very smoothly. It didn't take long before they found the sunken SS Central America, and even managed to get some gold coins and gold nuggets from it.

Because the ship was not large enough and equipped not fully equipped to continue diving, Benson, Leon and others decided to temporarily return to the shore and find a larger ship to go out to sea to fish for gold.

As soon as Benson, Leon and others docked, the covert behavior of some people in the team holding boxes attracted some people's attention.

A technical worker took advantage of the situation and asked some information from a crew member.

Three and a half minutes later, most of Atlanta's underground world knew about this incident.

A certain crew member: "..."

They robbed a bank some time ago and the Vasseur-Venni team, who had nothing to do recently, also learned the news. After some discussion, they decisively chose to make extra money, and set out that night to start a crime-fighting operation.

Most of the treasure hunting team was slaughtered without haste. Only Benson, Leon, and Anatoly, who was not mentally normal, survived.

The three of them fled all the way. Seeing that he could not escape his pursuers, Benson chose to drag the others into the water and persuaded Leon to drive the car towards the warehouse in the suburbs.

Benson remembered that there were about ten people there, and they should be able to delay some time.

"Benson and Leon are * raised by two cousins."

At this point, Herman's face was full of anger, he hammered the interrogation table hard, and said angrily:

"We were working overtime to print counterfeit money, and before we could react, they drove into the factory with a group of people.

We fired wildly and fought back, and there was a fierce battle. Susan and the others all died in that battle, and Vassell and Vinnie also suffered heavy losses..."

In order to prevent the news of the counterfeit banknotes from leaking out, Hermann had no choice but to light a fire and prepare to burn everything.

The fire devoured the counterfeit banknotes and turned into a raging flame, quickly burning 90% of the items in the warehouse. Months of hard work by Herman and others were destroyed in one fell swoop.

“I thought at the time, this was the most tragic thing in the world.”

Herman sighed deeply and whispered:

“I never expected that Vassell Vinny and Goldtooth Vernon were fine, and they even held us hostage.”

There were only five survivors of the fire:

Wasser-Vinney, Goldtooth Vernon, Benson, Herman, and another helper from Herman's counterfeiting team.

Benson's body was severely burned, and Vasseur Vinny was very kind. After asking for clues about Anatoly, he raised his pistol to help him eliminate the pain.

As for the helper of the counterfeit banknote team, he was seriously injured in the previous gun battle. Anatoly was kind-hearted and did not want to see the other person suffer, so he took the gun again and sent the other person into a deep sleep.

At this point, the three-party melee ended, and the only survivors were Herman, Vassell Vinny, Goldtooth Vernon, and Anatoly, who was not very mentally normal.

Among them, Anatoly took a bag of counterfeit banknotes and gold coins and followed Benson's instructions before his death, all the way to New York. Vassell Vinny and Goldtooth Vernon needed to watch over Herman and it was inconvenient to arrest him, so they used some means to find Klaus and asked him to lead a team to capture him.

After Anatoly arrived in New York, he showed Benson's half-brother Campbell-Hank the counterfeit money and gold coins.

Addict Campbell-Hank hid the gold coins, but used counterfeit bills to deceive others into buying a lot of flour, and sold the remaining counterfeit bills to gangsters.

Luo An and others destroyed the gang and accidentally discovered counterfeit banknotes, and then began to investigate...

Chenelle, who was recording the words of the interrogation, nodded slightly. At this point, the context of the entire case was clear, and the development of things was clear and clear.

"And one more thing."

Roan shook his head slightly, clapped his hands to attract Chenier and Herman, who bowed their heads in silence, and asked:

"You just said that after Campbell-Hank and Goldtooth Vernon captured you, they never killed you.

Even in the face of your provocation, Campbell-Hank suppressed his anger. What's going on? "

If Campbell-Hank wanted to salvage gold, there was no need to have such a good temper towards Herman. Anatoly, who had mental problems, was his best candidate to recruit.

"That fellow Campbell-Hank wants me to make counterfeit money for him."

Herman sneered, not concealing this aspect, and replied:

"I don't know the purpose of this guy making counterfeit banknotes.

However, this guy has asked many times how big the difference is between the counterfeit bills I made and the real ones, and whether the fake ones can be confused with the real ones. He even asked me if the bank can detect it..."

Hearing Herman's description later, Cheniel frowned, and suddenly her face changed slightly as she thought of a certain word: Substituting one thing for another!

Thinking again of the rich man Harrison Hamid... Chenille swallowed her curse, leaned into Roan's ear and whispered:

“Roan, this guy Herman is not going to exchange fake banknotes for real ones.”

“It's possible.”

Luo An smiled and used counterfeit money to create a plan to rob a bank by substituting elements. It sounded a bit fanciful, but if there was help from an insider, the success rate was actually not low.

Without getting too entangled in this topic, Luo An briefly asked for a moment to find out some details of the case, and then led Cheniel out of the interrogation room.

“How is it? Did Herman say anything?”

As soon as the two walked out of the interrogation room, Lacey quickly came up to her. Luo An thrust the interrogation record into her hand, then walked to Mona and asked:

“What's going on with the IRS? Have you called?”

“Director Elmer did call you just now.”

Mona handed the phone to Luo An and said:

“But he didn't give any specific details, he just said that you should give him a call back when you have time.”

“OK.”

Roan took the phone and walked aside. At the same time, Winslow also approached Lacey and asked with a smile:

“What's in the interrogation record?”

“Luo An is very good, and that guy Herman said everything that needs to be said.”

Lacie replied casually, scrolled through it for a few seconds and asked:

“Chenelle, where is the gold?”

Chenelle spread her hands:

“The ones at the bottom of the sea are still at the bottom of the sea. As for the few pieces that were fished out, only Campbell-Hank knows where they are.”

Chapter 845 Case follow-up, return to the Special Administrative Region

"Pity."

Hearing Chenelle's explanation, Lacey handed the interrogation record to Winslow and said boredly:

“I have never seen the kind of gold nuggets fished out from sunken ships at the bottom of the sea.”

“I haven't seen it either.”

Chenelle picked up the coffee and took a sip. She was also very interested in it.

Winslow glanced at the interrogation record a few times and then put it aside and said with a smile:

“I heard that if that kind of gold nugget were put at auction, the price would be much higher than the price of the gold itself.”

"normal."

Michelle next to me came over and said with a smile:

“After all, that kind of gold nugget has been at the bottom of the sea for more than ten years. In addition to the properties of gold itself, it also has the added value of cultural relics and antiques. Many rich people like this.”

Lacey and the others laughed and started discussing the matter of shipwreck gold. Mona soon joined in. Roan stood in the distance and made a phone call. The person on the other end of the phone was Director Elmer of the IRS.

Director Elmer was very happy. Luo An gave him another big gift package this time and said with a smile:

“We checked on Harrison Hamid and there are indeed big problems with his financial situation.

And the lawyer Ilhan, his identity can basically be determined, he is the guy Harrison Hamid keeps outside to do things for him. ”

Luo An smiled and said:

“That way, you'll be busy for a few more days.”

“Is there any day when the IRS is not busy?”

Supervisor Elmer laughed, he was usually busy with small things, he didn't have much money, and he didn't have much motivation to do them.

This time Harrison Hamid is obviously a big fish, and Director Elmer hopes to have this level of busy work every day.

After chatting for a while, Director Elmer took the initiative to hang up the phone.

As for the bank robber Campbell-Hank, Director Elmer did not ask Roan for it.

IRS-CI has the power to arrest people first and find evidence later. Director Elmer is sure that he can lead people to find evidence directly on Harrison Hamid. Bank robber Campbell Hank is of little use to him.

Luo An just needs Campbell-Hank to complete the follow-up work. Director Elmer plans to wait for them to find evidence from Harrison Hamid, so he will reciprocate and send the relevant information to Luo An to help Luo An give Campbell-Hank Convicted.

Looking at the phone, Luo An was silent for a few seconds and thought about it, then found a phone number and called it again:

“Good evening, sir.”

“Good evening, Roan.”

Trick Kennedy's laughter came over the phone. Hearing that Luo An had led a team to solve the case, he was surprised for a few seconds and his laughter suddenly became more cheerful. Luo An briefly described the case and finally said:

“Sir, although most of the super counterfeit banknotes made by Herman were burned by the fire, a small part still survived and was picked up by many people.

These counterfeit bills are currently being used in Georgia, South Carolina and other places, covering a very wide area. "

"I'll just take care of it."

Trick Kennedy understood that Luo An had no authority in this area, so he smiled and said that he would send someone to handle the follow-up work in this area.

"OK, thank you, sir."

After chatting for a while, Trick Kennedy hung up the phone. Luo An stretched his waist with a smile, turned around and walked towards Lacey and others.

"What are you talking about?"

"Talk about the sinking of the Central America."

Mona brought Luo An a cup of coffee and said with a smile:

"Lessie is very interested in the gold in the sunken ship and wants to rent a ship to salvage it."

"It's a good dream."

Luo An took the coffee and smiled and said:

"But technical problems are not so easy to solve."

There are countless sunken ships on the seabed of the world, and probably not many can be salvaged. The pressure of seawater and the complex environment of the seabed are all difficulties that are difficult for humans to solve at this stage.

A few people talked about gold for a while. Michelle suddenly slapped his head and asked:

“Roan, what about this guy Campbell-Hank?”

Campbell-Hank was still sitting proudly in the interrogation room, as if he had everything under control and didn't panic at all. ... x5

In the corridor, Chenelle and Mona were speechless when they saw Campbell-Hank's appearance through the glass.

Luo An smiled, waved his hand and said:

“Winslow, Lacey, send the man to the temporary holding cell.”

Just wait for IRS-CI Supervisor Elmer to find the key evidence from the rich Harrison Hamid, and the special investigation team can focus on dealing with the Campbell-Hank murder case, bank robbery and other other cases. case.

"no problem."

Winslow and Lacey looked at each other and smiled, opened the interrogation room door and walked in. Without saying too much nonsense to Campbell-Hank, they directly pulled this guy out of the office area.

Over the next few days, the special investigation team worked together to deal with the follow-up of the case. After Michelle completed some procedural matters, Luo An led everyone on the plane back to Washington, D.C.

At 5:30 in the afternoon, Luo An opened the door of the villa, changed his shoes and flopped down on the sofa, with a happy face:

“It's really comfortable at home.”

“Get out of the way.”

Mona patted Luo An's * and asked him to make a place for her, then threw the pillow aside, and like Luo An, she leaned forward and buried herself in the sofa:

“You're right, it's still comfortable at home.”

While on a business trip, the living conditions of the members of the special investigation team were not bad, and they almost never left various hotels.

But after all, a hotel suite is not as comfortable as home, and the case is complicated. Most of the time, the members of the special investigation team have no regular rest time. Staying up late is normal, and sometimes even taking a nap in the car is considered a rest.

At this time, the case was over, and everyone in the special investigation team finally got some rest time. A man and a woman were lying on the sofa and didn't want to talk at all. The villa became extremely quiet for a while.

Ten minutes passed, and Mona suddenly asked:

“Luo An, what's for dinner tonight?”

"have no idea."

Luo An took a long breath, straightened up with his arms, sat down on the sofa and said with a smile:

“How about we go out to eat later.”

“Also.”

Mona picked up the pillow and put it back on the sofa, and asked:

“Then what shall we eat out?”

“Meat, lots and lots of meat.”

Luo An is a carnivore. When it comes to vegetables, he can only say that he does not reject them, but he will never be able to take the top spot.

Mona rolled her eyes, but didn't say much. The two of them had lived together for such a long time and already knew each other's eating habits very well.

“Then I want to eat the pine nut, strawberry and red coconut cake.”

Mona thought about it for a while and expressed her plan. As for the fact that eating cakes will make you gain weight, she temporarily put it in the back of her mind.

Anyway, the case has been solved, and the two of them will not lack exercise these days.

Chatting for a while, as the sun set, the two began to go upstairs to change clothes, then left the villa and drove to a barbecue shop they often frequented.

Not long after, steak, mutton, oysters, oysters, and oysters were brought to the table by the waiter.

Mona glared at Luo An, who was selectively blind, picked up the knife and fork and started to eat.

Mona has become accustomed to Luo An's sometimes cheeky behavior and doesn't bother to respond. She just picks up the knife and fork and tastes the food she ordered.

The two were chatting while eating, and Mona asked:

“How is your investment on Wall Street going?”

Luo An swallowed the oysters in his mouth and replied:

“For now, everything is normal.”

Federal housing prices are still collapsing at a speed that is visible to the naked eye, and Michael Bray is too busy now to answer the phone.

"correct."

Luo An looked slightly moved, suddenly remembered something, and asked:

“Mona, what's going on with your father now?”

Chapter 846 Mona's father's situation, phone number

A few months ago, Luo An and Mona went to Hawaii for vacation. They accidentally bumped into Jawari Evans chatting and laughing with a beautiful woman in a restaurant

Afterwards, Gyawali stated in a letter that he was actually acting on the occasion, and his real goal was to break into the woman's organization and investigate a case in which an old friend died.

Jawari Evans lost track of him for a long time, and it took a long time for Mona and Caroline to speak to him.

Had it not been for the fact that there was no problem with a certain backup insurance reserved by Jawali Evans, both Mona and Caroline suspected that something had happened to him.

Hearing Luo An mention this matter, Mona made a move, her face completely darkened, and she said in a low voice:

“He's fine, don't worry about him.”

Luo An was a little confused, but seeing that Mona's face was not good, he didn't ask in detail, and decisively chose to change the subject and talk about the living arrangements for the next few days.

The most difficult part of investigating and arresting people in the counterfeit banknote case has been completed, and what follows is the writing and procedural work.

These work contents belong to Michelle who is the most experienced in the investigation team. Except for the fundamental rights and responsibilities, the rest of the work is left to Michelle to lead the team of the Luo Ministry of Security.

Under the leadership of Michelle, these tasks did not take much time, and the remaining time was left to the members of the special investigation team to arrange themselves.

Mona has no idea about this yet. She is tired and just wants to rest for a few days.

"correct."

Seeing Luo An showing a very familiar look in her eyes, Mona rolled her eyes at him and said:

“I haven't been feeling well these days, so as usual, I sleep in separate rooms.”

Luo An frowned slightly, lowered his head to calculate, then raised his head and asked:

“The time doesn't seem to be these days?”

Mona snorted coldly:

“I said yes.”

“OK.”

Don't be serious about certain things with women. Luo An, who knew this well, did not continue to argue. He nodded repeatedly to express that he had made a mistake in his calculations. Mona said it was okay.

Mona chuckled lightly, feeling a lot more cheerful.

The smile on Luo An's face was even brighter. It seemed that he had lost a round, but sometimes the failure in the front was just for greater success later.

That night, after Luo An took a shower, he walked into Mona's bedroom as calmly as if he were returning to his own home.

Mona was very angry about this and pressed Luo An down and scolded her severely.

Later, Luo An caught the loophole in Mona's words and turned defeat into victory in one fell swoop. Mona's words made her burst into tears. In the end, she even lost the strength to refute and fell asleep directly.

The next Saturday, Mona was too lazy to talk to Luo An and directly asked Mona and Chenille to go shopping.

Luo An had nothing to do at home, so he found his cell phone and called Caroline.

"Wow."

On the other end of the phone, Caroline smiled and said:

“It's really not easy for Team Leader Luo An to take the initiative to call me.

Let me guess, Mona is watching right next to you, and she asked you to make this call, right? ”

“Sorry...I'm sorry, you guessed wrong.”

A long and loud gasp made Caroline's expression slightly stiff, and Luo An casually smiled and said:

“Mona went shopping with her colleagues, and I was the only one at home.”

"Wow!"

Hearing this, Caroline on the other end of the phone suddenly raised her tone and laughed a lot louder:

“So, Luo An, are you planning to have a good chat with me?

I would like to remind you that although Mona and I look very similar, we are actually half-sisters. ”

Caroline is the child picked up and raised by Javari Evans. In a sense, her relationship with Mona is indeed like this.

"You can eat randomly, but you can't talk nonsense." Luo An smiled and replied casually:

“Mona's father threatened me with his shotgun more than once and I was very afraid of him.”

“A good bad joke.”

Caroline rolled her eyes beautifully. She had seen Roan's strength in the past, and Mona liked him very much. Javari Evans' threats were actually more like a joke in many cases.

“Okay, let's talk about business.”

Luo An smiled, did not continue chatting with Caroline, and asked directly:

“How is Mona's father doing now?”

Caroline quickly realized what Luo An was talking about, and the expression on her face suddenly became very strange. After thinking for a few seconds, she said:

“My father is fine. He has joined the environmental protection organization...and has become a senior member of the organization. He is currently preparing to launch a vigorous and large-scale environmental protection action.”

Jawari-Evans first approached the woman to investigate the accidental death of his long-time friend.

The woman did not disappoint Gyawali and soon introduced him to people within the organization and invited Gyawali to join the environmental organization.

Javari Evans has worked in the CIA for decades, and office politics is a piece of cake for him. It didn't take long for him to not only find out the truth behind it, but also to squeeze out the murderer's original high-level status and become a high-level person himself. .

Jawali Evans felt a little speechless about this. After killing the murderer, he was about to find a reason to leave. At this moment, Mrs. Hanover came to him.

“Mrs. Hanover said that environmental protection is actually a business.”

Caroline looked strange and said:

“So Mrs. Hanover also joined the environmental organization. With the joint efforts of her father and her, the two moved the headquarters of the environmental organization to Europe.

Currently, Mrs. Hanover is in the front and her father is in the back. The woman who invited her father to join the organization was persuaded by the two to help in the back. The three of them are working together to expand the scale of the environmental organization and make it acceptable to more Europeans. Eco-friendly ideas, and then...make a lot of money. ”

Luo An's mouth twitched. Among the crazy environmental organizations in Europe in the future, were you the first to create them?

There is also Mrs. Hanover who Caroline said is in the front, Javari Evans is in the back, and another woman is in the back... Luoan looked enlightened, and he finally understood the reason why Mona's face was not very good-looking.

“Environmental organizations are growing very fast.”

Caroline smiled and said:

“Coupled with Mrs. Hanover's background, this organization is currently heading towards the upper class of Europe.

In a few years, when more Europeans agree with this concept, these people can be converted into votes. While her father is making money, Mrs. Hanover may also have the opportunity to enter the EU's top management. ”

...SIX.”

Luo An's eyelids twitched, and he finally understood the thoughts of Javari Evans and Mrs. Hanover. It seemed that the two of them were planning to rejuvenate their lives.

After confirming that Mona's father had nothing to do and was just busy with his career, Luo An and Caroline chatted briefly for a while and then hung up the phone.

A few hours later, Mona returned home carrying a lot of things. Luo An was just about to chat with her when the cell phone on the table suddenly rang.

“Good afternoon, Team Leader Luo An.”

There was a familiar male voice on the phone. It was Michael Bray from Wall Street. He spoke quickly and asked Luo An if he had time. There was something on Wall Street that the two of them needed to meet.

“OK, I'll go there right away.”

Luo An happened to have nothing to do, so he nodded without refusing, went upstairs to change his clothes, greeted Mona and drove to New York.

In a high-rise building on Wall Street, Luo An met Michael Bray in his office.

"good afternoon."

Taking the coffee handed to him by the other party, seeing the uncontrollable smile on Michael Bray's face, Luo An raised his eyebrows and said with a smile:

“It looks like you're going to tell me some good news today?”

“That's right!”

Michael Bray nodded heavily, handed a folder to Luo An, and said with a smile:

“We succeeded.”

Chapter 847 Mona is pregnant, the ending

In addition to the US$475 million in funds given to Michael Burry by Luo An to purchase CDS financial products, there was also US$80 million used by Michael Bray to short the stocks of investment companies such as Morgan Stanley Goldman Sachs.

At the beginning, Michael Bray said that as long as federal housing prices began to fall, the $450 million in financial products could be exchanged for up to $3 billion.

Roan did not take the number mentioned by Michael Brey to heart. He guessed that the number was 1 billion to 1.5 billion US dollars.

Luo An knows the characteristics of those people on Wall Street very well. Turning off the power and unplugging the network cable are their best methods.

As expected, New World Financial Corporation declared bankruptcy some time ago, which shocked the people of the Federation. House prices in the Federation fell accordingly. When it came time for investment companies to pay for financial products, these companies immediately started the old routine.

Goldman Sachs said that its computer system unexpectedly failed, Morgan Stanley said that the server host suddenly crashed for no apparent reason, and the Commonwealth Bank did the same, saying that their power switch was broken and there was an unexpected power outage.

There were many surprises, and the reasons were weird. Michael Bray was so angry that he cursed loudly. After thinking carefully for a long time, he could see the words between the words, and there were two words written on his mouth: repudiation.

Michael Bray is extremely angry, but Luo An is not very panic about this, because federal housing prices have fallen, and CDS has become the hardest currency at this stage.

CDS is a financial product that not only Michael Bray purchased, but also Goldman Sachs, Morgan Stanley, Commonwealth Bank, etc. also purchased a lot for themselves.

One hand is bullish on federal house prices, and the other hand is bearish on federal house prices, hedging risks. This is a routine operation of investment companies such as Goldman Sachs.

This means federal home prices fall, and investment firms such as Goldman Sachs are equally profitable.

Investment companies such as Goldman Sachs and Morgan Stanley used this to first sell all their financial products that were bullish on federal housing prices to downstream companies, and then proactively approached Michael Bray to acquire CDS from him.

Michael Bray also figured out the thinking of investment companies such as Goldman Sachs at this time.

It is impossible for them to pay billions of dollars in compensation according to the CDS bet. Selling the CDS at a premium is the best option.

So Michael Bray began tug-of-war negotiations with investment companies such as Goldman Sachs, Morgan Stanley, and Commonwealth Bank. While negotiating, he also shorted the stocks of several companies at the same time.

Companies such as Goldman Sachs are not very angry about Michael Brey's behavior because they themselves are also shorting their own company's stocks, making money, don't shudder.

Roan took the folder handed to him by Michael Bray, reached out and slowly opened it, and a long number suddenly appeared in front of his eyes: 1.846 billion US dollars.

"Wow."

Luo An's eyes lit up. This number was indeed beyond his expectation, and he couldn't help but raise the corners of his mouth.

Michael Bray also had a smile on his face, and then handed Luan another check and said with a smile:

“This is the profit from shorting the stocks of companies such as Goldman Sachs.”

Luo An took the check, and the number on it was slightly lower: $143 million.

“Sure enough.”

Roan put the check into the folder, looked at Michael Bray with a smile on his face, and said:

“I know that Michael Bray is the best investment expert on Wall Street.”

Michael Bray grinned and said:

“Team leader Luo An is also the most discerning customer on Wall Street.”

Looking at each other, the two of them couldn't help laughing loudly. Michael Buray took out two bottles of champagne, and bang! Bang! Drinks splashed everywhere, and both of them were soaked, but no one cared, and laughed:

"cheers!"

"cheers!"

Investment of 450 million + 80 million, totaling 540 million US dollars.

Twelve months later, the revenue was 1.846 billion + 143 million, totaling 1.989 billion US dollars.

Luo An's eyes lit up, this was definitely the most successful investment in his life.

Michael Bray was also very excited. Customers such as Luo An paid him a large commission. He himself also used all his income over the years to buy CDS, and he also gained a lot this time.

Michael Bray thought for a while, found a gold-plated business card from his desk and handed it to Luo An, smiling:

“Next weekend, I plan to hold a grand party in Hawaii, and Team Leader Luo An must come.”

In the following two years after this creation and purchase of CDS, the entire Wall Street mocked Michael Brey for having something wrong with his brain.

The owners of the funds controlled by Michael Bray even yelled at Michael Bray one after another and demanded to withdraw their capital several times.

Yesterday, Michael Bray's negotiation was successful. The owners of these funds immediately switched seamlessly to another face. They all praised Michael Bury for his vision and high level, and then happily took away their gains.

Michael Bray was so disgusted by these people that he wanted to vomit. Compared to those guys, Roan was definitely his favorite client.

“Party in Hawaii?”

Luo An raised his eyebrows, took the business card and agreed. Michael Bray drank the champagne in one gulp, and then asked with a smile:

“How does Team Leader Luo An plan to celebrate next?”

“Party, travel, eat, drink and have fun, whatever makes you happy.”

Luo An laughed loudly, and then a flash of light flashed in his eyes. He patted Michael Bray on the shoulder and said with a smile:

“But before that, I'm going to do another thing first.”

Sunday, at 8:30 pm, the special investigation team gathered together in a restaurant in New York.

In addition to the special investigation team, Ryder, Augustus, Ryder's wife, Veranith, Director Elmer and others from the No. 5 investigation team are also there.

Mr. Clement had no time, so he sent his secretary over, who walked into the restaurant with Trick Kennedy. “Happy birthday, Mona.”

"Happy birthday."

"Thanks."

Today is Mona's birthday. Everyone who meets her smiles and takes the initiative to say hello to her. Mona responds with a smile, and Lacey is beside her to help her say hello and chat.

Finding some free time to walk aside, Mona picked up the red wine, took a sip, and whispered to Lacey:

“I feel like my face is almost frozen with laughter.”

"Me too."

Lacie smiled, then looked around, with a hint of imperceptible envy flashing in her eyes, and asked:

“Where's Luo An?”

“He went to the back to get the cake.”

Mona put down her glass and complained:

“She's so mysterious that she never lets me see what the cake looks like. She says she wants to give me a surprise.”

Lacey's eyes moved slightly, and just as she was about to say something, someone else came over next to her. Mona smiled and went to chat, and Lacey had to swallow her words and followed.

Time moved forward minute by minute, and soon it was ten o'clock in the evening. The guests were surrounding, Mona stood in the middle as the protagonist of the birthday party, and Luo An, who had never appeared, finally pushed a dining cart from behind. out.

The dining car is not very big, but there is a half-person-high heat preservation device attached to it, making it impossible to see the exact appearance of the cake inside.

“Happy birthday, Mona.”

Luo An pushed the dining cart and moved from the crowd to Mona. Mona, with a smile on her face, kissed Luo An gently on the face and whispered:

"Thanks."

"You're welcome."

Luo An chuckled, turned around and hugged Mona's slender waist, and said with a smile:

“Open it and take a look.”

“OK.”

Under the eyes of everyone, Mona walked to the dining car and reached out to take out the heat preservation appliance. A large layered cake with seven layers, each layer filled with different fruits, and sprinkled with chocolate, candies, and flowers appeared on the side. in front of everyone.

"Wow."

"it's beautiful!"

Lacey and Chenelle exclaimed with excitement, while Winslow and other men laughed and clapped.

Mona's face was full of happiness, she hugged Luo An's arm and said:

“Thank you very much, this is the best cake I have ever seen.”

“As long as you like it.”

Luo An smiled, then lit the candles on both sides of the cake one by one, and said:

“The next step is to make a wish.”

"Listen to you."

Mona loosened her arm around Luo An, closed her eyes, put her hands together in front of her nose, and silently made a wish.

A few seconds later, Mona opened her eyes, and everyone began to cheer and distribute cakes to taste the delicious food. Luo An walked up to Mona, looking at the lively scene in the restaurant with a smile, and whispered:

“Mona, I've booked the best suite in the Gstaad Palace Hotel in the Alps for a week, and we...”

“Wait a minute, Luo An, I have something to tell you.”

Before Luo An could finish speaking, Mona interrupted him. Then she raised her head and stared into Luo An's eyes, whispering:

"I am pregnant."

Nine months later, Mona gave birth to a girl, and the father of the child was Luo An.

Because the shadow left by her mother was too great, Mona always refused to marry Luo An, so the two lived together and took care of their little new life together.

Luo An continued to lead the special investigation team to handle the case. Two years later, he was promoted again and entered management work.

There are people behind him who have sufficient qualifications, rich experience and excellent abilities. With these four entries, Luo An has risen through the ranks and has become the youngest leader in the history of a certain department of the Ministry of Justice.

Luo An selectively ignored the praise, envy, jealousy and other emotions of those outside. He was sitting in the office of the Ministry of Justice, analyzing which direction he should take next.

After thinking for a long time, Luo An slowly picked up Maximilian's identity information file, a glint flashed in his eyes, and he smiled slowly:

“Deep state, very interesting.”