

Devil Lucifer 231

Chapter 231 Nemesis

For a long time, Lucinda dreaded coming face-to-face with her nemesis.

So much time had gone by since that unfortunate night that she began fooling herself into thinking she was ready to face her nemesis if need be.

But bumping into them suddenly has made her realise she isn't ready.

She isn't ready.

She has never been ready.

Staring at her nemesis suddenly brought back memories.

Unpleasant memories she has tried hard to bury for all these years.

Unable to hold her weight, Lucinda's legs start to wobble as she desperately tries to appear indifferent yet fails miserably.

The fear and shock in her eyes are enough to give her away.

With a devilish grin, the man approaches her, with his companion following closely behind.

Instinctively, Lucinda backs away, trying to create as much distance as possible between them.

But after a couple of steps, her back hits the restroom door, forcing her to stay in place.

Panicking, she turns to try opening the door, but the man reaches out to grab her hand, halting her movement.

"Not so fast,"

Chapter 232 We'll Come Back

Erik and his companion curse simultaneously as they jump back, howling in pain as the liquid burns their eyes.

"Fuck! You fucking bitch!" Erik curses again, feeling around for the restroom door.

Water.

He needs water to quench the burning sensation in his eyes.

Unfortunately, Lucinda was leaning against the door and refused to move.

She clutches the pepper spray tightly like a prized possession, waiting for any of them to make another move.

If they tried to touch her again, she would empty the bottle into their eyes and care less if they go blind.

Chapter 233 Crucial Information

Later that evening, a car arrives in front of a house on the outskirts of town.

The remote-controlled gate opens as soon as the driver blows the horn.

The car drives into the compound as the gate closes.

Erik and Clark climb out of the car and enter the quiet house.

Clark faces his companion, "We should freshen up. My eyes are still burning,"

"We should." Erik nods in affirmation, "It's a miracle we didn't crash the car,"

While running a hand through his hair, Clark purses his lips, "I know. Go ahead and do whatever you need to. We'll meet at the dining table in a while,"

Chapter 234 CCTV Footage

Lucinda was left home alone with the servants, or so she thought.

After staying cooped up in the bedroom for nearly an hour, she climbs out of bed and exits the room.

As she walks down the hallway and passes several doors, Lucinda can't help but wonder how big the house is.

After breakfast, Austin and the twins suggested they return to the restaurant to check the CCTV footage to find out the faces behind yesterday's attack.

Initially, Tyler had refused, claiming he needed to stay by Lucinda's side, but she declined and urged him to go.

Chapter 235 Imposter

Nodding, the detective follows the manager to the CCTV control and monitoring room.

Upon entering the control room, the manager requests a CCTV operator to retrieve the previous day's footage.

It takes less than ten minutes for the footage to get retrieved.

The operator turns to them, "Here is the footage. Would you like to watch?"

The detective nods, "Of course,"

The operator gives up his seat for the detective and busies himself with other things.

From the camera's angle, the first half of the restaurant's interior can be seen.

At the left side, in the furthest corner, sat the perpetrators.

The manager quickly points to them, "There they are,"

"Those two?" the detective asks.

"Yes," the manager confirms.

"And that is the victim," he continues, pointing to the two ladies sitting by the floor-to-ceiling windows.

One of the ladies sat facing the CCTV while the other's back faced the camera. Hence, making it difficult to catch a glimpse of her face.

Chapter 236 Fingerprin

Robert Cohen frowns slightly.

Welcome?

Welcome from where? he wonders.

Suddenly, his eyes widen as he begins to recall the earlier incident.

FORTY-FIVE MINUTES EARLIER.

Robert finally arrives at the Lakeside Eatery after almost losing his way.

Sure, he might be fucking good at his job, but he was still old-fashioned.

Instead of using google maps, he chose to ask passersby for directions to the restaurant and ended up using the wrong route twice.

Finally, he gave in and called his daughter to help with using his car's navigation.

After climbing out of the car, detective Cohen's phone begins to ring.

It was his daughter, he knew.

Answering the call, he presses the phone to his ear.

"Hello?"

"Did you arrive safely, dad?"
