

Falling For My “Disabled” Wife by Veronica Winifred

Chapter 51

Posted by Kadmin, 368 Views, Released on March 27, 2024

Chapter 51

Thomas would be no match for Roger, who held his father’s shares, if Norman put Roger in an important position again.

Roger did not panic after being exposed. He smiled and laid his cards on the table. “I think so too. You should enjoy your position for a few more days. Sometime later, I will take back what belongs to me.”

He said the last sentence with an icy–cold voice.

Thomas’s heart instantly turned cold.

He thought, ‘W– why does it feel like Roger had planned all of this? Am I imagining things?’

It immediately became much quieter around Sophie’s ears after she left the hall. There was also a place to sit on the balcony, so she quickly sat down and rested.

Although she was very nervous today, she believed that she would welcome a good future when the results came out tomorrow.

She could not help but fantasize about reuniting with the Dawson family in her mind.

However, at this moment, an ear–piercing voice suddenly rang out behind her.

“Sophie! I didn’t expect this. You not only hooked up with the blind man from the Nicholls family, but you also want to get involved with the Dawson family. You really are a scheming woman!”

Sophie recognized the familiar voice.

She looked back coldly at Laura, who was dressed too flirtatiously.

“I didn’t expect you to be discharged so soon. You even came to the banquet?” Russell and Ursa did not bring her over to greet her, most likely because she had made Roger unhappy last time.

She did not expect Laura to dare to take the initiative to look for her.

“If a despicable person like you can attend the banquet, why can’t I?” Laura stepped forward proudly. She had several friends behind her.

“Laura, is this the paralyzed older sister you were talking about?”

13% 12:59

Chapter 51

“She didn’t seem to be paralyzed when she said that she was the daughter of the Dawson family in public just now.”

“Let’s paralyze her again then! If I can paralyze her once, I can paralyze her a second time!”

Sophie had humiliated her at the Bourn family the last time. She had to teach her a lesson today.

Little did she know that what she said had already angered Sophie.

She did not expect Laura to be so vicious.

She had just managed to stand up again, yet she wanted to cripple her?

“Laura, I had no choice but to give in to you to survive in the past. Do you really think I’m afraid of you?”

Sophie stood up proudly as she spoke. She lost her patience and cracked her knuckles.

Her aura instantly terrified Laura’s friends.

“Don’t tell me you know martial arts?”

“Would she have been pushed down by me if she did? Teach her a lesson!” Laura said and asked her friends to teach Sophie a lesson.

However, Sophie was no longer the Sophie of the past.

1

It was inconvenient for her to fight in the clothes she was wearing, so she used her handbag as a weapon. She pulled out the bag’s strap and clutched the bag. She then swung the strap around like a whip.

She swung the strap and slapped a wretched girl who had rushed forward.”

“It hurts!” The burning pain immediately made the other party cry out in surprise.

However, Sophie did not stop. She whipped her arm again..

“Ah!”

Sophie had watched many martial arts videos to protect herself. Even if she did not have any actual combat experience, she could use any item in her hand well.

3-0

13% 12:59

Chapter 51

The strap of this handbag felt great to use.

Another young lady was about to rush over when Sophie turned around and whipped her.

Sophie hit her ear. “It hurts!” she screamed.

The scream rang in Laura’s ears. She was dumbfounded.

She never expected that the three of them would not be able to get close to Sophie.

“I don’t believe it!” Laura said as she rushed forward, wanting to personally teach Sophie a lesson.

Seeing that Laura was taking things into her hands, Sophie immediately sent the whip flying toward her with all her strength.

Laura had just taken two steps when the whip hit her mouth with a bang.

“Ow!” Laura cried. She wanted to say something, but her mouth was already swollen.

Laura was terrified. She could not bleed anymore. Otherwise, her parents would pay a high price to get her blood again.

However, Sophie immediately laughed coldly when she saw that Laura’s mouth had only turned red and was not bleeding.

“Looks like this whip is suitable for you. It won’t leave any external injuries, but it hurts!”

1

As she spoke, she whipped Laura’s arm again.

“Ah!” A burning red mark immediately appeared on Laura’s arm. Laura was in immense pain.

“Does it hurt? It’s not even one–ten–thousandth as painful as when you pushed me down.

the stairs!”

Sophie struck Laura’s exposed shoulder.

“Laura, you’ve humiliated me in every way possible all these years! I’ll return a ll of that to you with this!”

Slap! Slap!

Chapter 51

“It hurts! Sophie Bourn! How dare you hit me! I—I’ll tell my father!!”

Sophie sneered. “Go ahead. I want to see what they can do to me now.”

She was now a member of the Nicholls family. She was no longer the daughter of the Bourn family that they could beat and scold.

She was going to teach Laura a lesson to avenge herself today.

After a few more blows, Laura finally could not take it anymore. She could only retreat when she saw that her friends did not dare to go forward. “Sophie! You’re ruthless! I’ll teach you a lesson in the future!”

With that, she hurriedly fled with the others.

At this moment, Sophie was also tired from fighting. She could not help but stand there panting for a long time.

After calming down, she realized that her legs were a little weak. Just as she was about to return to her seat, her legs suddenly went limp and she almost fell.

Fortunately, a soft hand held her up. “Weren’t you quite strong when you were hitting them just now? Why did you become so weak after they left?”

Sophie looked up and saw a beautiful woman with a very unique temperament.

Although she did not know which family she was from, Sophie still thanked her politely after sitting down, “Thank you.”

Dolores smiled. “You’re welcome. I like straightforward and powerful women like you the most. Laura and the daughters of the Orran family are usually arrogant and annoying. It was so satisfying when I saw you teach them a lesson.”

Seeing that she was smiling so happily, Sophie could not help but say, “I also quite like a woman with a straightforward personality like you.”

People like her would laugh and say anything if she wanted to. She had a great personality.

Dolores immediately blinked and said when she heard Sophie's praise, "Since we admire each other, why don't we be friends? I'm the daughter of the Murphy Group, Dolores. Murphy."

"The Murphy Group," Sophie muttered for a moment and immediately knew who she was.

13% 12:59

Chapter 51

"So you're the feisty young lady in the socialite circle, Dolores Murphy," Sophie said. The Murphy Group was a real estate magnate in Habourland. Their CEO, Dorian Murphy, had a vulgar personality, and his daughter was also rather hot-tempered. Almost everyone in the socialite circle avoided her when they saw her.

Falling For My "Disabled" Wife by Veronica Winifred

Chapter 52

Posted by Kadmin, 340 Views, Released on March 27, 2024

Chapter 52

Unexpectedly, she was Dolores. No wonder she was so excited watching Sophie teach those wealthy young ladies who liked to bully others a lesson.

"You know me? Not bad." Feeling somewhat shocked that Sophie knew her, Dolores approached Sophie curiously.

Normally, other wealthy young ladies would have fled when they found out about her.

identity.

But Sophie wasn't afraid of her.

"You're quite famous in the socialite circle. Of course, I know you," Sophie replied calmly as she looked at Dolores with a friendly smile.

Dolores was rather surprised. "Famous for being hot-tempered, right? Aren't you afraid of me?”

Sophie chuckled slightly and said, “I’m not a good–tempered person either. As you said, we can indeed be friends.”

At the very least, Dolores was genuine. Sophie thought she was much better than those fake upper–class ladies who liked to put on air.

“Awesome, let’s have a drink then,” suggested Dolores.

As she spoke, she called the waiter over and handed two glasses of wine to Sophie.

Sophie was indeed a little thirsty. After clinking glasses with Dolores, he took a few sips of the wine.

Dolores took an instant liking to Sophie and couldn’t resist engaging in a conversation with her for a while.

Surprisingly, Roger came out to find them.

When Sophie saw the butler bringing Roger over, she quickly stood up and asked, “Are you here for me? What’s it about?”

Roger said, “It’s about time. We can leave now.”

Having finished the meal, they were not required to socialize with others. Therefore, it was

13% 12:59

Chapter 52

better for them to leave early.

“Alright.” Sophie breathed a sigh of relief because she also wanted to leave the noisy place as soon as possible.

She turned around and said with a smile, "I just added you on WhatsApp. Let's meet again another day."

"Sure!" Dolores gave Sophie a wide grin and her gaze involuntarily fell on Roger as she commented, "Your husband is so handsome."

After speaking, she left with a cheerful smile.

The corners of Roger's mouth curled up slightly. He said to Sophie, "Not bad. You've got acquainted with the lady from the Murphy family."

Sophie was slightly surprised. "How come you know?"

She couldn't believe Roger could tell that it was Dolores simply from a remark she had made.

"Other than her, which other upper-class lady has the guts to tease me?" said Roger.

"That's true." Sophie nodded awkwardly.

The night breeze suddenly blew by, and the balcony felt a little cold.

Adding to the fact that Sophie had exerted all her strength in the earlier fight just now, she felt a little weak.

Just as she was about to escape from the balcony, a suit suddenly landed on her.

"You're cold, aren't you?" came Roger's low voice.

Sophie was stunned, thinking, "He actually draped the suit over me accurately at the perfect timing?"

However, when she looked up and saw his eyes that were as deep as an ancient well, she knew that he could not see at all.

"What is wrong with me recently? Always suspecting that he could see. Or perhaps, I hope that he could see?"

Chapter 52

13% 12:59

Sophie shook her head and stopped thinking about it. She smiled and said, “Thank you. It’s very warm.”

Roger nodded. “That’s good. Let’s go back.”

“Alright.” Sophie nodded and allowed Roger to hold her waist. Together, they walked out of the hall.

Outside the door, Dillon had already driven the car over.

When he saw the two of them come out, he immediately got out of the car and opened the door for them.

After both got into the car, Dillon drove away.

In the car, Sophie had a lot on her mind and didn’t feel like talking.

She was thinking about the people from the Dawson and the Bourn families.

She knew Laura and Russell would not let her off after she taught them a lesson.

But she didn’t have the time to care about what the Bourn family was thinking.

She was worried about how the Dawson family people would perceive her.

The result of the paternity test had been released, but the Dawson family still found it difficult to accept.

If the results of the second paternity test were also confirmed, Sophie was not sure if they would accept her and let her go home.

When thinking of the loving gaze they cast at Evelyn, she felt indescribably upset.

'Would they... not want me?'

Sophie's thoughts drifted further and further away. The more she thought, the more uneasy she became.

"What are you thinking about?" Roger's husky voice suddenly whispered in her ear.

Sophie immediately snapped out of her thoughts and replied, "No, nothing."

However, Roger still reached over and held her cold and delicate hand.

Chapter 52

"Why is your hand so cold?" He frowned, his voice tinged with concern.

0 13% 12:59

Sophie quickly thought of an excuse and said helplessly, "Your clothes kept me warm enough... It's just because... I'm a bit nervous."

"Nervous? What's there to be nervous about going home?" Roger asked with a frown.

Looking at his concerned expression, Sophie had no choice but to tell the truth in a low voice. "I'm nervous about the results of the paternity test... and worried that, after the results are out... they may not want me..."

She had prepared to present herself to her family in the best possible way,

However, she was already the daughter-in-law of the Nicholls family.

Compared to Evelyn, her situation was much more complicated.

Seeing how worried she was, Roger smiled helplessly. "No, you are the daughter-in-law of the Nicholls family. They won't treat you badly. With me supporting you, they dare not upset you. I won't allow it."

The corner of Sophie's mouth twitched a little, "Is this considered a form of consolation?"

Roger's thinking was different from others.

However, she inexplicably felt a little better.

Despite her concerns about having married into the Nicholls family who had a complex background, being part of the Nicholls family is also an advantage for her.

If the results were out, they would not sit back and do nothing.

"You're right. Even Grandpa has my back. I should be more confident," said Sophie.

After all, Norman had spoken today. the Dawson family would not treat her unfairly.

"So, don't dwell on it anymore." He spoke slowly and suddenly changed the topic. "Today is the first time you've been out in so many days. Is there anywhere you want to go?"

His gentle words were like a spring breeze, instantly warming Sophie's heart.

Indeed, since she was paralyzed, she had never left the Bourn family. When she went out occasionally, it was the servants who pushed her out. She had forgotten how long it had been since she came out on her own.

0 12:59

13%

Chapter 52

The beach amusement park she used to go to suddenly sprang to her mind.

"Yes, I want to go to a place. Turn right ahead." The park was not far from the road. Sophie reckoned it was good to see the night view.

Roger smiled. "Okay."

Following Sophie's instruction, Dillon immediately turned right and drove to the seaside.

Soon, they arrived at the beach amusement park.

Even though it was already nighttime, the night scene at the amusement park was still bustling.

All the entertainment facilities were lit up, and many young couples were there to enjoy themselves.

Suddenly, the Ferris wheel caught Sophie's eyes.

"Wow... There are so many colorful lights on this Ferris wheel." Sophie said with amazement.

She had been here once a few years ago. A few years ago, when she came, the Ferris wheel was decorated only by white lights, and now it has become dazzlingly colorful. She had really not been to the place for many years.

"Do you want to ride it?" Roger asked in a low voice.

Sophie nodded subconsciously. "Sure, consider it as a reward for me standing up again.

Falling For My "Disabled" Wife by Veronica Winifred Chapter 53

Posted by Kadmin, 332 Views, Released on March 27, 2024

Chapter 53

"Alright." Roger agreed and let Sophie happily drag him to buy tickets. Then, they boarded the Ferris wheel together.

Right before they were about to step onto the Ferris wheel, Sophie suddenly realized something. "Sorry... I forgot that you can't see... It might be challenging for you to get into the Ferris wheel.”

The Ferris wheel didn't stop, and passengers had to climb into the cabin while it was moving. Therefore, boarding it might be difficult for someone like Roger who couldn't see.

“It's fine. I also want to take a ride. Just help me up, and we'll go together,” Roger said nonchalantly.

Sophie could not help but nod firmly. “Alright, let's go up together then.”

Afterward, the two of them went up the steps together.

The staff walked over and did not notice anything unusual about Roger.

When the cabin arrived, Sophie pulled Roger forward and said in a low voice, “The cabin is here. Now, step across. Lift your legs a bit.”

Roger smiled and stepped up directly with remarkable agility.

“You made it!” Sophie was pleasantly surprised.

Roger even turned around and extended his hand to her, saying. “Come on up.”

“Okay.” Sophie nodded. Then, she took his hand and climbed into the cabin.

The staff closed the cabin door and muttered, “Anything can happen these days. Even a blind person is riding the Ferris wheel?”

But the moment the staff looked up, she seemed to see the man in the cabin staring her.

Instantly, she felt a chill run down her spine, wondering if she had seen it wrongly.

As the Ferris wheel slowly ascended, Sophie's eyes were filled with joy. Looking at the gradually expanding night view outside the window, she couldn't help but take a deep breath, “When I was a child, I came here a few times with Laura. But she's afraid of heights and uninterested, so I never got a chance to take a ride.”

123 13:00

Chapter 53

As a child, no matter what Laura did, the Bourn couple would always indulge her every whim. Only when Laura wanted to go to the amusement park would Sophie occasionally get to join. However, even when they came to the amusement park, she could only play what Laura wanted. If Laura didn't want to, the Bourn couple wouldn't allow Sophie to play on her own.

Growing up in the Bourn family, she was just Laura's appendage, and nothing more.

“It's okay. From today onwards, if you want to come and have fun, I'll come with you every day,” Roger said assertively, his voice revealing a hint of seriousness.

Sophie was stumped for words for a moment, feeling incredibly touched and somewhat amused. She said “I'm not a child anymore. I don't have to come here every day. Besides, I came here with my classmates before when I was in high school. It wasn't until after the college entrance examination that I became paralyzed and didn't come here again.”

Hearing her melancholic voice, Roger could not help but ask, “How did you become paralyzed?”

Sophie put on a wry smile. Since they were so close to each other, there was nothing she could not tell him. She said bitterly, “Well, it's because of my college entrance exam results.

“I did exceptionally well in the exam and Laura got jealous.

1

tairs

“So she pushed me down the stairs. As a result, I became crippled.

“After a simple treatment, the Bourn family took me out of the hospital and made me drop out of school, citing paralysis as the reason.

“Actually, they just didn’t want to upset Laura because my academic achievements outshined her, and I stole her limelight at school.

“So, they decided not to let me continue my education.”

Hearing this, Roger’s eyes instantly turned extremely grim.

“The Bourn couple actually let Laura go this far? This can be considered an attempted murder,” Roger said angrily.

Q12 13:01

Chapter 53

He couldn’t believe this family could be so vicious.

It was also hard for him to imagine how Sophie managed to survive in that family.

With a cold smile, Sophie said, “But the Bourn family sees it differently. They just think it’s my bad luck and I’m destined to be paralyzed.”

Harriet’s words were like a thorn and they still stung.

Suddenly, Sophie’s hand was held tightly, and Roger said earnestly, “I won’t allow you to say that about yourself.”

She looked up and met his unfocused eyes. Her heart trembled for a moment.

‘How strange. He can’t see me at all. But why do I feel embarrassed under his burning gaze?’ Sophie pondered “You’ve gotten back on your feet again, which means you’re not destined to be paralyzed. And the Bourn family... how could they treat you like this? Now that I know about this! won’t sit back and do nothing,” Roger said.

His voice carried a hint of coldness.

Sophie subconsciously frowned. "What are you going to do?"

Seeing that Sophie was still worried about the heartless family, Roger said with a chilling tone, "This world is fair. People should pay the price for what they do. This is just the law of nature, not something I'm planning to do."

For some reason, Roger's words made Sophie shudder a little.

But he had a point, and she didn't know how to respond.

The two of them fell into silence.

After a while, Sophie looked into the distance and said with anticipation, "Just ignore them. I've left that awful place and stood up again. I'm ready for a life!"

She had found her biological parents. In the future, she could do whatever she wanted.

y about how other n

There was no need for her to felt.

Looking at Sophie's smiling face, Roger's mouth involuntarily lifted as well.

12 13.

Chapter 53

"Yes, from today onwards, you are the new Sophie," stated Roger.

With his gentle support, Sophie's smile became even more brightly.

The gloom that filled her heart gradually faded away and it felt really good.

She felt truly wonderful having a second chance in life.

Being able to find her family felt great too.

However, having him by her side made her feel the best.

Time passed quickly.

Sophie and Roger spent two hours at the amusement park.

Even though Roger couldn't see, he still rode the pirate ship and bumper cars with Sophie. Sophie was in charge of driving the car while he only needed to enjoy the ride.

When the two of them left the amusement park, it was already past ten o'clock

Sophie could not help but yawn. "I'm getting old, can't play as much. Those students seem tireless. I really can't compare to them."

Roger suddenly patted her shoulder when he heard that. "If you're tired, you can lean on me and sleep for a while."

Sophie was slightly stunned, feeling warm in her heart again.

Roger was always so perceptive and considerate.

Looking at his handsome profile up close, her heart could not help but beat wildly.

Although they were husband and wife, they had only known each other for a short time.

At most, they would hold each other's hands and support each other. She had never done such an intimate act with him before.

"What's wrong?" Roger asked innocently.

Sophie looked into his clear eyes and could not help but gulp. "Nothing."

'Oh, he probably didn't think too much about it. I've let my imagination run wild.

Chapter 53

She stopped thinking and just leaned on his shoulder.

In an instant, a pleasant male cologne enveloped her.

Falling For My "Disabled" Wife by Veronica Winifred Chapter 54

Posted by Kadmin, 341 Views, Released on March 27, 2024

Chapter 54

It calmed Sophie's mind.

For some reason, Roger seemed to have some kind of magic about him.

It made her feel inexplicably at ease, and she slowly settled down and closed her eyes.

Seeing that Sophie was really leaning against him, the corners of Roger's lips involuntarily curled up. He happily allowed her to rest against him like that.

It was the first time Dillon had seen Roger being so close to someone else.

At that moment, he seemed to understand that Roger was helping Sophie probably because he was really interested in her.

Soon, they arrived home.

Perhaps it was because Sophie was too tired, she did not wake up.

After waiting for a while, Roger called out to her, "Sophie, wake up."

Unexpectedly, Sophie went back to sleep after shifting her position slightly.

It seemed that the whole day of events had tired her out.

"Mr. Roger... do you want me to help you carry Ms. Sophie out of the car?" asked Dillon.

Roger's eyes darkened a little and he said calmly, "There's no need. Just open the door."

"Oh..." Dillon could sense that Roger seemed a bit unhappy for some reason, but he didn't think too much and got out of the car to open the door.

Roger then gently carried Sophie and got out of the car.

Her body was very light, and he was already very used to holding her.

"Watch your step," Dillon reminded.

Roger shot a cold glance at the driver, "Do you think I'm really blind?"

Dillon felt embarrassed. "I'm so used to reminding you, sorry..."

Roger sneered and said nonchalantly, "You may leave now."

Chapter 54

"Yes." Dillon nodded, got back into the car, and immediately drove away.

Other servants hurriedly opened the door for them.

□

Roger's gaze returned to its unfocused state, and he walked into the house in big strides while holding Sophie.

All the servants couldn't help but sweat for him.

However, everyone knew that Roger was stubborn. He had memorized the whole layout of the house and did not allow anyone to support him at home. Therefore, they could only watch as he carried Sophie into the house.

It wasn't until they entered the elevator that everyone breathed a sigh of relief.

Two young servants could not help but murmur, "If others saw Mr. Roger carrying his wife into the elevator effortlessly, they would definitely think that he was a normal person."

"Yeah, you really can't tell that there's anything wrong with his eyes."

The old servant at the side sighed. "What do you know? In the early years, Mr. Roger had to fall countless times every day in order to remember every position in the house. He often got bruises all over his body. All of this is the payoff for his efforts... He just didn't want to burden his family."

Upon hearing this, the new servants felt bad. "Mr. Roger is a pitiful man."

“That’s right. Fortunately, he is blessed to have married such a good wife. With Mrs. Sophie around, Mr. Roger goes downstairs more often and becomes more talkative now,” one servant said.

Another servant echoed, “That’s right... This is Mr. Roger’s blessing.”

The servants sincerely wished them well.

Upstairs, Roger had carried Sophie back to the bed.

After putting her down, he unexpectedly stumbled and fell next to her. Sophie’s arm was still on him, and she unintentionally pressed him down.

The sweet fragrance of the woman’s perfume immediately wafted over.

Roger could not help but tense all over.

*四

12% 13:01

Chapter 54

However, he was afraid of waking her up, so he could only slowly and gently move her hand away and try to escape from the bed.

To his surprise, she wrinkled her brows and wrapped her arms around him tightly. She even lifted her legs and put them over him.

It seemed like she took him for a huge pillow.

Her thigh happened to touch his sensitive area, and he instantly felt a warmth in his lower abdomen.

‘Damn it... Doesn’t this woman know this is seduction and it will get me aroused?’

Occasionally undressing in front of me is one thing, but now she is hugging him tightly and not letting go! Does she think I'm a saint?'

Taking a deep breath, Roger closed his eyes and clamped down his body's instinctive reaction. After a long exhale, he moved her hand away once again, slowly maneuvered out from under her legs, and awkwardly got off the bed.

"Sophie... You're such a seductive little demon." Roger stood by the bedside in a sorry state and tried his best to suppress his desire. He quickly covered her with a blanket and turned to leave the bed.

However, the feeling of her touch lingered on his body for a long while.

He could only grit his teeth helplessly and go to the bathroom to take a cold shower.

That night, Sophie slept particularly sweetly.

Little did she know... Roger had spent a good half hour under cold water to wash away his burning desire.

The dream was long and seemingly inescapable like an endless maze.

Sophie kept searching for people in the dream and finally found the Dawson family – her parents and her brothers. However, they surrounded her and questioned her.

"Why did you show up?"

"Why are you disturbing the peace in our family?"

"We don't want you."

12% 13:01

"Yeah, you're a cripple..."

Her brothers' words became increasingly harsh.

Sophie shook her head vigorously and shouted, "I... I'm not a cripple!"

However, the dream changed in an instant. She suddenly found herself standing on the steps of the Bourn family again. Before she could react, someone suddenly pushed her from behind.

Then, she rolled down and her body lay heavily on the ground. Raising her head with difficulty, she saw Laura's terrifying face. "Sophie, you're going to be a cripple! From now on, you'll be in a wheelchair!"

"No! No!" Sophie screamed and woke up abruptly.

The minute she opened her eyes, she quickly sat up and checked her legs, desperately moving them a couple of times.

Hearing Sophie's voice, Roger hurriedly got up and went to her side. When he saw her touching her legs with sweat covering her forehead, he understood everything.

"Did you have a nightmare?" Roger asked gently.

Without responding to his question, Sophie continued to touch her legs and said in bewilderment, "My legs are healed... My legs can move..."

She was so relieved to learn that it was just a dream.

To her, the feeling of becoming paralyzed again was horrifying.

Sensing her trembling, Roger sat down beside the bed and reached out to touch her face.

He looked at her with a deep gaze and said, "Don't be afraid. It's just a dream. Your legs are healed. You don't need to sit in a wheelchair in the future."

His eyes were unfocused, but they were so deep that Sophie found it difficult to look away.

The void inside her prompted her to hug him suddenly.

She felt grateful and happy that she was not paralyzed now. Moreover, she had someone to protect her.

Chapter 54

*UN 11% 13:02

011

Roger was startled, but then he collected himself and patted her back. "Don't be afraid. With me here, I won't let anyone hurt you again."

His voice, though gentle, carried an inexplicable strength.

Falling For My "Disabled" Wife by Veronica Winifred Chapter 55

Posted by Kadmin, 334 Views, Released on March 27, 2024

Chapter 55

Sophie did not care if Roger could put his words into action, but at that moment, she truly found great comfort.

"Thank you," Sophie said.

Even if Roger needed someone else to take care of him, his words still warmed her heart.

After calming down for a while, Sophie realized that she had been too impulsive just now for hugging Roger abruptly. Feeling a bit embarrassed and shy, she apologized, "Sorry... I just... touched you."

This seemed to be the first time Sophie had involuntarily hugged someone of the opposite sex, but surprisingly, she didn't feel repulsive. Instead, it was very natural for her.

She could not help but be surprised, wondering when she and Roger had become this close.

Roger smiled. "We're husband and wife. It's normal for us to hug."

'Oh... Is that so? Isn't this guy too casual?'"

Sophie felt inexplicably upset, thinking, 'If someone else touches him, will he not reject it as well?'"

“What’s wrong with you?” Roger asked after Sophie fell into silence for a while

.

“Nothing.” Sophie quickly shook her head. “It’s almost time. Let’s wash up and go downstairs for breakfast.”

“Okay.” Roger nodded and stood up.

Sophie also slowly got out of bed.

Although she had almost recovered, she still needed some time to adapt when getting up every morning.

Roger stayed by her side and considerately helped her out of bed.

Just when the two were about to go wash up, a servant hurriedly knocked on the door.

“Mr. Roger, this is bad! People from the Bourn family are here! They’re arguing with Mrs.

11% 13:02

Chapter 55

Jasmine. And Mrs. Jasmine wants Mrs. Sophie to go downstairs now!”

“The Bourn family?” Sophie frowned.

She pondered, ‘It seemed like they were here because of the incident with Laura getting beaten yesterday. I didn’t expect them to be here so early. I haven’t had breakfast and I have to quarrel with them. This is so annoying.

Seemingly aware of what she was thinking, Roger suddenly said, “I had the servants bring milk to the room. Have a drink before going down.”

Sophie did not expect him to be so thoughtful, so she nodded with a smile. “Sure.”

The two of them drank the milk unhurriedly, changed their clothes, and freshened up a bit before going downstairs.

But downstairs, Ursa was about to explode.

When she came home the previous night and saw Laura's injuries, she had wanted to come and confront Sophie. Russell was afraid that Ursa would offend the Bourn family, so he locked her in her room for the night. It was only after he went to work in the morning that Laura let her mother out.

Then, Ursa immediately rushed to the Nicholls family to settle scores with Sophie.

After being stopped by Jasmine, Ursa had been reluctantly waiting on the couch for quite a while. She was about to reach her limit. "Why isn't she coming down yet? Are you deliberately stalling for time?"

Jasmine looked at Ursa with a gloating expression and quickly pacified her. "Oh, Ursa, please be patient. Both of them, one is visually impaired, and the other has just regained the ability to stand. It will definitely take some time... But Sophie is indeed a bit too slow in getting ready. It's truly disrespectful to the elders."

Jasmine kept fanning the flames, desperately hoping that Ursa would teach Sophie a lesson.

As she expected, Ursa was provoked and stood up angrily. "Since she's not coming down! I'll go up and sort her out!"

Ursa was about to rush upstairs.

11% 13:02

Chapter 55

However, the elevator door opened and Sophie and Roger slowly walked in from the main hall.

Seeing Ursa, Sophie said coldly, "I didn't know my adoptive mother missed me so much and came to see me so early in the morning."

Ursa snarled, "Pfft! Who missed you? Sophie, you ungrateful wretch! How dare you beat my Laura up like that! Do you know she just narrowly escaped dea th not long ago? If any of her wounds bled last night, would you be able to bear the responsibility?”

Ursa thought to herself, ‘She has stopped giving blood to Laura and had still injured Laura so badly! She is just heartless!’

Ursa’s yelling made Sophie’s ear itch. Sophie casually scratched her ears and said, “Ursa, your voice is still so sharp and unpleasant.”

Ursa’s face turned grim after being ridiculed.

“How dare you mock me?” She glanced at Roger and said angrily, “Mr. Roger, can you advise your wife to mind her manners? She shows no respect to her mother!”

Last time at the hospital, it was Roger who sent someone to deliver the blood bags, and she remembered his threat.

Therefore, she did not dare to act against Sophie rashly and could only snap at Roger.

Roger’s expression turned cold. He didn’t expect the woman to have the cheek to call herself Sophie’s mother. He coldly snorted, “You? Do you think you’re qualified to call yourself a mother in front of my wife?”

No one had expected that Roger would retort so strongly.

Instantly, Ursa and Jasmine were both taken aback.

Jasmine had never seen Roger so cold and intimidating. Even she felt an inexplicable chill.

‘The brat’s aura is becoming increasingly powerful, Jasmine thought.

Ursa was shocked that Roger, as a younger generation and her son-in-law, would say such disrespectful words to her.

“Roger, what do you mean?” Ursa could not stand being humiliated in front of so many people, so she was furious.

Chapter 55

Just then, Norman and Damian suddenly appeared upstairs. Norman frowned and said angrily, "Mrs. Bourn, you're making a scene at my house early in the morning! What do you mean by this?"

Norman rarely yelled at Roger. Unexpectedly, Ursa came to the Nicholls residence early in the morning to teach his grandson a lesson.

Norman's voice startled Ursa.

However, when she turned around, it was as if she had found someone to address her grievance and immediately burst into tears.

"Mr. Norman, you've finally come downstairs. You have to uphold justice for my daughter. Your grandson and granddaughter-in-law have gone too far. Last night, Sophie beat my daughter up until she was covered in injuries. I'm here to demand an explanation. But your grandson said I'm not qualified to call myself Sophie's mum...I've raised Sophie for a good ten years. I'm her adoptive mother! How am I not qualified?"

Norman's head hurt from Ursa's rasping voice. He valued the morning time the most but the noise had spoiled his mood and made his face crumple.

"Enough! This is the Nicholls residence! Drop your act! If you have something to say, say it! If you keep wailing like this, don't blame me for getting you out!"

someone to escort

Unexpectedly, the old man was also tough. Ursa immediately shut up and dared not cry anymore.

However, she refused to let the matter rest. "Mr. Norman, I don't want to come either, but you have to straighten things out for me today."

Damian knew that Norman was very protective of Roger, so he deliberately threw the problem to his nephew, "Roger, tell me what happened."

Roger snorted coldly as he knew that Damian would do this.

However, he was not afraid at all and said directly, “She claimed to be my wife’s mother, but ever since the Bourn family adopted Sophie, they have been drawing her blood to treat Laura. Laura has a rare blood type. They will have to pay an exorbitant cost to buy blood. But the Bourn family are good at calculating. They adopted a girl and only need to bear some living expenses and at most some tuition fees. After raising her, they can keep her by their side as a free blood tank. Yet, you have the cheek to call yourself her mother?”

Chapter 55

You’re so shameless!”

Falling For My “Disabled” Wife by Veronica Winifred

Chapter 56

Posted by Kadmin, 332 Views, Released on March 27, 2024

Chapter 56

Roger had never been this angry. Even when it came to his own affairs, he could calmly handle all conflicts every time.

But this time, he lost his cool because of Sophie and everyone in the Nicholls family was a little surprised.

“Rather than saying that you’ve raised Sophie for ten years, it’s more like Sophie has raised your daughter for more than ten years. If we do the math, according to the usual charges, the Bourn family owes her at least 200 thousand dollars for the blood transfusion. Yet, you still claim to be her foster mother? Do you really think you deserve that title?” questioned Roger.

His voice was icy and ruthless, devoid of any warmth.

Each word of his made Ursa’s hair stand on end, and her body grew colder.

Sophie looked at Roger from behind and her heart was deeply moved.

No one had ever said these words to her before.

She did not expect that after telling Roger what she had gone through the previous night, he would defend her in this way.

At that moment, she suddenly felt that he might fulfill the promise he had made.

Upon hearing his grandson's words, Norman's eyes darkened and he said furiously to Ursa, "Is the Bourn family really so shameless?"

Roger snorted and said sarcastically, "They're more than shameless. They even allowed their daughter to deliberately hurt someone else. The reason why Sophie became paralyzed was because Laura was jealous of her good grades and pushed her down the stairs. The Bourn family gave up on treating Sophie to save her future university expenses and confined her at home. You guys are so daring. This is illegal and you have no regard for the law!"

Ursa didn't expect that Roger would learn about everything after knowing Sophie for only over two weeks.

She glared at Sophie and thought, 'This bitch, I should have kept her locked up and let her rot to death in the Bourn family!'

11% 13:03

Chapter 56

Gritting her teeth in anger, Ursa could only argue, "Don't listen to this girl's nonsense. It's her own fault that she became paralyzed. It has nothing to do with us. We did our best to treat her."

Sophie did not expect Ursa to still be accusing her at this point. Sophie sneered and said, "If you guys had done your best, would I have cured myself in just a few years with a bit of traditional medicine I learned? If you had truly done your best, I might have stood up a long time ago. Ursa, you're already this old. Can you have some shame?"

If Sophie didn't expose Ursa, Ursa would continue to brazenly defend herself.

“You bitch! I think you’re an ingrateful brat! You’ve just married into the Nicholls family and you’re already slinging mud at your adopted parents! Watch me tear your mouth apart today!”

After being scolded by Sophie, Ursa was so infuriated that she walked right past Roger to grab Sophie’s face.

Sophie instinctively took a step back. However, she still couldn’t dodge it in time.

Roger spontaneously turned around to stop Ursa.

However, someone was one step ahead of him and grabbed Ursa’s hand tightly.

“Who are you? How dare you stop me! Let go of me, I’m going to rip this bitch’s mouth apart!” shouted Ursa.

The tall man’s eyes

instantly turned cold as he flung Ursa away.

“Ah!” Ursa screamed and went sprawling to the ground in a disheveled state.

As she looked up, she suddenly felt the man in front of her seemed familiar.

Timothy looked down at the disgusting woman and his gaze instantly became stony. He took out a handkerchief and wiped his hands that had been dirtied. “Mrs. Bourn, I advise you to watch your mouth when you talk to my sister!”

Sophie was shocked when she heard Timothy call her sister.

She knew the detailed information about every member of the Dawson family, including the fact that Timothy was her fifth brother.

Surprisingly, he had come to the Nicholls residence so early in the morning and even

0 13:03

Chapter 56

protected her against Ursa.

A warm feeling surged through Sophie's heart.

It felt good to have a family to protect her.

Roger could not help but heave a sigh of relief.

Fortunately, Timothy had showed up. Otherwise, Sophie might have been hurt .

“Sister?” Ursa looked at Timothy coldly and said, “Mr. Timothy, I brought this brat back from a welfare organization. You'd better be clear about this. She's just a bastard from an orphanage. How can she be one of the Dawson family? Don't recognize her too early!”

Up to then, Ursa still believed that Sophie couldn't possibly be a member of the Dawson family.

It was absolutely impossible.

However, Timothy coldly retracted his gaze and looked back at Sophie. He took out a report from his pocket and announced, “My third brother went to the laboratory last night. and did the test personally. The results showed that you're indeed my sister.”

“What?”

“Impossible...”

The eyes of Jasmine and Ursa bulged in shock.

Other members of the Nicholls family were also stunned.

Right then, Thomas and Ronald heard the commotion and came downstairs. Coincidentally, they heard the result, and their eyes instantly darkened.

‘Sophie is the daughter of the Dawson family?’ Ronald was astounded.

He couldn't help but say, “Thomas... Did I hear it wrongly?... How could Sophie be the daughter of the Dawson family? If she is, then who is the one in the Dawson family...”

Seeing that Ronald was still daydreaming, Thomas ruthlessly poured cold water on him. “If Sophie is the daughter of the Dawson family gold, then Evelyn is most likely a fake.”

“Huh? No way!” Ronald had tried all means to marry the daughter of the Dawson family.

#

11 13:03

Chapter 56

As it turned out, Evelyn was an imposter.

But it was not the most ridiculous part.

The most ridiculous part was the person Ronald had tried so hard to pass on to Roger turns out to be the real daughter of the Dawson family.

Ronald regretted it deeply.

If he had not rejected the marriage, he would have been the son-in-law of the Dawson family.

Even if he didn't do anything, he could have a place in his family, and he would have more money than he could spend in his lifetime.

But at that moment, the bubbles of his fantasies had all burst.

Seeing Ronald sitting on the side in anger, Thomas ignored him and walked straight to the living room, standing beside Jasmine to watch the show.

After a while, Ursa finally regained her composure, “No, it's impossible. How could she be the daughter of the Dawson family? She's just a bastard I found!”

“Ursa! I advise you to watch your mouth!” Timothy lost his patience when his sister was called a bastard again and again.

“Sou

“So what if I call her bastard! So what if she’s from the Dawson family? She hit my daughter last night. But all of you are protecting her! I’m going to call the police! Let the police come and arrest her now!” threatened Ursa.

Since the Nicholls and the Dawson family were all protecting Sophie, Ursa decided to leave the matter to the hands of the police and see how they would still protect Sophie.

Unexpectedly, Timothy took out his badge and snorted. “You want to call the police? I’m a police officer. Moreover, I am an Interpol officer, higher than ordinary cops.”

Ursa was completely dumbfounded.

She had forgotten that the fifth son of the Dawson family was an Interpol officer and he was a skillful fighter!

There was no way she could overpower him.

Falling For My “Disabled” Wife by Veronica Winifred

Chapter 57

Posted by Kadmin, 323 Views, Released on March 27, 2024

Chapter 57

However, when Ursa thought of how her daughter was hurt by Sophie, she was marinated in hatred. “Just because you’re an Interpol officer, does that mean you can disregard the law? Can you hit someone and not take responsibility?”

Timothy snorted coldly. “For sure, we have to abide by the law. So, Mrs. Bourn, you can go home and wait. You forced an underage girl to donate blood illegally and even condoned your daughter’s deliberate harm, causing my sister to become paralyzed. The Dawson family won’t let the matter rest. Soon, we’ll settle all the scores with you!”

Timothy had stood at the door and listened to their conversation for a long time, not missing a single word Roger had said

He had only met Sophie for the second time and did not have a deep connection with her.

However, when he heard that his biological sister had suffered such inhumane torture in the Bourn family, a wave of fury crashed through him.

He would not let any of these people off.

His gaze was sharp and terrifying as if he wanted to devour Ursa alive.

In

an instant, Ursa's arrogance disappeared completely. She had come to demand an explanation. Unexpectedly, she was held accountable by the Dawson family instead.

She felt a little weak and could not even get up.

Suddenly, there was a sound of someone rushing in at the front gate.

Before anyone could react, Russell barged in. "Ursa, are you alright?"

He had hurried over upon receiving a notification from the butler that his wife had come to the Nicholls residence.

Originally, he was afraid that Ursa would cause trouble and take Sophie away, but he didn't expect that when he came in, Ursa was lying on the floor.

Russell was a little angry. "Mr. Norman, even if my wife is in the wrong, you shouldn't push

her

Seeing that her adoptive father could barely control his anger, Sophie couldn't take it.

Chapter 57

any more and said, "Mr. Bourn, please don't speak irresponsibly before you figure out the situation. She was about to hit me, so my brother pushed her away to save me."

Russell was stunned for a moment when Sophie addressed him as Mr. Bourn, but he still helped Ursa up first.

Ursa said while choking with sobs, "Honey, you're finally here. They bullied me. The Dawson family... the Dawson family even threatened me to sue us for forcing a minor to donate blood and condoning our daughter's deliberate harm."

"What?"

Ursa's words instantly made Russell's heart skip a beat.

This was because he knew that what they did was indeed illegal.

If Timothy pursued the matter, even Laura would not be spared.

At the thought of this, all Russell's anger evaporated. He looked at Sophie helplessly and said, "Sophie, do you really have to do this? We have lived together for ten years. Even if... your adoptive mother and I might have neglected you, are you really going to sue us after you leave the Bourn family?"

Russell made a clever move to retreat while advancing, instantly exerting moral pressure on Sophie.

If she persisted in pursuing the matter, she would appear to be ungrateful.

But if she didn't pursue it, all the suffering she had endured in the Bourn family would be for nothing.

She spent countless days and nights in the Bourn family, hoping to escape one day to seek revenge for herself and reclaim justice.

However, when she saw Russell's pleading gaze, she couldn't help but soften a little.

Timothy couldn't stand it anymore and said, "Mr. Bourn, everyone is equal before the law. Just because my sister isn't holding you accountable doesn't mean that you didn't break the law. Let's leave this matter to the supervisory authorities."

Russell was struck dumb.

He did not expect that Timothy wouldn't be swayed

Chapter 57

Gritting his teeth, he could only say shamelessly, "Mr. Timothy, perhaps you don't know, but there's a collaboration between the Dawson Family and the Bourn Family. If it escalates further, it might affect both families. Why don't we..."

"Why don't you just end the collaboration?" Roger suddenly chimed in, "Your presence is already a form of harm to Sophie. If she continues to see you frequently, it will be like stabbing a knife into her heart. Our family has a lot of projects. The Dawson family can collaborate with us and... they are better off without you!"

Roger wanted the Bourn family to be a discarded pawn.

He wanted them to know the consequences of bullying his woman.

When Sophie saw that Roger was so concerned about her feelings, she could not help but step forward to hold his hand and stand by his side.

Russell did not expect that even a blind man like Roger would be so tough with him as well. His eyes were filled with indignation. Then, he turned around and wanted to speak to Norman.

However, Norman felt completely disgusted with Russell and his wife. "Things have come to this far. The collaboration between the Nicholls family and the Bourn family is officially terminated! Mr. and Mrs. Bourn, please show yourself out!"

Norman did not want to see them ever again.

Russell had never been treated like this in his life.

He felt bitter and miserable as if he had been slapped more than ten times.

"Fine, don't regret it!" Gritting his teeth in resentment, Russell could only say those harsh words before leaving in a hurry with Ursa.

Watching them leave, Jasmine suddenly felt extremely disappointed.

She was hoping that the Bourn couple would teach Sophie a lesson. Unexpectedly, Sophie had turned the situation around again.

Furthermore, the Dawson family had come over early in the morning and acknowledged Sophie's identity.

Now, even Jasmine did not dare to speak rashly.

11 13:83

Chapter 57

If Sophie was indeed the daughter of the Dawson family, then she would have her family behind her back.

Even the Nicholls family could not afford to offend the Dawson family.

At that moment, she regretted her impulsiveness from before.

After the troublemaker left, Norman took a deep breath and said to Timothy, "Mr. Timothy, since you're here, why don't you join us for breakfast?"

Timothy smiled. "There's no need. I'm just here to deliver the results. Also, I want to say a few words to my sister."

Sophie's heart was once again warmed by Timothy's smile. Unconsciously, she nodded in compliance. "Sure, you can speak to me."

Seeing Sophie's obedient appearance, Timothy's smile became gentler. "Dad and Mom have received the results, and everyone at home knows that you are our biological sister. However, they don't want to disturb you rashly, so they sent me to invite you. If you're willing, come home for lunch."

Hearing that the Dawson family had accepted her, Sophie felt as if a rock had been lifted from her heart.

She heaved a sigh of relief and her eyes turned red. "They... are willing to recognize me?"

With a soft and cautious voice, she appeared very pitiful, making people feel sorry for her.

Timothy nodded and said, "Blood is thicker than water. It's a fact that you're a member of the Dawson family. How can we not recognize you?"

The Dawson family was in a state of disbelief when they received the report, but they could not abandon their family. So, they decided to accept Sophie and let her go home.

Moreover, after learning that Sophie had suffered so much, Timothy had already recognized her as his sister.

Sophie, who had not cried for a long time, couldn't help but shed a tear. However, she quickly wiped it away, "Thank you, Timothy... I'm willing to go home. I'll be there on time for lunch."

It was her first time going back home, so she naturally wouldn't refuse.

Falling For My "Disabled" Wife by Veronica Winifred

Chapter 58

Posted by Kadmin, 334 Views, Released on March 27, 2024

Chapter 58

With

Sophie's consent, Timothy immediately turned around and said to Norman, "Mr. Norman, if that's the case, I'll take my leave first. I'll visit you another day."

"Alright, alright. Goodbye then." Norman did not ask Timothy to stay anymore. He instructed Damian, "You walk Mr. Timothy out."

"Yes, Dad." Damian nodded and immediately did as Norman said.

Jasmine was surprised.

Timothy was a junior, but Norman asked her husband to walk him out as a form of respect.

Timothy gave Sophie a glance and nodded at her before leaving the Nicholls residence.

As soon as he left, Sophie heaved a sigh of relief and felt a bit weak in her legs.

Surprisingly, Roger quickly reached out to support her.

Sophie turned her head and asked curiously. "What are you doing?"

"Sit down if you're tired," he whispered as he helped her to the couch.

Sophie could not help but get suspicious. This guy helped me again at the critical moment. How did he know I felt weak in the legs? Did he really lose his eyesight?"

1

Nevertheless, she could only sit down, considering Norman was still in the living room.

Jasmine stared at Sophie resentfully, finding it hard to accept that Sophie was indeed the daughter of the Dawson family.

Ronald was the one least able to accept the turn of events.

"That can't be. Sophie... How can you possibly be the daughter of the Dawson family? I don't believe it. I absolutely don't believe it!" bawled Ronald.

He had pursued Evelyn for so many years, and he did not expect her to be a fake upper-class lady.

Whereas the real daughter of the Dawson family was Sophie whom he had rejected.

10% 13:03

Chapter 581

His dream of turning his life around seemed to have shattered.

Seeing how worked up Ronald was, Norman was infuriated. "Shut up! Don't embarrass me here. Go upstairs!"

Despite being scolded by Norman, Ronald protested with an aggrieved look, “Grandpa, I’ve suffered such a huge loss, and you’re still criticizing me. I regret not accepting the marriage! I won’t reject it now. Anyway, Sophie and Roger didn’t hold a wedding... I-”

“Ronald! What nonsense are you spouting?” Before Ronald could finish speaking, a figure suddenly rushed in and gave him a slap on the face.

It was a loud slap.

Ronald’s face was contorted in anger and shock.

Everyone turned to look at the person who arrived a bit late, only to find it was Rebecca.

Rebecca was so angry that her chest was heaving violently.

She hadn’t anticipated that in the short time she went downstairs, her foolish son would utter such egregious remarks.

As expected, Norman flew into a rage.

He roared angrily, “Marriage is a significant matter. How can you treat it like a joke? Now that Roger and Sophie are already married, who are you to regret it? You brat, how dare you be so disrespectful! Get out! I don’t want to see you in this house again!”

“Dad!” Rebecca couldn’t believe that even after slapping her son, Norman still punished him.

“You shut up too! You’ve educated your son so well that he goes back on his words and rejects the marriage as he pleases. Who does he think he is? After leaving the Nicholls family, he’ll be nothing! Get him out of here now! So he can recognize his place!”

“Fine!” After being scolded by his grandfather, Ronald suddenly found some backbone. “I will leave! What’s the big deal? As if anyone likes to stay in this family.”

“Ronald!” Rebecca did not expect Ronald to be so stubborn. In a panic, she reached out to grab his son’s sleeve.

“Don’t try to stop me!” Ronald was completely enraged. “I’m tired of playing along and putting on an act with you! You can stay in this house if you want. I can’t stay here anymore!”

Chapter 58

10% 13:04

With that, he forcefully shook off Rebecca’s hand and stormed out of the Nicholls manor.

“Ronald!” Rebecca shouted.

But Ronald left without looking back.

Norman, still in a fit of anger, yelled at Rebecca, “If you can’t bear to part with him, then leave with him!”

Rebecca had never been scolded like this before. So, she dared not to make a sound.

“Grandpa, simmer down. Don’t let your anger affect your health.” Thomas spoke up at the right time.

Only then did Norman manage to calm down a little.

He thought even if the second grandson was unruly, the eldest one was still outstanding.

“Forget it, let’s not talk about that rascal anymore. It’s late, let’s have breakfast,” said.

Norman.

He originally wanted to say a few words to Sophie, but he was no longer in the mood.

”

“Alright, Willard, serve the dishes,” Thomas instructed the butler. Then, he assisted Norman to the dining room. 1

Right then, Humphrey and Emily also came downstairs. Seeing that Rebecca had a sullen face and Ronald was nowhere to be seen, Humphrey asked in confusion, "Where's Ronald? Didn't he come down a while ago?"

Rebecca quickly pinched him hard and did not let him speak again.

Humphrey was shocked and could only quietly follow his daughter to the dining room.

Sophie thoughtfully instructed the servants to deliver breakfast to Daisy before sitting down to eat.

Seeing that Sophie did not change her attitude towards Roger just because she came from the Dawson family, Norman felt much more at ease. After breakfast, he could not help but ask, "Sophie, I didn't expect you to be the daughter of the Dawson family. Why didn't you tell us about this earlier?"

10

Chapter 58

If Norman had known that Sophie was the daughter of the Dawson family, he would not have stopped her from attending the banquet and would have taken better care of her.

Sophie shook his head and said, "Grandpa, everyone in the family has their own affairs. Moreover, I'm not sure if my biological parents will recognize me. That's why I didn't say anything."

Norman nodded in acknowledgment. "You're right. You're a prudent kid."

Seeing Sophie being praised by Norman, both Jasmine and Rebecca pulled a long face.

Not wanting to continue dealing with these people, Sophie stood up and said to Norman, "Grandpa, I have to go back to the Dawson family for lunch. I need to prepare, so I'll go upstairs first."

“Alright, go ahead. Do send my regards to your parents,” Norman said with a gentle smile.

Jasmine couldn't help but give the old man a disdainful look.

“Sophie hasn't even reunited with her parents yet. Dad, don't be so anxious,” said Jasmine.

She presumed perhaps the Dawson family would not recognize Sophie at all when she went back home.

Norman rolled his eyes at his daughter. “This is a fact that's been confirmed. How am I being too anxious?”

Sophie also nodded. “Grandpa is right. Regardless of the outcome, they are my biological parents.”

There was no doubt about that.

Sophie shot a provocative glance at Jasmine.

Jasmine was filled with indignation, but right now, she could only stomach it.

Because Sophie was right.

Not wanting to say more, Sophie helped Roger up and the two of them left the dining hall together.

*URN 10% 13:04

Chapter 58

Norman finished his meal and turned to leave.

Only Damian, Humphrey, and their wives were left.

Jasmine could not help but say hatefully, “Ever since Sophie came to our family, our status has been getting more and more inferior. Now that Dad knows she's the daughter of the Dawson family, could he value Roger more?”

Falling For My “Disabled” Wife by Veronica Winifred

Chapter 59

Posted by Kadmin, 366 Views, Released on March 27, 2024

Chapter 59

These words resonated with the feelings of a few people.

Even Thomas fell silent.

Actually, he had always felt that Norman cared about Roger simply because Roger had impaired vision and the old man could not let him work at the company.

But now, Sophie had become his eyes.

Thomas felt an inexplicable sense of crisis, not to mention Damian and Humphrey.

They looked at each other and snorted coldly, “Even if the old man values him, so what?”

“That’s right. We’re in charge of the company now. There’s no way it’ll be handed over to Roger,” Humphrey remarked.

Rebecca did not say anything, but she agreed with her husband.

Only then did Jasmine feel a little less worried. “It seems we are particularly united this time.”

As long as they stood together, it meant that the good days of the third branch were coming to an end.

After Sophie and Roger went upstairs, they decided to check on Daisy.

1

Sophie’s matter had been resolved, but there were still no clues about the poisoning of Daisy.

Fortunately, after Daisy stopped taking the medicine, she recovered relatively quickly.

When Sophie and Roger entered the room together, they saw Daisy reading a book on the bed, looking invigorated.

“Mom, how do you feel today?” Sophie asked with a smile.

“Sophie? Quickly sit down.” Daisy’s health had been getting better lately, all thanks to Sophie.

She was truly growing fond of her daughter-in-law.

+5

10% 13:04

Chapter 59

Sophie sat down with a smile and placed her hand on Daisy’s pulse. After a while, she gently said to Daisy, “Mom, your body is recovering much faster than I expected. The toxins are being expelled rapidly. In a few days, they will be completely eliminated. I’ll prescribe new medicine for you, and you’ll recover soon.”

“Really?” Daisy’s eyes lit up and she immediately held Sophie’s hand in gratitude. “Sophie, you’re truly my lucky star. I don’t know how to thank you.”

If it wasn’t for Sophie, Daisy was unlikely to live long and would have died.

“Mom, I’m your daughter-in-law. We’re family. There’s no need to thank me.” Sophie shook her head helplessly. Then, she thought of something and said, “Regarding the poisoning incident, have there been any leads?”

Daisy shook her head and her gaze landed on her son. “If Rogy finds anything, he will definitely tell me.”

But in the past few days, Roger had not told her anything.

Roger replied in a low voice, "The medicine from before should be enough to last until the end of this month. I estimate that the perpetrator won't show up so soon. After Mom finishes the medicine, that person will definitely not sit idly by."

Sophie nodded. "What you said makes sense. There's no rush in this. Anyway, Mom isn't taking the medicine now, and her body is recovering well."

Daisy nodded. "You're right. As long as my body recovers, we can talk about other things later."

Seeing that Daisy seemed to be a little soft-hearted and did not want to continue finding the truth, Sophie did not ask further. She just went along with Daisy and said, "Mom, you are right."

Seeing that his mother and wife got along so well, Roger said in a low voice, "I've found out something about the doctor, but since Sophie stood up a few days ago, I didn't ask the doctor to come over in case it would alert the perpetrator."

The fact that Sophie could stand up was kept secret. With him accompanying her in rehabilitation, she could recover without needing assistance from others

"That's good. Anyway, Sophie can stand up now. These things are not important. What matters is that our family of three is doing well in the future." Daisy was really grateful that

1304

Chapter 54

Sophie could stand up.

Suddenly, she seemed to have remembered something. "I just heard from Janice that Mrs. Bourn had an argument with you and someone from the Dawson family also came. What's going on?"

Sensing Daisy's concern, Sophie briefly explained the situation.

Upon learning that Sophie had been accepted by the Dawson family, Daisy was overjoyed. "This is amazing! Sophie, this is your first time home. You can't go empty-handed. I'll get Janice to prepare a gift for your parents and brothers."

"Mom, there's no need to spend so much money..." Sophie felt a bit embarrassed.

However, Daisy said, "This is nothing. They are my real in-laws. I must not neglect them. You two go back to your room and rest. I'll have everything prepared and call for you."

"Mom..." Sophie tried to dissuade her mother-in-law.

However, Roger held her hand and said, "Just go along with Mom."

Sophie could only nod helplessly.

After leaving Daisy's room together, the couple returned to their own room.

Sophie was a little nervous and excited about going home for the first time. When she returned to her room, she stood in front of the wardrobe and said, "What should I wear."

Roger sat on the sofa quietly and waited for her while she was choosing clothes.

Sophie picked a light pink dress and instinctively wanted to take off her clothes to change.

Roger immediately felt uneasy and said, "I'm going to the balcony to enjoy the sun."

"Sure, go ahead," Sophie did not mind, directly taking off her clothes and changing into the dress.

Roger had already turned around and walked to the balcony.

However, he could still hear Sophie muttering, "This one won't do... it's too revealing. I should change into another one."

Then followed the sound of rustling clothes.

10% 13:04

Chapter 59

Without turning around, Roger knew that Sophie had once again directly taken off her clothes to change into another one.

Even if he didn't turn around, he could vividly imagine the scene of her changing clothes in his mind.

Gradually, he felt his body heat up.

Fortunately, there was wind on the balcony, which alleviated some of his restlessness.

An unknown period of time had passed, and Sophie finally selected an outfit.

After putting on the clothes, she also applied some simple makeup.

It was only at this moment that Roger returned to the room and said, "It's still early. Don't be too nervous."

After being reminded by Roger Nicholls, Sophie finally realized, "Oh yeah, I am a bit nervous."

Roger smiled. "Do you want me to go with you?"

Sophie was stunned and didn't know how to respond because she hadn't thought about that.

She wondered if she should go by herself or bring someone with her.

Roger seemed to notice her hesitation, so he said, "I'm your husband. I should go with you. They probably won't say anything. Besides, with me by your side, you probably won't be so nervous."

The last sentence had indeed hit the nail on the head.

She didn't want to let her nerves get the best of her. If Roger was with her, she would feel much more at ease.

After thinking for a moment, she agreed, "Okay, then I'll have to trouble you to go with me. I guess they won't mind."

Roger said with a smile, "They won't."

He thought to himself, 'Sophie is so amazing. No one would be willing to blame her.'

10% 13:04

Chapter 59

Time passed quickly.

Shortly before noon, Daisy finally prepared all kinds of expensive gifts.

She put a lot of effort into it and the gifts were much better than what Rebecca had sent to the Bourn family last time..

"Let's go," Roger instructed the servants to load everything onto the car while holding Sophie's hand.

Seemingly to have gained strength from Roger, Sophie nodded and got into the car with him.

Indeed, with him by her side, she would have the courage.

Falling For My "Disabled" Wife by Veronica Winifred Chapter 60

Posted by Kadmin, 625 Views, Released on March 27, 2024

Chapter 60

Along the way, Sophie was very nervous. Her hands could not help but turn cold.

Roger did not say anything, but he kept holding her hand.

His hand was very warm, making her subconsciously feel a little dependent.

Soon, the car arrived at the villa area where the Dawson family was located.

As expected of a time-honored family. The entire area was the Dawson family's. After walking uphill for a while, they saw a straight boulevard.

In front of the boulevard was the castle-like villa. The carved fountain stood in front of the door, the trickle of water shimmering in the sunlight.

The entire villa had a sense of history. The atmosphere was solemn.

Roger and Sophie got out of the car together.

Sophie looked up at the Dawson family's mansion and could not help but feel a little nervous.

This was her home, but she had only been home for the first time in twenty years.

She was both excited and afraid.

Roger could feel her nervousness and said calmly, "I need you to lead me in."

Only then did Sophie realize that this was not the Nicholls family. Roger was not familiar with it.

However, the thought of going through the door together with him made her less nervous.

After all, compared to him, she was indeed the host of the Dawson family.

"Let's go." Sophie nodded and helped him through the door.

At this moment, the door of the mansion opened.

The butler hurried over with six servants.

“Mr. Roger, Ms. Sophie, welcome back.” Although it was his first time seeing Sophie, the butler called her Ms. Sophie very well-trained.

10% 13.84

Chapter 60

Sophie immediately felt a sense of belonging. She nodded and said, “Hi.”

“Please come with me. They have been waiting for a long time,” the butler said.

“Alright,” Sophie replied and followed the butler into the mansion.

The entrance to the mansion was a long palace-style corridor. There were swimming pools of different sizes on both sides. The corridor in the middle was shaped like a Gothic-style corridor pillar. When people walked in it, they inexplicably felt like royalty.

Unlike the Nicholls family’s ancient castle, although the Dawson family’s mansion had a more historical feel, its internal structure was relatively novel. Moreover, artificial intelligence screens, televisions, and even service robots could be seen everywhere.

Soon, the butler brought Sophie and Roger to the main living room of the Dawson family.

Just as the butler had said, Marcus and Bianca were sitting on the main seat of the sofa, waiting for them.

As soon as she saw the two of them enter, Bianca immediately stood up excitedly and said, “Hi, Sophie!”

Blood ties were really strange. Ever since Bianca met Sophie last night, she had not slept well for almost the entire night and had been thinking about her.

As expected, she received news from Timothy early this morning that Sophie was really her biological daughter.

After Timothy returned, he had already told them everything he had seen and heard about the Nicholls family. When Bianca heard that Sophie had actually suffered a lot in the Bourn family, she felt sorry for the entire morning.

When Bianca saw Sophie, her eyes could not help but turn red. "I've heard about it. I didn't expect you to suffer so much in the Bourn family. How have you lived all these years?" Bianca said.

'I am simply stupid. I don't even know that my biological daughter is suffering alone outside and has even been pushed downstairs and paralyzed. How pitiful!' Bianca thought.

Marcus was no longer as distant as before. He said solemnly, "You've suffered at the Bourn family. Don't worry. I'll definitely let them pay for it!"

Chapter 60

10% 13:04

'The people from the Dawson family will never be bullied! In particular, Russell and his wife had bullied my precious daughter! I will definitely not let you off!' Marcus thought.

Sophie did not expect Marcus and Bianca to be so concerned about her. For a moment, she could not help but feel warm in her heart and a lump in her throat. "Dad, Mom, are you willing to acknowledge me as your daughter?"

Seeing how uncertain she was, Bianca's eyes reddened. "My dear, we're family. What do you mean by whether we acknowledge you or not? It's just that Mommy lost you for a long time. You don't blame Mommy, right?"

Sophie shook her head with tears in her eyes. "No, it's not your fault. I'm already very satisfied to be able to return to your side," Sophie said.

Sophie knew that from today onwards, she was no longer an orphan without parents.

"You're satisfied just like that? You are really easy to satisfy." Suddenly, a clear voice sounded from upstairs.

Sophie subconsciously looked up and saw Benjamin, walking downstairs with one hand in his pocket. Behind him were her eldest brother, Kenneth, and her third brother, Wesley.

Unexpectedly, her brothers were all here. Sophie's eyes widened in surprise. "You're all here."

Wesley smiled gently. "Since you're home, we naturally have to be present and welcome.

you!"

Wesley had personally tested her DNA. There was no mistake about this sister of his. After all, she really looked too similar to Bianca.

The eldest brother, Kenneth, said seriously, "Our family should know what happened 20 years ago."

Sophie immediately nodded seriously. "I want to know that too," she said.

As the few of them were talking, Timothy and Lucas returned home.

As soon as Timothy entered, he took out two bags of files. "We've investigated all the information on the newborns and the arson case twenty years ago."

Lucas poured a glass of water and handed it to Timothy. "Drink some water first."

Chapter 60

*

10% 13:04

In order to rush back before noon, the two of them had been running around for the entire morning without even drinking any water.

Timothy nodded and took a sip of water.

Seeing this, Marcus said, "Since everyone is here, let's sit down and talk."

Everyone nodded and found their seats.

Only Evelyn, for some reason, did not go downstairs.

After Timothy sat down, he took out the information and said to everyone, "Twenty years ago, there was no surveillance in the hospital, and the police investigation conditions were limited, so we still haven't found the real culprit of the arson. However, from the traces at the scene, someone did set the fire. Moreover, after Lucas and I investigated, we found something strange. This arsonist — only lit the curtains in the nursery and didn't use lethal gasoline or other flammable things to set the fire. That's why there weren't so many arson tools left at the scene, and there weren't any more clues."

Kenneth frowned slightly and said, "If it was a deliberate arson, it should be very well-prepared. Could it be a last-minute idea?"

Timothy also nodded. "That's what our colleagues in the task force suspect, but the motive is unknown, and we haven't found the person, so it's not appropriate to say anything. However, we can be sure that..."

"Let me explain." Lucas saw that Timothy was getting addicted to deduction again, so he quickly got to the main point. "Although we don't have any leads on the arson case, we can be sure that the nursery was set on fire, and the nurses moved the children away in a panic. The hospital speculated that they must have carried the wrong child at that time..."

Lucas gave a concise conclusion, and only then did the Dawson family's people come to a realization.

"So it was at that time that they carried the wrong baby! That's why we didn't know about Sophie's existence all these years," Benjamin said excitedly.

All these years, they had been raising other people's children, but Sophie was suffering outside. This was really the biggest joke in the world.