

Read Healing my disabled husband novel chapter 46 online free

After Aimee returned to Hayden's Mansion, she went straight to her room.

She opened the box, took the herbs out of it, and began to blend.

With this herb, Patrick's recovery will be unimaginable.

Only, the effort required to blend this one medicine is unprecedented.

Aimee still didn't go to Patrick's room tonight.

This made Patrick even more puzzled as to which part of the process had gone wrong.

After all, Aimee would come to his room to take care of him even when he was upset.

He still remembers the way Aimee wiped him down and checked on him.

Patrick was touched by her genuine concern.

However, such Aimee, but has not come for two nights.

Patrick really wanted to install a surveillance camera in Aimee's room so he could see what Aimee was doing.

However, he just moved this thought and already disliked himself to the point of no return.

When did he become so lewd that he would want to pry into a woman's private space?

However, he had to admit that he had become very interested in Aimee.

It was even, because of these interests, that he began to think that the marriage was very good.

Patrick does not consider himself to be the type of person who would approve of a relationship just because he is moved. He must admit that Aimee, a seemingly unassuming woman, inspires him to explore very much, and the more curious he feels about her, the more he thinks, this woman is great.

Even, just now, Patrick almost had Trace send his card to Aimee when he learned that Aimee was buying jewelry for herself.

As his wife, she deserves to spend his money.

However, Aimee would not give him that opportunity.

Even, she didn't come over to see him after she came back.

The more Patrick waited, the more he realized that he seemed to become easily disappointed.

Patrick was very uncomfortable when he waited for Aimee to come, but she did not.

He just felt his heart clog up.

Aimee didn't know that Patrick would have such a big reaction because of her no-show.

She was inside her room, concentrating on extracting the medicinal solution.

This is a process that cannot be interrupted or disturbed at all, and Aimee does not tolerate any mistakes.

Therefore, before she performed the extraction, she had informed everyone not to disturb her even if the sky was falling.

So, unbeknownst to Aimee, Mr. Smith had replied to her message and was anxiously awaiting her response.

Lasnain.

After Matilda returned, she went straight to the Wells family.

The Wells family had long been notified that Asa had been kidnapped with the promise that they would not harm him.

However, as the heir of the Wells family, Asa fell into danger, or called the entire Wells family are in a dead silence, they used a huge force to find out where Asa's kidnapping place, but simply can not find any information.

Just when they were running out of alternatives and ready to compromise and agree to each other's demands, Matilda suddenly appeared.

To this beautiful woman, they are completely distrustful, and give her no good looks.

However, Matilda is straightforward to throw out several major secrets of the Wells family, so that the Wells family people have to believe that Matilda is really coming to save Asa.

At this moment, Matilda is sitting on top of the sofa, sipping black tea and looking at the white-haired old man sitting in front of her.

Her posture is lazy and idle, without any tense appearance.

This adds to the eerie atmosphere of the entire Wells family.

Finally, after Matilda had finished tasting a cup of black tea, the old man could not help but ask: "Miss Duncan, you have been sitting here for three hours, is this how you say you can save my grandson, is this how you wait?"

Matilda smiled, raised her eyes towards the old man, smiled, and said, "Old Wells' patience is really not very good, such panic and anxiety, but is not conducive to saving people."

"You," Old Wells has shown a face of anger, he very regret, should not listen to this woman's words, "if, you do not come to the exact rescue plan, we will not be polite to you."

Matilda smiled, snickered and said, "The river has not even crossed yet, Old Wells you are so anxious to tear down the bridge, beware of transferring into a trap, instead, your precious grandson can not come back."

"You are simply unbridled!" Old Wells was simply furious, he had never seen such a woman, and actually dared to threaten him so blatantly.

Matilda saw that she was really angry, so she laughed lightly and said, "When I say we still need to wait, you just wait patiently, I promise you will save Asa, you have to trust me, otherwise, do you think I am stupid? Send it to the door for you to catch.”

Old Wells, although angry with Matilda’s attitude, agrees with her.

Indeed, no one would be foolish enough to give themselves up to be captured alive. The Wells family is not exactly a scary place, but it is a very easy thing for them to punish anyone they want.

Especially, it’s easier when it’s a woman like this.

Old Wells suppressed his anger and said to Matilda, “I’ll just wait a little longer, and you better not be lying to me, or I’ll make sure you never leave Lasnain.”

Matilda indifferently regained her cup of tea, that lazy and leisurely appearance, and the atmosphere of the Wells family is very incongruous.

Naive Old Wells has sent down the word, others even how angry, it is impossible to disobey Old Wells’ orders.

The crowd was only able to watch this goblin-like woman wreak havoc on their Wells family.

But they have secretly made up their minds that when Asa is rescued, this woman, they will use a thousand ways to punish her for today’s unreasonable.

Matilda, although lazy like a cat, is the expression of all the people present in the eyes.

She can naturally see what kind of calculations they have made.

Matilda’s mouth surged with a contemptuous smile, but really is very insolent, can not really think that can do anything to her?

It is simply ridiculous.

Read Healing my disabled husband novel chapter 47 online free

Aimee didn’t finally extract the liquid until noon the next day, and iced it inside the refrigerator.

This time this medicinal solution, which takes longer to ice, takes a full thirty-six hours.

Aimee figured out that it was time to go to Patrick's room after midnight tomorrow to administer his medication.

After collecting the remnants of the refining solution, Aimee came out of the room with a yawn.

The old Hayden had been waiting for her for a long time and had tried to get someone to get her up for dinner before, but didn't know what Aimee was doing last night; after all, Aimee wouldn't have stayed in bed unless she was in a special situation.

At this moment, seeing Aimee come out of the room, the old Hayden asked, "Aimee ah, hungry, I asked Riley to prepare food for you, go eat a little first."

"Thanks, Grandpa." Aimee was indeed hungry.

The energy consumed by extracting the medicinal solution was so great that she was physically and mentally exhausted, and all she wanted to do now was to go to sleep after eating.

The old Hayden looked at her face and asked, "Aimee, what's wrong with you? You look so tired."

"Grandpa, I stayed up late last night working on my paper and just got a little tired." Aimee casually lied.

Anyway, she had already promised Colby that she was going to prepare her paper, and she had already picked out a few easy-to-understand ones to take to Colby when the time came.

If the old Hayden wanted to read it, she could have just given the old Hayden the paper to read.

the old Hayden did not want to read her paper, just heard that she stayed up all night to write her paper, it was heartbreaking, "It is good for young people to work hard, but, Aimee ah, you still need to pay more attention to rest, do not make yourself unwell."

Aimee responded, her heart warming up.

To this old man, she is really grateful.

He was the one who gave care to her family, which made her very touched.

After eating, Aimee went back to her room.

Only, she couldn't go to bed yet.

Because, she only had time to look at her phone at this moment, she saw the message Mr. Simth replied to her.

As well, after she didn't reply for a long time, Mr. Simth kept sending anxious messages asking her what she was going to do.

Aimee quickly tapped on her phone and sent Mr. Simth the plan she had already worked out before.

Since, Mr. Simth has already agreed to her request, the next thing, then, is very good.

After Aimee replied to Mr. Simth, she sent a message to Matilda.

Naturally, Matilda was given full responsibility for Lasnain's affairs.

The reason why Matilda has been waiting in the Wells family is that she is waiting for Aimee's instructions.

Now, with Aimee's instructions, Matilda is on the move.

The rest, Aimee left alone.

She is also no longer fit to bother so much.

Otherwise, it is very likely that the forces over there, according to the signal to find her here, then, she has hidden for so long, also become a loss of success.

Aimee turned her phone off and went under the covers to get some sleep.

By the time Aimee woke up, it was already dark.

She was awakened by the ringing of her cell phone, and Aimee touched it to see that the caller was Francis.

At this time, he should already be filming, how can he suddenly call her.

Aimee wrinkled her brow for a moment, but answered it anyway.

As soon as the call was answered, Aimee heard Francis's exasperated voice: "When the hell can I get rid of Jaylah, this woman is not very capable, but has a lot of things to do.

Aimee doesn't have to ask to know what Jaylah has done to make Francis so angry.

She was silent for a long time and said, "Wait a little longer, now is not the time."

"Please, Princess, arrange for her to leave, I'm really fed up, I don't even want to do this scene." Francis was so angry that he was buzzing with expletives.

Aimee was amused by his appearance.

She said, "Don't be so angry, I'll arrange it here soon, be patient."

"Okay, then I'll wait for your news, you don't swindle me." Francis said.

Aimee responded and hung up the phone.

Immediately after, Aimee made a call to Averi, "The lot in Barden is up for bid next week, find a way to get it to the Reed family."

"Yes." Averi responded, with an unsuppressed exuberance within her voice, "You finally want the Reed family to take a shot."

"Isn't that what you always wanted to see?" Aimee was helpless, this girl, had flirted with herself not once or twice.

"Then I'm not afraid you'll go soft." Averi said.

Aimee didn't say much, and Averi wasn't wrong, she does tend to give the wrong impression.

She smiled and said, "Don't worry, not now, get this done and don't give them a chance to flip."

"Don't worry about that," Averi said, "you can't worry about me doing my job."

It's true, Aimee has always been very trusting of her two right-hand men.

Before hanging up, Aimee thought of one more thing and asked, "Did you tell me earlier that Jaylah wanted to borrow jewelry?"

"Yes, but we didn't think she had enough curry and gave a rejection." Averi said.

Their family's stuff is not something that can be matched by any kind of third-rate starlet.

Aimee thought for a moment and then said, "Find a chance to put the word out that we can borrow this time."

"Are you sure?" Averi was reluctant, always feeling that their whole brand was dirty after being touched by Jaylah.

Aimee said, "Not really, of course, let someone else lend it to her."

Averi quickly understood what Aimee meant by that.

She laughed and said nonchalantly to Aimee, "Bad or you're bad."

Aimee took it as a compliment and hung up after a few more words of explanation.

She was speechless at herself for having to go around in such a big circle to help Francis get rid of Jaylah.

However, this time, she is ready to drag the Reed family directly into the water, and it is only right to put in a little more effort.

This time, she would like to see how Mason will clean up the mess for his precious second granddaughter.

After dealing with this, Aimee was in a good mood.

So, she went to Patrick's room.

Patrick was already very puzzled by her not coming over for two nights, and now, Aimee showed up at a time when she wasn't supposed to, making Patrick even more puzzled.

This woman, what the hell is going on?

Read Healing my disabled husband novel chapter 48 online free

Aimee saw that Patrick was not asleep, even the head of the bed was still rocked up, stunned, and asked, "It's so late, why aren't you resting."

"What are you doing here with me at this late hour?" Patrick asked.

His tone was cold, giving Aimee the illusion that Patrick's attitude toward her was back to where it was at the beginning.

But, come to think of it, Patrick hadn't given her any good looks at all, so Aimee let it slide.

She said, "I just remembered that I haven't given you a massage today, so I came to see you."

Patrick said to himself, "It's not just today that I didn't give him a massage, the last two days are not to be made up.

However, this is something that he naturally will not say out loud.

He just looked at Aimee and didn't answer.

Aimee gave him a look and was tempted to ask him to just say what he had in mind, and if he didn't want her to get a massage, to just tell her that she would go straight back.

But before she had a chance to speak, Patrick had already said, "If you don't say you want a massage, why don't you start?"

Aimee was so angry at his comment that she went over to him and flattened his bed and started giving him a massage.

This time, Aimee didn't do anything bad, but seriously massaged Patrick's whole body.

Although Patrick is still unconscious, he is still very uncomfortable with Aimee's touch.

Especially, when Aimee massaged him up to the upper part of his body, that close to him.

He could clearly see every nuance of emotion on her face, only to see that she had a very gentle expression, not a half-hearted dislike for him, a patient who had been in bed for a long time.

Her eyes were so focused, and her fingers pressed on every part of him without any impatience or fatigue.

It was the first time Patrick had ever looked at Aimee's face so seriously.

He had to go and admit that Aimee was really good looking.

Even, this beauty of hers is completely impossible to ignore.

Patrick suddenly had some doubts as to why Aimee, with a face like that, would be so low-profile in the Reed family.

Even because of this face, she is already much more distinguished than the other three ladies of the Reed family.

It's not that the various gentry and aristocrats won't look at looks when selecting their daughters-in-law.

Aimee's face should be the object of competition for all the gentry and nobility.

However, as far as he knew, Aimee's situation with the Reed family was very difficult.

It can be said that she is a Cinderella in the true sense of the word, more miserable than being born among a poor but loving family.

Aimee finished her massage for the day, and when she tilted her head, she met Patrick's inquiring eyes.

Just now, she had noticed Patrick looking at herself.

She just didn't want to talk to him, so she forced herself to ignore the stares from him.

Now, meeting Patrick's gaze, Aimee tried to calm herself down and asked, "What's wrong? Why are you looking at me like that?"

Patrick also sensed how revealing his gaze had just been.

He looked away uncomfortably and said, "It's nothing, it's hard for you."

When Aimee heard him say that, she felt even more puzzled.

Having spent some time with Patrick, she knows that Patrick is definitely not an easy person to get along with.

Especially, he also holds the idea of getting a divorce as soon as possible, it will not get along well with her.

This was the first time she had ever seen Patrick soften his attitude.

This made Aimee very curious as to what was going on with him today.

Just as she was about to make a few flirtatious remarks, Aimee's cell phone rang.

When she heard the ringing, she knew it was Matilda calling.

Aimee said, "I'm going to take a phone call, you rest, it's good for recovery."

After saying that, Aimee also did not look at Patrick again, and left his room.

Patrick looked in the direction of Aimee's departure and his first thought was that the person on the other end of the phone might be a man.

As soon as the thought occurred, Patrick couldn't help but chuckle to himself.

What does he call this?

Playfulness or temper tantrums?

It can't be jealousy?

The more I thought about it, the more Patrick thought there might be something wrong with him.

He would actually, already, think of jealousy.

This is just so wrong for him.

Patrick quickly found himself a very reasonable reason, he must be bedridden for too long, in addition to family and friends, this is the most concerned about him an outsider, so his heart will unconsciously have a few points of dependence on her.

However, the more he thought about it, the more irritated Patrick became.

This kind of reason can not even convince himself, Patrick can only send himself two words: sick.

He closed his eyes in exasperation, ready to heed Aimee's words and let himself fall asleep.

However, as soon as he closed his eyes, Patrick unconsciously thought of the image of Aimee leaving in a hurry with her cell phone.

He became even more irritated, closed his eyes and held on for a long time, and finally, could not help but open his eyes.

But, that ink pupil bottom of the annoyance, or in manifestation, his mood at the moment, is really bad.

Aimee didn't know how Patrick's emotions were going up and down because of her relationship.

When she got back to the room, she put the phone through.

Matilda's voice came from the other end, "It's done, don't worry."

Aimee was relieved that, at last, she hadn't let her people get lost inside.

Matilda said, "You don't know how unethical those guys were, Kareem was beaten so badly, he was really hanging on for dear life, I'm afraid he'll have some kind of disability."

Aimee had already seen Kareem's condition, and in addition to the superficial injuries visible to the naked eye, she could see that Kareem's insides were also badly injured.

After thinking about it, Aimee said, "Send him to Innisrial, and I'll treat him myself."

Lasnain's doctor, she was still really unsure.

“Are you serious?” Matilda froze for a moment, having some doubts as to how Aimee had decided to take matters into her own hands.

“Well, send it over.” Aimee said.

“In fact, I have contacted the people of the Institute, they will give Kareem treatment, you personally taught the people, the ability is not bad.” Matilda said.

Sending Kareem over now, she was still worried that it would cause Aimee a big problem.

Aimee understood what she was thinking, but said, “He’s in this condition because of me, and it’s only right that I treat him.”

Matilda couldn’t resist Aimee, and knew that what she had decided would not be changed.

So, she said, “Okay, I’ll go and arrange it.”

Read Healing my disabled husband novel chapter 49 online free

Reed family.

Jaylah was reading the script in his room when he got a call from Tia.

“Jaylah , I just received good news, I think, your time is coming.” Tia said.

Jaylah has some impatience every time he hears Tia say something like that.

She had heard this kind of talk for a long time, but other than this play she received, Jaylah didn’t feel that there was anything about herself that made her feel, as Tia said, that her time was coming.

When Tia saw that Jaylah was silent, she knew that she did not believe her words.

So she didn’t play games with Jaylah and said, “Didn’t we want to borrow Indesit Jewelry’s jewelry before but we were rejected

Jaylah was furious when he heard Tia mention Indesit Jewelry and interrupted her without waiting for Tia to continue, "Tia, what's wrong with you, I told you not to mention this brand to me, do you still think I'm not embarrassed enough."

Before she was to attend an event, she wanted to take advantage of Indesit Jewelry's fame to bake herself into an unattainable position, however, they used various methods to contact Indesit Jewelry's people, but they all got a reply that she was not curious enough and did not deserve to borrow their family's jewelry.

Even when she brought out the Reed family, Indesit Jewelry still didn't buy it.

They simply do not put the Reed family in their eyes, thinking that the Reed family is a small family, simply not enough to qualify them Indesit Jewelry to bend.

This matter, at that time in the entire Reed family are made very embarrassing.

Even after Mason learned of this situation, he even pulled his face down and asked for help from a nobleman he thought would be able to make Indesit Jewelry look good.

This is also a direct result, the nobleman and the Reed family from then on bad blood, even in business began to give the Reed family face.

Mason was nearly hospitalized at the time.

He blamed it all on Jaylah, believing that it was Jaylah's lack of curiosity that caused the Reeds to suffer such a humiliation.

It was also the first time that Jaylah was cursed by his own grandfather.

Therefore, even though Jaylah still has a great desire for Indesit Jewelry and considers Indesit Jewelry a status symbol, he really hates this jewelry brand from the bottom of his heart.

Now Tia is poking knives into her heart, so how can this be pleasant for her.

Tia saw that Jaylah was really annoyed, and there was some hesitation to continue talking to Jaylah or not.

However, she just hesitated for a moment and then said to Jaylah regardless: “Jaylah, listen to me first, this time, Indesit Jewelry intends to cooperate with the female celebrities in our circle to provide jewelry for a female celebrity at The Regal Award afterwards, and the news they gave out is that all female celebrities who can I think that we should try to get it.”

Jaylah frowned, not understanding how Indesit Jewelry had suddenly changed its ways, but it was indeed a very significant temptation for her.

To be able to wear Indesit Jewelry jewelry at The Regal Award, not only is the price of the whole thing increased, but more importantly, it is absolutely stunning.

When Tia saw that Jaylah didn't say anything, she continued: “Jaylah, you don't want to be outclassed at The Regal Award, do you? Especially since I heard that Rylee and her team are already on the move and are almost certain to win this partnership with Indesit Jewelry. We can't let her get in the way.”

When Rylee Huff was mentioned, Jaylah's face immediately darkened.

Yes, Jaylah is tolerant of whoever gets this opportunity to work with him.

But, Rylee, absolutely not.

This woman has been her nemesis since she was in school, and now she is a starlet that Globalhive Pictures has been promoting. Jaylah has missed out on several big female roles, all of which were stolen by this woman.

What's more, Jaylah's first humiliation in life came from this woman.

The man she's loved for so long, she doesn't know how she got carried away, ignoring her, the second daughter of the Read family, but falling head over heels for that bitch Rylee.

Jaylah will never allow himself to lose to Rylee.

She immediately said to Tia, “Go grab it for me, by any means necessary.”

Tia was relieved to hear Jaylah say so.

She said, “Jaylah , don't worry, this matter, I will definitely get it done for you.”

After hanging up the phone, Jaylah's face was still ugly as hell.

She doesn't understand what kind of madness Indesit Jewelry is going through to start working with the entertainment industry.

However, this is indeed an opportunity for her.

As long as she can take this collaboration down, then her status in the entertainment industry is greatly enhanced.

The most important point is that she once made Mason unhappy because of this matter, and she can also make Mason happy by taking this collaboration.

They, the Reed family, will also, as a result, go to the next level within the Innisrial gentry.

The more I thought about it, the more excited Jaylah became.

Finally, her face was no longer dark and sullen, but instead a touch of already triumphant joy.

When Mikayla Read came in, she saw that her sister was happy about something and asked suspiciously, "Jaylah, what's wrong with you? Suddenly so happy."

Hearing Mikayla's voice, Jaylah curbed the smile at the corners of his mouth, looked at her with displeasure and said, "Didn't I tell you to knock when you enter my room, what's wrong with you."

Mikayla, undeterred by Jaylah's displeasure, sat down on Jaylah's bed, took her pillow, crossed her legs, and said, "Jaylah, you're not going to argue with me, so why be so mean?"

Jaylah was helpless, but didn't really get angry with her.

She asked, "Go ahead, what do you want from me?"

Their family, Mikayla, has never had anything to do with anything, and is only interested in doing math in her room.

She couldn't even understand what was so great about math problems.

How does she like to do problems so much.

Mikayla said, "Here's the thing, I heard that you and August are filming a movie, can you get an autographed photo of him for me?"

Jaylah looked at Mikayla with dismay at his words.

She stared at her for a long time before asking, "You actually still follow stars?"

Read Healing my disabled husband novel chapter 50 online free

Mikayla was very unhappy with Jaylah's attitude.

She flattened her mouth and said, "What's so strange about me following stars, I'm not a nerd, I can't like a little brother yet."

"I just think, it's so surprising, don't you never come to see us as stars?" Jaylah said.

"Then you don't wrong me like that, I still have a good view of you as a star." Mikayla said.

Jaylah, speechless, raised his hand and hit Mikayla on the head and said, "You really are, for an autographed photo, you dare to say anything."

"So are you going to help me or not? I've been begging you for one thing my whole life." Mikayla looked at Jaylah pitifully, with an expression that she would cry her eyes out if she didn't get it for herself.

Jaylah was still shocked, and was increasingly unable to understand this Mikayla.

This is clearly a rational to the mathematical head, in any matter above, there is no emotion, as if, no matter how the outside changes, can not affect her in the slightest.

Only now, at this moment, does Jaylah feel deeply that this is still a little girl.

Jaylah immediately said: "Help help help, my family Mikayla for the first time to ask me to do things, I am a sister, naturally to Mikayla to do a good job."

Mikayla was immediately happy when she received a satisfactory answer.

Only, the next second, she had jumped off Jaylah's bed, resumed her usual calm and self-possessed demeanor, and said to Jaylah, "Then I'll leave you alone, goodbye."

With that, Mikayla left Jaylah's room without a backward glance.

Jaylah is simply going to be angry, what a little girl, begging her when it is naive and cute, kissing and shouting Jaylah .

Once the purpose is achieved, it becomes this way now, really, over the river to tear down the bridge, not a little bit of love.

Only, Jaylah suddenly thought of something and frowned in annoyance.

She also does not know how it happened, after the crew started, except for the first scene of the opening, shot with her and August's.

After that, it was all about shooting her scenes with other people.

It is obvious that she has the most scenes with August, but as a result, August never came to the set.

She really didn't know how Francis had arranged it.

However, Jaylah did not dare to question Francis, who had been quite critical of her these past few days because of her repeated NGs.

Jaylah is sure that if she really dares to touch the bad luck, Francis will definitely take care of her.

She has long heard of Francis' bad temper, although, she is Francis handpicked to play the female lead, but his attitude towards himself, is not at all handpicked her model.

Jaylah can be said to have suffered a lot of anger during this time inside the crew.

However, she could not say anything, but could only suffer.

The good thing is, there are no scenes for her today or tomorrow, so she can come back to take a break and catch her breath.

*

Matilda drove Kareem to Innisrial when Aimee was in surgery.

She had arranged accommodation for Kareem in advance and asked Matilda to take the people there directly.

When Aimee got off work and went to the villa, she was dumbfounded.

She only asked Matilda to send Kareem here, she didn't ask her to bring the people from the institute with her.

At this moment, looking at three people from the Institute just standing straight in front of her, Aimee simply cried and laughed.

She spoke in a cold voice, "How dare you leave the institute without my instructions?" "I think you don't want to do it."

Andy Pugh immediately jumped over and hugged Aimee's thighs, crying, "Teacher, I'm your beloved the Tenth disciples, you can't leave me alone."

Kelvin Prince and Ashton Torres saw Andy this look, are unable to help but hang a few black lines in front of the forehead.

This dead child, deadly to follow, even, but also directly sneaked on the plane, they also arrived at Innisrial after, only to find Andy came.

Aimee took a few steps back and pulled her leg out from under Andy's arm.

She said, "You should be thankful that you are still my the Tenth disciples."

Otherwise, she would have already kicked him out of the Institute.

Andy immediately wimped out, not daring to squeal.

Although he was the Tenth disciples, he was also the one who had the least contact with Aimee.

He had already known about this teacher's ability from various projects in the Institute and from word of mouth from the people in the Institute.

However, he is not at all familiar with the nature of this teacher.

The reason why he can be so cute and playful with Aimee is that all along, Aimee has given him the illusion that his teacher is a beautiful and cute girl with a soft and cute nature.

However, at this moment, he is being taught a hard lesson by his own teacher.

Although it was just a sentence, but also let him deeply appreciate the indifference from the teacher.

Andy stepped aside, not daring to spout any more nonsense.

When Ashton and Kelvin saw him like this, they said, "I told you not to follow me, but you didn't listen, and now you've made your teacher angry."

Andy is simply furious at the two people adding fuel to the fire, however, he can't say or do anything.

Even a hard stare at these two bad guys was not possible.

Because, he profoundly recognizes a reality.

He really is the lowest combat power among all the people present.

Aimee is raising her eyes towards the two, smiling expression, also called the two hearts jumped, unconsciously thumped.

She said, "I don't seem to have asked you two to come over either, what are you two doing here?"

"It's just to help you." Kelvin said immediately.

Aimee snorted and said, "What can you do for me when the project report hasn't even been given to me yet?"

Kelvin only felt an arrow in his heart and a pain in his mouth at Aimee's undisguised dislike.

Andy then saw Kelvin also retreat to his side, completely a look of afraid to say more.

He didn't hold back a laugh.

Sure enough, his teacher is the most handsome.

Even if the patriarch of the Institute comes, his teacher can still dislike it if he wants.

Ashton touched his nose and said, "Aimee , you have to go to work and take care of Master Patrick, we also came over to help you look after Kareem , also so you don't get too distracted."

Aimee glanced at him, and while Andy and Kelvin were waiting to see how Ashton would be disliked, Aimee smiled and said, "That's fine, I'll leave it to you to take care of Kareem."

Andy and Kelvin glared at Ashton in unison and cursed him in their hearts.

What a shady little man, what a good boy in front of Aimee.