Chapter 2111: Disciple Missing 4

Gu Chaoyan possessed the extraordinary power of inheritance within her, along with a set of cultivation techniques that granted her astonishing speed. Ordinary people couldn't perceive her movements clearly, enabling her to strike with swift precision.

As the man attempted to speak, Gu Chaoyan swiftly slapped him, catching him off guard. Repeatedly, she struck him until the leader of the Moon Sect found himself with a stinging slap on his face.

The members of the Xuan Yue Sect were still unaware of what was happening, while the delighted members of the Wushang Sect observed the scene with glee. Gu Chaoyan's efficiency in handling the situation impressed them, despite not knowing her affiliation.

The man's face became unrecognizable after the relentless slapping.

"What are you all waiting for? Stand there and watch me get beaten!" he yelled in frustration.

Finally, the people from the Profound Moon Sect grasped the situation and understood why they hadn't heard the passcode. Gu Chaoyan had prevented the man from issuing any orders by repeatedly slapping him before he could speak, leaving him unable to utter a sound and thereby foiling their plans.

If the members of the Profound Moon Sect attempted to make a move, the disciples from the Supreme Sect swiftly thwarted their efforts, resulting in an inevitable clash between the two sides.

During the heated battle, Gu Chaoyan demonstrated her proficiency in a remarkable set of palm techniques. As the fight unfolded, anyone from the Moon Sect who dared to approach her found themselves swiftly defeated by her skilled palms.

An hour had passed, and contrary to expectations, the Moon Sect found themselves not only unable to gain the upper hand but also enduring a series of humiliating slaps from Gu Chaoyan. Clearly, they were at a disadvantage.

On the other hand, the disciples of the Supreme Sect were pleased with how the battle was unfolding, finding confidence in their progress. Meanwhile, the members of the Moon Sect wore grim expressions as the tide turned against them.

Two hours later, the defeated members of the Moon Sect realized that if they continued to endure such humiliation, they would only be further bullied.

Thus, they made the decision to withdraw, promptly retreating from the scene.

In their victory, the disciples of the Supreme Sect were eager to give the Moon Sect a taste of being chased, but Gu Chaoyan opted not to pursue them, leading the Supreme Sect disciples to halt their pursuit.

“Thank you so much, Senior Sister. You saw how humiliating the Moon Sect disciples were when they left. Your straightforwardness was impressive!” the grateful disciples of the Supreme Sect expressed their gratitude to Gu Chaoyan. Yi Lu also conveyed his sincere thanks, “Thank you, Senior Sister.”

Gu Chaoyan felt a bit embarrassed and clarified, “I really can’t accept being called Senior Sister. I am still an outer sect disciple, not officially a disciple of the Supreme Sect.”

However, She not being dishonest.

“Even if you are not an inner sect disciple, we should still call you Senior Sister. Senior Sister, you have no idea how straightforward you were just now. Your palm technique never failed. You hit those pig heads so hard that they couldn’t even recognize themselves. They couldn’t dodge it at all, hahahaha...” He expressed his genuine admiration for his Senior Sister.

In truth, their strength was comparable to that of the Moon Sect members. Yet, Gu Chaoyan would occasionally slap them, sparing none of them as she looked at their faces.

Yi Lu also gazed at her with admiration.

“Alright, let’s not be too straightforward here. You might have made enemies with the Moon Sect today,” he warned jokingly..

Chapter 2112 - Anyone Else?

“We don’t know if it is a blessing or a curse.”

“Moon Sect has never held any grudge against us. However, after what unfolded today, it seems that conflicts with them might arise. I can’t help but wonder if there are potential hidden dangers that lie ahead,” Lv Zhengyang cautiously voiced his concerns.

Clearly, she was still greatly displeased by the events of the day.

Undoubtedly, maintaining harmony between sects was of utmost importance.

The disciples, who were previously in high spirits, now wore complex expressions on their faces.

Especially Yi Green, who had been so elated, now found himself deeply annoyed and blaming himself.

Gu Chaoyan furrowed her brows thoughtfully.

Unable to contain herself, she interjected, “Senior Brother Zhengyang, I respectfully disagree. What transpired today was undeniably Moon Sect’s fault. They instigated the conflict by bullying our female disciples first. Our Supreme Sect merely sought justice for ourselves. In fact, our Supreme Sect is the victim in this situation. How can we possibly see ourselves as in the wrong when we stood up for what was right? If Senior Brother Zhengyang insists otherwise, what assurance do we have that they won’t continue to bully our female disciples in the future, leaving us no choice but to defend ourselves again?”

“Even if they choose not to take a stand and allow the female disciples of Supreme Sect to be casually and indifferently bullied, over time, this may lead other sects to perceive our female disciples as easy targets. If such behavior goes unchecked, it sets a precedent where both our female disciples and Supreme Sect itself could be subject to further mistreatment.”

“Supreme Sect is not a super sect, but they are not easily bullied.”

“You don’t need to be afraid of trouble, nor should we let others blame us for everything, ” Gu Chaoyan asserted firmly, displaying her disapproval of Lv Zhengyang’s stance.

The implications of his words today were concerning. He seemed to be deflecting all potential conflicts between Moon Sect and Supreme Sect onto these disciples, even targeting Yi Qing.

Yi Lu had been the one who suffered from the bullying, and Gu Chaoyan couldn’t fathom the immense pressure Yi Qing might face if burdened with such responsibility.

As a woman, Gu Chaoyan felt a strong determination to support Yi Lu.

The rest of the disciples of Supreme Sect readily agreed with Gu Chaoyan’s statement, finding it logical and just.

Why did Senior Brother Zhengyang make it seem like they were in the wrong?

Senior Sister was indeed speaking the truth.

Lv Zhengyang’s expression darkened as he found himself being refuted once again.

As the first disciple to join the sect, Lv Zhengyang held considerable influence, and most people tended to listen to him.

However, his mood soured when he faced opposition. The rest of the disciples, on the other hand, aligned with Gu Chaoyan’s perspective and grew increasingly displeased with him, leaving him unsure of how to respond.

“You are right, Junior Sister,” Di Hongyun concurred.

“Indeed, Zhengyang has the sect’s best interests in mind. Junior Sister is correct. We are all part of the same sect, so there’s no need for further arguments. Now that we’ve located him, let’s return to the sect and report the mission. Are the two teams on the mission present here? It’s essential to ensure their safety. Since we have already found the Green Sun Grass, let's head back," Fu Xinde suggested.

They exchanged a look between themselves

Two teams?

There were no two teams.

"We are just one team, and we are going to complete the mission of the Green Sun Grass together. The other team is not with us." The leader of the team said.

"What? You are from the same team?" Di Hongyun asked in shock..

Chapter 2113 - What Is This?

In other words, there was one more team missing.

As they made their way, they noticed the absence of any other team.

"Did you see that team?" Di Hongyun asked worriedly. If there was indeed one more team, then their mission would remain incomplete. It was crucial to locate the missing team.

"They set off after us, and we never caught a glimpse of them on our journey here. We took the nearest road," explained the disciple leading the team.

"Originally, after we had a conflict with the people from the Moon Sect, our plan was to flee without any intention of engaging in a fight. Our objective was to stall for time and regroup with the other team of disciples. However, we ran all the way and encountered no one along the route."

They had not thought about this before because of the people from the Moon Sect.

Now that she thought about it..

Something was wrong.

According to his estimation, they should be able to wait until the last team of disciples arrived.

“Senior Brothers, you didn’t see them?” The disciple asked.

Di Hongyun shook his head. “No, I only saw you.”

“Let’s take a look ahead.” Gu Chaoyan said seriously, “You can go back to the sect first.

“Yes”

The disciples on the mission headed towards the sect.

But Gu Chaoyan and the others continued to walk forward.

They were almost at the cliff, but the disciples were nowhere to be seen.

Gu Chaoyan frowned slightly.

She had a bad feeling about this.

She felt that something was wrong, but she had no idea what was going on.

“At the beginning, Longdi Mountain remained uninhabited due to the presence of a formidable Paragon and Martial Immortal level demonic beast,” Gu Chaoyan recounted. “But now that the demonic beast is dead, everyone is rushing to Longdi Mountain, isn’t that right?” she inquired.

“Indeed,” Di Hongyun confirmed.

“But do we know which sect first discovered the monster’s demise? And what happened to its body and monster core?” Gu Chaoyan further inquired.

“I don’t know,” Di Hongyun replied absentmindedly. As he uttered the response, even he became perplexed. The news had spread about the beast’s demise, yet no one had come across its lifeless body or monster core. Furthermore, no one seemed to have a clear description of what the monster looked like.

Gu Chaoyan’s question had caught them off guard, and they hadn’t considered these aspects before.

“Junior Sister, are you suggesting that the demonic beast might not actually be dead? And that it might have attacked and devoured our disciples?” Di Hongyun asked with a frightened expression, as if fearing that they could be the beast’s next prey.

“Maybe.” Gu Chaoyan said.

Di Hongyun was just joking, but he got really scared hearing what Gu Chaoyan said.

“Really?” Di Hongyun’s voice was shivering.

Gu Chaoyan took out the bottles and gave one to each of them.

It was the same type of elixir that could conceal a person’s spiritual energy and breath.

“Let’s proceed,” Gu Chaoyan said after finishing her meal and leading the way towards the cliff.

Although she suspected that she might not find the answers she sought here, the unmistakable scent of blood filled the air just moments ago. It seemed that whatever she was looking for lay directly ahead, beneath the cliff.

The involvement of the Grand Unity Sect crossed her mind, but she couldn’t be certain of the situation that awaited her. Thus, she refrained from rushing in recklessly.

They cautiously approached a spot where someone could have concealed themselves.

As they witnessed the scene unfolding before them, Di Hongyun's eyes nearly bulged out in astonishment..

Chapter 2114 - What Is This?

That was possible.

It was not just possible.

And the scene in front of them was even more frightening.

“What in the world is this abomination?” Di Hongyun's voice trembled, and his legs shook uncontrollably. “Let's retreat to the sect immediately. This is far too perilous. I won't risk being devoured by such a monstrous creature.”

These were not mere demonic beasts.

They were something far more repulsive and horrifying than anything they had encountered before.

It was beyond being just a thing!

This was a grotesque figure, a walking mass of human flesh devoid of human skin, covered in blood, and presenting a horrifying sight.

What on earth could this thing be?

It was horrifying enough to see blood dripping from its body occasionally, but witnessing it feast on a disciple of the Grand Unity Sect, consuming them piece by piece, was a nightmarish sight.

The way they ate was so disgusting, even more disgusting than demonic beasts.

At the very least, the demonic beasts were all eaten up.

How many bites did he have to eat?

Di Hongyun was so disgusted. He did not want to be eaten up like this.

It would be better if she started from the beginning, but if she started from the feet and watched herself being eaten, that would be so painful.

He could not be caught.

“I am leaving. I don’t want to be eaten.” Di Hongyun said.

“They have been eaten.” Gu Chaoyan said.

“Who’s there?” Di Hongyun inquired, only to spot the distinctive attire of the Supreme Sect’s disciples in the corner.

This monster was unnervingly selective; it would strip the clothes off its victims before devouring them.

Di Hongyun’s fear escalated even further.

No wonder the missing disciples couldn’t be found anywhere.

“We must leave!” Di Hongyun exclaimed, his survival instincts kicking in.

“We can’t just leave,” Gu Chaoyan asserted firmly. She knew she had to confront this creature; otherwise, it would wreak havoc on the Shenyou Continent. With so many lives at stake, she couldn’t simply abandon them to their fate.

Having said this,

Gu Chaoyan suddenly thought of something.

They were not a match for this monster.

They were lucky that they were not discovered here, but if they were, they would be in trouble.

Therefore...

They found themselves caught in a dilemma – they couldn't leave, yet they had to find a way to leave.

"Listen," Gu Chaoyan suggested, "You should return to the sect and inform the Elders about this situation. I'll stay here and track the creature. If anything goes wrong, I'll send out a distress signal, and the Elders can come to my aid."

"No, Junior Sister, it's far too perilous for you to be alone here," Di Hongyun objected, shaking his head. "I'll stay by your side and face this danger together."

"I don't want it." Gu Chaoyan said disdainfully.

He was too timid.

Those who were timid and scared would only cause trouble if they stayed here.

She could have run away if she ran into any trouble. But she had no idea what to do with this burden.

"I will stay here. Hongyun, you go back to the sect with Zhengyang." Fu Xinde volunteered.

Gu Chaoyan was about to say something.

Fu Xinde waved his hands, indicating that they could not leave Junior Sister here alone.

So Gu Chaoyan did not turn them down.

Di Hongyun and Lv Zhengyang went home.

The two of them continued to stay here.

Gu Chaoyan withdrew her look and stopped watching the monster eating people.

That was a very complicated scene.

But for the sound, she would have puked already.

That was so disgusting.

Fu Xinde chuckled seeing her like this.

Gu Chaoyan looked up.

She looked at Fu Xinde as if he were a monster..

Chapter 2115 - Undead Race 2

“Also, after they recovered their vitality, they still don’t have human skin. They can only survive with their flesh and blood.

But they were very powerful.

And they would not die.

“They are the undead, forever deprived of the ability to die. Long ago, the witches employed powerful witchcraft to transform them into these lifeless bodies. However, against all odds, they have been resurrected,” explained Elder Qing as he spoke about the mysterious undead.

“Presently, the major sects remain oblivious to the existence of the Undead race. This is the first encounter they’ve had with them, and it is cause for concern,” Elder Qing remarked with worry.

Despite their resurrection, it appeared that the Undead race had not yet regained their full cultivation power. Consequently, they survived by consuming Green Sun Grass and even resorted to feeding on humans.

The undead tribe and the witches were inseparable, bound by an unbreakable bond. A century ago, they had no intention of becoming enemies with the human race.

Before transforming into the Undead Race, they were once humans themselves —highly intelligent beings who knew well that the four-sided trees were detrimental to their kind.

However....

In such a terrible situation, they would not care about their own interests.

The undead tribe seemed to be in a worse situation than they had expected.

Otherwise he would have eaten the Green Sun Grass.

Elder Qing thought of what happened before.

There was one demon beast at Longdi Mountain, but because the demon beast died, no one picked the Green Sun Grass.

It was very likely that there were no so-called demon beasts at all.

From the beginning to the end, it was the Undead Race who was here.

And the Green Sun Grass was evidently not satisfied with it, so it manipulated the human race to come here.

Consequently, they would devour the humans who came to obtain the Green Sun Grass in order to recover their cultivation.

As Elder Qing sorted out these thoughts, he felt goosebumps all over.

“This is deeply connected to the Undead Race, and it’s of utmost importance.

We can’t handle it on our own. The Undead Race is vast, and even our Supreme Sect might not be able to handle them alone. Let’s return to the sect first and discuss how to tackle this issue with our fellow sect members,” Elder Qing soon devised a plan.

What Elder Qing meant was different from what Gu Chaoyan had planned.

But it was a big deal.

Gu Chaoyan decided to follow Elder Qing’s suggestion.

They were going back to the sect.

So they left promptly, making sure not to alert the Undead Race.

Back at the sect, Elder Lin had planned to take Gu Chaoyan directly to the Weapon Refining Sect. However, Gu Chaoyan was contemplating how to avoid Elder Lin when Elder Qing intervened and took Elder Lin away.

Gu Chaoyan let out a sigh of relief.

Good that they were dragged away.

The trip to the Weapon Refining Sect would take up a lot of her time.

The mission of the sect had delayed his time and her cultivation.

Back in the room...

She took out the Spirit Stones and started to absorb the spirit stones.

Halfway through the absorption..

There was another knock on the door.

Gu Chaoyan looked helpless.

As she opened the door and was about to shout, a disciple from the Beastmaster Sect intercepted her, saying, "Elder Qing mentioned that you don't have to complete the third mission. You have successfully passed the test and are now eligible to join the sect. You can proceed to the sect immediately." The disciple of the Beastmaster Sect conveyed the message politely.

In the past, such luck would have been rare. However, Gu Chaoyan not only defeated the mutated beast but also rescued the disciples of the Supreme Sect. They were deeply impressed by her actions, leading the inner sect disciples to wholeheartedly accept her.

Joining the Beastmaster Sect?

Chapter 2116: Undead Race 1

He was still able to smile when faced with such a situation.

What was in front of them? It was just a humanoid thing, and it was eating people.

And they could run into danger at any moment, and Gu Chaoyan was sure that they were not a match for that monster.

Under such circumstances.

How could he smile like this?

She wondered what he was thinking.

Senior Brother Xinde was a very normal person. Why was he behaving so strangely?

Gu Chaoyan felt her scalp turning numb.

She felt that she was in the middle of two monsters.

So she decided not to read either of them.

Fu Xinde smiled even more happily.

That was all.

Despite appearing fearless, this junior sister of hers was actually deeply disgusted. Her bold demeanor didn't fool him, and he could see through her facade.

With knowing looks exchanged, the two of them remained in silence.

Di Hongyun and the others would need some time to return to the sect.

Fortunately, the monster that had devoured the disciples from Grand Unity Sect had retreated into the cave and hadn't emerged since. This brought a sense of relief to Gu Chaoyan.

If it was moving about, Gu Chaoyan had no idea what to do.

They waited here for one whole day before the Elder of the Supreme Sect came.

Two elders from Supreme Sect were here.

One was Elder Lin from the Weapon Refining Sect, whom Gu Chaoyan was familiar with, and the other was Elder Qing from the Beastmaster Sect.

Typically, the Beastmaster Sect would handle matters like this, which explained why Elder Lin was present. However, Elder Lin was known for his role in the Weapon Refining Sect, so Gu Chaoyan couldn't fathom why he had come here.

However....

They were hiding behind the stones, just like Gu Chaoyan and Fu Xinde.

However....

They did not need Gu Chaoyan's elixirs to conceal their spiritual energy and breath.

With their cultivation, she could conceal their spiritual power and breath.

But...

It was so strange that the Elders of the sect were all gathered here.

Elder Lin did not think so, but Elder Qing looked very embarrassed.

"Chaoyan, we failed to forge the swords according to your method. I don't know why." Elder Lin asked as he settled down.

Gu Chaoyan felt embarrassed and helpless – this Elder Lin...

What was going on?

He was still holding the sword of the Weapon Refining Sect when he was going to face the monster.

Couldn't he just think about the real thing?

Sure enough...

Before Gu Chaoyan answered, Elder Qing glared at him.

Elder Lin fell silent.

However....

He decided to take Gu Chaoyan back to the Weapon Refining Sect.

It was the same anyway.

It was fine if she did not answer.

With that in mind, Elder Lin fell silent.

As they were talking, the monster came out and ate the Green Sun Grass outside.

They had been watching the monster eating grass, and he did not return until one hour later.

They could finally let out a sigh of relief.

Elder Qing sighed deeply.

"They are from the Undead Race." Elder Qing said seriously.

Gu Chaoyan looked at the Elder in confusion. According to what she knew,

Only the witches, humans, and demons existed.

There was still the Undead Race.

“What was that?”

“The Undead Race?”

“Yes, the Undead Race. In the beginning, they were skinned by the witches and thrown into the Corpse Mound. But for some reason, they absorbed something and came back to life..

Chapter 2117: Entering the Beastmaster Sect

Gu Chaoyan had not expected this to be such good news. It was indeed very encouraging.

As per her initial plan, she would have needed to spend at least half a month cultivating before taking on missions. However, by going directly to the Beastmaster Sect, she could save a significant amount of time.

A smile spread across Gu Chaoyan’s face as she responded, “I will do that now.”

“Also, pack your things. The inner sect disciples of the Beastmaster Sect have a small yard for them to live in,” the Senior Brother of the Beastmaster Sect advised.

Gu Chaoyan was not surprised by the suggestion. She cradled the Dragonman in her arms and kept all her other belongings in her spatial storage. It was her habit to keep them safe inside the storage, rather than leaving them outside.

So they could leave directly.

The disciples of the Beast-controlling Sect were surprised, but they refrained from asking anything and decided to accompany Gu Chaoyan on her journey.

As they were on their way, they unexpectedly ran into Elder Lin. Gu Chaoyan had initially planned to visit the Beastmaster Sect, but due to her current busy schedule, she abandoned the idea and displayed a hint of disappointment.

Their destination was the Beastmaster Sect, where they encountered Elder Qing. Gu Chaoyan greeted Elder Qing warmly, and the elder expressed great satisfaction with her. Ever since she had discovered the Undead Race, Gu Chaoyan had been excelling remarkably, even surpassing some of the senior disciples of the Beastmaster Sect.

The only regret was that her Spiritual Roots were too poor.

Elder Qing even wanted to take her in as a disciple directly. He recognized her potential and was impressed by her abilities.

She might be smarter than disciples with better spiritual roots, or even better than some of them. However, as she progressed in her cultivation, she would likely face the limitation of insufficient spiritual roots, causing her progress to stagnate. It highlighted the pros and cons of having different types of spiritual roots.

Despite feeling a bit regretful about this, Elder Qing decided not to dwell on it and refrained from saying anything further.

With a smile, he complimented her, “You have completed your mission excellently. Originally, you were supposed to undertake three missions, but you found out about the Undead Race, which is a meritorious service, so you are exempted from your third mission. Cultivate well in the Beastmaster Sect.”

Gu Chaoyan nodded.

That was what she was going to do.

Elder Qing hesitated for a moment, but eventually decided against speaking up.

He instructed her to leave first.

Following Elder Qing's advice, Gu Chaoyan bid farewell to the Beastmaster Sect and returned to her own place.

As an inner sect disciple, she experienced a significant upgrade in treatment compared to the outer sect disciples. While the outer sect disciples shared one room among three or four people, the inner sect disciples were granted their own separate houses with dedicated attendants serving them in the yard.

They were either serving them, cleaning up the house, or accompanying them to cultivate.

There was one in Gu Chaoyan's room.

She did not have many requirements for serving. He just needed to do what he was supposed to do.

She said, "Don't come and disturb us."

Gu Chaoyan went into the room and started to cultivate.

She took out the remaining Spirit Stones and started to cultivate.

She started to cultivate.

Half a month passed.

Things went well. Just as she had expected, he reached the level of Martial God and was now at the first level of the Martial God Realm.

However....

Gu Chaoyan was content with her new living arrangements.

After spending some time in her room, she decided to step out for some fresh air.

As she stepped into the yard, she noticed the diligent servants who were busy cleaning the area. One particular servant caught her attention, and she was pleased with his performance. Earlier, she had instructed him not to disturb her, and he was following her request while diligently attending to his own tasks.

Feeling appreciative of the harmony they shared, Gu Chaoyan made up her mind to visit the Trading Pavilion and explore potential items of interest.

However, just as she was about to leave, she noticed something unusual about the servant. His face was covered in wounds.

Surprised and concerned, she approached him to get a closer look, wondering what had happened to the servant..

Chapter 2118 - Reason 1

She had first encountered this servant when she arrived at the yard half a month ago. Back then, he appeared immaculate, maintaining a neat and gentle demeanor while dutifully carrying out her instructions. With his polite manners, it was evident that he was a well-mannered individual. Now, as she saw him for the second time, she couldn't help but notice the numerous wounds marring his otherwise clean and innocent face.

Gu Chaoyan was not one to easily tolerate disturbances, yet she couldn't simply disregard the welfare of the servants responsible for her well-being. Thus, she felt compelled to understand the reason behind the injuries he bore.

Approaching him, Gu Chaoyan requested his presence. The servant, however, tried to conceal his face, hesitating to approach her. As she caught sight of the wounds on his face, she sensed his reluctance. It wasn't due to guilt but rather a reluctance to burden her with his troubles.

When Gu Chaoyan was not leaving, he had no choice but come to the door.

“Miss Chaoyan.”

The sect was different from the outside world.

Even if they had servants serving them, they would not be addressed as Young

Master and Lady.

They would just be calling the visitor either Lady and Young Master.

That was the modesty of the sect.

“Where did the wound come from?” Gu Chaoyan asked.

“It is fine, just an accident.” The servant lowered his head and said bashfully.

“You got injured by accident? Someone must have hit you. Did you cause the trouble, or someone else did?” Gu Chaoyan sounded cold and interrogative.

Hearing that, the servant got very anxious.

He was not the cause of the wound on his face. If the girl misunderstood and dropped him, he would be doomed.

He did not want the girl to worry about him, but he did not want her to misunderstand him.

She explained. “I didn’t cause you any trouble.”

“Lady, I am a servant, and I won’t cause you any trouble. I just ran into some trouble, and maybe some disciples from other sects misunderstood me. That is why I am like this. It is not a big deal, don’t worry, you just need to cultivate well.” The servant explained nervously.

From the moment the girl walked into the yard, she was told not to be disturbed.

The servant was really worried that the girl would be disturbed.

“Misunderstanding?” Gu Chaoyan frowned.

“A few disciples of the Medicine Faction were outside the yard a couple of days ago, and I just came home. I didn’t touch them, but they said that I touched them and dirtied their clothes, so I taught them a lesson. Nothing else. Maybe I was careless, and I will stay away from them in the future.” The attendant said.

Gu Chaoyan frowned even deeper.

The servant was young, and he did not seem to be lying.

If that was the case, then the disciples of the Medicine Faction must have come to cause trouble!

Gu Chaoyan did not care if they were causing trouble elsewhere, but when they were here, she was going to reason with them.

“Who is it? I am not accusing you, but even if I am not accusing you, you should not have hit my man like this. Take me there; I am going to ask what is going on,” Gu Chaoyan said protectively.

Seeing that Gu Chaoyan was about to offer the help...

Startled, he pulled her back. “Girl, no need.”

“He is just a little injured, that is all.”

“I can take care of him, I am not going to disturb your cultivation,” the servant said worriedly.

Gu Chaoyan was about to say something..

Chapter 2119: Reason 2

A maid arrived with a bundle of clothes and courteously greeted Gu Chaoyan first.

She spoke with urgency, “Lady, you’ve just joined the inner sect, and if you end up in a conflict with the disciples of the Medicine Sect because of us, it won’t bode well for you. Besides...”

Her voice trailed off, revealing a tinge of sadness. “We are mere servants. In this sect, the disciples who practice cultivation hold the highest status. Moreover, those from the Medicine Sect have a significant advantage. If they encounter any issues with us, reason might not prevail. The sect will likely side with them. As servants, the chances for advancement are extremely rare. We are considered insignificant within the sect.”

“Don’t sacrifice your future for us,” An Ge interjected, trying to persuade her. She and Feihuai had devoted years to serving the sect.

Though encounters like this were infrequent, they still occurred from time to time. They had learned to endure it, understanding that even if some disciples chose to vent their frustration on them, they wouldn’t be subjected to continuous mistreatment.

They could sense it.

The girl was determined to seek justice on their behalf, and that was precisely why An Ge and Feihuai didn’t want to burden her with these matters.

An Ge and Feihuai exchanged a knowing glance, understanding each other’s thoughts.

They had a brief exchange of words.

Gu Chaoyan could almost grasp their intended message.

The Supreme Sect prioritized cultivation, similar to how dynasties and family clans operated, with clear divisions among different classes.

For instance, there existed a substantial disparity between inner sect disciples and outer sect disciples, and their levels of cultivation varied as well.

Having never interacted with maids from the Supreme Sect before, Gu Chaoyan lacked knowledge of their situation. However, the current circumstances enlightened her, providing a better understanding of the situation at hand.

They held no significant position within the sect.

Unfortunately, they often fell victim to the mistreatment from some of the sect's disciples.

However, this situation clashed with Gu Chaoyan's principles.

Regardless of their status as maids or servants, they were under her care, and she could not stand by while they suffered from bullying.

Her frustration grew, and she directed her anger towards those who dared to mistreat her people.

"What is the purpose of cultivation? It is to protect the people and things you hold dear. If I can't even shield you from such injustice, then what good is my cultivation?" Gu Chaoyan's voice turned icy, "Just let me know who the culprits are, and I will handle the matter. No one should dare to bully you under my watch!"

"Girl, please reconsider," An Ge pleaded, concerned that Gu Chaoyan might act impulsively.

Feeling helpless, Gu Chaoyan understood the maid's worries, yet she was far from thoughtless.

"Don't worry, just let me know who they are. I have my ways to handle this," Gu

Chaoyan assured earnestly.

An Ge and Feihuai were at a loss, unsure of what to do.

What did she mean by that?

After all, Gu Chaoyan had only recently joined the sect, and they couldn't fathom what she could do in this situation.

“It’s Wu Yuze and Fei Zizhen from the Medicine Sect. They are seasoned disciples in the Medicine Sect and have a reputation for being overbearing. If you wish to avoid any confrontation, it might be best not to provoke them, ” Feihuai chimed in.

Gu Chaoyan nodded slightly.

“I am going out for a while.” Gu Chaoyan said to them and left..

Chapter 2120: Reason 3

Only An Ge and Feihuai remained, gazing at the spot where Gu Chaoyan had disappeared. They exchanged a meaningful glance, still processing what had just unfolded before them.

Everything had happened so swiftly that they had no time to react.

Amidst her cultivation, the girl had expressed her determination to protect them, a gesture that deeply touched them. Throughout their time at the Supreme Sect, they had encountered a few inner sect disciples who they cared for, but Gu Chaoyan was the first to willingly extend help to them.

Though her demeanor seemed cold and unapproachable, she genuinely cared for their well-being.

An Ge and Feihuai couldn’t help but feel a mixture of surprise and admiration.

“Do you think this could cause her trouble or implicate her?” Feihuai expressed his concern.

An Ge replied firmly, “No, she won’t be implicated. I believe she knows what she’s doing.”

“The girl is incredibly kind,” Feihuai couldn’t help but remark, his eyes reflecting warmth, and the pain from the wound on his face seemed to fade away.

As servants, they were not at liberty to intervene further, so they proceeded to tidy up the room and patiently awaited Gu Chaoyan’s return.

Meanwhile, Gu Chaoyan didn't head directly to the Medicine Sect. Instead, she wandered around the Bounty Pavilion, drawing the curious gazes of onlookers. They wondered why she was at the Bounty Pavilion when she was already part of the Beastmaster Sect. Could she be embarking on a mission?

The idea of being on a mission with her excited some of them.

However, Gu Chaoyan soon left the area, leaving the spectators with their thoughts and speculation.

She did not see Fu Xinde here, which indicated that he was not present at the current location. It seemed that they needed to head directly to the Medicine

Sect to find him. If her memory served correctly, Fu Xinde was a disciple of the Medicine Sect, which would be beneficial since she required his help.

She felt determined to get justice for her people, who had been bullied by two disciples from the Medicine Sect. However, she understood the concerns expressed by An Ge and Feihuai, and she was willing to resort to using some clever tactics to achieve her goal.

Having friends like Fu Xinde was advantageous in situations like this, as she could rely on his assistance. She proceeded to the Medicine Sect and inquired about Fu Xinde's whereabouts. Gu Chaoyan, not being a disciple of the Medicine Sect, was still an inner sect disciple, and all the sects were generally open to inner sect disciples, which meant she could access the herb field of the sect as well.

At a gate not too far from where they were, they spotted Fu Xinde and the Medicine Sect members busy with some herb-related activities.

As Gu Chaoyan approached, she could see clearly that they were indeed fiddling with Green Sun Grass. The herb seemed to thrive on the half cliff where it was growing, but in the Medicine Sect's herb field, the situation was different—the leaves were wilting, and the plants looked unhealthy.

It dawned on her why Fu Xinde was not at the Bounty Pavilion; tending to the Green Sun Grass alone would be enough to keep him occupied. In her own 500-meter space, the Green Sun Grass was flourishing, and she anticipated being able to harvest them directly in a few days.

Seeing the withered Green Sun Grass in the Medicine Sect's field saddened Gu Chaoyan. She couldn't help but think that she should have collected more of the herb before.

"Green Sun Grass is a medicinal herb that prefers a windy and dry environment, which is why it thrives on the half cliff," Gu Chaoyan commented. "It gets constant exposure to wind and sunlight there, allowing it to grow so well. In this medicinal field, you've watered it too much and provided an abundance of spiritual energy, causing the Green Sun Grass to struggle."

"If you have your own method of planting, that's fine, but you should allow the Green Sun Grass to adapt gradually to the new environment, not force it to change abruptly like this," Gu Chaoyan couldn't help but express her concern..
