

Divorce Has Never Felt This Good

#Chapter 271 - Read Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 271

I Can't Tell You're Scared

Lowell didn't tell his thoughts point blank, but the message he was trying to give had been passed.No one was sure what had happened the night five years ago.

That night, both Rory and Becky were drugged, but they never found out who had done it.

They didn't even have a suspect in mind.

After that night, Rory became very protective of himself.He was so vigilant with strangers that they felt his desire to be left alone miles away from him.He never drank anything without making sure it wasn't drugged unless the drink was given by his close friends like Aiken and Keenan.

His parties with Aiken and other friends valued privacy a lot.

Usually, no strangers could approach them.

Last night, he was with his friends too.He was sure he had only taken one sip of the wine.

Wait! He had also drunk the juice handed by Denise.

Last night, while he was getting together with his friends, Denise and her friends happened to be there as well.

Denise came to him with a glass of juice, saying that she was playing truth or dare.She chose the latter and asked him to help her because the juice had extra ingredients and she didn't want to drink it.

Originally, Rory didn't want to help her.

But Denise was his sister, after all.

When she pleaded with him to help her, he finally conceded and took a sip of the juice.

The taste of the juice was terrible.He thought extra ingredients in the juice referred to other kinds of alcoholic drinks.

Never had he thought that it meant the juice was spiked.

Rory's face darkened as these thoughts rushed into his mind.

Unable to hold back, he dropped his phone, grabbed his car keys, and headed straight for his home.

It was around midnight, so very few cars were still on the road. It was easy for Rory to go as fast as he could without any fear of traffic. He stepped on the gas, and after about twenty minutes, he pulled up in front of the house.

Everyone was already fast asleep at this time.

The house was dead silent, but Rory didn't care. He barged in, turned on the lights and went straight to Denise's room on the fourth floor.

"Denise, come out now!"

Denise was already asleep, but Rory's cold voice was powerful enough to wake her up.

Still feeling sleepy, she got out of bed, opened the door and asked groggily, "Rory? What are you doing here at this time of the night?"

Rory grabbed her arm and pulled her away from the door.

"Did you drug me?"

As soon as she heard that, Denise became fully awake. A look of guilt flashed on her face, but when she saw the look on his face, her eyes filled with fear.

"What are you talking about, Rory?"

Even if it had been just for a second, Rory saw the look of guilt cross her face before she hid it.

As seconds passed and Rory kept staring at her, Denise felt like she was going to explode under his scrutiny.

She gulped and then looked at him hesitantly.

"Rory, please stop looking at me like that. You're scaring me."

Rory squinted at her and growled, "Oh, I'm scaring you? That's strange coming from you. Really strange! How can you be brave enough to drug me and still be scared?"

Denise had never seen this side of Rory. He was her brother, but she was scared of this new person she was seeing.

Not just that, but she had every reason to be scared, considering the awful things she had done.

A quiet conscience sleeps in thunder.

But she wasn't innocent. She had done something bad.

That made her unable to remain calm.

[HOT]Read novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 271

Novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good has been published to Chapter 271 with new, unexpected details. It can be said that the author Kesley Peht invested in the Divorce Has Never Felt This Good is too heartfelt. After reading Chapter 271, I left my sad, but gentle but very deep. Let's read now Chapter 271 and the next chapters of Divorce Has Never Felt This Good series at Good Novel Online now.

Becky Was Right

Denise was so scared that she couldn't move.

When she finally got some courage and tried to run to her room, Rory grabbed her wrist and pulled her back roughly. She struggled to get out of his grip, but it seemed that she was going to have to cut off her wrist to succeed.

From the look in his eyes, Denise was so sure that Rory was going to kill her any time soon.

Seeing that she couldn't get out of his grip, she cried out, "I'm your sister! Why are you treating me this way?"

Denise's loud cries woke Jenifer and Elmore up.

They rushed out of their bedrooms and followed the noise.

"What's going on? Rory, what on earth are you doing to your sister?"

When Jenifer came close enough, Denise tried to hide behind her and use her as a shield. She thought Jenifer's presence was going to save her, but she was proved wrong when Rory jerked her back.

Rory pulled Denise so hard that it sprained her wrist.

"Ah! That hurts!" she yelled in pain.

Rory scoffed and said, "Oh, it hurts? I'm glad we're on the same page! I'd like to know what you were thinking when you drugged me and Becky."

Jenifer's face paled when she heard this.

"Rory, what are you talking about? Why would Denise drug you?"

"I didn't! It wasn't me!"

With Rory a little distracted by Jenifer's words, Denise managed to hide behind their mother.

Denise became bolder with Jenifer around. She held out her hand and showed Jenifer.

"Mom, look at what Rory did to me! He almost broke my wrist!"

However, Denise's tactic wasn't working because Rory ignored Jenifer and grabbed her again.

"Just admit it! You did it, right?"

"No..."

Maybe Denise would have admitted it if the atmosphere was different, but the dangerous look in Rory's eyes scared her too much. She looked away and didn't dare to utter another word.

"Becky was right. I can't believe I defended you all this while!"

Rory grunted and slapped Denise hard across the face.

Even if she wanted to deny it now, her attitude and eyes betrayed her.

Rory and his sister, Denise, were not close, but he had never raised a hand at her, no matter what.

Denise was stunned when he hit her without any warning. She put her hand over her face and looked at her brother in disbelief.

"Oh my God, Rory! Are you crazy?"

Jenifer exclaimed in disbelief and fear.

Rory hadn't been close to the Casper family since he was a child.

Despite that, he always showed up to defend Denise whenever she was being picked on. She was already surprised when Rory whipped Denise last time.

And now, she couldn't believe her eyes when Rory slapped his sister. He had hit her so hard that Denise's face turned red and swelled up.

While the two ladies were horrified, Rory didn't think he had done enough to punish her. His sister had deliberately drugged him. He couldn't take it lightly.

Rory had spent his time thinking that Becky was biased against the Casper family. But it was crystal clear now she was right. He couldn't help but think of what Becky said when she tried to resist him that night.

This thought got him even angrier that he reached out again and pulled Denise back to him.

"What are you doing, Rory?" Jenifer shouted in panic.

"She is your sister!"

"Exactly! And as her brother, I have to teach her a lesson and show her the difference between bad and good."

Becky had been right all along. Denise was rude, full of herself, and always planning something bad.

This time, she drugged him and Becky.

What was she going to do in the nearest future if he didn't correct her now?

"Rory, where are you taking her too? Be gentle..."

Jenifer had never seen Rory in this state before. She was so scared for Denise, but she knew there was nothing she could do to stop Rory.

Denise kept struggling and pleading with him.

"Please Rory, don't do this. I know I was wrong, and I shouldn't have done it. Please let me go."

Read Divorce Has Never Felt This Good - Chapter 272

Read Chapter 272 with many climactic and unique details. The series Divorce Has Never Felt This Good one of the top-selling novels by Kesley Peht. Chapter content chapter Chapter 272 - The heroine seems to fall into the abyss of despair, heartache, empty-handed, But unexpectedly this happened a big event. So what was that event? Read Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 272 for more details

What Do You Mean

"Rory, what are you doing? It's late, and you are being too loud. Have you forgotten that you are her brother?"

Elmore said as he walked down the stairs with the help of Carl and his walking stick.

When Denise heard Elmore's voice, she felt renewed hope, and cried out, "Grandpa, please help me! Rory has gone completely crazy!"

Elmore looked at Rory and said, "Don't be so hard on her. I don't see why you can't talk to your sister in a logical way. Violence won't get you anywhere."

Since Elmore was talking him out of it, Rory decided to let Denise go, but the negative opinion he had of her would never change.

As soon as Rory let go of her, Denise threw herself into Jenifer's arms and cried out loud. Her screams unnerved Elmore, who turned to her and snapped, "Just stop crying, will you? What happened?"

Denise knew that Elmore was the only one who could help her at this point. So she stopped crying and tried to spin the truth in her favor.

"I'm sorry, Grandpa, but I only did what I did for Rory and our family. I know that you've always wanted Rory and Becky to get back together. Last time, you gave my mom..."

Denise trailed off when she felt Elmore's intense gaze. She gulped uncomfortably and then rearranged her words.

"Last time, you gave my mom a box of jewelry. You asked her to go and apologize to Becky so that she would agree to marry Rory again..."

Denise stopped and sobbed for a while before looking back up at Rory.

"Rory, I want you to know how sorry I am for being the cause of your divorce. I won't pretend and say I like Becky, because I don't. However, it is obvious she loves you. I did all those stupid things because I thought you didn't like her. But after what I heard you say at the hotel, it was pretty much clear that you love Becky too."

Denise sighed dramatically and then continued, "The both of you are in love with each other, but Becky is too proud to remarry you. And you are too proud to apologize to her. I wanted to help you, so I came up with this idea. You have to believe me, Rory. All I want is your happiness."

With every word that Denise spoke, she made sure to let out a small sob to sound as sad as possible. Elmore looked at Denise, satisfied. She was smart enough to turn this story and give it some sense.

After a moment of silence, Elmore took a deep breath and said, "You thought drugging them was going to help them get back together, right?"

Hearing what Elmore said, Denise sneered inwardly.

The idea was his, after all. She said with a pout.

"I know my plan was despicable, but it worked, right?"

Elmore said in a cajoling tone, "Rory, we agree that Denise did something wrong, but it was for a good cause."

"Don't tell me you believe her!" Rory exclaimed.

"What are you trying to say, Rory?" Denise asked.

Rory didn't say anything and just sneered.

Denise was his sister.

He used to think she was a good person, but he knew better now.

About Divorce Has Never Felt This Good - Chapter 273

Divorce Has Never Felt This Good is the best current series of the author Kesley Peht. With the below Chapter 273 content will make us lost in the world of love and hatred interchangeably, despite all the tricks to achieve the goal without any concern for the other half, and then regret. late. Please read chapter Chapter 273 and update the next chapters of this series at novelebook.com

Elmore's Order

Elmore looked at Rory with a cold expression.

"Rory, you're going too far. Your sister wouldn't do anything to harm you. What your sister did was wrong, but it has already happened and Becky got hurt because of it. The news has spread like wildfire on the Internet. If you and Becky don't get married again, the Casper family is not the only family that will be humiliated. The Ramos family will be humiliated too."

Rory looked at Elmore with furrowed eyebrows and asked, "So, what are you implying?"

"Isn't it obvious? You have to ask Becky to marry you." Rory scoffed and shook his head.

"You don't know what you're saying. Becky would never agree."

If Becky found out that Denise had drugged her, not only would she refuse the marriage proposal, but she would certainly get back at the Casper family. Rory wouldn't intervene if Becky did so.

This time, he admitted that the Casper family owed Becky.

"You're a young man, Rory, and you should know how these things work. If she refuses the first time, you don't give up. Instead, you keep insisting. She will agree eventually," Elmore said with an encouraging smile.

"Besides, Becky loves you. The only reason she divorced you was that she thought you had feelings for another woman. If you tell her that she is the only one you're in love with, she'll give in. And I'll pay the Ramos family a few visits. Becky doesn't know Denise did it, does she? If no one tells her, she will keep seeing you as a victim, and that's a good thing. You should have noticed that the public is now on our side. What happened to you and Becky last night is no longer a secret. It will be difficult for her to find a good man to marry, and I believe she knows that too."

When Rory didn't say anything, Elmore said, "Jennifer, Denise, why don't you go back to bed now? Rory, come to the study with me?"

Denise and Jennifer nodded and went to their rooms. Rory contemplated for a while before he followed Elmore to the study.

When they were both in the study with the door locked, Elmore said, "When we are faced with a problem, the best solution is to attack it head-on and fix it. I know you love Becky. Don't deny it. We both know that Becky has the same feelings for you. Denise told me about a picture Becky made for you."

Elmore sighed and continued, "Becky is a good girl, and although it took me a while to figure it out, I know that now. She is the perfect partner for you, Rory. I'm old, and no one knows when I'm going to take my last breath. Your brother is gone. All I ask for is that I meet my great-grandson before I die. It's clear to me and everyone else that your feelings for each other are strong and sincere. If you're sorry about everything, you can make it up to Becky after you are married again. Listen, I can't stop you from being honest with Becky. But before doing anything, remember that you have a rival in love, Devin. He had his guys spread the rumors online just so he could win Becky over. We cannot overlook him. I'm growing much older, and the Casper family still needs you. You need to figure out how to make things better, if not right."

Elmore fell silent after that, but the silence didn't last for long.

He looked back at Rory and dismissed him in a low voice, "Well, I still have some things to take care of before going to bed. You can leave now."

About Divorce Has Never Felt This Good - Chapter 274

Divorce Has Never Felt This Good is the best current series of the author Kesley Peht. With the below Chapter 274 content will make us lost in the world of love and hatred interchangeably, despite all the tricks to achieve the goal without any concern for the other half, and then regret. late. Please read chapter Chapter 274 and update the next chapters of this series at novelebook.com

It Has Something To Do

With Devin, Upon hearing that, Rory raised his head and looked at Elmore. Then, he turned and left without saying anything.

When Elmore heard the sound of Rory's engine, he smiled to himself and stood up to watch from the windows as Rory drove off. He then went back to his seat and called out, "Carl!"

Carl got in and asked hesitantly, "If Rory finds out that the whole thing was your idea, what will..."

"He can never find out!"

Elmore cut Carl off angrily. He knew Rory didn't care much about the Casper family.

If Rory ever found out that Elmore was a part of the scam and that he had given the green light for Denise to drug Rory, then he would turn his back on the family without any regrets.

Rory was the only one who could take over the Casper family now.

Elmore needed Rory to stay in the dark about this.

That way, he was sure that Rory would take good care of the family once he was gone.

Although Carl was startled by the malice in Elmore's eyes, Carl nodded and said.

"I understand, Mr. Casper."

"All right. Just carry out our plan."

Elmore planned to get seriously ill this evening.

Carl went downstairs to call the family doctor.

After he got off the phone with the doctor, he called the ambulance.

Becky didn't sleep very well last night, so when she woke up, she still felt sleepy.

With sleepy eyes, she looked at her phone and realized that she had a meeting she was to have this morning.

With a grunt, she got up and pulled open the curtains. It was 8 o'clock and the sun was already shining brightly.

Becky closed her eyes tightly and then opened them slowly to get used to the light. She walked to the bathroom and cleaned up. She put on a little make-up.

By the time it was half past eight, she was on her way to the company.

Before she got to work, she stopped to buy some breakfast. Her apartment was close to the company, and she arrived at the company at 8:50 a.m.

While she was eating her breakfast, her phone rang.

When she picked it up, she saw that Jessie had left her a message. It was a screenshot that read, "Elmore Casper was rushed to the hospital last night for treatment. The media doesn't know exactly what is going on. All they know is that there were a lot of lights on in their house last night."

After this screenshot, Jessie sent many laughing emojis and typed, "He deserves it. ησνελεβσοκ.φσml laughed so hard when I heard this."

It wasn't a secret that Jessie didn't like Elmore, and it would never change.

Becky remained indifferent after reading this. She didn't care about the Casper family anymore.

All she cared about was what happened that night when she and Rory were drugged.

Suddenly, the doorbell rang and interrupted her thoughts. It was Talia.

Becky looked up and ordered, "Come in."

Talia then opened the door and walked in.

Becky looked at her with a smile.

"Good morning, Miss Ramos. I now know what happened that night."

Becky's smile faded a little.

"What happened?"

Talia then handed over the document to Becky and said, "What happened last night might have something to do with Devin."

"Devin?"

Becky frown and then took the document. She didn't see how Devin could be involved in any of this.

Update Chapter 275 of Divorce Has Never Felt This Good by Kesley Peht

With the author's famous Divorce Has Never Felt This Good series authorName that makes readers fall in love with every word, go to chapter Chapter 275 readers Immerse yourself in love anecdotes, mixed with plot demons. Will the next chapters of the Divorce Has Never Felt This Good series are available today. Key: Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 275

Can We Get Back Together

Becky quickly scanned the papers Talia had given her.

After a few minutes, she looked up and said coldly, "Let's have the meeting first."

Talia nodded.

Seeing that Becky's expression was a little cold, she only said, "Understood, Miss Ramos."

To Becky's surprise, the person who drugged her that night was Betsy, one of Devin's ex-girlfriends.

This was something that Becky had not thought of. She had assumed this to be the work of Raina and Babette.

But now it turned out that it was Betsy who set that up.

Betsy was Devin's girlfriend several years ago.

Of course, Becky hadn't known about it.

But Talia was very thorough, and she had investigated Betsy's background.

Five years ago, Betsy started her career as a model, and three years ago, she became Devin's girlfriend.

The two were in a relationship for about a month, and then she became more popular.

All thanks to Devin.

One year ago, however, she was involved in a sex scandal, which led to her being dismissed by her company.

After that, Betsy tried several times to approach Devin, but she failed.

Last month, Betsy went to Devin's company and waited for him outside.

Finally, she managed to see him.

No one knew what they talked about, but after that, Betsy never called Devin again.

Betsy didn't contact Devin, and instead she targeted Becky.

Betsy had guts.

She drugged both Becky and Rory.

After two hours, Becky finally left the meeting room.

Now, everything was clear to her.

Becky had once again been drugged.

And this time, she did not intend to let it slide. She didn't expect that Rory would come to find her at that time.

"Miss Ramos, Mr. Casper wants to see you."

Becky casually looked up and asked Talia, "Where is he?"

"Outside the door."

Becky was surprised. It seemed that he had also found out who the culprit was.

"Let him in."

Although Becky did not want to maintain contact with Rory, he was also a victim in this case.

Talia nodded and went to invite Rory in.

Talia also didn't like Rory, but as Becky's secretary, she still maintained a level of polite formality.

"Mr.Casper, this way, please."

It was the first time that Rory had entered Becky's office.It was a little different from what he had imagined.

The office looked neat and was simply decorated.

After taking a glance at the furnishings in the office, Rory finally looked at Becky behind the desk and said, "The investigation results are out."

Today, Becky wore a white chiffon long-sleeved round-collar shirt.

The makeup on her face was very light and natural, but overall eye-catching.

Rory always thought that Becky was a beautiful woman.

Becky glanced over at Talia.

Talia understood the signal and exited the room.

Becky and Rory were left alone in the office.

"Interesting.Talia has also found out just now."

Rory didn't look surprised.He already knew about the investigation results that Becky received.

"What is your opinion?"

Becky got straight to the point.

There was no need to mince words between them.

They also had nothing else to talk about.

"Devin is involved in this."

"So?" Becky snorted.

Rory's heart stung at Becky's indifference.He had expected an emotional reaction from Becky.

Rory looked down and explained, "Nothing happened between us that night. Do you need me to clarify it?"

"A clean hand wants no washing."

Becky knew the purpose of Rory's visit, but she really didn't want to talk to him.

"I will deal with it myself. As for you, how you are going to deal with it has nothing to do with me. I have other business to attend to, so goodbye."

As soon as Becky finished speaking, she called the internal line and asked Talia to come in.

"Talia, please help me escort Mr. Casper out."

At the thought of what Elmore had said last night, Rory tightened his lips. He managed to open his mouth and ask, "Becky, can we get back together?"

Read Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 276

Novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good has been updated Chapter 276 with many climactic developments. What makes this series so special is the names of the characters ^^ . If you are a fan of the author Kesley Peht, you will love reading it! I'm sure you won't be disappointed when you read. Let's read the novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 276 now HERE.

Reading Novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 276

Chapter 276 novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good

Shall I Cook for You

"Do you think we were together before?" Becky asked Rory. He had never treated her as his wife when they were still married.

Rory's question was like a joke to Becky.

They had never been together.

How could they get back together? Talia caught Rory's words as she came in. She was thrown into a dilemma for a moment but she decided to remain standing at the door, pretending that she did not exist.

Becky's words felt like a thousand knives stabbing at Rory. He was always been a proud man and he didn't know why he would ask that question. He frowned as he turned and walked out of Becky's office.

As Becky watched his retreating figure, she smiled mockingly. She hadn't expected to hear such words from Rary.

But unfortunately for him, she no longer had feelings for him.

Once Rary had disappeared, Becky lowered her head and continued to read the documents before her.

Talia knocked on the door before entering.

"Miss Ramos? Betsy..."

"I've been very busy these days. Bring Betsy here the day after tomorrow."

After a short pause, Becky continued, "She drugged me that day. Help me return the favor, please."

Becky believed that no one would attack unless attacked. Since Betsy drugged her, Becky would fight back.

"Okay, Miss Ramos."

Talia knew Becky well since she had been working for her for a while now. She knew that Becky had to get even with Betsy.

After all, Becky had taken revenge on Denise almost immediately after Denise had drugged her.

They had gotten a new project, and Becky was in meetings for almost the entire day. It was seven o'clock and already dark out when she got off work.

Becky pulled out her phone and saw that she had a message from Devin.

The accident that night had something to do with Devin. He didn't know about it, but he was the cause.

Now, Becky found Devin's ex-girlfriends troublesome. She didn't like trouble. It was getting late.

Becky decided to take the files she was holding with her so that she could read them at home.

Becky hadn't had dinner yet, but she was alone.

Cooking at home would be a waste of time. So she decided to have some food near the company.

"Becky."

A familiar voice called out to her the moment she walked out. It was Devin.

Becky's eyebrows shot up as she smiled and watched him approach.

"Devin?"

"Have you had dinner?"

"No."

"Shall we have dinner together?' Devin asked, his eyes smiling.

"Okay." She thought it was a good idea since she had something to tell him.

"What do you want to eat?"

"Your call."

Devin continued to smile at her.

"Shall I cook for you?"

Becky was surprised at his words, but she recovered quickly, her smile disappearing. She ignored his question as she said, "Let's eat some Japanese food. I haven't had it in a long time."

Devin looked at her for a long moment before nodding.

"Okay."

They got into the car, but they were soon stuck in a massive traffic jam.

"I found out what happened that night," said Devin.

"Talia also found out," Becky said, turning to look at him.

"It looks like you have an ulterior motive behind this meal," Devin said, frowning.

Becky didn't reply. She merely smiled and turned to look out of the window.

The car was quiet again and it remained silent all the way to their destination.

Read Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 277

Novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good has been updated Chapter 277 with many climactic developments What makes this series so special is the names of the characters ^^ . If you are a fan of the author Kesley Peht, you will love reading it! I'm sure you won't be disappointed when you read. Let's read the novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 277 now HERE.

Reading Novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 277

Chapter 277 novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good

I Know What You Want To Say

When the pair arrived at the restaurant, Devin seemed to have forgotten the conversation they had in the car.

As they approached a table, he quickly pulled out a chair for Becky in a show of gentlemanliness.

When she had sat down, he gave her the menu and asked what she would like to order.

The smile on his face returned as if the awkward moment in the car didn't happen.

Becky glanced at him but said nothing. She wanted to ask him to stay away from her, but she changed her mind and kept quiet instead.

Together, they both had a good meal.

The food was nice, especially the sushi which Becky found delicious.

In fact, she enjoyed herself thoroughly. She was not surprised, though. She knew that Devin would never recommend a second-rate restaurant.

After the meal, Becky cleaned her lips and cleared her throat to speak.

The fact that Devin was treating her to a wonderful dinner made it difficult for Becky to be cruel to him.

No wonder people liked to talk over dinner.

It provided a good environment that enabled issues to be discussed amicably.

Becky never did things in halves, though.

Once her mind was made up, she would go ahead to do what she decided.

"Devin,"

Becky began with a smile.

Devin smiled back, his eyes twinkling merrily as usual.

"I know what you want to say, but before you say it, I'd like you to come with me to see someone."

"Betsy?"

"No."

Devin was clearly keeping her in suspense.

"Okay."

Becky shrugged with a slight smile. She believed that Devin was a smart man. She had refused him several times, and she was sure that he had enough sense to not continue chasing her.

After settling the bill, they both walked out of the restaurant and went back the car. It was 8 p.m. and Courtbush was already covered in darkness.

The neon lights blinking from several buildings highlighted the prosperity of the city.

Looking through the window at the heavy traffic outside, Becky couldn't help but remember when she first came to the city.

Back then, she was not very happy with what she saw.

Now she finally knew why.

The city was never her home.

While she was deep in her reverie, the car was brought to a halt.

Becky looked outside and found that they had stopped at a hotel.

Immediately, her eyebrows shot up questioningly.

Devin was already unfastening his seat belt. He looked at her and grinned.

"Don't think too much of it. She doesn't live in Courtbush. She's only here on a business trip."

This explanation piqued Becky's curiosity. She was now more eager than ever to meet this person Devin was taking her to see.

"Actually, I was just wondering if paparazzi would be following us, Becky told him with a smile.

After all, nowadays, the amount of attention on her and Rory was much more than that on celebrities.

"I'll deal with them if there are any," Devin said confidently.

"Okay, Devin. Thank you."

Becky smiled.

Devin stepped out of the car and held open the door for her.

Then he led her into the hotel and straight to the elevator.

Soon, they arrived at the floor of their choice and Devin stepped out of the elevator with Becky following closely behind. He led her down the long corridor until he got to the last door where he stopped and knocked.

"It's me," he said.

It didn't take long before the door was opened.

Becky was shocked at the sight of the person that was now standing in the doorway. It was her!

Read Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 278 TODAY

The novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good has been updated Chapter 278 with many unexpected details, removing many love knots for the male and female lead. In addition, the author Kesley Peht is very talented in making the situation extremely different. Let's follow the Chapter 278 of the Divorce Has Never Felt This Good HERE. Keywords are searched: Novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 278 Novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good by Kesley Peht

Meeting Carlee Again

Devin didn't take Becky to meet Betsy, but someone whom Becky had met before. It was Carlee, Devin's rumored girlfriend.

Carlee seemed to have known that they were coming. She glanced at Devin and then looked at Becky.

"Come in."

Becky was a little surprised at first, but she soon came back to her senses. She smiled and followed Devin into the room.

Carlee led them both to the couch and then offered them some water.

"I hope you don't mind, Miss Ramos. I only have water here."

Becky smiled kindly and shook her head.

"It's more than enough. Thank you."

With that, Carlee turned to Devin and made it clear to him that she wasn't going to help.

Becky took a sip of water and looked at Devin too.

Devin cleared his throat and then introduced Carlee to Becky.

"This is Carlee, my cousin Nolan's wife."

Becky already knew who Carlee was, so it didn't come as a surprise. She smiled at Carlee and said, "I've heard a lot about you. Mostly good things, of course."

"I've heard a lot about you too."

Carlee returned her smile.

Carlee picked up a folder from the table and put it in front of Becky.

"I've seen the rumors about you on the Internet these days. I was coming to Courtbush tomorrow, but Devin called me last night and insisted that I come here today to help him."

Devin and Carlee were good friends.

When Carlee said this, he looked at Becky intently.

Carlee rolled her eyes secretly when she saw how Devin was staring at Becky as though she was the center of his world.

Becky, on the other hand, was oblivious to the attention she was getting. She was more focused on the folder Carlee had just given her.

Becky opened the file to see what it contained.

The first page was a picture of Betsy.

Betsy was a pretty girl. She was agreeable to look at.

The file had all of Betsy's personal details.

As she flipped through the next pages, she saw details about Betsy's work in the entertainment industry over the past two years.

Becky looked back up at Carlee, then at Devin.

"What is this supposed to mean?"

Carlee shrugged indifferently and looked at Devin as if telling him to explain.

Seeing this, Becky focused all her attention on Devin. It was only then that she realized they had been sitting too close to each other.

They were so close that their knees were touching.

Becky was on a long dress and Devin was wearing pants, but she could still feel his temperature.

Feeling a little uncomfortable being so close to him, Becky moved her body slightly away from him to create some space between them.

Devin noticed it but didn't say anything. He reached for the file she had been reading and moved his leg so that their legs touched again.

Becky froze a little at the contact, but Devin didn't seem to feel anything.

He turned to the second page of the file and pointed to a line.

"You'll understand if you read this, Becky," Devin said, and his words successfully distracted Becky.

Becky looked at the line Devin was pointing to.

"Pretending to be Devin's girlfriend for two months to get attention from the public."

Update Chapter 279 of Divorce Has Never Felt This Good

Announcement Divorce Has Never Felt This Good has updated Chapter 279 with many amazing and unexpected details. In fluent writing, In simple but sincere text, sometimes the calm romance of the author Kesley Peht in Chapter 279 takes us to a new horizon. Let's read the Chapter 279 Divorce Has Never Felt This Good series here. Search keys: Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 279

Devin Hasn't Worked Hard Enough

Becky wasn't stupid. She understood what Devin was trying to tell her, but she had to ask.

"Betsy isn't your ex, is she?"

Carlee smiled at Becky and answered the question for Devin.

"Devin has never had a girlfriend." Becky was confused at this point. She shook her head and whispered, "But..."

Carlee laughed at the confused expression on Becky's face.

"I understand your confusion. It's all my fault, and I can explain it."

She turned serious and added, "Let me introduce myself again. I am Carlee Stanley, the chairman of Starry Entertainment Company. Sylvia Watson and Ilvanna Hanson are my artists. All of Devin's supposed ex-girlfriends are my artists, too. You know, people pay close attention to his love life. So I asked him to do a PR stunt with some of my artists to help make them famous. This may surprise you, but Devin turned down my offer."

Carlee glared at Devin and shook her head. She brought her gaze back to Becky and continued, "He said he didn't want the woman he had a long-term crush on to think he was a playboy. I was even more baffled when he told me this woman he had feelings for was married. His reason for declining wasn't good enough for me, so I told Nolan about it, and when Nolan asked Devin to do it, he had no choice but to oblige. Betsy was one of those artists. She wasn't like the others. Two years into her job, she went rogue, caused a lot of trouble, and left us to clean it up for her every time. It was already too much, so I had to terminate her contract. I don't understand why she would drug you, though. You never did anything wrong to her. But look at how handsome Devin is! It makes sense that she went crazy over him, don't you think?"

Carlee drank a mouthful of water and then grinned at Becky suggestively.

"Do you understand everything better now?"

Becky nodded and said, "I get it."

She did understand, but the information was just too much for her. If she understood Carlee very well, then she was the girl Devin had loved for so long.

Seeing the look on Becky's face, Carlee sighed and said, "I'm being transparent here. If you still don't believe me, you can check the records of all his relationships. Even better, I can have my secretary put everything together and send it to you tomorrow by email."

Hearing this, Becky quickly shook her head and said politely, "No, no. Don't put yourself through that trouble. Why would you lie to me?"

Carlee nodded and smiled in satisfaction.

"So, considering how long Devin has been pining after you, do you think you can give him a chance?"

This question was rude, but Becky didn't feel offended. She had prepared her mind for a lot of situations before coming here, but this big secret wasn't something she was ready to hear. She felt like she didn't fully know the person who was sitting next to her.

This was why Devin brought her here today. He wanted her to hear this.

Becky frowned. She didn't know what to make of this information.

But there was no need to beat herself up about it now. So she looked up at Carlee and said with a smile, "I don't think I'm ready for a new relationship now."

Carlee nodded in understanding and said, "That only means one thing. Devin hasn't worked hard enough."

Becky didn't know how to respond to that. She looked at Devin and saw how he was looking at her.

His gaze was full of love for her.

Even if he didn't use his words, his eyes said it all.

Devin met her gaze and then smiled.

"Then I guess I'll have to work harder."

Read Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 280

Novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good has been updated Chapter 280 with many climactic developments. What makes this series so special is the names of the characters ^^. If you are a fan of the author Kesley Peht, you will love reading it! I'm sure you won't be disappointed when you read. Let's read the novel Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 280 now HERE.

DIVORCE HAS NEVER FELT THIS GOOD

Chapter 280

Devin Hasn't Worked Hard Enough

Becky wasn't stupid. She understood what Devin was trying to tell her, but she had to ask.

"Betsy isn't your ex, is she?"

Carlee smiled at Becky and answered the question for Devin.

"Devin has never had a girlfriend." Becky was confused at this point. She shook her head and whispered, "But..."

Carlee laughed at the confused expression on Becky's face.

"I understand your confusion. It's all my fault, and I can explain it."

She turned serious and added, "Let me introduce myself again. I am Carlee Stanley, the chairman of Starry Entertainment Company. Sylvia Watson and Ilvanna Hanson are my artists. All of Devin's supposed ex-girlfriends are my artists, too. You know, people pay close attention to his love life. So I asked him to do a PR stunt with some of my artists to help make them famous. This may surprise you, but Devin turned down my offer."

Carlee glared at Devin and shook her head. She brought her gaze back to Becky and continued, "He said he didn't want the woman he had a long-term crush on to think he was a playboy. I was even more baffled when he told me this woman he had feelings for was married. His reason for declining wasn't good enough for me, so I told Nolan about it, and when Nolan asked Devin to do it, he had no choice but to oblige. Betsy was one of those artists. She wasn't like the others. Two years into her job, she went rogue, caused a lot of trouble, and left us to clean it up for her every time. It was already too much, so I had to terminate her contract. I don't understand why she would drug you, though. You never did anything wrong to her. But look at how handsome Devin is! It makes sense that she went crazy over him, don't you think?"

Carlee drank a mouthful of water and then grinned at Becky suggestively.

"Do you understand everything better now?"

Becky nodded and said, "I get it."

She did understand, but the information was just too much for her. If she understood Carlee very well, then she was the girl Devin had loved for so long.

Seeing the look on Becky's face, Carlee sighed and said, "I'm being transparent here. If you still don't believe me, you can check the records of all his relationships. Even better, I can have my secretary put everything together and send it to you tomorrow by email."

Hearing this, Becky quickly shook her head and said politely, "No, no. Don't put yourself through that trouble. Why would you lie to me?"

Carlee nodded and smiled in satisfaction.

"So, considering how long Devin has been pining after you, do you think you can give him a chance?"

This question was rude, but Becky didn't feel offended. She had prepared her mind for a lot of situations before coming here, but this big secret wasn't something she was ready to hear. She felt like she didn't fully know the person who was sitting next to her.

This was why Devin brought her here today. He wanted her to hear this.

Becky frowned. She didn't know what to make of this information.

But there was no need to beat herself up about it now. So she looked up at Carlee and said with a smile, "I don't think I'm ready for a new relationship now."

Carlee nodded in understanding and said, "That only means one thing. Devin hasn't worked hard enough."

Becky didn't know how to respond to that. She looked at Devin and saw how he was looking at her.

His gaze was full of love for her.

Even if he didn't use his words, his eyes said it all.

Devin met her gaze and then smiled.

"Then I guess I'll have to work harder."

Read Divorce Has Never Felt This Good Chapter 280