

Divorce Has Never Felt This Good

Chapter 306

Chapter 306 Fifty Million Dollars

October was soon half over. Raina and Babette were surprised that Carl would come to them in person. They both looked at Carl and then at each other. Raina was first to smile at Carl. "Mr. Bryant! Long time no see." She led Carl into the apartment. "Please take a seat." Carl took out a check for fifty million dollars. He wanted to get right to the point. "Mr. Casper asked me to pay you a visit. You're a smart girl, so let's get down to business: He handed the check to Raina as he spoke. "Rory will soon remarry Becky. Mr. Casper thinks that your presence in Courtbush will be problematic for their relationship. He hopes that you can find yourself another city to live in. The check is the Casper family's compensation to you." As she looked at the check, Raina became elated. It was fleeting, however. Her face turned pale as she tried to comprehend the rest of what Carl had just said. "What do you mean?" Carl was no spring chicken. He knew all about Raina's trick of acting ignorant and piteous. He was too smart to fall for that. "I think I made myself quite clear on behalf of the Casper family," Carl replied. "If you insist on staying here in Courtbush, then you do so at your own risk." Babette had stood by and been silent so far, but couldn't any longer. "You cannot tell us where we can live. The Casper family doesn't own Courtbush. Don't you think you've gone too far?" "I think you have misunderstood the intentions of Mr. Casper. You and your sister are at odds with Becky. When Rory remarries her, do you think the Casper family will side with you or Becky?" The bluntness of Carl's words was hard to absorb. The simple words poked like needles into both Raina's and Babette's hearts. Raina was suddenly so angry she turned pale. "You don't have to worry about that. As long as Rory stays away from me, I won't contact him. Please take this check back. I want to marry into the Casper family because I love Rory, not because of how wealthy they are." Carl inwardly scoffed at Raina's pitiful act. He wasn't going to waste any more time on them. He refused to take the check, however, because he knew they would need the money to carry out the plan. "I don't think saying anything else is necessary. Goodbye." Carl stood to leave. Babette began to throw and smash things after Carl had left. "That son of a bitch! He thinks he can get rid of us with only fifty million dollars? Get real!" Raina looked down, trodden and pale. "Becky is going to remarry Rory." Babette tamped down her anger after she heard Raina's words. "What do you think we should do, Raina?" They had requested money from the Casper family, and they had stopped making trouble for them, but it didn't mean they would give up. After all, they would get way more than fifty million if Raina married into the Casper family. Raina thought for a moment, unsure of what to do about the Casper family. She looked briefly at the check sitting on the table. She was unwilling to be sent away like trash. Before long, another opportunity would come their way.