

Chapter 41 Stalemate

Devin's sports car had been following her. Becky shrugged it off and decided not to care about it.

Only when her car pulled into the parking lot did the sports car finally leave her alone.

Becky parked the car and went straight to her apartment.

Becky was exhausted. After washing her face and brushing her teeth, she went to bed.

The following morning, Becky woke up to the sound of her alarm.

It was winter now and the sun rose later than usual.

Even at seven o'clock, it was still dark outside.

Becky got out of bed and went to the bathroom to freshen up.

She had a meeting this morning. As soon as she arrived at her office, Talia knocked on her door. "Miss Ramos?"

Becky looked up at her and could tell instantly that something was wrong. "What happened?"

"Elvin didn't sign the contract." Talia bit her lower lip.

But Becky was expecting this.

"And what about Robbie?"

Talia nodded and gave the material regarding him to

Becky. "Here, Miss Ramos."

Becky took the document and scanned through it quickly.

Then she couldn't help but sneer. "It seems that Fairway Group has been treating Highlight Group well these years."

After putting the document aside, Becky looked up at Talia and said, "Well, let's go to the meeting first."

On Friday night, Becky signed the contract with Domenic. But she was just a manager, and the contract's validity relied on Elvin's signature.

However, Elvin refused to sign contract now. His intention was loud and clear.

This morning's meeting did not go very smoothly. Becky had been with the company for two weeks now and Elvin finally vented his anger on her.

The two of them disagreed with each other, so they couldn't move on with the meeting.

The meeting room was eerily quiet. The people inside all held their breath, not daring to make a sound.

Becky sat down and smiled at Elvin faintly. "Since Mr. Perkins thinks this plan won't work, let's call it a day."

Elvin didn't say anything, but his aggressive expression softened somewhat.

"Redo the plan. We'll discuss it again in three days."

After saying that, Elvin stood up and left the meeting room.

Becky watched him go. When he was out of sight, she too stood up and walked out of the meeting room.

As soon as she reached the door to her office, Talia's assistant, Sonya Perry, came over with a bouquet of flowers. "Miss Ramos, these are for you."

It was a bunch of fake red roses. The second Becky saw the flowers, she instantly thought of Devin.

So he was really going to pursue her...

But Becky was in no mood to get involved with a playboy, so she said to Sonya, "They're yours."

Hearing this, Sonya was taken aback. "What?"

But Becky simply went inside her office, leaving the shocked Sonya with the bouquet of fake flowers.

After a few minutes, Becky emerged from her office again with a document in her hand.

She strode to Elvin's office, her high heels clicking against the floor.

Becky's imposing manner startled Elvin's assistant. "Oh, good morning, Miss Ramos. Are you looking for Mr. Perkins?"

"Yes."

She bypassed the assistant and knocked on the door to Elvin's office.

"Come in."

Becky pushed the door open and walked straight to Elvin's desk with the document in her hand. Looking down at him, she said, "Mr. Perkins, I'm here to ask what's wrong with Starch Company's contract."

Elvin's expression instantly darkened. "We have cooperated with Highlight Group for so many years. Ending our contract with them will cause a lot of criticism in the industry."
