Chapter161

Facing the little guy's question, Charlie gave him a look at the cover.

"You don't know this. It's not for children," he said to Ben.

"My mother said that when I grow up, I will know a lot of words," Ben replied.

Charlie looked at Ben closely.

"Then when will you grow up?" He asked.

"It should be soon," Ben said. He didn't know, but he was full of expectations for the future.

"When I grow up, I will protect my mother," Ben also said.

"Your mother is an adult and can protect herself," Charlie replied.

"No, my mother is fragile, and there are many annoying people who always make her sad," Ben argued.

"Really?" Charlie said and looked at the little guy with serious eyes.

Ben nodded.

"Really. Dad, will you protect my mother with me in the future? They say that my father is supposed to protect my mother," Ben said in his cute voice.

Charlie frowned when he heard Ben's words, thinking of Cristina....

Although that woman gave birth to his child, he had no idea about Cristina at all.

Mrs. Calsis turned to Theresa and said, “Come out here with me for a minute,” Theresa stood up and walked outside with her.
Mrs. Calsis asked seriously, “Did you tell him that?”
Although she had just reprimanded Jimmy downstairs, Mrs. Calsis didn’t like to indoctrinate the kid with thoughts of hatred.
Theresa denied it. “No, I didn’t.”
Leonard hated jimmy simply because Jimmy had hurt him before.
“I hope so!” Mrs. Calsis said. “I know that you are on bad terms with Jimmy and that you have a personal grudge against him, but I hope you know that my grandson is not a tool you can use to get back at someone.” Theresa looked at Mrs. Calsis and frowned slightly, wondering how she could prove that she hadn’t taught her boy that.

At that point, Leonard stepped out. He stood in front of Theresa, looked at Mrs. Calsis, and said, “Stop talking

Before Theresa could say anything, Charlie spoke up and said to Rose, "You can go out now if you don't want to eat."

Rose grunted and pouted. "Uncle Charlie, it's not that I'm trying to cause trouble. I just don't think it's sensible at all for you to leave Leonard and Ben with this woman."

"I know what I'm doing. You don't need to tell me what to do."

Rose said, "But look at the injury on Jimmy's head, it's Leonard who did it! I'm wondering what Aunt Theresa said to Leonard behind our backs to get him to do something like this. Leonard has always been a good boy. If she hadn't egged him on, why would he have done such a thing?"

When Charlie heard that, his face darkened. He looked at Leonard, who was sitting next to Theresa, and asked,

"Leonard, did you do it?"

Leonard took a look at Charlie without saying anything.

Charlie said, "If so, apologize to Jimmy."

Leonard instead of Theresa, Jimmy hurriedly spoke

Seeing that things did not go as she thought they would, Rose hurriedly said, “Uncle Charlie, you don’t say anything. It’s my fault and I shouldn’t have blamed Aunt Theresa. Please don’t blame Leonard and he’s just a kid, knowing nothing.”

Rose couldn’t watch this.

She originally wanted to make trouble with Theresa but didn’t expect her Uncle Charlie to take it out on the child.

Seeing Leonard crying so adorably, Rose just wanted to put things to rest.

Charlie said, “It’s useless for anyone to plead for him today. His mother usually spoils him too much, so he becomes like this! In my rule, no one can be unreasonable. Since you smashed Jimmy, you should apologize to him.”

Leonard listened to Charlie’s words and looked at Jimmy. With pursing his lips, he put down his chopsticks,

She looked at Theresa, knowing that Charlie was being so difficult for Leonard just to defend Theresa, which actually made Mrs. Calsis very unhappy,

But now, in front of Leonard, she didn't want to say anything.

She said to Leonard, "Leonard, let's go back to dinner."

"No," Leonard said firmly.

Since Charlie wouldn't let him eat, he wouldn't eat.

Looking at Leonard, Mrs. Calsis helplessly said, "Whom are you like with this character?"

Not long after, Ben also ran out. Seeing Leonard and Theresa here, he gave the bun in his hand to Leonard,

"This is for you."

Leonard looked at him and said, "No."

Looking at this scene, Mrs. Calsis went into the house and went to count Charlie.

Watching his sullen expression, Theresa coughed slightly. In Charlie's shoes, she actually knew he was doing it for her own good.

She said to Charlie, "I'm just concerned about the child. I'm worried that Leonard may think you love Ben more than him."

"Ben is a good boy, and so does Leonard. The two have different personalities, so you cannot ask Leonard to resemble Ben in every way. He has his strengths. You shouldn't be biased, Charlie, if you keep pushing him like that, Leonard will feel hurt."

Charlie looked at her and said, "Okay, I'll pay attention to it. You are so considerate, and it's no wonder they both like you so much."

Charlie could tell that both of the boys were close to Theresa.

Cristina sat on the couch, looked at the neat home, and exclaimed, “Sweetie, you’re wonderful.”

Theresa took a glance at her and asked, “You haven’t eaten, have you?”

“No, I’ll order a takeaway.”

Ordering take-out was a regular operation for Cristina to solve the problem of eating. She always did it when she was home alone, and she never even used the kitchen at home.

Theresa said, “I brought some food from home. I’ll make dinner, don’t go out, Leonard hasn’t eaten either.” “I thought their father prepared dinner.” Cristina asked, “Didn’t Leonard eat?”

The Calsis family had always been generous. Cristina had a meal there before and still missed the delicious.

food. Especially the dishes cooked by Brenda, which were the most delicious food ever.

Theresa told her about how Charlie had punished Leonard, and Cristina sneered, “He’s just targeting me! It’s a good thing I’m not the mother of the two kids, otherwise, I would have been really pissed off at him. But you’d better find a chance to talk to Charlie about the kids! We can’t keep lying to him.”

Theresa said, “I’m also trying to find a proper way to tell him.”

She also felt that it was necessary to tell him the truth. Every time he talked about Cristina behind her back, Cristina looked at Leonard and said, "Charlie is so out of line, how dare he bully our Leonard. Leonard is so Theresa said, "Stop saying that. The relationship between his father and he has been bad enough."

Cristina said, "You go back and tell Charlie that if he ever treats Leonard badly again, I won't let him get away with it."

Theresa smiled a little and said, "Got it. I'll tell him."

After the meal, Theresa washed the dishes and then came out. Leonard followed her and held her hand as if he was afraid of losing her.

Theresa looked at him and asked, "Don't feel sad anymore, right?"

Leonard nodded, "Yes."

Charlie looked at him, but before he said anything, Ben just picked up the cup and poured some water as if he

This little guy was really good at flattering!

Although Theresa was very pleased to see them getting along so well, she also felt jealous.

It felt like someone had stolen her son.

Although it was his responsibility to take care of the boy, from beginning to end, it was Ben who was taking care of him. No matter what he wanted to take, Ben ran straight over to help him, for fear that he would have at disability and couldn't get what he wanted.

After drinking the water, Charlie looked at Theresa and asked, "Have you seen Cristina?"

"Yes."

"Did she make things difficult for you?"

Theresa replied, "No."

How could Cristina make things difficult for her?

"No." Leonard refused.

"Why? Don't you like Daddy the most?"

"He doesn't like me," Leonard sat on the ground and played with his model, acting calm.

But Theresa could still see the disappointment in his eyes.

Theresa asked the two boys to play in the room and then went to find Charlie.

However, it was not appropriate for the two boys to be there when she helped Charlie with acupuncture.

Seeing she came back along, Charlie asked, "Where's Ben?"

"He's playing in the room," said Theresa, "I let them play for a while and do their homework."

After Theresa performed acupuncture on Charlie, she felt it was necessary to say something to him.

"Charlie, could you be nice to Leonard?"

Hearing her words, Charlie frowned and said, "I am nice to him."

"You are so tolerant of Ben and so strict with him. It is easy to make him feel that you love Ben more than him.
