Chapter 221

Seeing the circle of friends he posted at this moment, all the friends below were shocked, [Fuck, Mr. Calsis, {Hey, no, who took this picture for you? }

Jonathan silently glanced at his own Mr. Calsis, tsk tsk, even if you sprinkle dog food, you have to consider his feelings as a dog, okay? After all, he was in the car.

Soon, they arrived home. The car stopped at the door, and Theresa got out of the car first, waiting for Charlie.

Jimmy is back too. His car was parked aside, he got out of the car and saw Theresa with a complicated expression. Rose came out and walked up to him, "Husband." She took Jimmy's hand affectionately, and Jimmy saw her and responded, but couldn't squeeze out a smile.

Theresa couldn't help laughing! I find it very funny. Originally, Jimmy was overjoyed because Rose was pregnant.

Mrs. Calsis is in the dining room, coaxing Leonard and Ben to eat.

Although it wasn't time to eat yet, she had already helped the two babies prepare their favorite shrimp rice, '

Rose glanced at the two children and didn't have the energy to control them. She is about to die of sadness

Mrs. Calsis said, "What's the matter?" She picked up the spoon and fed Ben, "Come on, Ben, be sweet, eat a Rose said: "It's Jimmy 's business."

"What can Jimmy do?" Hearing that it was Jimmy's business, Mrs. Calsis didn't care anymore! Especially last

When Mrs. Calsis heard this, he glared at him, "Charlie, why are you like this? I asked you to coax. Forget distressed that he wanted to drive Charlie away quickly.

Cristina followed Charlie in, clasping her hands, standing aside, watching this scene, wishing she could give the two babies a compliment. Great job! That's how they should be taught! Let them know how important Theresa is!

Rose saw her and said, "Sister Cristina, come over and coax the child!" Why didn't she even coax her own mother, can't compare to Theresa? This unscientific!

But, even so, Mrs. Calsis had nothing to do. Seeing the two babies who refused to eat, she was finally relieved to eat now, and she breathed a sigh of relief.

Charlie looked at Mrs. Calsis and said, "Do you have any comments now?"

Rose sat aside, her face ashen. It never occurred to her that one day, Cristina's child would love Theresa so much. She said with a sullen face, "Uncle Charlie, why did you give me Jimmy's project in the company to someone else? How can you say that he is also my husband, will it be too obvious for you to target him?"

Mrs. Calsis looked at Rose, then at Charlie.

Charlie said calmly, as if he had done nothing wrong, "You are pregnant, there are too many things in the company, I will let others help him share it and leave more time for you. Do you think it is okay to let him

Rosales was sitting next to Rose and was about to serve Rose 's food when he saw Theresa sitting here and was stunned, "Didn't you leave? Why are you back?" It seemed that Theresa shouldn't be here.

Theresa saw Rosales, "I'm so sorry, I'm back. But you can be here as an outsider, why can't I be here?" Rosales said: "Am I an outsider? I'm a family with Rose !" She is very fond of Rose! I also know that Rose is pregnant now and knows how to hold Rose 's thighs.

Speaking of which, she looked at the two children beside her, and Cristina ...Is she an outsider? Theresa is it! After all, the mother of the two children has already been invited to the house! Charlie heard Rosales and said, "I know you're talking about Theresa, and in the whole family, Rose has a bad

"No, Mr. Calsis, I..." Rosales was about to defend when he heard Charlie say, "Actually, I think you're right."

"Huh?" Hearing this, Rosales was dumbfounded. She must have heard it wrong! Charlie actually thought she was making sense.

Rosales breathed a sigh of relief and said to Charlie, "Mr. Calsis, I didn't mean to embarrass your daughter-in-law, it's just that she was married to our Jimmy before... Women are always jealous. Mrs. Calsis raised her head and glanced at Rose. Of course she hoped that Rose would live by her side, but...

glanced at Rosales beside Rose, and was full of disgust for this woman. Rosales has been staying at

Yet Charlie was wise enough to flee away with a pretext, “I’ll go for the treatment of my legs.” He then

Mrs. Calsis sighed as Charlie went away. She was about to blame Theresa, but halted on second thought when she saw the twin boys, who loved Theresa so much that any criticism aiming at Theresa would only trigger their resentment to Mrs. Calsis.

Theresa knew it well that Mrs. Calsis had a complaint about her, and thus decided to leave in case of any further trouble. “I’ll go upstairs too.” said she.

Ben nodded and offered like an adult, "Let me see you off."

Mrs. Calsis began to worry Cristina would take the kid away with her, and thus followed them outside.

Cristina told Ben to stop at the gate and Ben obeyed. Mrs. Calsis was a little surprised to see that. How come Ben was so placid now while he even threatened with a "hunger strike" in the morning? They boys really placed more weight on Theresa than Cristina? Mrs. Calsis thus asked Ben, "Do you prefer your mother or Theresa?"
