

Divorcement 411

Chapter 411

Jonathan looked at Theresa. To ease the tension, he said, "Madam, did you call Mr. Cameron about our past?"

Theresa nodded, "Yes."

Jonathan said, "It seemed that Mr. Cameron doesn't like Mr. Calsis. If they quarrel, please try to interfere with them."

Hearing that, Theresa looked at Charlie and said coldly, "Well, I don't think I could solve it."

As soon as Theresa finished speaking, she felt Charlie staring at her.

Charlie looked at Theresa and said, "What do you mean?"

Theresa said, "Nothing. I just don't like you."

"Why?"

"You know it."

When the car arrived at the parking lot of the hospital, Theresa got out of the car and watched Jonathan take out Charlie's wheelchair. Jonathan took Charlie out of the car and moved him to the wheelchair.

Charlie would only be generous to Theresa. For others, he was still a bad-tempered man.
Hearing that, Johnson didn't say anything.
Theresa stood up and pushed Charlie's wheelchair to the lounge outside. "I need to talk to my dad for a while. I'll ask you to come in later."
Charlie looked at her. "Hum."
Theresa said, "I'm trying, OK?"
Theresa needed to mediate between Charlie and her father.
Hearing that, Charlie gazed at Theresa.
Theresa looked at Charlie gently. "Wait for me."
When Theresa calmed Charlie down, Theresa entered the ward.
She sat down, looked at her father, and said, "Dad, you should care about Charlie's feelings. After all, we are a family now. Charlie came to visit you today. He didn't know how to communicate with people, but he did want to please you."
Johnson said, "Of course, I care about his feelings, but he always tries to criticize me. I thought it would be inconvenient for him to visit me, so I asked him not to come here."

After all, Charlie was the one who almost made the Cameron family go bankrupt.

How could Charlie not be afraid of him?

Charlie looked at Theresa, who had been angry in the morning, and took the opportunity to hold her hand. “Are you not angry with me?”

When they got off the car, Theresa didn’t want to speak with Charlie at all.

Theresa said, “Well, we will talk about it later.”

Charlie was speechless.

Charlie followed Theresa into the ward.

Johnson sat on the bed, and Theresa looked at Charlie, "This is my father. You can call him Mr. Cameron."

Theresa's father didn't get along well with Charlie, so Theresa could only mediate between them.

Hearing Theresa's words, Charlie asked, "Did Jimmy call him Mr. Cameron as well?"

Theresa sat next to her father and ate breakfast with him.

Sitting aside and looking at Theresa, Charlie knew that she was happy to stay with her father.

So, although Johnson made him suffer a little, he could also accept it.

At noon, Leah and Sarah came over.

Seeing Charlie and Theresa here, Sarah was a little surprised, "Why are you here?"

When Charlie saw Sarah, he didn't say a word.

He was not bad-looking. Except for his bad legs, he was good in every way.

He was Charlie, and no one would mind what he wore.

But his serious look at this moment made Theresa feel strange.

Looking at Charlie, she was suddenly surprised to find, "Charlie, did you get a haircut?"

He gave her a blank look, "You're just now noticing?"

Jonathan explained, "He cut it yesterday afternoon.'

"I really didn't notice that." Theresa said, "Why are you cutting your hair?"

His hair wasn't long.

Charlie said, "It looks good this way."

But then Theresa cheated on his son.

Eric did not expect that Johnson would dare to appear at his birthday party today. Thinking about it, Eric smiled and walked up to Johnson, "Hello, Mr. Cameron." Johnson looked to Eric, not expecting to meet Jimmy's father here.

Jimmy stood next to Eric, and when he saw Johnson, he called out, He used to call Johnson's dad, but now he called him uncle.

In fact, Jimmy hadn't seen Johnson for a long time.

"Uncle."

Since his divorce from Theresa, he had not had much contact with the Cameron family.

He had risen in his career and married Rose, so he had long ago not put the Cameron family in his eyes.

When he saw Jimmy and heard him call himself uncle, Johnson raised his hand and slapped Jimmy in the face. Jimmy did not expect Johnson to slap him at all.

Leah was standing next to Johnson, and when she saw this, she was shocked and rushed to hold Johnson, "Old

Chapter 417

Everyone knew about his daughter’s ‘disgraceful’ things.

Everyone thought he couldn’t teach his daughter well despite that he had a clean reputation.

And Jimmy, after divorcing Theresa, went up in his career.

Everyone thought he was unlucky to have married Theresa in the first place.

Johnson used to have a good reputation because he was righteous and loved to help others.

People nowadays could not bear to have any stain on a good person, therefore, everyone mocked him when they caught the opportunity.

In addition to the fact that the Cameron family was about to go bankrupt with Sarah running away from her marriage, everyone was even less friendly to him.

Now when they see Johnson, all would like to come out and scold him for a few words.

Anyway, he would not retort?

Because his daughter had done something bad, he had no face to say anything back.

everyone was on his side, Eric looked contemptuously at Johnson, "Old Johnson, confused that you even forgot what your daughter did, so my son today."

Jimmy was so good at acting that he actually believed his daughter would cheat on him at first without suspecting Jimmy at all.

If Johnson hadn't heard those recordings last time, he probably would never have known the truth in his life. Jimmy said, "I don't know what you mean."

Rose was in the banquet hall with Luna, taking care of Luna's son Jake, and when she heard the noise outside, she came out and saw that the outside looked very crowded. Seeing Jimmy and Eric standing together, she went to Jimmy's side. And looking at Johnson and Leah, she asked, "What's going on?" Seeing her, Jimmy said, "Why are you out? Go inside, and nothing's wrong."

Rose looked over at him, a little worried, "I heard you got beat up?"

As she walked over, she heard people talking.

Someone said Jimmy was beaten up.

Before he had a chance to speak, he saw that Eric standing aside argued with Johnson, "I don't know what

Thinking about all this, Johnson was so angry that his body was trembling.

He did not ask anyone else, but he only stared at Jimmy.

Judging from Johnson’s attitude, Jimmy felt that Johnson was bent on asking for the truth.

Rose stood aside, looking at Jimmy as well.

With her watching, Jimmy couldn’t possibly admit it.

For the rest of his life, he would never admit it willingly!

Jimmy forced himself to say, “Uncle, I don’t know whom you’re hearing this from. I didn’t do anything wrong to Theresa.”

Anyway, everyone knew that Theresa cheated on him.

And his life couldn’t be ruined.

Theresa stood outside the crowd and pulled the corners of her mouth when she heard Jimmy’s words.

Rose stood aside and looked at Theresa saying, "Theresa, does my Uncle Charlie know what you are doing? If it weren't for my Uncle Charlie's disabled legs, it's impossible for you, a cheating and divorced woman, to marry him. It must be because my husband owed you in his last life, so he was bullied by you like this, and now your father even comes to beat him up."

She really couldn't stand to see it anymore.

In the Calsis Family, Charlie defended Theresa, so they were tolerant of her.

But she didn't expect that Theresa would be so arrogant now.

It was obvious that she did something wrong to Jimmy, and now even her father was arrogant and tried to blame Jimmy for the divorce.

When the crowd heard Rose's words, they all looked at Theresa.

"Isn't it Sarah who is engaged to Charlie? Why did she marry Charlie?"

"Because Sarah ran away from the marriage, Johnson had no choice but to let his divorced daughter marry Charlie instead."
