

Divorcement 481

Chapter 481

Hearing this, Eugene sighed helplessly, "Then wait for me to come back." He was acutely aware that Theresa was much more important than him in her heart, but he was the one who had failed her at first, and he couldn't complain.

Since Eugene promised to visit Theresa, Cristina agreed to stay at his home. After Eugene watched her nod, he left.

Theresa had already finished her meal. She had little appetite after the alcohol, and she took Leonard and Ben upstairs to take a shower after dinner. Charlie followed her up and she asked, "Did Sarah go to find you today?"

Sarah said, [You really don't want to know, don't you?]

[Do you think I'll forgive you for what you did before if you say this?] Charlie replied, [Do you want to die?]

Eugene and [I don't want to die, I want you.] Sarah sent a cute emoji. [Eugene is their dad. Theresa used to be friends in college and they had known each other a long time ago. Eugene had been loving Theresa for many years.] Afraid that she would not be able to say it, she hurriedly told the truth.

The next second, Charlie directly blacklisted her, but Eugene had been deeply impressed in his mind. He didn't expect it was he but somehow he recalled that Theresa was sent back by him in the afternoon. He thought Eugene might not know what happened to Theresa since he was abroad, otherwise he would come back to help her.

"Mr. Calsis, Mr. Oneill is coming over." Jonathan knocked on the door and stood in the doorway. to inform him.

Hearing his name, Charlie was stunned. He stood up and went downstairs to see Eugene sitting on the couch, asking Brenda about Theresa, "Is Theresa awake yet?"

Pat came down from upstairs just in time to hear his words and was stunned for a moment. He heard about before Eugene went abroad he already had a girlfriend, but he didn't expect it to be Theresa. He was doubt that last time Theresa betrayed Jimmy was to get married to Eugene. Everyone in the living room was dumbfounded for a moment, all looking at Eugene surprisingly. Eugene saw everyone, including Brenda, staring at himself, asking, "Charlie, I don't know what you're talking about, you're thinking too much."

Charlie looked over at Eugene and was about to say something else when Pat came over, "What are you talking about?"

It was something related to Theresa, and Pat always hated Theresa, so in front of him, Charlie did not continue the topic, but just coldly said, "Nothing."

Pat said, "I just talked to Dad for a while and I'm ready to go back. Eugene, what about you?" Eugene glanced at Charlie and said, "I'm going back too. I'll talk to you later, Charlie." He finished and walked out the door with Pat.

his back and sat down with mixed feelings. Although Eugene denied his relationship with Theresa, he was not convinced. He thought Eugene wouldn't admit it when he was still Theresa's husband. He kept suspecting that Eugene was the father of Theresa's children. Otherwise, what else would he have come here today to say this.

Charlie said, "I just want you to tell me the truth. Is it that hard?"

Theresa said, "You want the truth, but Sarah was lying. I wasn't in a relationship with Eugene and never had children with him."

With that, Theresa looked at Charlie. "Well, Charlie, what do you mean? Are you now saying that you believe I cheated when I was with Jimmy? You think I cheated with Eugene back then and that I was pregnant with his children?"

"So, how did you get those two kids?" Charlie looked over at her with a disappointed look on his face. "I would love to believe you, but I don't really know what kind of person you are right now and how much you are hiding from me. You were drunk in the afternoon, and Eugene took you back. If you weren't close, how could you have been drinking with him? He came back to you at night and asked me to be nice to you. And now you're telling me that you weren't in a relationship with him?"

Eugene had taken her back?

Theresa was a bit surprised, but she had gone for a drink with Cristina, so maybe Eugene and Cristina had

She thought, "I'm so humble."

She had done everything, and now she was here to beg him!

She was afraid that he would give her family a hard time if he didn't like it.

He was so freaking powerful!

Charlie sneered when he heard her words. "Yes. Why not? You want it so much. Why should I not make it possible for you? Only, I have a condition for divorce..."

He didn't say what his condition was, so Theresa looked at him and said, "What condition?"

He walked up without answering her. By the time Theresa realized it, she was already pushed down on the bed

If so, what was the difference between him and someone like Jimmy?

When he came over, Jonathan saw Charlie sitting right there, and said, "Mr. Calsis."

Theresa looked at the two little ones and raised the corners of her mouth.

Of course, she had a bond with them.

If not, she wouldn't have given birth to them after ten months of pregnancy.

As they were eating, Pat came over. He saw Leticia and said, "Mom."

Leticia saw him and found it strange. "Why are you here so early in the morning?"

Pat sat down across the table, gazed at Theresa, and asked, "Charlie is not home?"

“He went out last night. Maybe it’s something urgent. You’re just in time. Ask him what he’s been up to.” Leticia had asked Theresa, and Theresa wasn’t sure.

Pat was close to Charlie, so Leticia told him to ask Charlie.

Pat did not call Charlie. He looked at Theresa and said meaningfully, “I think you might as well ask Theresa about this.”

“Theresa doesn’t know where he’s gone either.”

Pat looked at Theresa and said, "As I said, these are things from your past, and I'm not going to accuse you of them. It's just that now I feel the need to make it clear to you."

Theresa tried to say something and stopped when she saw that Leonard and Ben were staring at her. She didn't want to say it in front of the kids. Theresa stood up, looked at Leticia, and said, "I'll take the kids to the kindergarten, Leticia!"

After that, she took Leonard and Ben out of their chairs and got out of the dining room with them.

Theresa drove the car herself today. In the car, Ben asked, "Mom, are we really Uncle Eugene's kids?"

The corners of her mouth twitched as Theresa heard Ben's question. She said, "Of course not." How could they be Eugene's children when they both looked exactly like Charlie?

Theresa wondered why she was hearing these ridiculous things early in the morning.

Then again, Pat had always been mean to her.

Theresa didn't even know what to say when she heard it.

Theresa asked, "Is Eugene here?"

"He's gone to work."

"You don't have to work today?"

Cristina covered her belly and sat on the couch. Theresa followed her and gave her a look. "What? Eugene was so good last night that you can't get out of bed today?"

Hearing Theresa tease her, Cristina glared at Theresa. "No! I'm having my period, my belly is upset, and I have a bit of a cold, so he told me to stay in and have a rest."

"Then why are you blushing?" Theresa said. "If it weren't for your period, I don't think I'd be able to see you today."

"You're so annoying!" Cristina was so angry that she jumped over and punched Theresa twice.

Cristina looked aggressive, but she didn't hit Theresa hard.

Cristina asked, "Why are you in such a hurry to see me?"

"I'm here to see Eugene." Theresa took a look at Eugene's home. He was really rich. His place was so spacious.

"Tess, you've changed. Why do you want to see him? Just because he took you

"You want to know? I can tell you! Theresa and Cristina were out drinking yesterday. I went over there after I saw Cristina's post on WhatsApp Moments. They were very drunk, so I took Theresa back."

"What does Cristina have to do with it? Don't make up such a flimsy excuse!"

"They're friends," Eugene said. "As for Cristina and me... she was my girlfriend before I left the country, and we were together before that!"

Cristina had told him not to let Charlie know this, so he hadn't mentioned it. After all, it was his personal matter. However, Charlie was now so suspicious that he couldn't stand it!

Why should he suffer this kind of aggravation?

If this went on, he wouldn't be able to get rid of the blame.

It was no good for Theresa and him.

Charlie looked at Eugene. "You and Cristina were in a relationship? She was your girlfriend?"
