Chapter 771 We're Going to Get Married

Theresa remained seated in her seat. She was not a moron, so she could tell that the Hollands thought highly of Chandler.

Not only Sam but also Celia seemed to be nice to him.

Sam didn't comment on Dick's behavior but just said to Robert and Leticia, "I'm sorry. Dick has always been reckless. Sorry for troubling you!"

Dick got worked up as he listened to his father's words. Sam was so polite to the people from the Calsis family, but he actually ignored his own son.

Dick wondered if he really disgraced his father so much.

Theresa looked at Dick and knew that he must be very angry now.

If she were Dick, she would be angry as well.

She comforted, "Eat something!"

Theresa looked at Charlie. She wanted to say yes. After all, she had nothing to do with Charlie. Since she had pretended to be Charlie's wife, why couldn't she pretend to be Dick's girlfriend at the moment?

However, Charlie's eyes were fixed on her, which made her unable to nod.

Dick smiled and said, "What's wrong? Mr. Calsis, do you want me to prove that I'm dating Theresa? I told you. why don't you believe me?"

Dick lowered his head to kiss Theresa in front of everyone.

Seeing that Dick was approaching her, Theresa raised her hand to stop him and reminded, "Enough is enough."

Dick stopped. But from Charlie's point of view, the two of them seemed to have kissed.

Dick looked at Theresa and asked in a low voice, "Do you still love him?"

Theresa said, "Mr. White, Charlie, and I have two children. And I haven't gotten over him yet."

"So I think I need to stay by your side." Dick looked at Theresa and said, "You know what kind of person Charlie is. Has he been harassing you recently? He'll pester you forever unless you get married. If you married me, it would be good for both you and me. What do you think?"

Theresa glanced at him and said, "I don't think it's a good idea."

"You can plan to do it now," said Dick.

"No, I don't plan to do that," Theresa said. "Please don't push me anymore and don't make fun of me. If you insist, I'm afraid I can't do acupuncture for you anymore."

The twinkling light in Dick's eyes went out. He sighed and said, "Forget it. I won't push you since you don't want it."

Dick admitted that he proposed to Theresa simply because he wanted to annoy Charlie.

But when Theresa refused him, Dick felt an indescribable loss.

If Dick were to marry Theresa, how would the people from the Calsis family think of him?

Dick didn't care about his dignity, but Sam did.

Chandler said, "I don't think I can convince him."

If he could, such a thing wouldn't have happened.

"Please persuade him," said Sam. "Thank you, Chandler!"

Over the years, Chandler had to deal with a lot of trouble because of Dick.

Chandler said, "All right. Don't mention it! I'll go to see him later."

Compared with Dick, Chandler felt that he should be more worried about Charlie.

Of course, Charlie didn't want to give Dick the chance.

But now, Theresa really seemed to be Dick's girlfriend.

Besides, she looked very happy with Dick by her side.

Roderick sighed, "Don't think about it anymore. Everyone has his or her own life. What Theresa is thinking about is the most important. She doesn't know that you are worried about her here. Since she chooses Dick, she should be responsible for her decision."

Charlie crushed the beer can in his hand.

He frowned and said, "I just hate myself for not treating her well when she was with me. I hate myself for letting her leave me and end up like this."

Roderick said in a deep voice, "Honestly, I was really worried about you when you got a divorce, but now that things have come to this point, you should try to get over it. You can't maintain the relationship between you two alone. Maybe you and she are just not meant to be. Don't force it."

Charlie picked up a glass and took a look at Roderick. Every time Charlie met some difficulties, Roderick was always there to comfort him. "Let's have a drink."

Roderick took a look at him and picked up a glass as well. But what Roderick drank was not wine, but water.

"Be optimistic, Charlie! Look at you. You shouldn't look like this.

Roderick sighed inwardly and suddenly felt that

Theresa asked Roderick, "What's going on, Dr. Hill?"

"Charlie was drunk and said he wanted to come back to see his children, so I drove him back." Roderick smiled at Theresa and asked, "Is Dick here?"

Theresa was stunned. It seemed Roderick had known what had happened during the dinner.

She replied, "No."

Roderick said, "Which room does Charlie sleep in? Let me help him go upstairs. Otherwise, you can't move him into the room after I leave."

Charlie was nearly 1.9 meters tall. It was quite difficult for Theresa and Brenda to help him go upstairs.

Theresa said, "Please help him into the guest room."

Roderick smiled. "Okay."

After hearing what Theresa had to say, Roderick nodded and help Charlie together with Jonathan, heading upstairs.

When Theresa entered her room, she saw them help Charlie lie on the bed.

Brenda said, "I'm going to make some Prairie Oyster for him."

Theresa nodded. "Thank you, Brenda."

Jonathan was taking care of Charlie.

Roderick walked up and looked at Theresa. "I've heard you are going to marry Dick. Is that true? Charlie is very sad. He drank all night."

Theresa looked at the man on the bed and responded with a smile, "Charlie and I have broken up.

Roderick smiled and said, "I know. I don't mean to persuade you to get back together with Charlie. I just think... it is necessary to tell you. Theresa, if you really love Dick, I hope you will be happy. But... I hope. you won't stand on Dick's side and hurt Charlie. You know how much Charlie cares about you. Everything you do could make him sadder."

If Roderick had told Charlie earlier about the children, so many things wouldn't have happened.

At that time, Roderick just respected Theresa and didn't want to interfere too much in their affairs.

"Mommy, I want it, too," said Ben, jealous.

Leonard said, "Just let Dad kiss you."

"Why?" Ben, who had just gone to bed, moved over and gave Theresa a hug. "I love both Daddy and Mommy. Mommy, kiss me!"

With that, Ben wrapped his arms around Theresa's neck, raised his head, and kissed her on the cheek, which melt Theresa's heart.

She helped Ben lie down and whispered, "Good boy! Time to sleep."

Although the two kids usually slept on separate beds, they were fine with sleeping together.

Although Leonard was cold, he still cared about his brother. They were twins who grew up together, so they were actually quite close.

Theresa stayed with the two kids until they fell asleep. Then she got up and lay down on the other empty bed.

As soon as she lay down, there was a knock on the door.

Afraid that it would wake up the two kids, Theresa stood up immediately and opened the door, only to see

Before Theresa could say anything, Jonathan and Brenda had already left.

Theresa looked at the closed door and found it was too late to leave.

Hearing the door closing, Charlie opened his eyes again and went back to sleep after confirming that Theresa was still there.

Theresa complained inwardly, "He's holding my hand. Is he still afraid that I'll run away?"

The room was quiet. Theresa lay down on the bed, with a pillow distance between her and Charlie. She held the pillow and looked at the man. Her hand was held by him, and she could not fall asleep at all.

Theresa leaned on her elbow with her head in her hand and stared at him for a long time.

Theresa didn't want to argue with him anymore.

She shoved him away, picked up her phone, and made a call.

Leaning against her pillow, she ordered, "Jonathan, come and pick him up!"

Jonathan could feel Theresa's displeasure. He nodded and said, "Okay, I'll be right there."

Jonathan didn't leave Theresa's residence but slept in the guest room the night before because he was afraid that Charlie would cause trouble for Theresa if he left.

At the moment, Jonathan just woke up.

After a while, Jonathan knocked on the door.

Charlie stood by the bed and looked at Theresa coldly. Theresa didn't mind. Although he was staring at her, she still lazily hypnotized herself, as if she was about to fall asleep.

Charlie said, "I can't stop you from marrying Dick. I just hope that you won't do anything that makes me misunderstand you from now on."
