

jealousy

Vanessa's p.o.v

I melt in Alex's hands. He pulls me into him and kisses me and I can't help it but kiss him back. It has been so long that I kiss anyone. Makes me realize how pathetic I am and how far gone my marriage was. Eric was never much of a kisser. I swear I always thought I was kissing wrong, like I was the problem, but Alex doesn't seem to mind my kiss or my awkwardness. I pull away when I can't breathe. "Go out with me tomorrow," he tells me. "Out? where?" I ask him, completely shocked. I was not expecting this. "Let me take you on a date?" he asks me. "I would, Alex. This is very nice of you, but who would I leave the kids with? I can't ask my sister to babysit. We just moved here and I just can't do that." I say, feeling bad that I can't just go out and do whatever I want. "Plus, I am not even divorced yet. My ex won't sign the papers. What would people say? Plus, what about you and Foxy? If you two have something going on, I don't want to interfere." I say, and look down, feeling bad. For some reason, I really want to go on this date that he is asking me out on. "I don't give a sh!t about your divorce. You are separated. You aren't with him. You are a single woman. I have nothing to do with Foxy. She is like a sister to me. I have never seen her as anything but a sister. She has tried to get me to see her a different way, but I just can't and about your kids, let's take them with us. I know you are a packaged deal and if there's no babysitter, then they go with us. Now, if you want to go on a date just you and I alone, my parents would love to babysit. I trust them completely. Your kids will be safe with them." he tells me, and I feel things I haven't felt in so long. This man is breaking my walls down. How? We just freaking met. "Look, think about it. I will be here in the morning to show the kids my bike and you let me know what you decide then, okay?" he asks and I nod. "I'm going to go so you can go back inside. It is getting cold." he says. "Goodnight." I say, and he bends down and kisses me again. We pull apart and he walks to his bike and leaves. Maybe Verlene was right about him.

I go inside and tell her everything. "You have to go on a date. Alone sister. Buck and I will come here to babysit," she tells me. "Verlene, you don't think it is too soon?" I ask her, but she shakes her head. "No, stop this Vanessa, it is time you move on and start making yourself happy for once, put yourself rst. Alex is a good man. He doesn't sleep around with the club girls. I would know. I know that almost all the men, even with old ladies, they fu.ck the club girls, but he doesn't even have an old lady and he doesn't fu.ck them. They all try and they try a lot, but he isn't even interested. He doesn't look their way," she tells me. I think about what she is saying. He did say that he only sees Foxy like a sister. "Only if you are sure sister. I don't want you to think that I am taking advantage of you." I say. "Oh stup!d girl. I just want to see you happy. Go on this date, have a good time and get some monster d!ck" she says and laughs her a$$ off. Urrgghh, I swear she never changes.

We wake up the next day and I give the kids a quick breakfast and then we head outside. Franco and Anthony are outside. We get 2 steps out the door and Valeria is ying down the driveway towards Anthony. I hear a motorcycle and soon enough, Alex is pulling into the driveway. Franco looks surprised to see him, but doesn't say anything. Julian, of course, runs to him and so does Anthony, and Valeria follows him. Victoria sits off to the side, playing with her doll. "Give me a minute." I tell Franco and walk to Alex. "Goodmorning sunshine!" he tells me. "Goodmorning," I say. "Mom, look how cool", Julian says. I smile. "Did you think about what I asked you? Do you have an answer for me?" he asks me and I nod. "I'll go out with you tonight. The kids will stay here with Verlene. She offered when I mentioned it." I say, and he gives me a wide smile that I don't think I have ever seen before. He always has the same face. He kind of looks like he is always mad. "Can I drive it?" Julian asks. I shake my head so Alex knows not to put my kid on the bike. "I will be over there if you guys need me." I tell them and turn around and walk away.

Alex (monster's p.o.v)

I watch Franco start the lesson and I already have a problem with it. He is touching her. "Okay kids, look how cool that looks. Should we go join Ocer Franco's class? Then we can check out my bike after?" I ask them, making it sound like what he is doing is exciting. "Yes, one of the twins says and runs over there. "Go jump on Ocer Franco and tell him you want him to teach you too." I tell the boys and they do it. I know it is a cheap shot, but it got him away from Vanessa and now I can swoop in and help her. "Your form is wrong." I tell her and move her legs. "Thanks" she whsipers. Franco looks over at us. "We decided to join your class." I tell him and he nods. He better be getting the hint. He says everything that needs to be done out loud and the kids try to do what he says and so does Vanessa. Everytime he tries to get near her, I take over and help her. "The kids love you, you can help them and I will help her." I tell him. Vanessa glares at me. Did she really think I would be able to stand here, and watch him with his hands on her and I would just be okay with it? In my mind, she is already mine. I don't care about all of those things she cares about. Fu.ck the rules and what anyone thinks. I want to make her happy. Hopefully tonight goes well. I have a feeling she came here for me to nd and make her mine.