

Doomsday 33

Chapter 33: Moving to a new home

While taking a bath, Di Ping was familiar with several skills he had acquired in his mind. These skills have not been studied carefully since he acquired them.

Exploration, this is a skill that the system earns and rewards. It is undoubtedly very powerful. Although Di Ping uses very little, he feels that this skill is very practical. Not only can you see the opponent's strength, you can also explore some unknown things. Its function.

Flame enhancement, only now Di Ping understands what is going on. This skill is to hold the flame on the palm or weapon to increase the flame damage. It can be said to be a very useful skill, should it be regarded as an ability?

Di Ping looked at the three skills he learned when he started the warrior career. These three skills can be said to be the best use of the warrior's combat power. Although it is very basic, it is undoubtedly a help for Di Ping. Furthermore, relying on pure strength, for example, slashing skills are actually focusing their strength and quickly swinging weapons, causing damage to the enemy. This is a technique of using strength, and taunting skills are a kind of use of mental power to provoke the enemy. It is a means to make the opponent angry. Di Ping doesn't understand the principle at all. The collision is the use of force to explode quickly, and the speed is stimulated to quickly rush into the enemy. One is to quickly approach the enemy, and the other is to use impact to hit the enemy and cause damage. .

The three skills are not the kind of powerful feeling that destroys the world, but Di Ping thinks they are practical. These skills can be said to be able to maximize their own strength. They are quite useful. The difference between skills and no skills is It's very big. For example, Di Ping now feels that he can hit ten when he didn't change his job.

Di Ping had already familiarized himself with the skills and took a good bath. Then he went out of the bathroom. It took a long time to find a piece of clothing and barely put it on. Originally, Di Ping didn't care much about wearing it. There were only two or three summer clothes. The damage rate of his clothes is too high these days. Now he has no clothes to wear. Fortunately, he will wear two old clothes...

Breakfast is not a rich one. Although there are a lot of supplies now, everyone knows that this kind of food is eaten less. Over time, who knows how the end times will develop and how long it will last, so everyone is conscious of saving food. In the morning, I made some steamed buns, cooked some porridge, and opened a few bags of mustard greens. Everyone still ate very delicious, especially the people who were rescued by Di Ping felt very happy.

After breakfast, Di Ping first took the people living in his room and walked downstairs. Fatty, Luo Quanyou, Cheng Chao, Yu Shujie and Nunnan also followed. Li Shengshang is still not well, act. He was still uncomfortable and didn't let him follow, and the three newly joined Ye Lu girlfriends also followed. The other two women seemed very afraid that they would not come out at all, so they let them take care of Li Sheng.

Everyone followed Di Ping all the way to the back of the building. The entire community was full of giant trees towering into the sky and the weeds under the trees that were reaching waist-deep. The trembling eyes of a few people looked carefully to the left and right. It seems that there will be monsters rushing out of this bush at any time.

"Brother Di! How far is it?"

The fat man was the most timid. At this time, he asked Di Ping with a trembling voice, bending over his eyes and scanning the surroundings secretly and quickly, like an injured little rabbit.

"almost!"

Holmium Ping looked back at the fat man, and said with a smile, "Why are you scared!"

"The grandson is afraid!"

The fat man was most afraid that people would look down on him. When Di Ping said he was afraid, he immediately raised his voice.

"Speak down! Don't invite mutant dogs!"

Cheng Chao followed the Fatty and gave a low voice.

"Oh!"

The fat man seemed to feel that his voice was loud too, and he squeezed his head and hurriedly covered his mouth with his hands, his eyes swept around in horror, and he touched his head when he saw no movement.

The small high-rise building is not too far from the villa area, only about 300 meters, because there is a small garden area in the middle, and the villa area can be reached through the small garden area. The viewing trees in the garden have grown extremely large. There were no traces of the original landscape road. Everyone could only divide the grass forward, with one foot deep and one shallow foot. It was extremely difficult to walk. This short distance of several hundred meters actually took more than ten minutes.

When he stood in front of the castle again, Di Ping felt the majesty of the castle. This was different from what he saw last night. It was too dark last night and it was not really true. Only then did he see clearly. The castle was bathed in the morning. In the bright sunlight, dazzling light reflected on the glass windows of the castle, and the tall towers cast long shadows on the ground in the sunlight.

The castle covering an area of ten acres is like a city sitting on the ground, and the surrounding tall city walls are more like copper walls and iron walls, giving people a sense of security.

A group of people stood on the bridge and watched all of this with dull gaze. They are familiar with this community. Whoever lives in this community does not know that this villa with the largest area has been visited. The good thing is that it is in the middle of the garden. Many people have seen it for a walk, so they are a little surprised. The villa didn't seem to be that big before, right? When was it rebuilt? Everyone was at a loss.

No one would have thought that Di Ping used the system to realize it. Although there are still many people who believe in ghosts and gods in modern society, it is still unimaginable for many people to have such a surreal thing. Therefore, everyone thought it was modified by someone. Wouldn't think that people have changed.

The castle door opened slowly with a creak, and a group of people were shocked, watching the slowly opening castle door with some nervousness.

"Let's go!"

At this moment, Di Ping saw the gate open, but he greeted everyone and walked off the bridge first to the castle gate.

"Brother Di!"

Several people exclaimed in the back!

"It's okay! Come on!"

Di Ping didn't turn his head back, just waved back.

Looking at Di Ping, the few people didn't mean to stop at all. They gritted their teeth and looked at each other at the end, and then they stepped forward to chase Di Ping quickly.

"Master welcomes you back!"

When Di Ping walked to the door, the door was completely opened, and Patton walked out quickly from the inside to give a salute to Di Ping.

"Where is Boogie?"

When Di Ping left yesterday, Boogie came to Patton to arrange the defense of the castle, so he asked when he saw that Patton was the only one.

"Buji went to inspect the territory early in the morning for safety!"

Patton followed Di Ping into the door and replied respectfully.

"You come in!"

Di Ping stepped into the door and seemed to feel wrong. When he looked back, everyone looked at him like a monster, and then he said hello.

"Don't worry, his name is Button..."

Di Ping saw how many people looked at Patton in amazement and immediately understood that there was a weird castle and an old man in the West. What if there is no doubt? Had to stand up and explain.

"Hello everyone! I am Barton, the steward of the castle! Welcome to the master's castle!"

Patton bowed to everyone with a respectful manner. These people are friends of the master. He must have corresponding respect, and his attitude is very good.

No matter how surprised a group of people are, when they arrive in the castle, they are stunned by everything in front of them. The castle is simply beautiful, with bright lights, clean and tidy environment, elegant rooms, beautiful bathrooms, and perfect meeting and training venues. , It's great to live here.

A group of people have let go of all their fears, running around and watching, everything seems to be fresh and surprising, too, don't these people here have seen everything, right? I have never heard of it before, even Di Ping was full of surprise when he saw it for the first time, as if Grandma Liu entered the Grand View Garden.

Di Ping smiled and watched all of this. Watching these people rushing up and down for a while, the girls ran around in the hall, and curiously touched this and that from time to time. It seemed that everything was It is so intriguing.

After a full hour of madness, everyone woke up from a state of madness, gathered in the hall, and then looked at Di Ping's eyes as if looking at the gods, and the heart was even more agitated. Not only can Di Ge be able to fight, but also Finding such a good place is simply a god. No one knows that these things are manifested by Di Ping, let alone believe it. Of course Di Ping can't tell them.

"Brother Di! Will we live here in the future?"

The fat man rubbed his hands with surprise on his face, and licked his face and asked Di Ping with a smile.

"Yes! We will start moving here today!"

Di Ping smiled and watched everyone reply.

"Wow!"

Everyone immediately jumped up and shouted in excitement.

"You can choose a room on the second floor!"

Di Ping, everyone calmed down from the excitement, and then said to them.

"Brother! Can I live on the third floor?"

At this time, the fat man suddenly looked at Di Ping with a flattering look.

"What do you mean?"

Di Ping looked at the fat man calmly and said lightly.

"Ah! Whoever wants to live on the third floor, who just said that he wants to live on the third floor, the second floor is good, the room happens to live in Shuxin, who dares to say that the second floor is not good, I am anxious with him!"

The fat man wailed immediately, then turned straight, looked at the crowd and said loudly.

Everyone looked at the fat man speechlessly. Can people say no to the fat man? Who said it, not what you said, can people be more shameless? But the fat man also asked everyone what they thought, who didn't want to live in a better room. Although the second floor is good, the third floor is still incomparable to a presidential apartment.

"I have my own arrangements on the third floor, you will understand in the future!"

Di Ping smiled faintly and looked at the people and said, he guessed that these people might have some thoughts in his heart when he arranged this way, so he thought about explaining, "People who live in this castle in the future are only eligible to live in after they have achieved a certain amount of credit. The third floor is even more demanding, but you can only live in it when certain conditions are met. It is already an exception for you to live directly on the second floor. You have to work hard. If you are caught up by later generations, it will be very shameless!"

"Brother Di, what are the conditions to achieve!"

Cheng Chao is also envious of the conditions on the third floor. He used to be the boss and lived well. Although he is not now, he will certainly want to live better if he has good conditions.

"You are the first group of people with me, so I will give you benefits and move directly into the second floor. Afterwards, the castle will move in. One must become the management, and the other is to achieve a certain contribution value. Later, we will have a contribution system. And the first one is to unlock the potential!"

Di Ping watched the crowd and said three conditions. These conditions were what he thought of last night. The castle is so big. It would be unrealistic for everyone to live in, so classification is necessary.