

Doomsday 74

Chapter 74: The situation is critical

At first, many people thought it was a mutated lion, but when the light shone on the monster again, they could see clearly. It turned out that this was a Tibetan mastiff, a very large Tibetan mastiff.

The black hair is fluffy like a mad lion, and the mouth that opens and closes reveals four long teeth of about ten centimeters. The white is shining with cold light, the long tongue hangs out of the mouth, and the saliva drips on the ground. The underground mall looks even more terrifying, as if blood is dripping from my heart.

The eyes of two table tennis  were shining red and green, and they were strange and cruel. Anyone who was swept by their eyes would feel cold and would not have the courage to look at each other.

The Tibetan Mastiff was originally ferocious and combative, and sometimes even the owner would attack. After the mutation, it became even more terrifying. Everyone, including Han Zhongguo, was also suffering from cold, his calves trembled, and he almost wanted to retreat, but the last reason stopped him. Come down.

The mutant Tibetan mastiff roared in a low voice, staring at the people behind the frame, like an ancient demon god, exuding a violent prehistoric atmosphere, stepping forward step by step, every step of it seems to step on everyone's heart, shaking the heart The blood flowed back, and everyone took a step back every step of the way. Even though there was a frame, everyone could not feel safe.

"Shoot... shoot!"

At this time, Han Zhongguo suppressed his fear and ordered a shot. He didn't dare to wait. When he waited, everyone would be frightened under the aura of this Tibetan mastiff and would not dare to resist.

"Papa..."

A few messy gunfire sounded, and the police team hiding on the frame was also nervous. After hearing Han Zhongguo's order, some people shot randomly after shaking, but these people were already shaking with fear, and the guns were also I couldn't hold it, and only two or three shots hit the scattered shots.

But what is frightening is that the bullet hit the hair of the Tibetan Mastiff, like an arrow into the grass and disappeared without a trace, but the Tibetan Mastiff didn't even move its body, but it still approached the frame step by step.

"Ah! The gun is useless!"

At this moment, someone from the policeman who shot just now suddenly exclaimed. This scream made everyone stupid, and the gun could not be moved.

"Wow..."

Suddenly, the Tibetan Mastiff seemed to be irritated by the shooting. There was a loud roar, and the underground shopping mall suddenly sounded like a thunder explosion. The shocking sound waves and the shocking concrete ceiling all trembled, and many walls fell off.

Some people who were originally timid and weak were even fainted by this sound. The people behind the frame were directly impacted. This sound was like a wave of air, slapped, and made everyone back a few times. Step, one after another screamed and covered his ears.

After the Tibetan Mastiff screamed, his body bowed sharply, his limbs kicked on the ground, the ground cement cracked, and its body rushed into the frame like a mammoth.

"Kaka..."

The originally hard angle iron seemed to have turned into dead wood at this time, and it became torn apart under the impact of the mutant Tibetan mastiff. The entire frame began to violently shake and deform. The policemen hiding on it could no longer stand and fell from the frame. The spearmen who had been in the left and right passages also hurried back at this time.

Every time the Tibetan Mastiff collides, the three- to four-meter frame is broken, and with its sharp claws, every time it is swiped, the angle iron will be as soft as tofu and break. The more the frame is shaken, the more intense the broken part. The bigger it gets, the closer it gets to the end of the side frame.

Everyone was standing ten meters behind the frame at this moment, watching quietly, with despair on their faces. The door was broken and they ran there. There was nowhere to hide. Everyone was supporting each other as if they were already there. Waiting for fate to come.

The people of Han Zhongguo and Ge Zhongping were also ashamed at this time. They did not expect how things would change so badly, how the hope of life was shattered so quickly, how could such a terrible mutant dog appear, it turns out that victory is in sight. , But at this time it is like falling to hell.

"It's over..." Ge Zhongping was about to regret his intestines at this time. He was about to scold Han Zhongguo to death in his heart. How could he die if he didn't follow Han Zhongguo's opinion? No, and now everything is over.

Heaven and * turned out to be so close, only in line.

.....

Several people took a break in the hotel for a while, ate something and drank some water. Di Ping closed his eyes and relaxed for ten minutes, and then took a few people out of the hotel again. It was already noon and he dared not waste time. At night, things are difficult to handle. He has to take advantage of the day to remove the danger from the base.

A few people had just walked a few hundred meters, at most one kilometer away from the market, when they suddenly heard clear gunshots coming from the direction of the mall, and the gunshots were continuous. There seemed to be more than a dozen guns shooting, and the gunshots were chaotic. Several people looked at each other, and their hearts tightened.

"problem occurs?"

Yue Lie also listened, his face suddenly changed.

"go!"

What Di Ping heard was even more true. The sound of the gunshot was mixed with the screams of animals, and he knew that something was wrong, so he hurriedly greeted everyone and ran to the mall with their swords in their hands.

.....

"boom"

With the last loud noise, the mutant Tibetan Mastiff finally broke through the frame barrier and walked towards the crowd. Everyone was shocked, only trembling, some people cried in a low voice, but no one dared Run, not not to run but to run there.

A dozen mutant dogs also followed behind the mutant Tibetan Mastiff, slowly surrounding everyone aside, their blood-red and ferocious eyes staring at the crowd, they might rush to bite at any time.

Han Zhongguo closed his eyes helplessly. At this time, his heart was full of helplessness and pain. No matter how hard he tried to take the people from the underground base to escape, everything was futile in front of the powerful force, no matter what he did. The struggle will eventually fall into the dog's mouth!