

Doomsday 88

Chapter 88: Details of the retreat

While drinking tea, Di Ping happily communicated with Ge Zhongping and Han Zhongguo Lu Guoliang. At this time, Ge Zhongping seemed to have forgotten everything before, and a bright smile always appeared on his face without any discomfort. Di Ping and the three talked and laughed, and exchanged views on the end times from time to time.

These three people are all in high positions. Don't think that high-ranking officials can't laugh. That's wrong. It's just that you don't have the same status as him.

Know that to be an official in the empire, you must not only have the ability and background, but also the ability to perceive words and words.

At this time, the three of them put Di Ping on an equal or even higher position, so there was no official accent when they talked, and Di Ping was not a noob. After being mixed in the mall for a long time, he couldn't throw him on the ground when others showed kindness. , So what the four people chatted with was a fun.

Although it is casual chatting, most of them are about what happened in the end times. From here, I finally know the actual situation of the government's last retreat. Although the radio broadcasted it last time, what I heard was clearer and more comprehensive at this time. They didn't hide them one by one.

The last time I retreated to Zhongzhou Mansion (change of national background, does not affect the content!) Originally, I wanted to conceal ordinary people and mainly evacuated the top level of Zhou Mansion. This was not cruel.

The number of people sent by the main army to respond was too small, and the conventional security forces' weapons were just ordinary weapons, and they were simply unable to protect too many people from evacuation safely. So the Zhou government issued a strict ban on spreading it out, but after all, this information was passed on to anyone who has no family relatives. .

When we set off on the next day, the provincial government actually gathered 50,000 to 60,000 people, which made the officials very helpless, but they can't be driven away when they arrive, right?

Although there are a lot of five to sixty thousand people, it is still too small compared to the city's tens of millions of permanent residents. So I set off with a large army, just thinking too simple. These tens of thousands of people supported five or six kilometers. , And the army sent only more than 300 people to respond. How could it be possible to take care of these many people? So someone was attacked by mutant animals from time to time along the way. Fortunately, there were too many people and mutant animals didn't dare to directly attack the large forces. The casualties were still OK. accept.

The trip in the morning was only four or five kilometers. The officials of the state government sweated on their heads anxiously, and the head of the army stomped anxiously. According to their original plan, they crossed the city until the highway exit and drove away, although it was dangerous. But the speed is much faster, but at the current speed, don't even want to go to the high-speed exit when it gets dark.

The original plan is no longer suitable now. The number of people in the car can be arranged according to the number of people at this time. However, if you walk from the ground to more than 70 kilometers in Bianzhou, it will take six or seven days at such a speed of ten kilometers a day. .

That is to spend five or six nights in the wild. At this time, the night in the wild is not comparable to during the day, and the danger increases exponentially. During the day, there are sudden attacks by mutant animals. How many times will it happen at night?

You didn't see mutant animals flashing by from time to time in the woods on both sides of the road. It seems that these mutant animals have been following the troops to attack at any time.

But no matter how urgent it is, it's useless. There are too many people, the old, the weak, and the sick, and they don't want to go.

The chief officials of Zhoufu began to gather together to discuss what to do in order to explain the problems they are facing. Some people suggested that some leaders should go first under the **** of the troops, and meet the troops left behind by the military at the expressway to quickly arrive at the Bianzhou base. Many people rejected it.

Some officials really did it out of public interest, and felt that doing so was against their purpose of being officials for the people, and a large number of people were out of selfishness. They all have relatives in the large army behind. The number of this early departure team is limited. Maybe too many people were brought there. How could they do it? In the end, this plan ended without a problem.

At the end of the meeting, the meeting broke up unhappily, and there were disagreements among the senior leaders!

At noon, the large army walked to the edge of the Emperor Lake. Everyone was already exhausted. Someone suggested to rest, so that the large army began to stop and rest.

But the large army slowly gathered in the back, the more people gathered, the louder and louder, the sense of security of many people together might be overwhelming, and many people clamored unscrupulously.

Suddenly someone noticed that the water was tumbling in the middle of Emperor Lake, as if a pot was boiling in the lake, and the tumbling waves suddenly swooped toward the shore, rushing toward the place where people gathered.

Everyone looked curiously and didn't know what happened in this lake, they didn't know that the danger had come, they were still pointing and laughing.

The huge waves rushed to the shore and hit the concrete dam with a splash. Just as people dodged the spray, a huge black shadow suddenly emerged from the lake.

The huge black shadow leaped suddenly, rushed out of the water and directly rushed to the shore, opened the blood basin and bit four or five people in one bite. The huge mouth closed suddenly, and the blood flew out for a while, and everyone was stunned to watch the scene.

When the reaction came, people finally saw that this was a huge monster-like crocodile, more than three meters tall and thirty meters long.

I saw him like a giant beast running out of the ancients, madly killing the people who fled in all directions, and flying flesh and blood wherever he passed, he could kill three or four people with one bite. Every time he wielded his huge paw, there were several people. After being photographed and turned into minced meat, dozens of people can be swept away with a flick of the tail.
