

Dr. Player 71

Chapter 71

Count Garrinson whispered to such a healer.

Get out.

What?

Get out! Count Garrinson screamed.

Damn.

Seytil was angry again this time.

What is this, uncle? Isn't that different from the story you've been telling me?

Don't worry, Your Highness. There's another way.

Is that true?

Seytil looked suspicious.

Yes, if there is no fault, then you can just make a scratch.

Count Garrinson had a mean face.

Yes, if there are no flaws, then you can just make it yourself.

It's no nothing dealing with such a dirty illegitimate son.

He's pretending to be a hatefully hypocritical image. To the point where the inspector is deceived. We will just shatter that hypocritical image.

How?

It's simple.

Count Garrinson told Seytil of his plot.

Seytil had a bright face afterwards.

That is indeed good! As expected of my uncle whom I trust.

I'm flattered.

Garrinson said in a pleasant voice.

I will drop him into the gutter, and I will give him the maximum punishment at the level of the Tower of Healing.

The greatest punishment.

It means disqualification of a healer.

He twisted the corners of his mouth meanly.

After this is over, he will never be able to become a healer again.

The Count Garrinson immediately embarked on the conspiracy.

A few days later.

The man under the guise of Count Garrinson headed to the Penin Clinic.

You're asking me to bribe Baron Penin?

Yes, you must make him receive the money at all costs.

Count Garrinson's plan is for him to take bribes!

According to the Code of Law of the Tower of Healing, it is a felony to receive money from a patient other than legal medical expenses.

It is an ambiguous code.

What's a bribe, what's an expression of gratitude?

Anyway, it was written, but in reality, it was nothing short of a private code.

But what's important is that such a code of law actually exists.

If used well, it was enough to put the blame on him.

He was pretending to be hypocritical, so he'll be hit harder. I came up with it, so it's a fine conspiracy.

Count Garrinson happily pulled out the champagne.

The taste of alcohol was sweet today.

It's an honor to meet the esteemed Baron Penin. My name is Ronald, and I live on Ket Street in the Lyme District. Raymond tilted his head.

He was a man with a simple impression, but he looks too uncomfortable.

He looks that his unsettling eyes were rolling around.

Did he have some serious illness?

Yes. Did you come because you're feeling ill?

I'm here to thank you.

Thank me?

I heard that you treated my relative, Mary, not too long ago. I couldn't give you a proper compensation due to our difficulties, but I came here to repay the favor because I had money this time.

Then the man took out his pocket.

It was as much as 300 pence.

An enormous sum for a commoner!

No, this kind of money.

Compared to the grace of the baronetcy, it is nothing. Its an expression of my familys heart, so please accept it. Then the man left the treatment center as if he were running away. Raymond couldnt even catch he because he went out in such a hurry.

Raymond looked vacantly at the purse.

I dont even know who Mary is.

Its weird.

Its very strange!

Anyway, cant I just keep it since he gave me the money already?

Raymond swallowed his saliva.

Although he made a turnaround, he was still poor.

Seeing this kind of money in such moment of weakness is already tempting enough.

No. Judging from his appearance, it must not be easy to raise this money. Im not just going to take it.

Raymond put down the money, calming himself down in disappointment.

Raymond chewed the bottom of his lips.

This is stranger. This is not a conspiracy of the Tower of Healing, is it?

It was a thought that passed by momentarily.

The mean healing tower guys can plot anything against him at this point.

At that time, a message just came to his mind.

[An unexpected quest occurs!]

[I Got Free Money!]

(Personal Quest)

Good deed: Small Doctor Level

Difficulty level: low

Quest Description: You got some free money. Use it wisely!

Clear condition: Use the money wisely.

Reward: Bonus level up, 20 additional skill points.

Well.

Raymond folded his arms across his chest.

I dont know whats what.

Shall we dig a trap?

If this is the Tower of Healing conspiracy, he can catch them somehow. But maybe

Its just that I did a good job, right?

Raymond looked at the 300 pence with regretful eyes.

Its sad to give it up!

To be honest, I want to keep it!

Ill be rich soon, so Ive decided to put up with it for this time.

So, you delivered the money?

Yes, yes, I did.

The man who gave Raymond the money, Ronald said, bending down.

Im sorry, Baron. I cant believe Ive done such a terrible thing. Ronald swallowed his tears inside.

He was a commoner who had always admired Raymond.

However, Count Garrinson asked him to join the conspiracy because he would give him a large amount of money.

If he had simply offered money, he would have refused, but Count Garrinson also threatened him.

You didnt think youll be able to recover after refusing my request, do you? I have to think about my family too, if I were you.

It is a threat that would even affect his family.

He couldnt possibly say no.

Great. Good job. Then testify at the Tower of Healing immediately.

Yes.

Ronald was taken like a livestock to testify to the healing tower members.

Baron Penin demanded an unreasonable amount of money from me.

Huh! Is that real?

Such a celestial wrath!

This can never be left alone!

A premeditated poker.

The Healing Tower audit committee members rose from their seats indignantly.

Lets go to the Penin Clinic!

To violate the code left by the first saint! The healer must be disqualified immediately!

Then lets go! To condemn him!

Thus, the members of the Healing Tower flocked to the Penin Treatment Center.

<Were closed for a special event today. Emergency patients, please come to the Ket Street in Lyme District.>

It was a plaque at the Penin Treatment Center.

What?

Did he run away?

The auditors frowned.

Lets go to Ket Street. Its not far from here.

The auditors, arriving on Ket Street, opened their eyes wide.

There was an unexpected scene.

Now, now! Get in line for medical treatment! Its all free today!

Yes, thank you!

Raymond, Hanson, and Lindon were on the street doing medical treatment!

There was a placard like this hanging on top.

<Ronald Pear Treatment Service.>

What is this?

Raymond frowned as he saw the healing tower healersrushing in.

As expected, it was a plot by the healing tower guys! You bad guys!

I dug a trap just in case

Anyway, it was an opportunity.

It had create an opportunity to counterattack.

I cant just be beaten forever.

Fortunately, the heart of steel was working because a patient was being treated.

Also,

[The truths have come to the crowd]

[Skill, how to deal with the truth is manifested!]

[Synergy effect with Heart of Steel]

Thanks to this, I was able to deal with them without shaking.

Lets do well! Fighting!

[Speech skills are manifested!]

Raymond cleared his throat and opened his mouth according to the script prepared in advance in preparation for this situation.

A grateful person named Ronald donated a lot of money and left. I tried to return it, but there was no way to find him, so I'm holding an event like this in his neighborhood. Because it's not my money.

!

The commissioners, including Count Garrinson, noticed that things had gone wrong.

Count Garrinson ordered Ronald to be polished.

What does that mean? Didn't you say that Baron Penin demanded your money and your valuables?

That's.

As Ronald hesitated, Count Garrinson's eyes sharpened.

-Speak straight!

Ronald clenched his fist.

I'm sorry, Baron!

It was that moment!

Raymond drew a girl toward him. To catch Ronald's eye deliberately!

Ronald's eyes shook as Raymond intended.

Sarah!

It was Sarah who lived next door to him.

Thanks to Raymond's help.

Oh no! What the hell am I doing now?

A sense of guilt gripped his heart.

I, I.

At that moment, he clenched his fists as it trembled.

Raymond waved his hand with a flash.

Mr. Ronald! The money you donated back then is being put to good use! He thanked me sincerely.

I don't know how grateful I am to have such a great opportunity for patients thanks to Mr. Ronald. Everyone is grateful to Mr. Ronald.

I, I.

Now, everybody. Applause for Mr. Ronald!

Wow!

Ronald, you! What's up! Thank you!

In the face of a baptism of applause, Ronald was more and more guilty and at a loss.

Count Garrinson frowned.

Everyone is noisy! Ronald, I'm asking. Did Baron Penin force you to give your money and valuables?

The applause stopped.

People looked puzzled.

What does that mean?

Our healer forced you to ask for money and valuables?

That can't be possible, can it?

Something's wrong? Isn't this a plot by the healing tower guys? Trying to undermine our prince?

No way! Hey, Ronald! Is it true that the Prince did it?

Ronald was blushing and unable to say anything.

Count Garrinson frowned and cried out.

It's already been confirmed! Baron Penin, you're to be taken to the Tower of Healing! But then.

An unexpected situation occurred.

The surrounding commoners stepped up for Raymond.

Don't talk nonsense!

My prince couldn't have done that!

This is a conspiracy! Ronald, say something!

Count Garrinson frowned.

In front of whom do you dare to do lowly things?! You guys stay still! He screamed, but something amazing happened.

The commoners, who would normally have bowed their heads in a hurry, shouted with their heads stiffly raised.

[The effect of the title, He who is loved by the common people is activated!]

[With the support of the common people (limited to the capital city)]

He can't do that! The baronet couldn't have done that!

That's right! No way!

It was time for the healers, including Count Garrinson, to falter in the unexpected situation.

Unexpected characters have appeared!

Oh, my. Oh, my. This is a mess. I don't know if you haven't seen it, but I can't let it go since I witnessed it by chance. My name is Lao, a senior official of the kingdom.

So am I. I was passing by by chance, and I can't believe I've seen such a sight. It's Christine from the Duke of Raven.

It was Lao and Christine!

Lao said sharply, fixing his one-eyed glasses.

I have the feeling of some kind of dubious conspiracy. This isn't going to be resolved at the Healing of Tower, but it looks like we should investigate it with the Kingdom Investigation Unit Level.

Christine next to her also spoke coldly.

Chapter 72

As the first future princess of the kingdoms first family, the Raven duchy, it smells unreasonable even to me. It is judged that it is appropriate this not to be resolved at the Kingdom Investigation Unit Level.

Count Garrinson had a cold spine.

He realized something was wrong.

They're going to take Ronald and investigate? They can't do that!

What if Ronald falls into the investigation?

So what if he confesses that this is all Count Garrinson's plot against Raymond?

This will be his great doom.

He will suffer from great disgrace, and his prestige from the Tower of Healing will fall to the ground.

Could it be that they were aiming for this from the very beginning?

Count Garrinson was appalled.

From hosting an event where commoners support Raymond gather, to the appearance of Lao and Christine.

It was all scripted!

I don't think that's necessary. This is a matter inside the Tower of Healing, so I'll do a little more rigorous investigation on my own. Garrinson decided to step down.

I should never hand over Ronald here.

Damn it, the plan is a failure. I'll have to avoid the seat for now and keep mouths shut.

It meant to kill secretly.

Not like that. We'll take the author and hand him over to the kingdom investigation team. Guys!

Lao wasn't alone.

He brought an escort driver who could accompany them as a high-ranking official.

Count Garrinson was gutted.

What are you doing, Ronald?! Will you not follow me soon?

I won't follow you.

What?

At that moment.

Ronald made a bombshell remark.

I, gentlemen. There is no need. Its all lies.

Ronald?

Ronald knelt down with his eyes closed tightly.

Count Garrison has given me the instruction! Ill give you the money and frame Baron Penin! It was all my lies!

!

An astonishment spread throughout the hall.

cried Count Garrinson, jumping up and down like a fit of arms. Yes, you! What a ridiculous lie! Do you want to die?

Kill him.

What?

Hurry up and kill him, you damn thing! Argh! How could you frame such a great man. Youre not even human!

Ronald had a reason to do this.

The faces of his neighbors reminded him of what Raymond has done for them.

Im crazy. No matter how much you think of framing such a great man for being threatened.

Ronald is one of the many who was freed from the debt of loan shark Soln thanks to Raymond.

He received more than that.

Some of his close relatives even received treatment at such a low cost.

How many have been helped by that prince?

I am not an ungrateful beast! Id rather die!

There was nothing rough about being determined to die.

Everything was ordered by this count! To smear the baronet! He made me testify at the Tower of Healing!

Hey! Cant you shut up?

I cant do this! The whole capital is going to make a noise! You made me do it!

Count Garrinson trembled with anger and came to his senses.

The gaze of the people around him looked at him in disdain.

I have to make this guy close his mouth first!

Count Garrinson took out his sword.

It was an intention to cut his throat before he could talk any further.

The sin of having dared to mow the aristocracy. Are you ready to die?

!

However, that meaning did not come true.

Whoo!

A sword that suddenly flew over blocked Count Garrinson's sword.

It was Lao.

He was from a prestigious shamanic family, so he treated him as more than a kendo knight.

Oh, dear. This is troubling, Count. He is an important witness, so I'll be taking him.

You!

You? Watch what you say. I'm the son of the prestigious Count Kaplan and a high-ranking official of the kingdom. I can also sue you for contempt.

Earl Garrinson trembled, but the pendulum had already tilted.

Come here, Ronald.

Baron Penin!

Ronald went to Raymond and knelt down. Well, I'm so sorry! I don't know what grace is! My fault is that I gave my life!

That's all right.

What

That's all right. I understand that you couldn't help it.

Raymond had a saintly face, as if he understood everything.

It is embarrassing, but the important thing now is not to punish Ronald.

What's important right now is to punish Count Garrinson, the principal offender!

I can't let this great opportunity go.

Raymond smiled inwardly.

Count Garrinson was too dismissive of Raymond.

I'm no longer a weak, humble illegitimate child.

He was now loved by the common people, and there were also the weak but supportive nobles.

Nevertheless, Count Garrinson excessively ignored Raymond and plotted rashly.

It was time to get the price.

[Heart of Steel is being manifested!]

Fortunately, the heart of steel is also in working condition without any problem!

Raymond put on the kindest and pitiful face he could make.

Ronald, I dont blame you. You are just a victim too. What are you guilty of?

Not stopping there, he wrapped his arms around the kneeling Ronalds shoulders.

Wake up. Theres no reason for you to be doing this.

Ah, Baron!

I think it was all unavoidable. Ill forget everything, so you dont have to mind.

Oh, my!

Ronald burst into tears like a sinner who had been forgiven for his sins, and the common people who watched him reacted likewise with emotion.

How can you be so nice?

The Baron Penin must be an angel from heaven.

Even so, they are commoners who fell in love with Raymonds charm.

The image Raymond had showcased is truly the highlight!

It lit fire in the hearts of the common people.

[The title effect is strengthened.]

[Temporarily gets enthusiastic support from the common people (only the capital city)]

I cant believe youre trying to smear such a respectful person.

These rotten bad guys.

Suddenly, a ferocious air circulated among the common people.

The unusual atmosphere startled Count Garinson and other healers.

What is this atmosphere?

How dare they! Cant you back off!

They shouted, but to their surprise, the commoners did not retreat.

•We will protect our prince! From the rotten Tower of Healing!

This spirit of struggle gave the hearts of ordinary people a fiery courage.

Then Raymond stepped forward.

Wait a moment! Everyone shouldnt be like that!

Raymond continued in a bitter tone, with the most pitiful face possible.

Im sure the people of the Healing Tower arent trying to persecute me with bad intentions. There must have been some misunderstanding. Isnt that right, Count Garrinson?

Well, yes.

Count Garrinson had no choice but to nod his head in bewilderment.

As expected. I was worried that the Healing Tower was doing it on purpose to bury me but that's not the case, is it?

We, the Tower of Healing, are always fair and respect healers who care for their patients.

Count Garrinson felt ominous, unaware of Raymond's intentions.

I felt like something was up.

What kind of plan is this?

As expected! So you gave me a poor grade during my healers qualification exam, warned me with an official letter, and bought Ronald this time- because of deep meaning, right?

..

For example, the type of test you gave me I bet you didn't mean to insult me in an ugly way.

Raymond said with an expression as if he just finally figured it out.

Right? That's what you meant, right?

What do you mean a test?!

But there was no denying it here.

He can't admit that he did it with ugly intentions.

Count Garrinson was forced to be dragged on and on by Raymond.

Well, yes. You are a promising talent. I'm always watching closely.

So what do you think?

What?

Do you still think you can't trust me? Just because I use medicine and not herbs?

Count Garrinson wrinkled his eyebrows.

Now he knows Raymond's intentions.

Raymond was now asking him to declare surrender.

I'll never touch you again. I'll surrender!

I'm always trying my best for my patients. The patients here will prove it.

Of course, he is initially a snob healer who wants money.

Outwardly, there was no apparent healer like Raymond.

His image making was perfect!

I would appreciate it if you would recognize my sincerity even at the Tower of Healing.

The hall became quiet.

The commoners glared at the healers with frightened eyes, and the healing tower healers looked at the count of Garrinson.

Damn it. Shit.

Count Garrinson uttered an oath to himself.

But the game is already over.

It was his perfect defeat.

Um, of course I know your efforts.

Do you mean you'll acknowledge me and recognize me as a member of the healing tower from now on?

That's right. You are a proud member of the Tower of Healing.

He is shaking.

Count Garrinson's face trembled with a forced smile.

I'm glad the misunderstanding has been cleared up. Then I believe this will not happen in the future.

Of course, it is a matter of course.

I knew it! Then I'll trust you! Please take care of me, Count Garrinson!

Count Garrinson turned his back on the stroke. He felt like he was going to explode if he talked more.

He was a shameless figure.

When he returned to the treatment center after the work was done, Hanson asked carefully.

What if Count Garrinson wants to hack it back again?

It was a possible story.

I don't think so. Raymond responded coldly.

How many people have seen the work today? It is embarrassing that he won't be able to go out in public for a while.

It could be said that the prestige of Count Garrinson and the Tower of Healing fell to the ground due to this incident.

Can they try another dirty plot in that situation?

I'll have no choice but to buy myself some time for the time being. I have to build up my strength as much as I can in the meantime.

Strength.

It means fame.

In other words, I had to look after the patient as hard as I could.

After all, the power of the healer comes from the patient.

Just in time, a message came to his mind.

[Quest accomplished!]

[Bonus level up!]

[You get 20 additional skill points!]

That was not the end.

[Achievement: Im generous has been achieved!]

[Bonus level up!]

[You get 20 additional skill points!]

I got an achievement for forgiving Ronald outright.

[Fame rises!]

[Bonus: Support from commoners (limited to the capital city only) increases with touching anecdotes!]

[Bonus level up!]

He leveled up thrice today.

This system is kind of generous with the level up.

Raymonds level was already 68.

If I work a little harder, Ill get level 70! Ill be upgraded to Chief.

Raymond clenched his fist.

The chief rating, of course, will run endlessly until he becomes the best healer.

I will not give in no matter what the interference is, and I will become the best and enjoy all the wealth and fame in the world.

So Raymond once again pledged his goal.

Count Garrinson, who was greatly disgraced, uttered an angry curse, but it was too late.

The repercussions of the day were enormous.

Count Garrinson! It is a disgrace of you for trying to slander Baron Penin with an obscene trick!

These rumors have hit the capitals social circle as soon as possible.

Chapter 73

The capital nobles laughed at Count Garrinson every time they meet him.

Well I heard that this time, Count Garrinson was disgraced for his uneducated behavior.

Thats right. I mean, paying someone to do something like this?Where did you sell your dignity of aristocracy. Tsk. Tsk.

Isnt the most fun thing to do in the world is to gossip about others?

The capital aristocrats giggled at the sight of Count Garrinson.

Moreover, to bow down to an illegitimate child?

Oh, Im ashamed to be called as an aristocrat same as him.

Thus, Count Garrinsons reputation fell to the bottom among the nobles.

For the time being, he was in a position not to go out of the mansion, let alone out of society.

Shiit!

What made him even angrier was the fact that he couldnt do anything to Raymond right away except to curse behind his back like this.

He looked like a perfect loser.

Count Garrison was so angry that his heart was about to burst.

Count Garrinson gritted his teeth so ugly as if he is a third-rate villain.

After being able to block the threat of the Tower of Healing, Penin Treatment Center spent a few days in peace.

With time to spare, Raymond devoted himself to nurturing his disciples.

Therefore An infection is an inflammatory response caused by bacteria entering the body. Inflammation, as explained last time

Ugh. Perhaps because my teaching skill level is still low, it is difficult.

Raymond sweated as he explained.

The way Raymond taught his disciples was clear.

Practice and theory!

He usually treats patients on a practical basis and gives instructions such as: In this kind of disease, you need to treat them with these kinds of herbs., and when he has a time to spare, he teaches them the basic concepts.

Everyone had healing experience, so they managed to accept how to use herbs and practical treatment, but the problem was the concept of basic medicine.

Everyone found it difficult because there were many concepts that did not exist in Laipentina.

It was fortunate that the level of basic science was quite developed thanks to the research of the Magic Tower, the ivory tower of wizards.

If basic science itself had been as backward as the Middle Ages of the Earth, it would have been really difficult to teach.

It would be easier to explain if I had a thorough knowledge of basic medicine. Im also a resident with only surface knowledge.

The Resident only knows basic medicine at a really basic level.

This is because although I learn based on my undergraduate days, I only focus on clinical treatment.

Apparently, there were limits to teaching.

Why?

My disciples have to grow up quickly so they can earn money instead of me! Come on, grow faster! Make me money! Show me the money!

Right now, Penins treatment center was heavily dependent to Raymond. It was unavoidable.

The more my disciples improve, the more money I can earn!

I understand youre having a hard time. Let me explain it again. So, the immune system has B lymphocytes and T lymphocytes.

On the other hand, the disciples were deeply moved without knowing Raymonds dark (?) heart.

How can you teach us with such sincerity? No teacher in the world will teach us this hard. Hanson clenched his teeth.

But I dont have enough skills yet that my master would eventually have to repeat his explanation every time. Shame on myself! I am of no help to my master, but how long will I be a nuisance?! Hanson was burning with loyalty and made a desperate effort.

On the other hand, Christine is also thinking the same sentiments.

How can you teach us so generously when this is supposed to be a secret skill? Christine didnt understand Raymond.

How many teachers are reluctant to give their own quirks?

However, Raymond had no greed like such a little man.

On the contrary, he only regretted that his disciples could not follow him even tough he had given his best wishes.

It is all for his heart and care for his patients.

I should learn quickly so that my disciples skills increase.

She remembered Raymonds sad murmur.

Master hopes we can grow up quickly and help our patients even more. Because he is a fool who only cares about patients.

Christine bit her bottom lip.

But I cant follow his instructions properly because I lack the ability. She was resentful as it also hurts her pride.

From today, I will reduce my sleep time by another 30 minutes I will catch up with the Master, even if I have to fall and crawl!

For your information, she still hasnt slept for more than four hours.

So Hanson and Christine made a fiery effort.

Meanwhile, Lindon

I want to relax a little bit, why is everyone working so hard?

With tears in his eyes, he followed them.

Thanks to this, the disciples increased their knowledge at an explosive rate.

It was the birth of the medical school that would shake the continent. Although, that would still be a far-fetched dream compared to reality.

A few days later, however, an event like a bolt from the blue broke out of their peaceful daily life!

Master, we have a visitor.

Who?

I am Viscount Roses daughter.

!

Raymond got up from his seat in astonishment!

Well, really?

Fearful voice beyond surprise!

Raymond had a reason for this.

Viscount Roses daughter!

She ought to be the representative of Healer Loan.

A creditor who is scarier than the devil came.

The daughter of Viscount Rose

She was a figure shrouded in a veil.

It was not clear whether the name Rose was her real name.

No one even knew where she was from.

Four years ago, she came to the Kingdom of Houston and started running several businesses and healer loans.

In her enormous wealth, people mouthed that she might be the hidden daughter of a wealthy Peninsula kingdom colossus or the illegitimate child of the great imperial family, but none was certain.

One thing for sure, it is that shes a scary character.

Oh, these cookies are delicious. How many do you mind I take, Baron? Quite unlike the kind way of speaking!

Take as much as you want! No, Ill go and do it for you, CEO! Raymond bent his waist to 45 degrees and felt awkward.

To him, the representative of Healer Loan, Rose Young-ae, was the scariest person in the world.

To be honest, Raymond was several times more afraid of the pretty lady in front of him than King Oden.

You must never be deceived by appearances.

Raymond swallowed his saliva when he saw Rose Young-ae eating cookies in a cute way.

Shes pretty. She looks really stunning.

An appearance suited to the expression of loveliness.

Her pink hair flutters wildly with her odd eyes colored red and blue. She feels like a person who came out of a dream to be here in reality.

But then, she is a devil.

Maybe she is here to put foreclosure ticket on the mansion. I need to wake up!

Raymond clenched his teeth.

Fortunately, a message pop into his mind.

[Heart of steel is being manifested in the will to protect the treatment center!]

[Have a firm will and determination!]

Is it because she is such a fearful opponent?

Raymonds heart didnt sink completely. Still, he opened his mouth with a title of peace in his mind.

But what brings you here?

Im here to see you.

Me?

Rose Young-ae smiled beautifully.

Youre a VIP customer who comes to mind in Healer Loan. I just wanted to say hello as Ive heard a lot of rumors about you. Hmmm.

Rose Young-ae looked through the treatment center.

Raymonds heart sank.

This, this is how you can pay back your debt.

I felt like I was looking through her eyes.

There are a lot of patients. I heard that you only take treatment expenses that are not as burdensome as possible for your patients.

This time it sounded like this in Raymonds head.

When will you pay off your debts? How can you pay them when youre only receiving such a cheap treatment fee?

I need to get a hold of yourself!

Raymond clenched his fist.

It was a trick to grovel here.

Rather, he had to show a strong appearance.

I can pay back my debts!

The current treatment center is only in its infancy compared to the grand goal I envision.

Lady Rose made a look as if she suddenly became interested.

If it is a grand goal then I am curious.

I will develop this treatment center into the best one.

Lady Rose lets out a snort.

Are you going to go beyond the top 3 treatment centers in the kingdom?

Being the best in the kingdom is good.

It was a great goal, but Raymond shook his head. No, its not just that kind of goal.

Then?

My goal is to be the best on the continent.

!

Only then did Rose Young-ae have surprised eyes.

The continent!

It was a word with a tremendous meaning.

Do you know what that means?

Yes, my goal is to be the best beyond the kingdom of Houston, the whole Cross League Empire, the Free City Union of Free Cities, the Iron Empire, and the Holy Kingdom as a whole.

I meant it.

To be the best in the continent!

Then I will be able to enjoy all the wealth and fame of the world.

So that he can finally say he had lead such a wonderful life.

Youre supposed to set a big goal in your life.

Penin Treatment Center is just the beginning.

This was what Raymond meant.

-Its just the beginning, so please wait a little longer for the debt reminder!

In that way, Raymond grandly talked about delaying the debt demand.

Five.

Rose Young-ae chewed the cookies without saying a word for a moment.

Why are you chasing such a big goal? Honestly It feels a little reckless.

Thats it.

For the best wealth movie ever!

Raymond, who could not answer, replied with a face as heartfelt as possible.

Its for my patients.

Image making is always important.

At that time, Hanson, who was pulling out the cart next to him, said.

My name is Hanson, the masters student. With all due respect, may I post a word?

Go ahead.

The master is the one who gave everything up for his patients. If its for the patient, hell take the straw and jump into the fire. Also, he has that amazing ability.

Hanson continued in a firm voice.

As such a master, I believe he can make the Penin Treatment Center the best on the continent. Because there is no obstacle that can stand in the way of my masters will for his patients.

Five.

Rose Young-ae chewed the cookie once again.

Then she got up from my seat.

Thank you for the good story. Im glad I came today. I was wondering what our VIP customer was like. She smiled broadly.

And this was a secret, but Im actually a fan of Baronet.

What

Raymond looked puzzled.

Ive heard a lot of things youve done for the common people. Amazing! As fellow nobleman I admired it, so I thought Id definitely want to see him someday.

Rose Young-ae clasped her hands and glistened her eyes.

Once I saw you in person, i fell in love with you even more. Youre just so wonderful. Can I ask for your autograph later?

Chapter 74

Raymond cleared his throat.

He couldnt tell whether she meant it or not.

Well, is this why youve been generous with loans? But Raymond shook his head.

It doesnt seem right.

It was a persimmon.

His senses were very sharp as he had been abused all his life for 23 years.

Anyway, it is the Barons dream. Ill cheer for you. Call me whenever you need money again. Ill lend it to you at a special low interest rate. Rose Young-ae finally looked through the treatment center.

That gaze said, Do well. Ill see how it goes from now on,

It was enough to give Raymond some goosebumps.

Then Ill see you again, VIP customer.

When she came out, the butler, who was accompanying her without a word, opened his mouth.

How is it?

What do you think?

If you ask my opinion, he is out.

The butler sank his gray eyes sharply.

It is respectful to think of his patients, but he is a dreamer. Its not feasible.

Do you think so?

A dreamer with only good beliefs is bound to fall.

A foolish good dreamer.

It was Raymond, judged by the butler.

He was nice and respectful.

He couldnt believe there was such a person in the world these days.

But thats it.

Butler Carls said coolly.

Its not the person were looking for. Im sure hell fall at some point. Wed better recoup the investment.

Do you really think so?

Lady?

Rose Young-ae took out a lollipop and chewed it.

Upgrade Raymonds VIP customer rating to Red.

!

Carls, the butler, had startled eyes.

Red rating!

The VIP customer rating they gave to Raymond is already a high enough rating for the ones like him!

If he asks for an additional loan, give it to him at a special low interest rate.

Why?

Hes not just a dreamer.

Did you see it with your demonic eyes?

Magic eyes!

Her hidden ability to see through the nature of her opponent.

Rose's odd eyes shone.

Yes. As seen with my mystic eyes, he is not a foolish dreamer. He is rather a man of great ambition.

Rose saw through Raymond's heart with her magical eyes.

Contrary to the reputation of being an angel from heaven, a remarkable ambition was wavering!

What kind of ambition?

I don't know. Mystic eyes can only vaguely read it since it is not perfect mind reading. However, if I have to guess from the way he looked Rose paused.

Frankly, she wasn't sure about this part.

What does he have ambitions for?

She guessed with her genius head.

Perhaps it is an ambition for the sake of his patients. The look in his eyes that I just saw was only looking for his patients.

Rose made the decision, never imagining that someone like Raymond would only want money.

I will raise it as the best treatment center on the continent.

It's for the patient.

The way Raymond said that was full of sincerity for his patients.

What a ridiculous ambition.

Rose laughed.

A smile came out her.

But he seemed really sincere.

He has ambition for the patient in his heart.

The comment that he was a fool who only cares about patients was real.

No, the comment of being stupid was not right.

A man with such great ambition can't be a fool.

He was a fighter.

A fighter with a sword for a patient.

Judged by the mystic eyes, the amount of ambition he harbored was staggering. Quite a few of them can't even compare. He is not an innocent dreamer.

Rose concluded. On the contrary, he is more of a revolutionary. To transform the whole continent for the sake of his patients. So it's well worth watching.

There's a chance of becoming a failed revolutionary. Isn't the dream too absurd?

Being the best healer on the continent!

Carls sounded like Raymonds words were for patients all over the continent.

It was an outrageous ambition.

Of course it may be. No, it is much more likely that it will.

Then?

The person we need is not just kind of person anyway. I need an absurd person like Raymond.

Rose looked northeast.

Far away.

Where shes supposed to be.

Carls, no, Prince Carlstein.

Prince Carlstein.

As soon as he heard the name, Carls intention change completely.

It was a tremendous momentum.

His temperament is at least the same as the highest level of Sword Expert.

Considering that there are less than five top-notch Sword Experts in the entire kingdom of Houston, its a tremendous level!

What a knight of such a great level is acting as an unnamed guard?

Dont forget, why we were exiled to this countryside. Dont forget where we are supposed to be.

Im not forgetting, My Lord.

Rose bit the candy.

She then turned to the Penin treatment Center.

The ambition that shook in Raymonds heart, seen through her demonic eyes, came to her mind yet again.

Its for the patients.

The ridiculous ambition brought back laughter.

Once again, lend him money as low as you can whenever he needs it. So that he can do many things.

If ever I did, what would you do if Raymond collapsed?

Then?

Its cringe-worthy.

Rose answered as if it were natural, biting the candy left in her mouth for the last time.

Then you have to discard him away then.

I have to pay my debt right now!

Raymond made a firm commitment.

Fortunately, he passed the interview safely (?) but he didn't feel good.

I felt like I met a snake.

When Raymond remembered that time, he got goosebumps.

I felt like I was going to be eaten.

Money! I have to make money!

The problem is that there is no place to lose money.

If the aristocrats suddenly flock to beggars, they might not know.

The loan amount is now close to 70,000 pence. When did I owe so much?

When I first set up a treatment center, I had about 10,000 pence in debt.

Then the debt increased by spreading it to the poor and the poor commoners. Furthermore, the debt increased by renovating this casino building.

In addition, the money spent on implementing various medical tools by commissioning Dwarves and Magic Towers was enormous. On this bad day, the robber dwarves and the magic tower guys are also raw robbers, and why is the price of herbs so high? In this world, the demand for herbs was low because heals came first.

Then don't you think herbs will be cheap?

You're welcome. It was the opposite.

It was difficult to find the desired medicinal herbs due to the low distribution of medicinal herbs.

Based on his knowledge of herbs, Raymond found herbs that had similar effects to modern medicines and extracted and used the ingredients, but it was really difficult to prepare them.

Especially herbs that are not in the kingdom of Houston are hard to get! The price was also very high.

Well, I'll have to run a herbalist's shop some day.

Anyway, before that, the priority was to pay off the debt he owed at the Healer Loan.

Is there any way to make a fortune? Capable of paying off one's debts at once. Is it an illegal casino?

But then, in the midst of it a rumor came to life.

Master, it is said that ancient remains have been found in the Gir Mountains.

Ancient ruins?

Yes, there have been several adventurer parties, but they have all failed. And now the Knights of the Kingdom will come forward. We received an official letter that they are recruiting a healer to join them.

Raymond looked disinterested.

An ancient relic. Ugh. Im scared just thinking about it. Ill get hurt if I go in there for no reason. Safety is the best.

Raymond puts safety first.

Shouldnt you enjoy wealth and honor by being considerate of yourself?

Go and throw away that official document. Im busy watching our patients. Of course its an excuse.

The real reason is that its scary.

Yes, I will.

Hanson and Lindon had admiring faces.

As expected, the master only thinks of patients without physical desire. If he participates in the ancient ruins expedeture, he might get a great treasure.

As expected, Master!

At that, Raymond made a sudden change of attitude.

Come to think of it, ancient ruins have treasures! Maybe I can pick up the beanstalk! Raymond gulped.

Ancient ruins!

There may be some treasure hidden.

If I do well, I can get out of debt at once.

Its scary though. What if I accidentally die by mistake?

This is why there are not many healers who apply even though it is an opportunity to make a fortune.

The ancient ruins were dangerous.

The failure of the probe meant death.

No. They said Id step up at the level of the Knights of the Kingdom, so it wouldnt be too dangerous. I must seize this opportunity! Raymond, determined, made a stern look.

No, Hanson. On second thought, Id better join.

Master?

The reason why I want to participate is.

There was no need for a lame explanation.

Even before hearing the explanation, Hanson nodded as if he had realized it.

The master is worried about not only the patients in front of him, but also those who will participate in the exploration. Ancient ruins is a dangerous place after all.

As expected, master.

Look, Lindon. A mind of concern for potential patients. Thats the mind we should emulate.

Yes, Ill keep that in mind!

Raymond closed his mouth at the sight of the two excited idiots.

As they guessed it on their own, it was good that there was no need to explain it lamely.

Meanwhile, Lao, who saw it thought to himself.

Exploring the ruins? He is not participating for money, is he? Why do I keep looking at my elder brother like that?

Its been a while since I suspected it, but its not important, so lets move on.

What, the worm decided to take part in the exploration of the ruins?

There was a person who frowned at the news of Raymonds participation in the exploration of the ruins. Mason.

He is a royal healer!

Mason, a member of the royal family, also followed as the Royal Knights conducted an exploration of the ruins.

I have to go with such a lowly worm.

He looked genuinely contemptuous.

I had no choice but to.

Mason is an A class high-level healer!.

To him, Raymond, who uses fake miscellaneous techniques, was nothing short of a bug.

Ill have to work as a porter. I cant let such a worm get involved in my sacred duty. Mason was an archaeological healer who was proud of his ability.

Heaven-sent blessing heal!

I find it rewarding to heal people with this kind of blessing.

This exploration of the ruins will completely fulfill its obligations so that no deaths occur.

It was absolutely unacceptable for a trifling bug to tarnish his noble duties.

On the other hand, there were people talking about the exploration of the ruins in places that they had never thought of.

A faraway place.

It was the capital of the Kingdom of Droughton.

In a splendid mansion comparable to the royal palace, a handsome man lazily opened his mouth toward Sujeong-gu.

About mid to late 30s?

He looked relatively young but the character inside him was as fierce as a blade.

So the Royal Knights have embarked on an exploration of the ruins? Its all according to our plan.

Yes, no healer will overcome the curse of the devil.

Translators Note:

I am not sure what I've been calling the institute Raymond lent money from. It may be Healer Ron, Hilleron, or Healerone for standardization, it will be Healer Loan from now on. I'm sorry if this causes you any inconvenience.

Chapter 75

It was a startling remark.

I meant this exploration of the ruins was a conspiracy of this handsome man!

Moreover, the surprise did not stop there.

This answer came from the crystal ball.

-Everything is going smoothly as you planned. His Highness, Archduke Berard.

Grand Duke Berard!

He was the subject of this conspiracy, a ganwoong who actually controls the kingdom of Droughton on behalf of the young king.

It wasn't just this conspiracy. The previous Orden assassination, the Bay Area epidemic.

It was all his conspiracy.

If the royal knights are exterminated, the kingdom of Houston will be overturned.

Yes, it will be devastating.

Is there any chance that they will succeed in the exploration?

Absolutely now. No matter how strong a knight is, the moment he encounters the monster, he's like a dead man.

Monster

It was a trap they dug.

Archduke Berard was convinced that the royal knights would be massacred because it was such a great monster.

I was lucky to discover the ruins hidden in the Houston Kingdom by chance while exploring before the war.

Upon discovering the ruins, Berard immediately dug a trap.

A black wizard was dispatched to summon powerful demons deep in the ruins.

Just in time to spread the rumors.

If the Royal Knights are exterminated, the atmosphere of the upcoming founding festival will be ruined. It's going to be a mess.

Yes, it will. I will take this opportunity to poison the Marquis of Langham, the envoy of the Kingdom of Peninsular.

Yes, don't forget. Our real purpose is not just the lives of a few royal knights.

It was an eerie story.

To poison the envoy of the Kingdom of Peninsular in the midst of chaos!

Currently, the kingdom of Houston was asking for financial support from the rich kingdom of Peninsular in preparation for their war with the kingdom of Droughton.

However, it was clear that the story would be distorted if the envoy died at the banquet.

And if we proceed to the last conspiracy, the kingdom of Houston will be devastated. Before the war even breaks out. said Grand Duke Berard with a fishy smile.

The end of all these conspiracy was one.

The victory of the war!

It is only the bad-tempered knights who ignorantly compete with strength.

Archduke Berard was a well-known genius strategist.

He preferred to win even before fighting.

He planned to ruin the pre-war kingdom of Houston through various plots.

That was the plan but now things have gone awry. All because of that Baron Penin, the humble illegitimate child

Originally, by now, the capital of the Kingdom of Houston should be in great confusion.

The public sentiment is also boiling.

But why?

It is all because of that Baron Penin.

Baron Penin stopped their plot in the Bay Area.

He is also overwhelmingly supported by the common people of the kingdom's capital.

Our Prince Raymond is the best!

If you go to the capital of the kingdom of Houston, you can hear this story quite often.

The problem is, he's the son of King Oden.

He is an illegitimate child that no one acknowledges but his support for the royal family was also rising thanks to him.

Make sure you deal with it anyway. Failure now is unacceptable.

I understand, Your Highness Grand Duke! We will make sure to succeed!

It was before the crystal ball went out.

Wait, Black.

Black was the code name of the crystal ball subordinate.

Yes, Your Highness?

No. Make sur eto work hard.

From across the crystal ball, he looked suspicious, but Grand Duke Berard shook his head.

He thought what he was trying to ask was too overreacting.

Is Raymond going to participate in the exploration of the ruins this time?

Berard grinned at the thought of the question.

I dont care if Raymond takes part. No matter how bizarre his treatment may be, he wont be able to overcome the curse of the devil.

The devil they summoned to the ruins was not just a devil.

They had casted a terrible curse on it.

It was a death curse that no healer could cure.

Id rather have him in. To be exterminated together.

Unless his treatment can save a patient on the verge of death, it will be helpless.

Berard was so sure.

Arriving at the meeting place, a message came to his mind.

[A quest has occurred!]

[Protect the Moths Jumping Into the Fire!]

(Medical Quest)

Medical grade: one half scalpel

Difficulty level: High

Quest Description: Were going to explore extremely dangerous places. Protect the lives f the people in the expedition!

Clear conditions: Minimize victims

Compensation: Depends on achievement

Bonus: Someones Favor

Depends on achievement?

When questioned, this additional explanation popped into Rayonds mind.

[Clear achievement]

A-Everyone is back safe and sound

: Level up x3, 50 skill points

Less than half of the population died

: Level up x2, 30 skill points

More than half of the deaths occurred

: Failure, no reward

.

Raymond kept his mouth shut.

Less than half, more than half dead? It was an explanation that felt something bad.

What? Is it a dangerous place? Wasnt it a safe relic?

The title of the quest was also terrifying.

Protect the moths jumping into the fire?

The difficulty level is also high.

Even an additional message came to his mind.

[Considering the difficulty level of the quest, a bonus benefit will be given!]

[You can use one skill for 24 hours without limit!]

What on Earth?

Raymond swallowed his saliva.

This kind of bonus is usually given when the level of difficulty is really hard, right?

He came here to pick up the treasure, but didnt feel good from the beginning.

Will it work?

Raymonds first principle is safety first.

Dont I have to be healthy so that I can enjoy wealth and fame?

What do you mean, a fortune at once? Health is the most important!

It was at this moment when he heard a low voice.

Are you Baron Penin?

It was a young man with short hair.

He has an arrogant impression. It felt like he was looking at everyone in the world underfoot.

My name is Mason, the royal therapist. I will be responsible for the supporters in this expedition.

!

Raymond had surprised eyes.

Mason!

He was a famous man.

A-list healer!

From now on, I want you to follow my instructions.

Mason looked Raymond up and down.

The meaning of contempt was clear.

Im not going to make you do anything unreasonable since you wont be that much help.

!

The other healer who participated as an assistant next to him also laughed.

Why cant he help? We can let him bring sir Masons luggage.

Ive been thinking about that, too, but I dont want my precious luggage to be dirtied by someone with vulgar blood touching it. Anyway, youre useless, so why did you participate? Its just a hassle.

Raymond furrowed his eyebrows.

He had such a deep inner workings that he was not offended by such low-level ridicule.

However, he thought it was an opportunity.

I heard what Mr. Mason said. Now that you say so, Ill leave the expedition.

What did you say?

Raymond shrugged his shoulders.

Didnt you say you didnt need me? And your even insulted me.

.

Mason and other healers were silent due to the unexpected precipitation. Raymond spoke more and more.

[The Speech skill is manifested!]

That was not all.

[Confirm that the other person is the Truth]

[The other persons true power is medium!]

[The true countermeasure is revealed!]

With the help of various skills, words came out smoothly as if they had oiled his tongues.

The reason I tried to participate in this exploration is for the sake of patients who may happen. But it seems that my feelings went against Masons will. Ill just go back.

No, Baron Penin. Wait a minute.

If Raymond goes back like this, the position of the healers will be difficult.

This is because they were forced out.

But Raymond was stubborn.

Theres no way that guy who looks so stubborn would apologize. Ill go back to that excuse! The good A-list healer told me to take care of it!

Even so, I was worried about how I would be able to get out of this. I am glad they had provided me with an excuse.

I wanted to serve the patients who might happen, but its a shame. Then bye.

Then, unexpected figures intervened.

I think this is Mr. Masons fault.

Why dont you apologize?

They were the Royal Knights.

They didnt want to cause trouble even before the exploration began, but they secretly admired Raymonds words: I participated for the sake of the patients.

Seeing Mason grind his teeth, Raymond felt a sense of urgency.

His face turned so red that Raymond thought he would apologize.

You cant apologize! Just let me go! You should remain a coward!

Raymond provoked Mason.

You dont have to say that. Mason was just talking about his own thoughts. Since he is an A-class healer, it is understandable that he looks down on a healer like me.

In other words, it means that Mason made a foolish statement out of arrogance/

Masons face turned redder.

However, Raymonds remarks also had an unexpected effect, which made the knights eyes sharper.

Everyone cast a reproachful eye on Mason.

If I had heard such a story, I would have asked for a duel.

Thats right, especially for Baron Penin, who came for us. I dont think its right to give such an insult.

Raymond was very upset when the knights unexpectedly sided with him. No, just take his side!

But contrary to Raymonds wishes, Mason surrendered.

Im sorry. I made a slip of the tongue.

Then, it was Raymond who was in trouble.

Raymond put on a straight face.

You dont have to make an apology that you dont mean. Its uncomfortable for me to listen to it.

It means that if you dont apologize sincerely, he will really go back.

Raymond wanted Mason to lose his temper.

Masons fist shook. It was pathetic.

Unfortunately for Raymond, however, Mason held back his anger.

For in the distance Sir Walton, the general of the expedition, had sharp eyes.

Lord Walton was the top knight of the royal family and Mason was also in a position to bow.

Im sorry. I apologize from the bottom of my heart, so please accept it.

Mason apologized, bowing down to his head.

Shit!

Shit!

Mason and Raymond simultaneously uttered abusive language mentally.

Mason was furious, and Raymond had to participate in the exploration unconditionally.

Chapter 76

Just try entering the ruins. Ill show you the greatness of grade A heals! Ill make you feel the difference.

Mason huffed and walked forward.

Damn it. That guy is an A-rank healer, but he easily lowered his head without any pulpit. Theres nothing I can do about it now. I will definitely succeed in exploring the ruins.

Raymond ignited a strong will.

So Ill sneak the treasure behind your back! Today is the end of the debtors life!

His will is for the treasure.

The expedition had about 15 people.

There were seven royal knights, two servants to do the dirty work, three wizards and three healers (including Raymond).

The royal knight took the lead followed by another man.

Dig!

A bright light lit up the dark ruins.

It was a heal.

Thank you, Mason.

No, its not a big deal for me as an A-level healer.

Mason then looked at Raymond, showing his teeth.

- How is it?

With these eyes, Raymond looked puzzled.

Do I have to praise him for doing a good job?

Raymond thinks he wants compliments so he said something.

Good job.

I beg your pardon?

Excellent! Thats amazing! Great!

I complimented him as I wanted, but the response was not very good.

He trembles with anger and is at a loss.

Whats wrong with him?

Raymond shrugged his shoulders.

It wasnt that scary whether Mason was mad at him or not.

He is glaring at me now.

What would I be doing if we have an A-class healer?

To be honest, I feel like nothing but a spoiled brat.

He would be able to take care of everything, so it is comfortable for me.

A class heals are great.

A slight wound is easy to handle with just by touching it.

Since it is an ability to treat even considerable infections, Raymond had nothing to do.

Do whatever you want!

Ill rest in peace in the back.

His real goal is somewhere else, not patient care anyway.

Raymond looked all over the ruins.

There is no sign of treasure appearing yet. Lets wait. There must be a treasure hidden somewhere.

There is an absolute proposition in the ancient ruins.

- There are traps and treasures hiding somewhere! Only those with hawks eyes can avoid the trap and take the sweet treasure!

Reminding of the maxim, Raymond glanced sharply everywhere.

I actually have hawk eyes. Useskills. Hawks eyes!

[Skill: Eye of the Hawk is manifested!]

[You can take a closer look at narrow areas!]

As if the curtain had fallen, the view changed sharply.

In the darkness, only the place where Raymonds eyes were directed could be seen as a prominent shape.

Its a skill that can only be used for a short time due to Manas limitations, but theres a bonus benefit.

It was Raymond who chose hawks eyes with his 24-hour unlimited use skill.

Why?

Its a must for treasure hunt!

The treasure of the ruins is not placed in sight. Its normal to hide behind a secret device. I was looking at the ruins with hawk eyes like that.

Raymond caught something strange in his eyes.

Hmm? What is it?

Its an ordinary floor.

But something was different from the surroundings. It was a fine difference that would not have been found without the hawk's eye.

No way!

Raymond swallowed his saliva.

Please wait!

Hmm?

The servant who was ahead tilted his head. What's the matter?

Wait a minute!

Raymond strode forward.

He was very sick to his stomach.

The first person to discover the treasure will have the largest share! I need to get it!

With that in mind, Raymond pressed the floor with his hands.

Indeed, unlike other floors, it went in well and then

The blades of the spear sprang up in front of them.

It wasn't a treasure, it was a trap!

The gruesome appearance of the window blades froze Raymond and all of the expedition for a moment.

Oh, huh?

Healer? How did you know there was a trap?

If it wasn't for Baron Penin, I would have been in big trouble!

The royal knights opened their eyes wide and thanked them.

Raymond saved their lives!

Uh, uh That's.

Raymond stammered, unable to clear his mind of surprise.

The knights were looking at him with endless grateful eyes.

Before exploring the ruins, I studied and confirmed that there was this kind of trap. Raymond roughly put it around and the knights admired it. I can't believe I'm investigating the traps of the ruins.

It was not a lie to say that he participated in the exploration of the ruins for us.

Everyone here heard clearly what Raymond had said to Mason.

The reason I tried to participate in this exploration is for the sake of the patients who may happen.

It wasn't a lie.

They felt grateful to him.

I only thought of him as an ugly person before.

I can't believe he changed like that.

The Royal Knights were all familiar with Raymond.

This is because Raymond lived in the royal palace as a child. Remembering that ugly look, everyone ignored Raymond throughout the year.

But at this moment, they changed their minds a little.

I heard rumors that he had changed.

A total of 7 Royal Knights participated in the exploration.

It's a small number, but they're all talented. At least the mana user level.

Those people looked at Raymond differently.

Let's move forward for now.

Raymond, who had become a benefactor of the Royal Knights in search of treasure, walked forward.

And similar things happened over and over again.

Look, something's wrong.

I'll have to check that out too.

That, too!

That too!

Raymond looked around desperately with a determination to pick up the treasure and continued to find something strange.

It was all traps.

Why do traps keep appearing?! I am pretty deep into this, but where is the treasure?!

A cold sense of uneasiness struck him.

I wonder if there are no treasures.

Contrary to such anxiety, the royal knights increasingly looked at Raymond with admiration.

Amazing. He is finding all the traps.

How on earth is he so good at finding traps?

after a thorough investigation.

As the Knights' eyes became more and more burdensome beyond admiration, Raymond decided to go out brazenly.

It's a good thing to take this opportunity to win the favor of the royal knights.

The art of war says that the best victory is to win without fighting. The same goes for treatment. I did a thorough investigation of the ruins, hoping that you wouldn't get hurt in the first place.

No wonder the Knights were even more impressed by the answer!

Anyway, thanks to Raymond, the expedition moved forward very safely.

It was to the point where they wondered if there was such a safe ruins explanation.

I was nervous because the three parties of adventurers were said to have been wiped out, but nothing special is happening.

Don't say stupid things. Isn't it all thanks to Baron Penin?

Walton looked back at the destroyed traps.

If it had not been for the baronet, one or more of us would certainly have suffered serious injuries.

I'll keep that in mind!

Mason and other healers became barley brushes and shut up at the sight of the Knights. Far from giving Raymond an example, it was a completely solo stage.

I can't go on like this.

Is it good or bad.

Mason's desired opportunity is here.

Argh!

A terrifying scream was heard in front of them.

It was a monster!

Collaborate on the front! It is presumed to be an unidentified beast!

To the knights! Wizards help in the back!

The expedition camped out at the Walton's command.

Healers, please wait here. Please come as soon as the battle is over and take care of the injured.

Chul-kkk. Cheol-kkkul-Kuk.

The soaring sound rang out in line with the movement of the knights' iron boots.

A knife-edge tension spread through the ruins.

It's going to be okay, right?

Raymond had an uneasy face.

I was scared to hear that monster was ahead of me.

You look afraid. As a healer, you must know how to overcome fear for the sake of your patients.

.

Well, it might be unreasonable to expect high virtues from you who use such trivial healing techniques.

Mason laughed.

There's nothing to worry about, anyway. Lord Walton is a powerful knight of the Sword Expert intermediate, who is recognized as a powerful man in the Royal Knights.

It was a moment to say so.

In the distance, screams of agony could be heard from the cavity where the Knights entered!

Fu!

Oh my god!

Well, the curse!

..!

Raymond and other healers looked surprised.

Something unusual has happened!

Plop. Plop.

The knights who entered the cavity fell to the floor one by one. The wizards in the relative rear also stumbled one after another and collapsed.

What?

There was a moment of silence among the healers.

The sudden unexpected event made their body stiff.

What is it? Raymond swallowed his saliva with a pale face.

There was no understanding of the situation.

At the time, Mason, who was equally pale, said.

Healers, forward.

Yes, yes?

We must cure the knights! Let's go!

Raymond was surprised and dissuaded him.

Now, wait! If you go like that!

There was a high probability of being the same.

You have to calm down and judge the situation first!

But Mason screamed.

We shall leave cowards behind! A pseudonym like you would only get in the way anyway!

Mason's eyes were bloodshot red.

It was fear and tension.

Also, there was this confidence.

Its likely poison or curse because they fell down at once! My grade A heals can cure it! Save the Royal Knights and be the number one contributor to this expedition!

Lets go!

Hey, wait!

Raymond dissuaded him, but he didnt listen.

Kk, kkk!

The same shriek was given to life just as the previous knights.

Plop. Plop.

The healers stumbled and collapsed on the ground like straw.

.

Raymonds face turned blue.

Everything but him had fell down.

Chapter 77

What the hell? What am I going to do now?

The thought that came to his mind at the moment was escape.

The exploration had to be considered a failure due to an unidentified beast.

Even he had to flee.

This is not a cowardly idea. If I step up, Ill die like a dogs death! What can I do alone? At least one of us should get away and let the outside know about this disaster!

That was the most realistic judgment.

No one can swear at him for being selfish.

However

Argh.

A faint groan was heard.

Surprised, Raymond went a little forward and examined the fallen from a distance.

Everyone is alive!

Everyone was wriggling faintly. They are not dead yet.

There was a moment of great conflict.

If he dont run away, hes likely to be the same.

But if he runs away, all those who have fallen over there will die.

What should I do? What should I do? Damn it

To risk death for a patient he didnt even get along with.

Above all, it was scary. I dont want to be eaten by monsters.

But

Shit! Whatever, activate Hawk Eyes!

He used his skill by spouting abusive language.

First of all, it is to make sure to check the condition of the patients.

Lets check first whether Im in a condition to help or not. If I dont think I can do it with my ability, its foolish to risk my life in vain.

But is it unfortunate or fortunate?

Raymond found a clue.

Pink spots were seen on peoples bodies.

It was a rash.

In addition to that, swollen lips and eyelids were also seen.

No way? But why did they fell down?

A diagnostic name flashed through his mind.

It wasnt clear yet though.

But if the reason he just guessed was correct, he could have saved those people.

It was a medical treatment that could only be used by Raymond in this world. Dear me! Im scared!

Then a terrible sound rang from the inside of the cavity.

Keeeeeeeeeeeeeg

It seemed that the monsters that had been stationary until now began to move.

There was no more time to ponder.

Ahhhh. I dont know! Ill just try to save them and then rip them of for the treatment fee for later!

Raymond quickly took a box out of his backpack.

It was a box full of small syringes.

Also, he took out a glass bottle containing a transparent liquid.

If the reason I guess is correct, this medicine will be able to cure them!

He quickly filled the syringe with the medicine and then ran forward.

[I risked my life for my patient!]

[Heart of Steel is manifested!]

[Having a strong will and heart!]

The skill was activated, but his heart tremor did not completely subside because it was such a scary situation.

Still, Raymond got out of the anti-panic state.

Breathe in!

As he reached Mason on the fallen boundary, Raymond caught his breath.

Curses?! No, they're not curses!

Suddenly, his vision became dark and his consciousness became distant. A sharp pain came to his stomach and he stopped breathing.

This is why people fell.

Raymond chewed the flesh in his mouth.

The smell of blood spread and he could barely catch my consciousness.

Wake up! If you fall, it's over!

Raymond picked up the syringe with his trembling hand.

He then stabbed himself in the thigh and injected himself.

The clear liquid was injected into his muscle through the needle.

Please, let me be right!

If not, it's over.

We will all be the monster's meal.

It won't be that long.

After a breathtaking few seconds.

Raymond's vision brightened again.

Ah! The stomachache, shortness of breath, and hives that were blooming on the body disappeared as if washed away.

Anaphylactic shock was right!

Raymond cheered inwardly.

Anaphylactic shock!

It was a super-emergency allergic reaction in which shock occurred due to anaphylactic substance.

In other words, the monster emitted hypersensitive substances that cause anaphylactic shock!

I'm glad I spent a fortune on getting Epinephrine.

Raymond swept off his chest.

After saving Baron Smidden the other day, he felt the need for epinephrine, and gave a large sum of money to a high-ranking alchemist at the manor who studied living things to request epinephrine extraction.

I thought it was a completely raw robbery because it cost me more than 1,000 pence to get this bottle.

The treatment for anaphylactic shock was simple.

He just have to inject epinephrine into the muscles.

Then, the expanded blood vessels of the irritable substance contract rapidly and the shock recovers.

Wait a minute!

Raymond was the first to inject Lord Walton with epinephrine. Since then, injections have been performed in order of superiority.

The reason for this was simple.

This is because they were in the worst condition.

On the contrary, healers can be treated later. They fell down from the back and theyre in the best condition.

Healers such as Mason were exposed at the back and seemed to recover naturally over time without treatment.

Lets treat the knights first. Thats how Ill beat up the monster.

Soon he gave injections to all of the Royal Knights.

Argh.

Ugh. What the hell is this?

The knights groaned after recovering from the shock.

Youve been hit by a toxic substance emitted by the monster! Its all healed, so you can get up! Get up now and get rid of that scary monster!

Raymond looked at the slowly approaching monster and clenched his fist.

It was a monster-type devil. It looks like a hideous peacock.

It seems to have been given off toxic substances behind its colorful wings.

Now that Ive treated the knights, theres nothing to worry about!

The weak Raymond believed in the knights behind him and exclaimed with enthusiasm.

You devil! How dare you do such a wicked trick! Ill catch you and skin you and sell you! Knights, please catch that evil demon!

However, there was no response.

Looking back, Raymond realized his mistake. Excuse me, knights? Is it not time to get up still?

Ugh. Ill get up!

Ugh, my strength is still.

All the knights were trying to get up with their trembling hands on the floor.

However, they repeatedly fell down as if their strength had not returned.

Uh Isnt this?

When you think about it, this is all natural.

They were in a critical state of shock on the verge of death, so there was no way that they would regain their energy immediately after treatment.

They're all powerful knights, so it's a little. If given 2.30 minutes, they would have recovered their energy quickly. However, the problem was that they did not have that much time.

I Monster? Can't we have a peaceful conversation? You have a wonderful feather.

Raymond tried to talk using his deadly wit, but of course, it didn't work.

Keeeeeeeeeeeeeg!

It just made a tough cry.

Raymond clenched his teeth and pulled out a self-defense iron club (Mace) for self-defense, which he wore around his waist.

Go away! Or I'll kill you and make you a whole chicken!

Keeeeeeeeeeeeeg!

Tap, tap.

As if an ostrich stomped its feet, the monster began to rush.

Straight to Raymond.

Be careful, Baronet!

Argh! Help me! I don't want to die!

But something surprising happened.

He instinctively turned his body in fear but was able to quickly dodge the monster's charge towards him.

What?

It was a rush almost comparable to a wild boar charge, which Raymond avoided too easily.

Raymond also opened his eyes wide in surprise at the fact that he had avoided the terrible rush.

Then, a message came to his mind.

[This is a crisis!]

[Self-defense skill, The healer's self-defense is manifested!]

[Healer's Self-defense Technique]

Classification: Self-defense Skills

Rating: Unique

Proficiency: D

Have the power to protect yourself in case of personal threat!

-In the event of a threat, your physical strength stat will temporarily increase by 10 and your sensory stat will increase by 5!

[Stats]

Stamina: 32 42

Sense: 29 34

That was not all.

[The opponents power is strong!]

[Achievement: A Dwarf Who Knocks Down a Giant]

[Slightly gets stronger!]

For reference, the dwarf who defeated the giant achievement was achieved by defeating Toms, the tyrant of the Bay Area.

Raymond has forgotten about it, but there was a perk to show off his strength when dealing with strong enemies.

[Stat]

Stamina: 32 42 45

Sense: 29 34 37

What? What!

While Raymond was at a loss, the devil began to rush towards him again.

Keeeeeeek!

Avoid it, healer! cried Walton, who at last succeeded in getting up from the ground.

But Raymond couldn't avoid it like he did before.

The distance was too close.

Oh, no! Help me.

A sharp beak rushed at him, aiming exactly at his head.

Die.

Raymond's hair turned white with fear.

Argh!

He instinctively swung the iron club in his hand and the iron club-

Oh my god!

Raymond hit the head of the rushing devil with a straight punch.

The monster, who had been hit in the head, tilted and fell down on the ground.

Argh! Help me!

There was a moment of silence.

Raymond looked at his hands and then at the monster with puzzled eyes.

The monster stared at Raymond with a purr as it glared at him but it could not get up from his seat.

Rather, he dropped his head and let out only a slight groan.

He fainted with a shot of an iron stick.

There was a moment of silence over the unexpected situation.

Was that it? Was it a weak beast?

However, the momentum of the charge was not inferior to that of a wild boar, right?

Did the heaven helped me because I lived a good life?

Meanwhile, knights who witnessed the scene had similar questions.

How did he manage to counterattack in that moment?

Coincidence?

Did he get lucky?

They had no choice but to think so.

Because Raymond was no stranger to swordmaship?

Flying an accurate counter in such an urgent situation was something that even a few knights couldnt do.

It was only possible if he is a man user level of swordmaship.

No way. I dont think so. The monsters posture was completely sloppy. It must be a coincidence.

He is a kind man, and heaven must have helped him, the knights thought so.

Anyway, that wasnt the point right now.

The more important thing is that Raymond saved their lives yet again.

From detoxifying an unidentified poison to beating the devil with luck (?).

If it wasnt for Raymond, theyd all be exterminated here.

At that time, Walton, who had finally recovered his energy, came up and took the life of the devil once and for all.

Are you okay?

Oh, yes, yes.

Walton, who looked at Raymond for a moment, made a sudden move.

He dropped his head in front of Raymond! Thank you, Baron! The baronet saved us all!

Ah.

What are you doing, everybody? Without thanking the baron!

The knights cried out to their best, though they had not yet recovered their spirits.

Thank you!

With that cry of thanks, Raymond became a benefactor to the expedition.

Chapter 78

After eradicating the mobster, the expedition took a break.

Raymond was considerate of the less well-recovered in the expedition team.

Knights, your body hasn't recovered yet, so please rest a little longer. I'll take a look around here for the mean time.

But.

Didn't I beat the monster anyway? There won't be any danger. If I see anything strange, I will send you a signal as soon as possible.

The knights shook their heads in disbelief.

The knights are resting while the healers are exploring.

It was impossible.

I don't think so. We'll take care of the surroundings even if it's a little too much, so please stay here, Baron Penin.

That's right. There's no expedition anywhere that puts healers at the forefront.

Raymond frowned as the knights did not demean.

Ah, why are you so stubborn when I have to find the treasure by myself? You're not at all obedient.

Raymond's willingness to step up like this was, of course, not for the knights.

He's trying to find the treasure secretly and make it look good!

Given that there was a final boss, the monster, there is a high probability that there is a treasure around here! His intuition was signaling.

It's a 100 percent chance.

He has to move quickly and steal the treasure.

If I managed to steal the treasure, I will never have to meet the snake-like Young-ae forever! When Raymond thought so, he became impatient.

As time goes by, the knights will soon regain their strength. Before that, he had to steal the treasure.

Knights, may I say a word? Do you know what my creed is?

Creed what do you mean?

Raymond nodded his head with an infinitely serious look.

[The skill Speech is manifested!]

[This is a story for patients, and it creates synergy with the heart of Steel!]

This is only for the sake of my patients. I cannot allow my patients to take risks when they're not fully recovered.

.!

Of course I know that you are proud royal knights. But now you are all just my patients. If you get hurt again or be in bad shape, Ill be heartbroken. So trust me and leave it to me. Please.

A calm ripples spread throughout the cavity. It was a quiet but intense ripples.

All the knights eyes were shaking.

Everyone was very moved.

If you get hurt again, Ill be heartbroken.

What healer in the world cares so much about his patients?

They choked with emotions.

Ha, but.

Stop, I wont listen any more. Take a rest. Please. The knights were silenced by the strong voice.

Everyone clenched their fists to calm their shaky chests.

How do you repay this favor?

Today. Ill never forget it.

There is the word chivalry.

It refers to the principles pursued by knights, such as protecting the weak and returning favors.

The seven royal knights were deeply moved and grateful to Raymond.

Raymond, who had scammed the knights, began his exploration with gasps.

Lets hurry up and find the treasure before the knights come forward! The hawk eye! Use the hawks eyes!

Eagles eye!

Raymond showed desperate concentration.

After a while, Raymond found a fishy secret passage inside the cavity.

Oh? Whats this?

Raymond had a strong feeling.

This is where the treasure is hidden!

Baron? If theres anything strange, please tell me right away!

Ah, It looks good! It seems to be a room where ancient people used to rest. It doesnt look much, so Ill check it out for a while and then go out.

Raymond, who had thus gained time, entered cautiously.

Oh my!

Treasure boxes were placed here and there!

Finally, Im super rich!

Raymond suddenly felt dizzy.

The hardships he had so far passed by like a thunderbolt.

Everyone must have gone through such a hard time for today's happiness.

Ahhhhh. I love it so much I'm going to faint. Well, let's pull ourselves together. If I fall down here, it's over. I need to get it out of the way quickly!

Raymond opened the chest with the intention of stealing the most precious and valuable treasure.

However

What?

Raymond made a deflated sound.

The chest was empty. What's this? This is the only one that's empty

A cold ominousness passed by, but Raymond tried to shake his head.

There are still other treasure chests here.

Only this one might be empty.

But all the seven treasure chests were empty.

Every single one of them!

What is this?

Raymond put a lost expression.

It was like falling from heaven to hell.

Oh, no. This can't be happening. My treasure. I must have misread it.

Raymond opened the treasure chests once more with his trembling hands.

But nothing has changed.

Only a few copper coins rolled around.

No way! What is this?

Raymond screamed in his mind.

He felt like he was having a giddy nightmare.

No! This won't be the end! No way!

Raymond searched the room with red eyes.

And he only found a trace that he never expected.

Huh?

It was blood.

He tried to wipe it off but faint marks remain.

Use hawk's eyes.

When Raymond activated his skill and looked closely, the traces of drawing something with blood remained blurred.

Is it a magic circle drawn by ancient people?

But something was strange.

This is not a trace left from thousands of years ago.

This was definitely a magic circle drawn just recently.

What is it?

A cold feeling crossed his spine.

Come to think of it, there was no dust in the treasure chests.

If the ancient people left it empty, it should be full of dust.

It means?

Then, after recovering himself, Walton came to Raymonds place.

Baron Penin? Whats wrong with you? What are you looking at?

Walton followed Raymonds gaze and was startled. Walton is a powerful knight who has reached the mid-level of being a sword expert.

He confirmed the traces of the magic circle.

Its a summoning magic.

Summoning?

Yes, it seems to be a magic circle for summoning monsters. Could it be that the identity of the monster that put us in trouble earlier originated from this circle?

Waltons face became serious.

Even if it wasnt so, a monster that was powerful compared to the size of the ruins appeared and was wondering around.

But what about this summoning magic circle?

Someone deliberately summoned a powerful demon to this ruins! To exterminate the expedition!

Walton guessed the answer at once.

Then whos the criminal?

Could it be the people from the Droughton Kingdom?

Walton is the superior of the Knights of the Kingdom and knows the fate of war with the Kingdom of Droughton.

Well have to investigate the magic circle to find out the truth exactly. But there was no one other than the people of Droughton who could have done this.

Having thought that far, Walton acted unexpectedly again.

He thanked Raymond almost immediately.

Thank you, Baron Penin!

What?

Thanks to Baron Penin, I found a valuable clue!

It was the truth.

If Raymond hadn't discovered this secret room, he would have been completely unaware of it.

Lord Walton? What's the matter?

One by one, the royal knights, already energized, approached them. Walton then exclaimed in a strong voice.

What are you doing? Without paying tribute to the baron?!

!

While we were lying down, the baronet moved himself to uncover the plot of this expedition!

Everyone, pay your respects!

Pay your respects.

It is a way for knights to express their extreme gratitude and respect.

It was a sudden order, but the royal knights were convinced.

From the detection of traps in the early stages of exploration, detoxification, eradication of demons, to grasping conspiracies.

It was all Raymond.

The royal knights did nothing.

There's only one thing they can do.

It is to pay him the great respect he deserves.

Chung!

Thump, thump, thump. The royal knights took out their swords and stuck them on the floor.

Praise!

Glory!

Receiving the highest respect, Raymond had a face that could neither smile nor cry.

I don't need this respect. Give me the treasure. My treasure. My treasure.

Looking at the empty treasure chest, Raymond just swallowed his tears.

After many twists and turns, the exploration of the ruins ended.

From beginning all the way to the end, it was Raymond who led the exploration of the ruins.

<For saving the Knights from crisis.>

<Hollowly leading the exploration success.>

<Certificate of finding clues to guess the plot behind the scenes.>

It was a list of meritorious services by Raymond.

Of course, it won him a reward.

It was not a royal decoration as before.

It was an award given under the jurisdiction of the Royal Knights.

However, since the leader of the Royal Knights was King Oden, Raymond received the award directly from the king. For these merits, I, Oden de Huston, represent the Royal Knights and present you with an award.

Thank you.

Raymond bowed his head with a face of little emotion.

Its only once or twice that He was touched by such an award. He felt normal now that he is receiving such an award for the nth time.

A sigh came out of his mouth automatically.

Everyone around him knows how heartbroken he was after the exploration of the ruins.

It was better if I hadnt found it for at least I wouldnt know. Now the disappointment creeps in me as I have learned that all seven of them are gone of riches.

Meanwhile, those who saw Raymonds appearance misunderstood.

He had received an award from Your Highness, but his face is as dark and unimpressed.

Perhaps its out of concern. It was Walton.

Weve identified a big conspiracy in this exploration. I guess its because he is worried about it.

Is that so?

Yes, I experienced it during this exploration. Baron Penin was the only one who cared about others. A man who never thinks of himself. He is probably still worried about the impending war.

My my.

Coincidentally, only those related to the Royal Knights were present at the place. This was because it was an award given under the jurisdiction of the Royal Knights.

Therefore, the words of Walton, the superior of the Royal Knights, had considerable credibility.

Everyone looked at Raymond in admiration.

The rumors circulating in the commoners area must be true.

They said he is like an angel from heaven. Its all true.

If he werent an illegitimate child, he wouldve made such a great person. What a shame.

Thanks to them, a message popped into Raymonds head.

[Your reputation is rising!]

[Some people look at you differently!]

However, it was not enough to comfort Raymonds wounded heart.

Chapter 79

Is there anything you want to say?

Just before presenting the prize, Raymond felt a great conflict when asked about the ceremony.

Do E Oh, no, no, no.

?

Raymond sighed inwardly.

If I ask for it, the reward will be short.

Even if he dont ask for it directlu, there will be a reward anyway.

So it was better to ask for something else.

It is presumed that there was a man who conspired violence in the ruins. Please find the criminal and punish him. Thats what I want.

Be sure to catch and punish the one who stole my treasure! Raymond gritted his teeth.

A bloody revenge!

It was what he wanted.

And if we find the criminal, we can get the treasure back. Maybe theres something else left for me. This was his real plot.

Of course, people admired him once again without knowing his inner thoughts.

Not only his cause for his patient but also full of justice. No, he is also concerned about the future of the country.

He is a great figure that sets an example for others.

Raymond bowed his head and stepped back as King Oden spoke with such a low voice.

Good work.

..!

Raymond stopped abruptly.

It was the second time.

Oden expressed his personal feelings in this way.

No, is his mind simply just playing games?

Raymond stared at Odens eyes for a moment.

It may be a sign of disrespect, but Raymond could not resist the urge for a moment.

And.

.. It is just my mind, playing games.

Raymond laughed despondently.

Odens eyes were cold.

He couldnt find any feelings.

At best, it was just a look for a competent servant who made a contribution.

No other meaning could be found.

Thank you, Your Highness.

Let us continue to strive for the kingdom of Houston.

Ill keep that in mind.

Raymond, who came out, sighed deeply.

I feel so bad.

He could not help but feel groggy.

The expected exploration of the ruins was empty, and he was disturbed by unnecessary words from King Oden.

In particular, Raymond felt bad that his heart was being cared for by a human who was not even like a father to him growing up. Hes just here, his blood a part of his blood.

What the hell do you want?! He and I have no relationship. Why do you keep doing this even though you know?!

Lets not worry about it. Ill just eat beef for a change today. To the finest part.

It was at that moment when he decided to call Lao and Christine together and have a beef party, a message came to his mind.

[Quest successfully completed!]

[Grade A reward!]

[Bonus level up!]

[Bonus level up!]

[Bonus level up!]

[Accumulated 50 additional skill points!]

It didnt end there.

[You risked your life to save the patient!]

[Achievement: Reckless Healer achieved!]

[Bonus level up!]

[Accumulated 30 additional skill points!]

[Privilege: Get a bit of courage when you have to take a risk for the patient!]

[Achievement: You achieved Knights benefactor!]

[Bonus level up!]

[20 skill points will be added!]

[Fame rises!]

[Bonus: The members of the Knights will do you a favor!]

[A series of achievements will give you a bonus!]

[Obtain Item: Skill proficiency increase]

[Skill Proficiency Increase (A)]

Type: Item

One skill can be raised to grade A for 24 hours.

-Can be used once

This

It was a very useful item.

If he uses it well, it will have a great effect.

Anyway, the system rewards are good. I level up five times and received 80 additional skill points. Then theres a bonus item.

Thinking about it that far, Raymond was taken aback.

What is my level now then?

Originally, his level was 68, so he became level 73.

If I am now level 73

As he thought of it for a moment, the same message came to his mind.

[Youve reached level 70!]

Level 70 was different from other levels.

Its a level where you can do promotion!

[Youve met the standard for promotion!]

Raymonds eyes widened as he saw the message that followed.

[Occupational grade has changed from Senior Resident to Chief]

The chief.

Last stage of residency training.

Representatives of residents.

A stage in which you have skills comparable to those of a first-time specialist by honing and polishing medicine through numerous practical trials and studies.

We have finally reached that stage.

Meanwhile, Chancellor Galman and King Oden were talking.

Why did you say that?

What do you mean?

No, its not.

Chancellor Galman shut up.

He remembered what King Oden had just said.

Good job.

It was nothing special.

But Galman, who has been by Odens side for decades, knew.

Oden was never to take such a story lightly.

What does Your Highness think of Raymond? A sore finger that hurts secretly? Or the one who he has really abandoned? Or a complete stranger?

He cant know.

If nothing else, it was Oden who would never reveal his feelings about Raymond.

Galman popped up the subject on impulse.

Isnt it wonderful?

What do you mean?

I mean Raymond. When I heard Lord Waltons story, I was amazed. As I have thought before, Raymond doesnt seem to excel only as a healer.

It was not an empty talk.

Raymond was really outstanding.

The work done during this expedition shows that he has great eyesight, judgment, and a steel heart.

And a patient-conscious mind.

No, its not just his patient on his mind. Basically, he has a heart for others. Even if you look at Solns casino case.

And even when he sees him asking asking the king to catch the one who plotted all of this, he can guess Raymonds heart.

He was a man who cared more about others than himself.

The utmost selflessness without any selfishness.

It was clear that the admirable personality was deeply rooted in his heart.

The more he thought about it, the more he was amazed.

How can he have such a good heart when he was not even treated right growing up?

However, King Oden brought up another subject without answering his questions. We need to investigate the clues we got from this expedition and confirm the evidence that the Droughton guys were responsible.

Yes, we have already begun our investigation.

Every magic pearl leaves a mark.

Tracing it in reverse, we'll get the strings of the Droughton guys.

Thanks to Raymond, they have secured deadly evidence.

Yes, I got a call from Sujeong-gu. It's such an important issue that you seem to be fully prepared.

Yes, I'll bear it in mind.

Oden said in a heavy voice.

This national foundation festival is not just a banquet. We must draw the cooperation of the Kingdom of Peninsula through the delegation to attend this banquet. As Oden said, the delegation from the Kingdom of Peninsula was not just a congratulatory delegation.

They are allies in the same cross-border empire, but it is rare to help each other unconditionally in their own wars. Especially in the case of this war with the Kingdom of Droughton.

The kingdom of Houston and the kingdom of Droughton have been fighting endlessly.

This is because the two kingdoms were divided from one root in the first place.

The two kingdoms were originally one country. Then 150 years ago, for some reason, the kingdom of Droughton in the south gained independence from the kingdom of Houston.

Since then, the two kingdoms have been in constant conflict.

Therefore, even if the two kingdoms fought a war, there was a strong perception that it was only a problem between the two countries.

I hate to admit it, but strictly comparing the national powers of the Kingdom of Houston and the Kingdom of Droughton, the Kingdom of Droughton is a little ahead. So we must get financial aid to the Kingdom of Peninsula.

King Oden thought to himself.

After Oden was king, there was a leap of national power, but the kingdom of Houston was not basically a powerhouse.

A small country rather belonging to the four weak countries.

In particular, financial vulnerability has been a chronic problem.

There was not enough money to wage a major war.

Therefore, this banquet must receive financial support from the Kingdom of Peninsula.

Yes, I'll keep that in mind. However, I am worried that Marquis Langham, the representative of the delegation, is already at the old age.

Chancellor Galman said as if he was worried.

I heard that he is also suffering from a major chronic disease.

Well.

Oden was also worried about that.

If it was Marquis Langham, there was no shortage of opponents to make an arrangement with, but he was concerned about his health.

While staying in the castle, have Count Helien accompany Marquis Langham. Unless there is something urgent, he shall not leave Marquis Langham's side.

Galman looked surprised.

Count Helien.

Triple-A-rated healer who was the best healer in the kingdom of Houston in name and reality!

Asking him to accompany the envoy, who is also a dedicated healer for the royal family.

It was an order that showed how important Oden was to the agreement.

Yes, I will make sure that there is no problem with Marquis Langham's personal affairs.

Oden, nodding, rose from his seat and looked out of the window.

The peaceful appearance of the capital caught his eyes.

However, in Oden's eyes, there was a cloud of war covering the capital from time to time.

This peace will not last long.

In terms of atmosphere, war seemed inevitable.

If it was an inevitable war, there was only one way left as a monarch.

Bringing victory to the kingdom.

There must be a lot to prepare for that.

Depending on how you prepare, the aspect of war is clearly different.

It was for that reason that Archduke Berard of the enemy country tried to do one thing or another in the kingdom of Houston.

To cause great confusion in the kingdom of Houston to wage war in the best possible advantage.

If it wasn't for Raymond, he'd be in big trouble by now, getting caught up in his schemes. At that moment, such an idea popped into Oden's head.

He stopped the plot of the Droughton guys to prevent the chaos of the kingdom.

The fact that he was able to notice that they were doing it

It was all Raymond's work.

Even Raymond stabilized the public sentiment.

As he gained overwhelming support among the poor and common people, the loyalty of the people to the royal family also increased.

Although illegitimate, the people regarded Raymond as the king's son.

In terms of war, strong public sentiment will serve as a solid background.

Chapter 80

Isn't that wonderful?

Galmans story passed by.

But Oden did not answer the question.

As if that is not the case.

How can he not know?

He knew it well.

Raymond was a really good healer.

No, he was an excellent servant beyond a healer.

Has anyone recently done as much for the kingdom of Houston as Raymond?

But he shouldn't look too willing and get too close to him.

Raymond was his illegitimate son.

After all, it's all my responsibility.

Yeah, this whole thing was his responsibility.

But he thought bitterly.

Even so, I am King of Houston; I must act only for the kingdom, rather than anything else.

Oden ascended the throne after burying the blood of his three brothers at the tip of a sword, and later worked for the kingdom of Houston with a life of atonement.

A living machine that moves solely for the kingdom.

That was Odens idea of himself.

It was the same now.

Therefore, he had no intention of treating Raymond as a child in the future.

Rather, the more he makes a contribution, the more cold he should be than others.

heartless.

I had to keep the relationship worse than the perfect others.

Because that's the right thing to do for the kingdom.

But then.

Raymond's last gaze to him came into his mind.

Deep down, his eyes look so empty.

Oden tried to look away from those eyes.

As such, Oden valued his duties as a king more than the importance of blood.

Knowing what kind of wounds his actions had on Raymond for the rest of his life.

He thought it was the right thing to do.

Not knowing that it might be his biggest mistake that ever existed.

At that time, the fourth prince, Seytil, was huffing in his room.

Oh, damn it!

Raymonds name was rising.

Even the second prince, Kairn, teased him by saying these words.

Is this really going to make Raymond our brother? Seytil, you should take good care of him as your elder brother.

Ill never let him do that.

Soon after this, Seytil called Count Garrinson again.

Is there any other way?

Count Garrinson was grinding his teeth at Raymond as well.

He had been half buried in the aristocratic society now, having been caught up in his last plot.

There is one way.

What is it?

Its about taking advantage of the upcoming founding festival.

Seytil, a sword genius, had a rather slow head.

He didnt understand Count Garrinsons words and looked puzzled.

The Foundation Festival is a grand banquet attended by all nobles near the capital. Hell be present too

But?

Thats when you bury him.

!

Garrinson made a mean face.

This is the first time he has attended a banquet. He hadnt even properly mastered the banquet etiquette of a filthy bastard. So use that to turn him into an unlucky bastard and busy him in the aristocratic society.

Seytil nodded.

It is to give all sorts of shame to Raymond, who is ignorant of the etiquette during the grand banquet.

Then from then on, the nobles will not even try to deal with him.

Thats right. An honorable aristocrat wouldnt pretend to know such an ignorant worm. Count Garrinson smiled with satisfaction.

From now on, he will have to live with only dirty commoners.

As in all the countries of the Cross League Empire, the treatment world revolve around the aristocracy.

Healers wealth, honor, and prestige were determined by how much he treated aristocratic patients.

Hell live a miserable life dealing only with smelly commoners.

Be prepared.

Seytil also said excitedly.Ill take charge of humiliating him at the banquet.

Seytil thought confidently. Hell be so disgraced, Raymond would not be able to carry his face in the kingdoms capital again.

The two laughed grimly.

Im looking forward to the founding festival of the Empire.

So am I, Your Highness, said Count Garrinson pleasantly.

The main character of this banquet will be Baron Penin.

Of course, the genre of the play Raymond will be the main character was comedy.

Full of humiliation and laughter.

Seytil and Garrinson decided to become the plays architect and audience and watch Raymond clump in the gutter with pleasure.

Meanwhile, Seytil and Garrinson were not the only ones preparing for the big banquet.

So was Raymond.

Its an important opportunity! We should it as an opportunity to promote medicine!

He planned to use the banquet as a venue for medical promotion.

Ive been feeling it lately.

In order for the treatment center to grow so to make money it had to take a noble patient.

So Raymond had to open the door.

Theres a limit to the money I can make against the common people.

Raymond sighed.

Now, the Penin Treatment Center is on track and has been the most prominent clinic in the commoners area.

After the fall of Maple Therapy Center, there were numerous therapeutic centers in the common peoples area, but the best of them is the Penin Treatment Center.

Some have included the Penin Treatment Center as one of the three major treatment centers in the capital, following the Helien Treatment Center and the Raoul Treatment Center.

However, the financial situation was not very good.

Although it was in the black not long ago, it turned into a deficit again next week. Since then, it has been repeating surplus and deficit. If I take money as viciously as any healer, Ill make a lot pf money from the common people alone will make a lot of money.

What kind of idiot am I? I just have to pretend I didnt see them. Raymond, what are you doing? We should only heal those who can pay.

Actually, Raymond made that resolution several times.

Lets not be so nosy and pamper them.

However, whenever he saw the patient in pain, it was not easy to keep the promise. Its usually hard to do with ones own mind.

Ill be treating aristocrat patients, anyway. That is the time to start hulking up prices and ripping them off!

Some may ask. Didnt Raymond hate aristocrats.

Of course, Raymond has a bad feeling for the aristocracy.

It doesnt matter who youre dealing with to extort money from.

On the contrary, it was good to see them as patients because he hated them.

Ill be able to put on more exciting fees!

The more they act all snob and ignore me, the higher the price!

It was a happy thing just trying to imagine it.

In order to do so, he had to do well at this national foundation banquet.

It was a golden opportunity for publicity that would never come again.

He even bought expensive clothes to look cool. Oh, my. What kind of banquet clothes are so expensive? 500 pence for a piece of course!

Even though I bought the cheapest one, it was unbearable to spend.

Hanson and Lindon, who will attend as therapeutic agents, had get newly tailored clothes, so they had to spend money like blood.

But you should invest when you do it! Ill make sure that the investment I made today comes back many times!

How many, though?

As many times as i can!

So fighting!

It was a moment of such determination.

Christine said.

Are you thinking of the royal banquet?

Oh, yes, my student.

Are you worried that there will be patients at the banquet? I heard that Princess Sophia was treated at her birthday party. Raymond closed his mouth.

No? I was thinking about how to sell medicines to the nobles.

Christine sighed quietly, not knowing what was on his mind.

Anyway. I know youre a fool who only cares about patients but take care of yourself.

Take care of myself?

Well When you go to the banquet, some people may look at the Master with a grain of salt.

Raymond recognized what she meant.

It means there will be someone who finds fault with his identity and ignores me.

Thats about it.

It was a familiar thing.

Isnt it raymond, who has iced with misery all his life?

A pitying eye could not hurt him.

But Lao next to him was also worried with the same sentiment.

Its not something to think lightly. As someone who has shown many great things recently, there may be people who feels jealous towards your achievements. It can cause malicious quarrel.

It wasnt just a worry.

Because of his constant jealousy, he doubted that Raymonds essence wasnt a snob, so he really is in trouble.

You need to be prepared.

Raymond nodded at that.

It makes sense. You cant sell medicine while being ignored by others.

Principles of Sales!

Im going to show you the decent side of me!

The moment the finger was pointed and they were ignored, the business would always be a failure.

Besides, isnt there a negative factor for him?

[Dirty Illegitimate Child]

Description: A title of contempt given to illegitimate children.

Title rating: Kingdom class

Additional effects:

-You get serious prejudice from people!

-Requires greater renown to unlock

When is this title going to disappear?

Raymond had a disapproving look on his face.

A greater reputation!

It seemed that it would disappear only after building a reputation enough to come over the negative perception.

Master, you dont even know a single social skill like dancing, right? Come here. This sister will teach you.

Christine led Raymonds hand with a somewhat excited face.

She always wanted to beat Raymond, so she seemed excited to have something to teach.

Then Raymond pulled out his hand and shook his head.

Master?

Brother? Youd better learn now.

Or else he is going to be humiliated?

These were the faces of concern, but Raymond grinned.

It may have used to be, but now? View the status!

[Player Status]

Name: Raymond

Class: Surgeons (SSS)

Occupation Level: Senior Chief

Level: 73

Experience value: 10/750

Skill Points: 460

Name: Dirty illegitimate child, savior of the poor, loved by commoners

Auxilliary Occupation: Not Activated

[Stats]

Stamina: 34

Sense: 32

Intellect: 24

Mana: 8

[Academic skill]

Surgery (B-), Internal Medicine (C-), General Medicine (B+), Basic Medicine (B+), Emergency Medicine (D), Trauma (D), Herbal Medicine (S), Epidemiology (A), Alchemy (D)

His occupational level now is Senior Chief.

Thanks to this, there are many different medicinal fields open to him than before.

For now, his surgery rating has risen to B-.

In addition, the proficiency level of other academic skills has increased, and the academic skills of emergency medicine and traumatic science have been newly established.

But the biggest difference is this!

I was able to learn the skill of social skills.

[Your occupation level has become Senior Chief.]

[This is a time when outside activities are needed in addition to training at the hospital.]

[If necessary, learn social skills!]