

Dragon Husband

Chapter 1004: Groundhog

Guo Wuji was digging a hole with a sincere heart, but when Wiliam said this, he lifted his head.

He stretched out his hands and looked at his original white, tender and chubby hand covered with dirty dirt. He was instantly unhappy, "You are the groundhog! Your whole family are groundhogs!"

Wiliam sighed, and said, "Didn't you see that you had a small shovel when you set up the tent last night? Use everything best, brother!"

When Guo Wuji heard this, he was so angry that he wanted to slap himself.

I really forgot about this!

There are no tools, just use your hands, real groundhogs and Guo Wuji!

He ran towards Xiao Haitang with a look of impossibility.

Xiao Haitang was on the side, laughing so much that he was sobbing.

She was so happy in her heart.

Why does the scene seem so dangerous, but it seems so happy?

Wiliam is absolutely amazing!

Anything can be used by him.

Before it was a steel nail, now it is a small shovel.

She couldn't help but gave a thumbs up to Wiliam in the distance.

Mulan saw that Guo Wuji got a small shovel and started working as a digger with all his energy, and said to Wiliam, "What about me? What am I going to do?"

Wiliam said naturally: "Of course it is to face the danger together with me. You said that you will never leave me? I originally wanted you to rest."

Mulan was messed up in the wind.

Is this so special? Is it to find sin for yourself?

She wanted to slap herself too.

Wiliam's body began to move, quickly avoiding the vines.

Although Mulan was unhappy in her heart, she didn't want Wiliam to face the danger alone.

So she rushed over and helped Wiliam share some vines.

After a while, Guo Wuji had dug a big oblique hole, and his body had entered the hole.

Wiliam's body was exposed directly at the entrance of the cave, and couldn't help but give a thumbs up, "Tsk tusk tusk, your digging ability is really amazing, it's a craft!"

Guo Wuji rolled his eyes in the cave, "I thank you for your compliment!"

Guo Wuji is a warrior in the early stage of transformation.

Moreover, the ground is full of fallen leaves and rotting, and the soil is very soft.

That's why Guo Wuji can fully fire up, and it is a joy to dig.

But at this time, Guo Wuji suddenly saw Wiliam stretch out his foot and stepped on the hole he dug.

Guo Bukit's eyebrows are upside down, "What are you doing!"

Wiliam said spontaneously: "Help you block the hole, or the vines will come in and you will be poked in your butt."

Kwok Bukit shouted out!

"You girl! Maybe you just want to bury me alive here! I won't know your wolf ambition! I'll say something cruel here, if you dare to seal the hole, I'm absolutely rude to you!"

Wiliam spread his hands, "Okay, you just have to be happy."

Speaking, he stretched his body and left the hole.

Guo Wuji nodded in satisfaction, and looked at the hole he dug out, what a real work of art.

How can artworks be ruined by traitors?

While helping Wiliam to share the danger, Mulan couldn't help asking: "Wiliam, are you sure this method works? And I always think you have something to say! Are you so kind to be a bait?"

Wiliam was taken aback for a moment, but took a serious look at Mulan, "When did you become so smart?"

Mulan Khan, it really is!

She was right.

"You tell me! The old lady has no opinions about cheating! Don't let the old lady go in too!" Mulan asked eagerly.

Wiliam thought for a while, lowered his voice, and said to Mulan while dodging: "Now I do have three worries in my heart."

"Fuck! Three! So many! Don't scare Little Grandpa!" Mulan was so startled that Xiao Haitang's mantra came out.

Wiliam nodded and said, "Well, this plan is based entirely on my conjecture. In other words, it is a conjecture of a castle in the air. As long as that place is wrong, the plan will go bankrupt."

"Where?" Mulan asked.

William looked at the direction he was pointing, "The direction I just pointed, I guessed the green ghost snake grass body is there, and based on this conjecture, I made this arrangement."

"Then what about the three worries you mentioned?" Mulan didn't bother to think about it at all.

"First, what if I guess wrong or point in the wrong direction?" William asked.

Mulan reacted instinctively, looking sympathetically at Guo Wuji who didn't know where he hit the ground, and said deeply: "Then the wronged guy really became a hard-working groundhog."

William nodded, and then said, "Second, if I guess right, then underground, shouldn't it be the most dangerous?"

Mulan's hair is about to stand up, "Damn!"

William slowly explained, "So it looks like it's going to dig a hole in the ground, but it also has this hidden risk. Will the few green ghost snake grass be dangerous? No one can guess that. , I can only pray for him to ask for more blessings."

Mulan looked sadly at the entrance of the cave, and suddenly felt very sympathetic to the groundhog.

See how happy he is digging, how fulfilling he is, but don't swish underground and there are countless vines, then this groundhog is really a treasure.

"What about the third?" Mulan asked slowly.

William suddenly became serious when he heard Mulan's question.

Mulan's heart shuddered!

Is this third worry more dangerous than the first two!

"Hurry up! I can stand it!" Mulan almost went to kick William.

William let out a sigh of relief and said, "This third one is also what I worry about the most. What if I guess it right and the direction is right, but the second guy digs in the wrong direction... "

Mulan's face was instantly extremely complicated.

According to the attributes of the second goods, it is really possible!

William's worries were just a phrase!

Mulan staggered and murmured: "This worry, I find that I can't stand it a bit. If you don't dig in the wrong direction, I really want to kneel for him."

Finally, William thought of a solution.

He pulled out a steel nail inserted in the tree in pain, let Mulan enter the hole and hand it to the groundhog.

Then explained that the woodchucks would shoot steel nails out of the ground every five minutes so that they could see the general direction of Guo Wuji's digging.

When Guo Buji heard this explanation, he still looked upset, and said angrily: "Is this looking down on Lao Tzu's drilling technique or something!"

Mulan looked unlovable, why are you falling in love with this technology now?

As soon as Mulan came out, she saw a steel nail flying out of the ground, as if she couldn't wait to show off this skill!

William happened to see it too, and he and Mulan looked at each other.

"This is so crooked to Nantianmen!"