

Dragon Husband

Chapter 1483

William's head violently twitched, and he took a breath.

This girl almost bit her ear off.

He turned around again, Wen Renqin's eyes were already glamorous, and he leaned over in William's ear and whispered coquettishly, "William, I want you."

"No, all you want is a stick!" William blurted out, with another hand knife in his backhand, knocking Wen Renxin out again.

Seeing that Wen Renqin was in a coma again, the back of her neck was completely red and swollen after being subjected to a hand knife twice.

William shook his head, thinking that going on like this is no way.

The fragrance and poison in Qixin's body are getting more and more.

This kind of fragrance will magnify the love in her heart infinitely, and even make her wake up more frequently and ask for it from herself.

The pace must be quickened.

When William thought of this, his pace was much faster.

But I don't know if it is because he also accumulated scent and poison in his body, or because this place itself has the mystery of suppressing the realm.

William's footsteps were much slower than usual.

How fast can it be!

William thought, and he sprinted along the Peach Blossom Path with a sigh of relief.

I don't know how long he ran, William was sweaty.

His sweat came out with a faint pink.

Wen Renqin, who was unconscious on his back, was sweating even more.

Her hair was completely drenched, dripping with sweat.

The clothes on his body were also soaked and pressed tightly to his body.

At this time, William suddenly stagnated.

In front of him, a different landscape finally appeared.

A peach tree.

This peach tree is ten meters high, which is significantly taller than the surrounding peach trees.

What is more striking is that the peach trees are bare, not only have flowers, but also leaves.

You know, here is the peach blossoms.

Every peach tree is full of flowers, exuding the fragrance of asceticism.

There must be demon abnormalities.

William walked slowly towards the tree with Qingxin on his back, full of vigilance.

At this time, his pupils shrank!

This bare peach tree has several lines carved on it.

Williamzhen paid attention to the content of these words.

Instead, I was attracted by the font first.

William is so familiar with this font!

It's the words of Grandpa Lu Lingfeng!

Grandpa's words are vigorous and powerful, and he can definitely recognize them at a glance.

grandfather!

William's mood suddenly became excited.

Sure enough, there are clues that Grandpa left him!

He forcibly held down the excitement in his heart, because the mood was too agitated, but it was in line with the scent of hard and short walks, which would accelerate the accumulation of fragrance and poison in the body.

William looked at these words again.

"Peach Blossom Lady, ask the immortal for love here."

"Point to the heart and ask three times, think about life and death."

"Humanity King, Wang Daoxian!"

"Fool Zhen Ordinary Master, people want to be immortal!"

"Near the top of the Red Dust, the beginning of Wang Qingxian!"

“Remember! Remember!”

“land.”

William’s eyes fell on the last word.

land.

Grandpa was wrong.

It’s just that these words look mysterious and strange, and when they read it the first time, William looked blank.

William could still ask her a sentence or two if she heard people’s heart sober.

but now.....

Forget it, she was still dizzy.

Waking up to see such a big tree stick in front of you, is it worth it?

William calmed his mind, and once again pondered the words left by his grandfather.

“Peach Blossom Lady, please ask the immortal for this.”

The meaning of this sentence should be that Lady Peach has set up some obstacles here, right?

As for what obstacles, ask for love?

“Point to the heart and ask three times, think about life and death.”

Lady Peach will ask questions, and will ask three questions?

Then answer the question with great care. If you answer the wrong question, you will die?

“Humanity King, Wang Daoxian!”

“Fool Zhen Ordinary Master, people want to be immortal!”

“Near the top of the Red Dust, the beginning of Wang Qingxian!”

With these three sentences, William was a little confused about where to guess.

However, with Grandpa just left and said that he would ask three questions.

Then this is just three sentences.

Could these three sentences be the answer to the three questions that Lady Peach has to ask?

It’s not right.

It’s definitely not that simple.

If it's that simple, grandpa only needs to leave these three sentences. Why bother to go into a lot of details in the front.

So, these three sentences should be the answer to the three questions, right?

Just follow Grandpa's three-sentence line of thought to answer three questions, should it be fine?

Because of the limited clues, Wiliam could only think of these.

Grandpa finally said to remember to remember, it should be to let yourself remember the answer to these three questions.

Wiliam closed his eyes on the ground and thought for a full quarter of an hour before opening his eyes again.

He looked at the tree and suddenly thought about it.

With one move, two things were done.

After doing these two things, Wiliam set foot on the journey again behind Wen Ren's heart.

After walking for a few minutes, Wiliam's footsteps stopped again. In front of his eyes, countless peach blossoms suddenly moved.

In the blink of an eye, these peach blossoms left the branches one after another, flying all over the sky.

The entire sky in front of him turned crimson.

A strong fragrance wafted instantly, even if Wiliam had sealed his five senses, he still felt dizzy.

When Wiliam was forcibly resisting, a floating voice rang in this crimson world.

"Well, another little guy has come in..."

"If you can't live, sleep, or wake up, why bother."

The voice was soft and gentle, with a bit of disdain in it.

"Who are you?" Wiliamdou asked with his sweat beading on his back.

"You come in, don't you know who I am?" The voice asked Wiliam back.

"So, you're the Peach Blossom Lady? The grandmother of Fragrant Blossoms?" Wiliam had already guessed it faintly.

"Lady Peach Blossom, what a nice name, what a maiden, what a life is like." That voice answered Wiliam.

At this time, Wiliam put down his guard.

If Lady Peach is against him, she won't talk so much nonsense.

Moreover, the next step should be to ask three questions.

Wiliam slowly put Wenren's heart on the ground, and sat down cross-legged.

"I want to see you." Wiliam said directly.

"You should not be my descendant, but the little girl on the ground has a bit of my blood."

"But, okay, if you want to see me, answer me three questions."

"If all the answers are correct, I will give you the chance to meet me."

"But the answer was wrong, little guy, your life is not guaranteed." The voice followed Wiliam's words.

"Senior, please." Wiliam said with preparation in his heart.

"The first question is, if you have an unforgettable lover who wants to be with you forever, without you, she can hardly live alone. But at this time of the catastrophe, only you can turn the tide, then you will give up love. To save the common people, it is better to accompany your lover and achieve mortal love."

Upon hearing this first question, the first thought that came to Wiliam's heart was—

Too bad!

Peach Lady, you watched too much soap operas!