

Dragon Husband 1711

Chapter 1711 Du Zhaixing

Wiliam was still very happy when he saw this scene.

It seems so.

There must be something in Chunfeng that attracts Du Zhaixing.

Otherwise, as a sect master who is too forgetful, how can he casually show a surprised expression?

Right this time.

“Sect Master Du?” Wiliam asked softly after waiting for a while.

Only then did Du Zhaixing look away from Li Chunfeng and land on Wiliam.

Her eyes returned to their former calmness.

“I don’t know that little brother Lu is here, what are you doing?” He started politely.

It can be said that Han Xing’s forgetfulness of love for Wiliam has no grievances or hatreds.

They were able to get the second place in the nine qualifying competitions, completely relying on their own strength, they deserved it, and they had nothing to do with Wiliam.

And Wiliam stepped on the strange sword to cover the sky, for them it was just a story.

“To be honest with Sect Master Du, this time I came here mainly for the spring breeze.” Wiliam also cut to the chase, looked at the spring breeze behind him, and motioned her to stand up.

Li Chunfeng stepped out in one step and stood on Wiliam’s right hand.

“What happened to her?” Du Zhaixing asked lightly.

Apparently she knew something, but didn’t say it.

William looked at Li Chunfeng and said to Du Zhaixing, "Sect Master, can you take a step to speak?"

William has some words that are not suitable for Chunfeng to hear.

"Come with me." Du Zhaixing motioned for William to follow her.

William let Chunfeng and Fengxue rest for a while, then followed Du Zhaixing to a small living room in the back.

Du Zhaixing asked people to finish the tea before asking, "Tell me."

William sighed and asked: "You Han Xing forget your feelings, are you all like this? Or is it caused by your special bloodline or special exercises?"

"Let's talk about you first." Du Zhaixing obviously didn't take William's complaints to heart.

"Did you also feel that the girl named Li Chunfeng has similar bloodline to that of Han Xingwangqing, or the same bloodline?" William said tentatively.

"Yes, continue." Du Zhaixing was not hypocritical, and immediately admitted it.

"Let me tell you about this girl first." William sighed again and said slowly.

He told Li Chunfeng's life story roughly once.

Of course, a few things were highlighted.

One thing is that she has been frail and sick since she was a child, and her body has always felt a burning fire.

At first, William had little knowledge and thought that this was just a naturally hot body and possessed a poisonous body.

At the back, Feng Xue's first bloodline awakening occurred in Beilin Lu's house.

At that time, Chunfeng plunged into the blood pond, and Feng Xue also entered the blood pond.

Finally, William also entered.

In the blood pool, Feng Xue and Chun Feng both awakened their blood vessels.

One is the Frost Blood Vessel, and the other is the Hot Flame Vein.

The spring breeze at that time saw the power of fire for the first time.

The second awakening of the bloodline was during the time of Gu Huogu.

When Wiliam needed help the most, Li Chunfeng's heart was broken. With the countless blood essence of the Forgetful Blood Clan, he started the inheritance of the emperor's heart and stepped into the ranks of the strong.

It was the inheritance of the emperor's heart that time that made Chunfeng completely change his heart.

She becomes everything and everything.

And with the improvement of his cultivation during this period of time, Chunfeng's indifferent temperament is even worse.

Wiliam was too worried, so he took the initiative to bring the spring breeze here.

After listening to Wiliam's introduction, Du Zhaixing also fell into contemplation.

"Sect Master Du?" Wiliam woke up Du Zhaixing again.

"I'm here this time to see if I can help this poor girl to get rid of this damned temperament." Wiliam said directly.

"If you teach spring hearts to be able to change, then mountains have no sons, branches have no blood..." Du Zhaixing suddenly recited a poem inexplicably.

And this poem exploded in Wiliam's head like a blast of thunder.

Wiliam is very familiar with this poem.

Isn't that the first sentence that Li Chunfeng said after the inheritance of the emperor's heart!

Exactly the same!

It seems that the bond between Li Chunfeng and Han Xing Wangqing is gone!

"Let me tell you the origin of our Han Xing Wangqing first." Du Zhaixing said to Wiliam indifferently.

Han Xing Wangqing was indeed a descendant of Emperor Wang's blood.

At the beginning, Wang Di was indeed dead.

It's just that before dying, Chunxin is smashed and drained.

The blood-forgetting clan and the secret blood depended upon their hard work.

This vein is respected by blood.

The other bloodline is the ancestor of Han Xing Wangqing.

It's just that the ancestors inherited the broken heart.

It can be said that the blood-forgetting family inherited the blood of Emperor Wangwang.

Han Xing Wangqing inherited the heart of Emperor Wangwang.

Emperor Wang has and only has these two bloodlines.

The ancestor of Han Xing Wangqing was also an accidental opportunity. He traveled far across the Cang Mang and created the Han Xing Wangqing Sect in the land of the common people, and his bloodline has continued since then.

William guessed that he was right. Inheriting Wangdi's blood, whether it was heart or blood, would cause a cold heart.

This has both advantages and disadvantages.

The downside is that it will make people extremely indifferent.

The advantage is that it will reach the height of forgetfulness and shatter the void.

"As for what you said, there are only two ways to help her get rid of this cold heartedness." Du Zhaixing said in a deep voice.

There are actually two?

William's heart froze, a little excited.

"The first and most direct method is to pull out her bloodline. With this method, the greatest probability is that she will die. You should know the importance of bloodline to people, right?" Du Zhaixing said.

This first method made William's excited heart instantly cool.

How could he not know the importance of bloodlines.

Feng Xue almost died because his blood marrow was drained.

Chunfeng must not be allowed to take this risk.

"What about the second method?" William directly denied Du Zhaixing's first method.

Du Zhaixing also seemed to think that Wiliam would say so, and had been waiting here for a long time.

She said lightly: "The second way is to help her completely inherit the emperor's heart and reach the ultimate bloodline. Since she is the ultimate bloodline, she is infinitely close to the emperor, and naturally she has joys and sorrows."

Hearing the words "extreme bloodline", Wiliam's head seemed to be hit hard by a giant hammer in an instant!

Extreme blood!

Spring breeze, it is even possible to open the extreme blood!

Wiliam now has a deep obsession with the extreme bloodline!

Isn't he just looking for a person of extreme blood to replace Petite Rou!

However, this person must never be Li Chunfeng!

For a time, Wiliam fell into a deep fear.

Because, following Du Zhaixing, Wiliam thought of one thing.

The ending that was concealed by the Peach Blossom Lady!

The future that refused to tell him!

Could it be related to Li Chunfeng's extreme bloodline!
