

Dragon Husband 1735 Part 1

Chapter 1735 The origin of the cold boaters

Su Qingshan had the heart to kill Wiliam.

His eyes were red and he glared at Wiliam fiercely, "Are you messing with me?"

He was talking just now and deserting, and then he thought of this possibility.

Can't you be annoyed that you got such an answer when you said it casually?

This is treating me like a pig!

Wiliam smiled and said, "Since you found out, why not try it now?"

"Hmph! Remember it for me! It's best if you can, otherwise you won't be able to finish eating and go!" Su Qingshan's threat was one set after another.

However, he still obediently took out the Sifang Seal in his hand and handed it to Wiliam.

Wiliam stopped talking nonsense, directly condensed a strand of metamorphosis, and walked towards the seal of the four directions.

Then, something magical happened.

When Huasheng approached the Sifang Seal, it seemed that there was an attraction between the two.

Metamorphosis is easily integrated into the Sifang Seal. Even the Sifang seal became blue and green, like a jasper seal.

Seeing this, Su Qingshan was full of excitement, "It can be done! It can be done!"

Wiliam put away the metamorphosis and answered naturally: "Of course it can be done."

In fact, Wiliam already had an estimate for this.

The Sifang Seal is like a storage box of energy, and it will naturally accept all kinds of energy.

Otherwise, Wiliam would not have proposed the conditions for this transaction.

This is the premise.

It's just that Su Qingshan didn't say it before, so Wiliam was too lazy to try again.

Since Su Qingshan said it, Wiliam just tried it out, just to reassure Su Qingshan.

Su Qingshan was still happy, but when he saw Wiliam stop his hands, his face became stiff again, "Why don't you continue?"

Wiliam looked at him and smiled without saying a word.

Su Qingshan endured his anger, and first carefully held the blue and green square seal, and slowly communicated.

Sure enough, there was a hint of blue and green air slowly wafting from the seals of the four directions.

It can be done!

You can drive yourself!

Su Qingshan's heart was a little more happy.

At this moment, facing Wiliam's smile without saying a word, his anger is not that big.

He knew what Wiliam meant.

I just tried it out just now to see if I could store Wiliam's healing power in the Sifang Seal.

Now that the goal has been achieved, Wiliam will naturally give up.

Since it was a transaction, Wiliam couldn't just hand over all the chips at the beginning.

Su Qingshan looked at Wiliam and said, "I advise you to stop playing tricks with me! You will ask for trouble." The threat came again.

Wiliam didn't care at all, but said, "Now you can continue talking."

Only then did Su Qingshan speak slowly, "My ancestor was a farmer in ancient times, and he didn't live in the Cang Python Moat."

"It seems that once, because of one thing, he came to the side of Cang Python's moat."

"At that time, the Cang Python Moat was just formed, and the wind was high and the waves were turbulent. My ancestors accidentally fell into the moat."

"I thought I would die, but my ancestor seemed to have a dream. He saw a goddess."

"In the dream, this goddess looked a little sad, and then said to my ancestors that she has no children in this life, and it will be even more difficult to have them in the future. If my ancestors are interested, she can accept my ancestors as her children, and keep my ancestors in the Cang Mang Tianmo. It's safe and sound."

Dragon Husband 1735 Part 2

"Later, when my ancestor woke up, he found that he was already on the shore of the blue python, and there was no sign of injury to his body. Moreover, when the ancestor went back to take a bath, he found that there was an extra mark on the left side of his neck. ."

"This mark is a small blue snake."

"The ancestor thought about it over and over again and felt that the dream he had after he fell from the Cang Python Scratch should be real, and that the goddess was also real, and should be the patron saint of the Cang Python Scratch. Therefore, the ancestor immediately did two things."

"The first thing is that the whole family has moved to the edge of the Cang Mang Scorpion and settled down. The second thing is that the imprint of this little snake is used as the totem of the family, and the incense is worshipped every day."

Hearing this, Wiliam understood a little.

The goddess is petite and soft.

It should be Petite Rou who voluntarily transformed into the Cang Python Scorpio to protect the Anping of the two places, was alone, and missed the peach blossom lady.

Under the loneliness of the empty space, so I started thinking about closing the child.

This also perfectly explains why in these tens of millions of years, only the Cold Boat Clan has been able to move freely on the Cang Python Scratch.

The reason is not because of the boats they built, but because the Cold Boaters themselves are sheltered by Petite Rou.

The cold boaters naturally wouldn't say that they were sheltered by the goddess of the Cang Python.

Instead, they gave this godsend to the boat they built.

Then they built a boat with a ferryman on it, and that was the key.

In this way, selling boats and ferrying has become an endless source of income for the cold boaters, and they no longer need to do other livelihoods.

But Wiliam still didn't understand one thing.

Since the Cold Boaters are the descendants of Petite Rou, why is the Jiangshan Prayer Seal on them?

This is very unscientific.

Petite Rou is kind to them, and they guard the things that suppress Petite Rou...

Isn't this a white-eyed wolf?

But Wiliam is not good at directly mentioning the existence of the Jiangshan prayer seal.

Otherwise, the purpose is too strong.

It just depends on whether Su Qingshan will take the initiative to say it.

I really can't ask at the end.

"Our ancestors settled down on the shore. After generations of reproduction, the current group of cold boaters has gradually formed. We cold boaters have two kinds of totems. The snake pattern, and the other is the black snake pattern branded on the day after tomorrow. These people who are branded on the day after tomorrow have no direct blood relationship with the Hanzhou people. They joined the Hanzhou people through marriage or apprenticeship, so It branded them black."

Su Qingshan explained in detail the brand totem on the cold boater.

"Which one is it on you?" Wiliam asked casually.

Su Qingshan hesitated for a moment, then gently pulled his collar away.

Wiliam's eyes glanced.

I saw that under Su Qingshan's neck, there was a pattern of a small blue snake hidden.

tsk tsk, azure blue.

It means that Su Qingshan is still a direct descendant of the Hanzhou people.

“Then what’s going on with your four-way seal?” Seeing that Su Qingshan’s words had come to an end, William could only take the initiative to attack.

Su Qingshan’s eyes became more tangled.

However, greed has overcome this trace of imprisonment.

He sighed, as if there were thousands of unwillingness, and said slowly:
“Speaking of this, it is very mysterious. The seal is the sacred object that made us Hanzhou people famous for a while, but it is also something that we will never forget in our entire lives. The cage of freedom.”