

Chapter 13

Dexter

Beep. beep. beep. Is all I can hear, I go to open my eyes and groan a little.

"Where am I?" I squint my eyes a little and look around for that annoying beeping.

I see my father sitting in a chair next to my bed he is asleep. Wait why is my father asleep in a chair and why am I laying in a bed...

I look to my other side and see my mate laying in a bed next to me she is hooked up to all these different machines,

I try to sit up but my head still hurt a bit.

Dam what the hell happen...

I look over at my dad and see he's starting to stir a little.

"Dad, " I call him. His eyes fly open at the sound of my voice.

"Dexter!" He jumps up and comes to stand next to the bed. 'Your awake you had us worried,"

"What happens? I mean I remember you guys taking me up in the elevator but it gets a little foggy after that, "

"Your mate became extremely weak during the surgery she was bleeding bad the doctor had a hard time stopping it, This caused your dragon pain in return you passed out we had to put you in the room with her during the surgery you both needed each other. "

I just looked at my dad.

"How can we need each other we haven't been around each other for the bond to be that strong,"

"Your dragon seems to be very attached to her already, Then with you keeping yourself distanced from her, it started to weaken him. So when this all happen he couldn't handle the pain which lead you to be laying in this bed.

"How long have I been here? "

"Just a day, But you still hadn't told me why you went into the room with her."

I sigh, "I was in the hall just to calm my dragon down I almost shifted in the house when Jon and I were talking so he suggested I came and stood in the hall to give my dragon some peace. Well that was working till I overheard their conversation and it was said that she could go and stay with that other girl I lost control of my dragon, Jon grab me and tried restraining me but we ended up wrestling in the hall. They heard it and the girl open the door and that's all it took I hadn't realized I was walking into the room till I saw her trying to stand but she fell to the floor."

'Dexter do you see now why you can't stay away from your mate, This is what happens we are supposed to have mates you can't just throw that aside for your selfish reason. Did you even talk with the doctor about her condition? Before you went to her room, "

"No, but like I said I wasn't planning on going in there, dad,"

"Well if you would have spoke with him you would have known what happen to her,"

"I do know I saw her I flew her here 'cause she was in such bad shape." I snapped at my father.

"Well then you know she was taken against her will she was beaten for trying to save herself from being touched now she is in worse condition than when you brought her here,"

"I didn't mean to I just reacted when I heard she was leaving with that girl."

" An you lost control, Dexter." My father finished my sentence.

"Look I don't mean to argue with you I just want you to understand what could have happened, We could have lost you, Dexter."

"Dad, I'm sorry I didn't mean to worry you and mom. But look I'm fine I'm stronger than what you think I am."

My father just sighs and nods his head.

"Wait.. you said I've been here a day that means today is the ball, "

"Your mother postponed it she told everyone you suddenly fell sick and that we will update everyone on when the ball will take place. Brenda and her father weren't too happy that he demanded to see you he must have thought your mother was a push-over but he found out differently,"

"Look dad I know you guys choose her but seriously there is something off about them, They are trying too hard and she was fine with how fast the wedding was to be. "

"I know Dexter after they have been here a week now I've noticed something's with them more so the farther than her, "

"Why did you guys choose her? I mean how many have we met with but out of the blue, it was her?"

"Your mother picked her when she looked into her background she thought she was of good qualities she had a good foundation. She felt she would be a good wife to you, But now you found your mate she is giving you the choice your mother believes in the mate bond look at us we have been together for a very long time, She just wants you to experience the love we have for one another,"

"Dad, how did mom know I had found my mate? "

"Son your mother is a smart lady she knew when you were in pain and came storming in here she even went walking into the OR room and order them to take you in there, She always knew when things were wrong with you and when you were trying to hide things from her, "

"Yeah, that's true like the time Jon broke her favorite vase in the hallway 'cause we were chasing each other wrestling after she told us not to."

My father laughs at the little memory.

"So now tell me what are you going to do? Your mate lays there in a bed hanging on by a thread, Are you gonna help her or leave her and experience that pain again,"

"Honestly dad I'm not sure, Yes my dragon is pulling for her I can feel that, Yes I don't want her to leave here the thought of that sends my dragon out of control clearly, But dad she's human just like Brenda they know nothing of our world what happens when we tell her what I am? She could try leaving me then when I'm back in the same spot. She won't live as long as me either what's gonna happen when she starts to age I don't then what people's gonna know something's different about me, and when she dies you know what will happen to me then. An if someone wants to hurt me the first thing they will do is target her, Plus I don't know how to be faithful to just one person I mean living years on end with just that same person sounds kinda boring,"

"It's not boring Dexter I love your mother the same as I did when we met if not more we have grown stronger as a mated pair over the years, As for all the other things we will take them step by step no one know for sure what will happen your over thinking it, This isn't a battle you can come up with a plan on paper. You have to feel it you need to trust your dragon and let him guide you he is after all a part of you as you are to him, Stop fighting against him and work with him,"

I just hang my head at what my father just said to me.

"Give me some time dad I need to think this through I understand everything you said I do, I'm just not sure if I'm ready to make the decision right now, But I will help her so tell me how I can and I will do it."