

Chapter 34

Maxine

"Your mate?

"Why would I be your mate? I was confused with why he was asking me this,

"Yes, I want you to be my mate. I've looked for you for a very long time, he says to me,

"Why? I'm no one important, I told the other guy the same thing,

"They never told you did they? He asked.

"Told me what? Who are you talking about?

"The King and Queen, I know Dexter don't know cause he's been off the grid, But I figured his parents would have told you,

"Again told me what, I say to him sounding more annoyed this time,

He sighs, Standing he walks over to the desk, Picking up a paper coming back over to me,

"They had taken some of your blood to see if you had shifter blood, Correct,

"Yeah, Why?

"They were also trying to find your birth parents, By now I'm sure you had figured you were adopted, Right,

"Yeah, Your point,

"Well I guess there's really not easy way to explain this, So here let me lay it out for you,

"You were adopted by the people who raised you when you were only a few weeks old, Your uncle took you there to hide you there, Your parents were killed because of who your father was,

I didn't say anything, I just sat there listening,

"Shall I continue?

I just nod my head,

"You're father comes from a blood line of dragons that was wiped out by hunters,

"Wait, I cut him off, "Are you saying my parents were both dragons? That I'm a dragon?

"Yes, That's what I'm saying, You are from the blood line of Red Dragons, You are the last one,

"Me, I point to myself, I'm a Red dragon?

"Yes you are, Your father was one as well,

But when he mated to your mother hunters found him, They attacked them your father went to your mother's brother, He hid you among humans.

"My uncle? I don't have a uncle,

"You do, From what I've been told you have already met him,

I scrunch my eyes brows together, "I have?

"He works at the hospital, Dr Martin,

I don't say anything, This is way to much right now, I don't know if I can believe him,

"So your saying Dr Martin is my uncle, That I'm a dragon both my parents were dragons, They were killed I was adopted,

"I'm to believe all that?

"I told you there wasn't a easy way to say it, But yes it's all true,

"Ok, Then why are you telling me? Why are you asking me to be your mate? If you know all this already then you know that I'm Dexter's mate,

" I know you are his mate, But I also know he left you,

When he said those words I felt a pain in my chest, I close my eyes not wanting to break down,

"If you know all this then why did you bring me here? Why do you want me to be your mate?

My voice cracks a little.

"It's said that Red Dragons posses certain powers, They have them in human and dragon form, I need a strong mate, If we become mates my flock will grow stronger,

I just look at him, He is only wanting power, A power I don't even know if I have,

"Well I hate to bust your bubble, But I don't have any powers, I don't even know how to shift or anything on them lines, I am simply a plain girl,

He starts to chuckle at my words, Which I found very aggravating,

"Your dragon is dormant, With a little training it will awaken, Then you will receive your powers,

"So this whole thing is just about getting power? You don't care about anything else other then that!

"What else would this be about? If you thought this was about love you are very wrong,

"Do you have a mate?

He sits up a little straighter,

"Yes, But she's not important, She isn't strong enough to lead with me, plus she wants another, As for me I do not want her,

I wonder if that's how Dexter felt,

Maybe he felt I wasn't enough for him,

"What if I refuse your offer? I asked, I was starting to become a little pissed off with the whole thing,

He laughs, It was a very dry laugh, It gave me a sick feeling in the pit of my stomach.

"I've put a lot of time and money into finding you, I'm not just gonna throw that away,

I didn't say anything, I just sat there staring at him, He pretty much just told me I don't have a choice,

I was just about to say something when there's a knock on the door,

"Come in, He calls to the person.

The door opens I look over to see the girl Brenda,

I remember her from the palace, Why was she here,

I look over to him, He just gives me a smile. She walks over to us standing by him.

She places her hand on his shoulder,

"She seems a little confused, Drake did you explain it all to her?

What is going on I say to myself. I kept looking between the two.

He reaches up grabbing her hand, He pushed it off his shoulder,

"Yes I did, Now what are you doing here?

"Oh I wanted to see if it was all clear for me to go see Dexter,

Hearing her say his name I felt the sudden urge to lunge myself at her,

"Do whatever I don't care, He says to her in the most rudest voice,

She looks at me giving me a smirk, I just wanted to wipe it right off her face,

"Sure, I know I'll be leaving then,

She pats his shoulder she goes to turn to walk away when she looks at me,

"I knew the first time I saw you that he would leave you, You're just a little girl he needs a woman to lay with,

Those words were all it took to push me over the limit,

I jumped off the couch at her, I hit her square in the face knocking her down,

She got back to her feet quite fast,

"Oh sweetie you don't know who you're dealing with, She grits out at me.

She wipes the blood from her lip,

I didn't care, She pushed me to far,

I go to lunge at her again,

Only to be grabbed by two arms I'm pulled backwards against a chest,

She just smiles,

"Thanks for the help mate!

"Shut up! An Get out! I hear him yell at her.

"Sure thing Drake,

She turns walking out the office,

"Let's go of me! I shout, My arms and legs are flailing all over,

He tightens his hold, "My you are a little fire ball, I hear him Chuckle.

He walks backwards holding me to his front, I'm still kicking like mad,

I've forgotten all about my ankle,

He tosses me back on the couch, I go to jump up. He places his hands on my shoulder pushing me back down,

"Don't make me tie you down,

With those words I stop completely,

"Good Girl, Now I probably should have explained who my mate was,

"I don't care, I don't want to stay here and be your mate, I want to go home! I yelled at him,

I see his face harden, His eyes start to glow yellow,

SMACK, The sound echoed in the room.

I flip off the couch landing on the floor.

The pain is already ripping through my cheek, I can feel the bruise starting.

I touch my cheek hissing in pain, I feel the tears building,

"How dare you talk to me like that! He growls at me,

I don't move I stay laying on the floor. I'm too afraid to look at him or move,

"You will respect me, You are not going anywhere, In two days you will become my mate, Until then you will be locked in your room till you learn respect!

He walks over pulling the door open,

"Take her to her room she is not to be let out,

"Yes Sir, Is all I heard,

I sit up holding my cheeks, I look at the two guys walking my way,

They grab me by my arms pulling me to my feet,

They lead me out the room.

We walk up one flight of stairs down another hall, We stop in front of a door.

Opening it they push me in the door,

I trip because of my ankle, I fall on the floor I hear them laughing,

The door is closed I hear the clicking of the lock,

Sitting up I managed to scoot myself over to the bed, I lean my back against it.

Putting my head in my hands I let my tears fall,

First my so call parents sell me to men who hurt me, Then I find out I'm mates to the prince, He leaves me cause he didn't want me, Now I'm kidnapped by another man who only wants power he has also laid his hand on me,

To top it he tells me I'm a dragon and that my parents are dead,

What have I done to have to have been dealt such a shitty life,