

Chapter 79

Dexter

I sat on the small cot leaning my back against the wall waiting for Brenda to come back down. Hank was impatient he kept pacing the cell he didn't trust Brenda at all he felt she was leading us into a trap.

Hank stop he was about to say something when we heard a loud bang. It was so loud it shook the walls of the cell.

"What the hell was that?" Hank called as he stood at the front of the cell his head pressed against the bars trying to see anything.

I jumped up going over to him we could here commotion but we couldn't see anything. There were footsteps echoing they sounded like they were getting close to us. All of a sudden, we see Brenda running towards our cell. She stops unlocking the door she seemed panicked.

"What's going on? I asked her as she swings the door open.

"Your father here with his army Jon's here as well they are attacking Drake's and Davidson men are fighting against them but you have to hurry Drake is going after Maxine he managed to kill Davidson before he reached your mother's old flock he's going after her now he's probably already there,"

"Shit!" I curse out loud taking off out the cell running down the hall I could hear the sounds of fighting going on the closer I got to the doors I slammed the doors open to see Chao's all over I noticed my father's warriors they were winning against Drake's men. Looking around I seen my father with Jon next to him they were ripping through men like it was nothing.

"DAD!" I yelled to him. He stopped turning to look at me he threw they guy he held in the air to the ground.

"Dexter!" He yells as he comes running to me, I met him half way he engulfs me in a huge hug.

"Thank God you're alright your mother will be happy," he says as he still has me in a hug.

"Dad, we got to go Drakes knows where Max is he's going there now,"

He lets go keeping his hands on my shoulders.

"We can reach there faster if we fly,"

I nod my head at him I look pass him for Jon.

"Jon let's go!" I yell to him he spins to look at me snapping the neck of some guy letting him drop at his feet.

Hank appears next to me.

"Do you know if Dr Martin got lily out?"

"Yes, he did her an Elder Fran are safe they are with Dr Martin and some warriors," Jon yells him.

He gets a look of relief on his face.

"What's the plan?" He asked

Just as I was about to answer him, I felt a rush of panic then sadness. I rub my chest I know it's Max what was happening to her was she alright did Drake get her with those thoughts I look over to Hank.

"We heading for Max," I tell him I don't say anything else I shift where I stand ripping my clothes pushing myself off the ground towards the sky.

In a few seconds everyone was flying next to me. Flying would only take us about two hours if we drove it would take even longer.

My father lets out a low roar he becomes off balance while flying.

"Dad what's wrong?" I call through the link.

"Your mother!" Was all he said he picked his pace up. When I get a ping of pain in my chest it wasn't strong so I knew it wasn't Max. "Mom" I whispered to myself.

I push myself harder catching up to my father. When I hear Jon call through the link.

"Dexter what's going on?"

"It's mom she hurt!"

"Shit, go! I'm right behind you,"

All of us push ourselves harder if mom was hurt then that means Drake had found them. Did he get Max I know she's not hurt but I felt her through the bond earlier.

We had been pushing hard for a little over an hour none of us spoke we all just wanted to get there.

"Dad, do you feel anything else from mom?" I called to him through link.

"No, I can feel she still alive but nothing else," I could hear his worry the way he spoke.

"Dexter," I hear Jon "You want me to break off circle around check for anything or anyone who maybe lingering behind,"

"Yeah, Jon do that if you see anything let us know,"

"Gotcha," He breaks off from us.

"We have to land out a bit from the cabin we will have to walk in to reach it," Dad's calls to Hank and myself.

"Alright," Both of us say at the same time.

I see an open field noticing dad is heading for it I follow him Hank is right behind me.

Dad lands first soon as his shifts he takes off. I land shifting as well then take off catching up to him.

We run through the small pack of woods we can see the cabin as we get closer branches are scratching our arms and legs seeing how we don't have any clothes on.

The closer we get I can smell blood dad must have got a whiff as well we clear the woods we are at the back side of the cabin we don't go in the back door both of us go around the side heading to the front side the blood smell is getting stronger as we round the cabin.

Once we reached the front, we both stop dead in our tracks. There laying in the driveway was four men they were covered in blood. I walked over starting to check the body's all four were dead.

I don't see mom anywhere just as I turned to look for my dad I noticed blood spots going in the house.

"Dad," I call him he turns to look at me I point to the steps both of us walk towards the cabin following the blood spots up the steps. The front door was open I slow walk through the door letting my eyes scan for any movement. I look down seeing the blood led to the kitchen I nod my head to towards the kitchen I see my dad nod back.

We both move to the doorway dad steps and stand across from me he gives me a nod I step into the kitchen.

The smell of blood was fresh in here dad steps in behind me we both start to slowly move I see the blood is all over the counter by the sink as soon as I pass the island in the middle of the kitchen I see her.

My mother laying on the floor clutching her stomach.

"Mom!" I yelled as I kneel by her no sooner those words left my mouthy father was right next to her.

He picks her up laying her in his lay.

"Laura," He softly whispers.

I can hear her heart beat its faint but she lost a lot of blood she has a towel in her hands that is pressed against her stomach.

Reaching out I lift her hands and the towels to see her injury. "Shit that's bad"

Dad looks down. "Dad, she needs to get to a doctor,"

I put the towel back against her stomach dad slides his hands under her knees the other behind her back I help support her as he stands up laying her head against his chest, he moves quickly heading out the door.

We place her in the one car that was in the driveway it must have been one Drake's men came in Hank comes around the back side.

"Sir I found some clothes you may want to put them on before getting into town,"

Dad takes them from Hank,

" Thanks," Is all he said.

He turns to me as she slips them on.

"You find Max I got your mother Dexter you need to hurry,"

"I will I cut him off," I didn't mean to but I knew I had to find her.

"No Dexter let me finish, she needs you now more than anything we did it get a chance to tell you but she with child Dexter,"

I just stood there I wasn't sure if I heard him right.

"What!"

"I'm sorry to drop this on you but she pregnant go find her," He then turns walking to the driver side of the car

He climbs in starting the car he takes off out the drive.

"Dexter!" Jon voice rips through the link.

"Jon what is it?"

"I found Max!"