

Chapter 0023

Giselle had also spoiled the kids. Elio liked Legos, whereas June liked plushies. If it wasn't for Maisie stopping her, Giselle would have nearly bought the whole rack of Legos and plushies.

When they reached the kids' toys department, the wide range of toys caught the attention of Elio and June. They were having fun like other kids their age.

"Mommy, you and Aunt Giselle can go shopping. You don't have to worry about us. I'll take care of Junie." Elio and June were playing happily with the other kids in the toys department.

Maisie and Giselle exchanged a smile. The kids rarely had any leisure time, and there didn't seem to be any danger here. So she wouldn't get in the kids' way of having fun.

They nodded. "Alright, I'll pick you both up in a bit. Don't wander around, okay?"

"Okay, we promise. Don't worry, Mommy," The two kids said in unison.

"Quick, you should go shopping together with Aunt Giselle. Ladies must dress up nicely, after all."

"Geez, you rascals."

Maisie and Giselle walked hand in hand.

"Mais, a new boutique opened there some time ago. I had a look at its wares the other day. Their clothing is usually light-colored.

Haven't you always liked light-colored clothes? Let's go have a look."

Maisie had always preferred wearing light-colored clothes. She had fair-colored skin and elegant looks. It allowed her to pull off any color. Still, light-colored clothes made her look even more sophisticated.

When they entered the boutique, Maisie's gaze fell on a light blue dress. It didn't have any other unnecessary embellishments.

The chiffon fabric fluttered slightly under the breeze. It had a subtle ombre to it, too. The design was simple and elegant.

The sales assistant immediately approached them enthusiastically.

"Miss, you have an excellent taste. This dress is a new arrival in our boutique. It's also a limited edition. There are only two of them in the entire Atna City. Do try it on if you like it. I'm sure you'll look good in it with your good looks and great figure."

"Mais, hurry. Go try it on if you like it."

"Okay." Maisie took the dress into the fitting room.

Giselle continued to look around the shop, but nothing caught her eye. Just as she sat on the couch to wait for Maisie to come out, she heard a familiar voice.

"Drew, what do you think about this light blue dress?"

"It's alright."

The man's voice also seemed familiar. Giselle frowned. She quietly pushed the clothes to a corner. It was then that she saw Andrew and Elena.

Giselle's eyes widened. Was Maisie cursed with bad luck? How could she run into her ex-husband and rival while shopping?

"Miss, you have excellent taste. This dress is our shop's new and limited edition. There are only two of them in the whole of Atna City.

"Another young lady also took an interest in it just moments ago. Miss, you should give it a try if you like it."

"The color of this dress is unique." It was obvious that Elena had taken a strong liking toward this dress.

"Drew, wait for me here. I'll try it on."

"Okay," Andrew responded casually. He sat on the couch. His strong presence seemed out of place in this ladies' boutique.

Giselle quickly took her phone out to text Maisie. She wanted to remind her to prevent the awkward situation.

But Maisie had already come out of the fitting room.

"Wow! Miss, this dress fits you perfectly." The sales assistant's eyes lit up in astonishment. She couldn't help but compliment Maisie.

"I agree. It's beautiful. You look like an angel."

"Miss, you look so pretty. This dress looks like it was handmade just for you."

"Gigi, how do I look?" Maisie walked around the clothing rack. Originally, she wanted to look for Giselle. However, she ended up locking eyes with a man.

Her light blue colored dress had a small V-neck design, revealing her delicate collarbone. Her fair complexion seemed to glow under the bright light. She stood upright with a clean pair of ballet flats on her feet.

Her light makeup made her delicate face look even more stunning. Her black curly hair fell gently on her shoulders. She looked like an angel who fell from heaven.

She looked utterly flawless. The sophisticated aura she radiated further enhanced her incomparability.

When her gaze met with the man's, her smile froze. Her good mood instantly vanished.

Maisie was reminded how the world was truly small.

Andrew's eyes flashed slightly. He raised his eyebrows. There was a hint of amusement in his eyes.

At the same time, Elena, who had changed into the same dress, walked over. The sales assistant was helping her adjust her belt.

"Drew, what do you think about this outfit ... Maisie?"

SURPRISE GIFT: 100 BONUS FREE FOR YOU

GET IT

COMMENTS

SUPPORT