Chapter 0058

Her voice was sharp and frantic due to her anger and panic.

Laura was just starting to comprehend the situation. She stared at Elena, obviously surprised.

Not only her, but all the maids were shocked. They wondered why Elena, who was usually so gentle and well-mannered, turned into such a shrew.

The robotic dog also didn't intend to harm anyone. It was just causing chaos until Elena came down.

Strangely, once she came down, she attracted all of the dog's attention. The robotic dog began chasing and biting her. It was quite a peculiar turn of events.

"What's going on here?" Andrew had just returned from driving Maisie home despite her protests.

He arrived to find the living room in a complete mess as if there had been a fierce battle.

The bodyguards and maids were all disheveled, but none looked worse than Elena.

When Elena saw Andrew, she quickly put on an innocent expression after just appearing sharp and harsh. "Drew ... someone must be playing a prank."

Andrew glanced briefly at Elena. His eyes were cold and devoid of any warmth. His gaze shifted toward the fallen robotic dog, and his deep eyes showed a glint of curiosity.

He gestured with his hand, and Igor immediately approached. Igor picked up the robotic dog and handed it over to Andrew. Frowning, a chill settled between Andrew's brows.

Elio pressed the switch twice, but Roblox twitched slightly before losing power completely.

"El, what's wrong with Roblox?" Junie asked worriedly.

Elio furrowed his brow, looking troubled. "Roblox ran out of battery."

A door creaked open.

Thanks to his sharp hearing, Elio picked up the sound of the door opening. He immediately closed the surveillance footage and returned the laptop to the desk.

June quickly climbed back onto her bed. But before she could settle in, the door swung open. Maisie saw June perched on the edge of the bed.

Her heart skipped a beat. She thought June had fallen off the bed.

"Junie?" Maisie hurriedly scooped the child into her arms. "Why are you awake?"

June blinked her eyes as her clever little brain worked swiftly. She raised her hand to her forehead, her small face contorting in pain.

She said in a pitiful tone, "Mommy, I have a headache."

"Headache?" Maisie grew more anxious. She quickly placed her hand on Junie's forehead. "But you don't have a fever. Could it be heatstroke? Come on, Junie. I'll take you to the hospital."

Elio and June tensed up after they heard the mention of the hospital. June's lie would be exposed if they were to go there.

"No, I don't want to go to the hospital!" Junie reacted strongly.

Junie's desperate reaction puzzled Maisie. "What's wrong? If you're sick, you must see a doctor, Junie."

Maisie sat on the bed with June in her arms but suddenly felt something under her. She curiously lifted June's blanket, only to find a remote control meant for a robotic toy.

Maisie furrowed her brow in confusion. She had seen this remote control in El's laboratory before. It was specifically for Roblox.

"Junie, were you playing with El's Roblox although it's already so late?"

June didn't know how to respond. She sought help by glancing at Elio, who was pretending to be asleep on the adjacent bed.

Maisie's gaze shifted to Elio, then to her laptop that she had left open but was now closed. There was also the remote control in her hand. These were clearly Elio's belongings.

Maisie called out in exasperation, "El! I've noticed, you know."

Upon hearing this, Elio immediately opened his eyes. His guilty conscience was apparent, and he snuggled into Maisie's arms.

"El, were you playing with Roblox just now?"

"Yeah, I ... I wanted to fix some of Roblox's issues. Your birthday is coming up, and I thought of giving Roblox to you as a gift."
