

Read Novel Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 521

Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 521-He led her out as soon as he finished speaking.

Edgar stood on the balcony on the second floor.His eyes were dark.

Jean turned her head to one side and looked out the window, contemplating.

“I’ll get straight to the point.The company’s acquisition procedures will end now.Your aunt will bear all its expenses.You won’t have to sell Eyer Group to me then”

He wanted to take this opportunity to get closer to her.But Jean, on the other hand, intended to set a boundary between them.He would not let her do this.

So Edgar left before Jean had the chance to speak.He told Nathan he had matters to deal with at the company.

However, he was not related to this matter.

Now that Edgar had left, the atmosphere seemed less tense.

Julia took the chance and sat further away from Zenith.

“That’s enough, Jean.You can leave this matter to me.Don’t upset yourself over this matter anymore’ “Aunt...” Jean frowned.

“I know you are worried she would refuse help from the Eyer family.Well, I’m not an Eyer.”

Julia put on her sunglasses.

“Leave this matter to me.”

Zenith walked them down the stairs to send them off.He almost seemed like he was leaving with them.

As Jean closed the car door, she asked, “Aunt Julia, do you know Mr.Rocher?”

“We are about the same age.Isn’t it normal for us to know each other?”

Julia glanced at her phone's messages and said, "Come on, let's go."

Jean set her GPS destination to Sheena's place.

"Ms. Eyer, you came. She locked herself in her room as soon as she came back. She would not eat or drink. What should we do?"

Sheena sighed and showed Jean a few photos. She said, "Someone exposed your relationship with Gigi and these photos. Some started scolding Gigi. Their words were harsh"

Andrew had said that apart from some physical health problems, she suffered from serious psychological issues.

If she did not get counseling soon, it would be hard to treat her in the future.

It depended on the patient's persistence.

If she didn't want to stay alive, no one could help her.

"Okay, I will go talk to her. Both of you don't come in yet"

Julia went into the room and locked the door.

No one knew what she told Gigi.

But when she came out, Gigi looked so much better.

She even spoke with Jean, "You're here."

At that moment, Sheena was so surprised that she was speechless.

"Help her pack her things. She will come back with us."

Julia held Gigi's hand and spoke solemnly to her.

"Moreover, Gigi is going to return to showbiz! She will not be using the name Gigi Reece. She will be known as Gigi Eyer!"

That night, Jean told the media company to make an announcement. It was a simple announcement to reveal Gigi's lineage. It was also to announce that Eyer Group's shares will be divided fairly among both sisters.

In that instance, other small media companies started reporting about it too.

Gigi didn't even have to go out to be on the news. She was now more popular than she ever was.

Jean did not expect this announcement to be such a bang. She initially wanted to make Gigi feel better so she would not be traumatized forever.

Late in the night.

Just as Jean was about to turn off her computer, Gigi knocked on her door.

"Are you free? Can we talk?"

She was wearing a cream-colored sleep robe. Her eyes looked innocent, but they were darker than before.

It was the first time they had talked privately since Sam passed away.

"Sure. Jean walked over and looked into Gigi's eyes.

She spoke apologetically, "I was too harsh that day. Please don't overthink' Gigi smiled.

Tears started rolling down her cheeks.

"I only realized that there is still someone who treats me sincerely after going through so much. I was too ungrateful and kept blaming you in the past. I even fooled around with you..."

Her tears did not stop streaming down her face as she spoke.

Pain and regret welled up in her chest. It was so painful that she could no longer breathe.

"It's alright"

Jean was stunned, but she went over immediately and hugged Gigi.

She patted Gigi's back awkwardly and said, "You have done well"

They had to give up the past and reconcile to continue with life.

A loud cry was heard from the room next door.

Julia tossed and turned in bed.

She covered her eyes with her palm and sighed, "What a sensational night."

The next morning.

Both sisters had finally let go of their old resentments.

Although Gigi still looked pale, she was finally willing to eat and talk to people. She even asked Sheena for a second serving of oatmeal during breakfast.

"I did not dare to eat much in the past because I had to care for my figure. Now I have nothing to fear"

She smiled.

Both sisters sat opposite each other.

They looked similar in the mirror opposite them.

Julia took her phone and put it in front of Gigi.

"You might need to keep fit now too. If not, how will you make your return soon?"

Gigi's hand stopped mid-way.

Did she still have a chance to be a star? Jean understood her at once, "Don't worry. You will have a consultation in the afternoon, and your treatment plan will be out soon."

She did not tell them about the rest.

Gigi nodded solemnly.

"I will follow your arrangements."

Royden Group's share prices rose steadily.

The directors had always come to the board meetings happily.

However, it was a different scenario today.

George had brought Xena to their meeting today. She looked professional with an expensive one-piece business suit. She looked cold and distant. She had a letter of attorney with her when she entered.

“I shall oversee all of Edbert Royden’s matters in the company according to procedures. Does anyone have any objection?”

Only half a month had passed, and she was a completely different person.

All the directors and Miles felt that something was off.

“Mr. Royden, should we stop her?”

Edgar gave him a glance in reply.

Miles understood and immediately said, “Since this is what Mr. Edbert wants, we shall respect and follow his decision. Ms. Sparks, please have a seat.”

The other directors exchanged glances quietly.

A satisfied smile appeared on Xena’s face. She thought she had managed to shock everybody, so she revealed everything Edbert and George had taught her. She announced four to five project proposals at once.

“I hope the company will focus on these projects this month. They will bring a lot of profit to the company.”

One of them was buying Eyer Group.

Edgar narrowed his eyes and interrupted coldly.

“I have already called off buying Eyer Group.”

Xena turned to him and said with a smile.

“The project cannot be called off. We have already started with it. Didn’t you know about it? We sent the proposal to be stamped this morning.” The other directors exchanged glances quietly.

Read Novel Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 522

Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 522-The room fell silent.

Some directors had known about this news but dared not say anything.

It was a fight between Edgar and Edbert Royden, and they dared not offend either of them.

They could only stay neutral and watch, so they could choose which side to stand on when it was time.

As soon as Xena finished speaking, Miles immediately took out his phone.He wanted to make a call to confirm this news.

However, Edgar raised his hand and stopped Miles.

Miles stopped and stood by Edgar's side.

When Xena saw Edgar's face darken, she thought the method Edbert taught her had succeeded.She thought she held the upper hand.She smiled in satisfaction.

"Mr.Edgar, this project will bring a lot of profit to our company.I intend to tell the project department to convert the company to our subsidiary company in the next quarter."

"That means that starting from August, there will be no Eyer Group in Yorktown.No matter how great it was in the past, it has gone bankrupt and is sold off.That means it's useless now."

Edbert did not teach her to say this.It was Xena's thoughts.She was too jealous of Jean, so she wanted to use words to hurt Jean to get even.So she did not watch her words.

However, she did not expect Edgar to get furious when he heard her words.

No words were able to describe the look on his face.

Xena would already be dead if Edgar's looks could kill.

The directors noticed Edgar's change in expression.

They lowered their heads in fear.

On the other hand, Xena did not notice anything wrong until Edgar chided her.

“I am the decision maker in Royden Group. Who are you to decide? From now on, you will take responsibility for any loss the group suffers from this project’ Xena was stunned. She only managed to speak after a long while.

“The project has already started. If the company puts in money, it will work. How could there be any losses?”

Everyone in the company knew that Xena had made many mistakes during her internship. She had never done anything right.

How does she have the guts to challenge Edgar? “Miles, teach her the process of acquisitions and all the things she must take note of during the process. Let her copy it a thousand times if she cannot remember.”

Edgar got up and ordered coldly, “Meeting is adjourned.”

All the directors got up and nodded at him as he left.

They gave Xena a sympathetic look.

When Edbert brought her into the company, some had speculated that she might become one of Royden Group’s successors.

But after seeing her apprehensive over just a few words from Edgar, they doubted if she could fight him.

“I think it would be Mr. Edgar.”

“He is still young, after all. He is young and talented. Not anyone can win against him.”

The directors left in small groups.

Xena’s eyes were full of fury. She quickly took out her phone and checked the script Edbert had taught her. She confirmed every single word and mumbled to herself, “I didn’t say anything wrong!”

Their initial plan was to take over Eyer Group after all. George, who was standing at a side, said helplessly.

“You were too impatient. You stepped over Mr. Edgar’s line.”

“And what was it?”

“Jean”

He was okay with it if they wanted to touch Eyer Group. He was more than happy for someone to instigate the acquisition of Eyer Group among the directors.

That way, he would have more of a reason to approach Jean.

But Xena’s words were too mean just now, so it had angered Edgar.

At the same time.

Jean was at the hospital, accompanying Gigi for her check-up. She had promised that her full cooperation, so she had to have a complete health check-up before being admitted.

“Ms. Eyer, please turn around.”

Andrew checked the room temperature and pushed his glasses higher as he spoke.

Nathan walked nearer to her and said, “He is one of the doctors under my brother’s supervision. Even though he is young, he is competent. You can be rest assured”

“Thank you.”

Jean smiled.

The sound of footsteps was heard from behind.

Rachel hurried over with sweat on her forehead.

“Ms. Eyer, Royden Group has gone against their words! They submitted the documentation for acquisition without our consent. The acquisition is already in progress.”

It meant that Eyer Group would be Royden Group’s in less than forty-eight hours.

Jean frowned.

“Let me think.”

Rachel immediately passed the documents to Jean.

“I’ve also received an email from the staff there…”

Edgar was not such an impatient person.

Moreover, he had given his word before he would call off acquiring Eyer Group.

Why would he go against his words suddenly?

“Ms.Eyer, what should we do now?”

Rachel was anxious.

“Furthermore, Royden Group reduced the acquisition price by half.His actions were indeed despicable! “Jean, this is not what Edgar would do.”

Nathan, listening beside them, felt that this matter was not as simple as it seemed.He could not help but speak up for Edgar.

Jean thought for a moment before she spoke.

“Rachel, call the lawyer.”

She spoke while walking quickly out of the hospital.

Rachel promptly caught up with Jean, “Okay, Ms.Eyer.”

Nathan could only follow behind anxiously.

He quickly called Edgar, “What’s going on? Are you acquiring Eyer Group at half price? Jean is anxious and furious!”

Edgar’s voice came from the other end of the phone.

“I know: Then the call ended.

Nathan stared at his phone blankly.

“Why are these two people calmer than I am?”

Edgar had been waiting for Jean's call since he hung up on Nathan. He thought she might come to his office to argue with him. He had already come up with several ways to compensate her.

However, she did neither of those.

She did not even get a lawyer to negotiate with him.

It was as if Jean had accepted Royden Group's evil plan to acquire Eyer Group and approved him snatching it.

This wasn't supposed to be her reaction.

Edgar walked two rounds around the office.

Finally, he could not stand it anymore and made the phone call.

As soon as the call connected, he said, "We still have to settle this matter. You can't hide from me forever. Where are you now? I'll find you, and we can talk face-to-face."

But it wasn't Jean who answered him. It was Julia. She retorted, "What did you do again, you rascal? Jean is not at home. She forgot her phone."

'Beep'" The call ended.

The courage Edgar had finally managed to muster up disappeared right away.

Did she go out? But she never came to Royden Group.

Edgar picked up his coat and headed out. He was worried about Jean and her baby. If anything happened halfway, she could not get immediate help.

However, as soon as he got downstairs. He received a message from an unknown number.

It was a photo.

Two people were sitting opposite each other.

One of them was Jean.

And the person sitting opposite her passed a glass of fruit juice to her.

It was Hugo.

“She didn’t come looking for me and wasn’t dealing with the company’s acquisition either. Instead, she’s eating with this guy? Well, Jean, you really have grown up.” The call ended.

Read Novel Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 523

Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 523-The person who sent Edgar this photo knew about his relationship with Jean.

An address was sent to Edgar too.

Edgar knew this message was purposely sent to him, but he still drove over.

However, he did not see Jean at the restaurant.

At last, he spotted Hugo’s car in the car park.

Edgar double-confirmed Hugo’s car plate number and quickly chased up to Hugo’s car. He stopped Hugo’s car with his. He acted like a teenager madly in love. He knocked on Hugo’s car window loudly.

When Hugo lowered his car window, Edgar quickly peeked into Hugo’s car.

“Where is she?”

Hugo laughed when he saw Edgar’s anxiousness. He laughed, “I didn’t expect Mr. Royden to have such a romantic side. Why did you two divorce at first?”

“None of your business.”

Edgar quickly returned to his senses when he was sure that Jean wasn’t there. He put his hand on Hugo’s car door and spoke coldly.

“Although her aunt is trying hard to bring the two of you together, you should know that she is uninterested in you.”

“Uninterested? Mr. Royden, you do not seem to understand her. Although we have only met each other a few times, I’m sure she will not refuse... someone like me.”

Hugo spoke solemnly. He was not boasting. He had chosen his words carefully.

Every time he had a date with Jean, they always had a pleasant conversation. It was a great start.

After all, they weren't at the age when they would easily fall in love anymore.

Edgar stared at his face silently. He was a little angry.

However, Hugo seemed calmer compared to Edgar.

"Mr. Royden, rather than wasting your time stopping me here, why don't you go find out what's happened at Eyer Group? She told me something came up with her company and just left"

When Edgar heard this, he frowned. He immediately went back to his car and headed straight to Eyer Group.

Hugo sat in his car, confused.

"Why did he divorce her if he still loved her? It's too late to regret now."

Edgar called Miles while he was on his way to Eyer Group. He told Miles to head over as well.

They met at the Eyer Group's lobby, then went up together.

Rachel stopped them outside Jean's office.

"She is in, isn't she?" Edgar asked before trying to enter Jean's office.

But a few other male employees behind Rachel were blocking him as well.

The man frowned and stopped.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Royden. You are too late. Ms. Eyer has left."

Rachel replied coldly. Edgar frowned even harder.

"Would you still stop me if she wasn't in?"

She was hiding from him.

“Then, Mr.Royden, you should know this means Ms.Eyer does not wish to see you,”

Rachel said straightforwardly.

“Now that the acquisition is in progress, you will just have to wait for forty-three more hours for Eyer Group to be yours.”

The other employees behind her gave them a hostile glare.It was the first time Edgar had experienced such treatment.

Miles kept beckoning at Rachel with his eyes.

But it was useless.

Rachel was too furious to care.She had the strong urge to scold Edgar further.But at this moment, Xena hurried over with a few security guards from Royden Group.

“Mr.Edgar, are you alright?”

Xena smiled and asked with concern.

Then she ordered the guards, “Tear down this company!”

“How dare you!”

Rachel and the other male employees stepped forward for a fight.

“This company is going to change its owner soon anyway.Is there a problem with us tearing down our own company?”

Xena sneered.

“If you do not respect Mr.Edgar, you do not qualify to work here.”

Rachel and the others were completely infuriated.

The guards from Royden Group were all trained.

They were ready to act immediately upon receiving orders.

“Enough.”

Edgar roared coldly.

Then he turned around to leave.

“Mr.Edgar!”

Xena thought she had successfully stopped Edgar from meeting with Jean when she saw Edgar leave.Her plan of acquiring Eyer Group would go on smoothly if Jean and Edgar didn't meet.She didn't know how much Edgar detested her now.She was like a second Gigi Reece made by Edbert.

Jean saw everything that happened clearly from her room.

The louder it was outside, the calmer she felt.

So, when Rachel dashed into her room to complain furiously, she did not feel anything.

Even the look in her eyes was calm.

“Ms.Eyer, are you not angry at all? I quite liked the idea of Mr.Edgar chasing you again before this.I thought he was more attentive to you and had helped Eyer Group quite a lot then.But now, he is exactly like a hypocrite!”

Rachel was too furious.

If not, she would not have said something like this.

Moreover, she had worked for Jean for a very long time.She was worried for Jean.

Luckily, Jean did not plan to reconcile with Edgar.

Or else, she would end up having nothing—not money or love.

Jean did not answer Rachel for a long time.

The look on her face was extremely calm.

“Ms.Eyer?”

Jean hummed slowly.

Then she looked at the scenery outside her window and said, "I don't know about the others, but you should know that my purpose of rebuilding Eyer Group was to take revenge on Royden Group."

At that time, I naively thought I could bring Royden Group down if I worked hard enough and avenged my father."

"Now, when I think back, it feels like a dream."

"I don't have any basic knowledge or talent in managing a business. How can I fight Edgar Royden? I can only use little tricks on him"

Moreover, he had given her much leeway. He was not bothered about her and even left her opportunities to exploit him.

"Ms. Eyer..."

"He knew I was in dire need of cash flow. That is why this acquisition is happening right now."

Jean looked at Royden Tower opposite her office.

She smiled.

"I did not talk to him because I know this is not his doing." Royden Group was more complicated than she had expected.

Rachel could feel an unexplainable sorrow as she looked at Jean's back.

"Then why did you not go see him?"

Rachel lowered her voice.

"Perhaps the misunderstanding between you two will be gone after you meet each other"

"Then he will make a fuss just to get Eyer Group back for me and ruin the whole Royden Group?"

Jean shook her head.

"That would be falling into Edbert's trap' The only way to see the truth was to stay out of the situation.

Rachel understood now. But the company will be Royden Group's in less than two days.

"Ms. Eyer, what else can we do?"

Jean nodded slowly.

"We shall prepare a huge gift for Edbert. Since he wants to snatch my father's lifelong hard work, I'm afraid he'll have to spill some blood in exchange for it."

"Ms. Eyer, what else can we do?"

Read Novel Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 524

Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 524-Edbert sending Xena over simply meant he was well prepared to execute this plan.

At this time, pressure from the public through the press would not work anymore.

Most of the directors in Royden Group were probably already bribed too.

What would he do next? He would most likely use Gigi to ruin their relationship once more.

Then, he would be able to distract Edgar from counter-attacking.

Perhaps, he would send someone to her too.

Jean turned around and spoke firmly, "Rachel, please invite Miles for dinner. Alone."

"Invite him?"

Rachel was surprised. But she immediately understood after Jean explained.

"Alright, Ms. Eyer. I shall call him right away."

"Sorry for the trouble"

Rachel shook her head.

“No. He and his boss owe us this’ Half an hour later, Miles sat anxiously in the restaurant. His mind was full of Edgar’s orders—to find out what Jean was planning for Rachel. But he... He could not think straight whenever he saw Rachel.

“Have you been waiting long?”

Rachel approached him with her bag in casual attire. She looked relaxed.

“No, no. I just arrived.”

Miles rubbed his knees with both hands.

He was so nervous that he could hardly speak.

Rachel glanced at him calmly and asked, “Are you hot? Why are you sweating?”

“Maybe their air conditioning is not on!”

Miles smiled awkwardly.

“Why did you invite me for a meal?”

It would be best if he completed the task his boss gave him as soon as possible.

Rachel rested her chin in both palms and spoke gently.

“I just felt like seeing you since I’m feeling down.

“Seeing me?”

Miles could feel blood gushing to his head. He could no longer hear what Rachel said.

Finally, when he walked out of the restaurant with Rachel, she asked him again.

“So, is that a promise?”

Miles nodded.

Rachel immediately turned around and waved goodbye.

“Thank you.”

Miles swallowed his saliva hard and ran to the company.

At the same time, Edgar was surrounded by the directors in his office
“Mr.Edgar, since it has been done, there is no use getting angry over it.

If we do not have any other choices, we can relocate the employees from Eyer Group or even offer them higher positions.”

The look in Edgar’s eyes grew colder.

He slapped his palm onto the table.

At that moment, everyone shut up.

“Does anyone still listen to me in this company?”

The directors exchanged glances in shock after they heard Edgar’s cold reply.

Edbert had given them too much confidence until they had the nerve to negotiate with Edgar.

They had forgotten how cold and ruthless Edgar could be.

He did not even care about his uncle; what more to say about outsiders like them? They dared not speak up anymore.

They only said tactfully, “Mr.Edgar, of course, we will obey your orders.But it will be good for Royden Group to acquire Eyer Group.If not, the outside world will most definitely say that we bullied Eyer Group when the truth gets leaked.The company’s reputation will suffer severe damage then”

“Do you mean I should use my money and position to stop every Eyer Group employee from telling this to outsiders? Will it satisfy your ego if I, a powerless person in this company, settle this matter?”

Edgar gave them an icy look.

He sneered.

“I’m not a puppet like Xena.”

Xena stood at the door.

She could hear everything clearly. She clenched her fists tightly and bit her lip hard.

What Edgar said was indeed correct. She was now acting upon Edbert’s orders.

None was solely her intention.

But as long as she was obedient, she would gain power and fame. She could be rich and would be able to buy many bags.

It was a fast lane to success in life! “Keep an eye on the situation here and inform me immediately if anything happens.”

Xena smiled at her assistant.

“If you do not do well, you will be sacked”

The assistant immediately agreed.

Xena walked back to her office and dialed Edbert’s number.

After Edgar shut down the directors, they dared not talk big anymore.

“But Mr. Edgar, is there still a way to undo this situation since it has escalated to this extent?” Edgar replied harshly.

“Stop all news regarding the acquisition of Eyer Group. Announce that Royden Group will have two huge projects coming up soon instead.

Move the collaboration with Oprah Group to the headlines to divert the public’s attention.”

“I will deal with the rest.”

The directors exchange glances.

“Then...”

“As long as all of you remain quiet about this, it will not affect your interests. But if you continue to confuse people and stop me from executing my plan, then we shall die together.

They still needed Edgar to earn money.

They nodded in agreement.

Before they went out, Edgar added coldly.

“My uncle is getting old. Sometimes, he cannot think clearly. It will be at your own risk if you choose to stand on his side.”

The directors left Edgar’s office quickly after being stunned by his words. Their hearts pounded hard.

“Does Mr. Edgar know we received bribes from Mr. Edbert?”

“I don’t think so. He would have told us to leave if he knew, wouldn’t he?”

But when they thought of Edgar’s fierce eyes, they could not help but shiver.

“Alright, let’s go. It is best if we do not interfere with their family business.”

Soon, Miles ran out of the elevator.

“Mr. Royden, Rachel told me that Jean wants a vice president position at the Royden Group. Then she will be able to let go of the acquisition of Eyer Group.”

Edgar hadn’t expected this.

“Are you sure?”

Miles could hardly catch his breath as he continued, “Rachel told me this herself. Besides, Jean wants Royden Group to sign an agreement that they shall not sack any of Eyer Group’s employees. If you accept these conditions, she will not have any other objection regarding the acquisition.”

It would be perfect if it were true.

Then he would not need to apologize to the Eyer family.

If Jean worked at Royden Group, they would also have the chance to see each other.

At that instant, everything seemed to be going in a good direction! A spark of excitement flashed in Miles' eyes as he continued, "Mr.Royden, I've already told them that we accept."

He had a triumphant look on his face.

Based on his understanding of his boss, he would agree with anything if it brought Jean benefits.

Moreover, this meant that Jean would be physically nearer to his boss.

Why would his boss refuse such a good offer? Little did he expect that Edgar didn't praise him at all.

On the contrary, he frowned and stared at Miles.

"Did you make the decision yourself?"

Oops....Oops.

Miles' face darkened at once.

"Mr.Royden, are you not willing to accept the terms?"

Edgar was thrilled at that moment.But he had to contain that happiness.

Experiences in the past had taught him that if he got happy too early, that woman would be able to guess his thoughts.

Then, she could wrap him around her little finger.

"Well, we will have to meet to discuss such an important matter"

Read Novel Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 525

Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 525-This was also an opportunity.He would have the chance to see Jean and find out if this was her intention.

Moreover, a reaction like this was understandable.

So when Miles told Rachel about Edgar's decision, they agreed immediately.

"Ms.Eyer said she wanted Mr.Edbert to join the negotiation too.Then, we can discuss everything once and for all."

Miles was dumbfounded.

When Rachel heard the silence at the other end of the phone, she asked, "Is there a problem with that?"

"Of course not.But this will be more troublesome.Perhaps a discussion between them will be enough for now."

Rachel refuted immediately.

"This is something big for both groups.Of course, everyone should be present during the negotiation.This is not a date.Ms.Eyer has already shown her sincerity in agreeing to meet up for negotiation.We can meet at court if you do not agree to it."

The call was hung up immediately.

Miles was annoyed.He had no choice but to apologize and agree to Jean's request.

Finally, he managed to pick Jean up.

He drove straight to Edbert's house.

On the way, Miles explained, "Mr.Edgar has some emergency matters to deal with right now.But he will come as soon as he is done with it' Jean glanced out of the window and replied calmly.

"No need to hurry.The sun shrouded her body, and it looked as if she had a halo around her body.But she was unbothered; she remained calm and collected.Miles drove slowly.

They waited outside Edbert's house until Edgar finally arrived with Robert.

"Ms.Eyer, we meet again!"

Robert stepped forward and greeted Jean. He became more popular in the law industry after following Jean's advice last time. His career had improved by leaps and bounds.

Otherwise, he would have been able to leave right away when Edgar needed him.

Edgar almost tore down his law firm while waiting for him.

At this moment, Edgar's attention was entirely on Jean.

The man studied every micro-expression on her.

It was as if he was looking for some confirmation.

Before they could go into Edbert's house, a group of people came out.

They were reporters and videographers from the TV station.

Xena and Edbert were seeing them out.

Xena's eyes were slightly red as she pushed Edbert slightly forward. She told the reporters, "Thank you for coming today and clarifying the truth with us. We do not wish for this to go on any further, too. It is affecting our peaceful lives."

"Don't worry. We will release the news immediately" The reporter replied.

But at this moment, some of them noticed Edgar and the others.

"Mr. Edgar!"

The photographers started taking photos.

This real-life drama was too gripping for them to miss out on it.

Not long ago, when Edbert experienced a misfortune during his surgery, Jean was everyone's first suspect.

Although Edbert had come forward to announce that he shall not pursue the matter anymore, his response made everyone feel that something fishy was behind it.

Then, the power of Royden Group was returned to Edgar.

Now, Edbert's daughter works in Royden Group and is the group's vice president.

Does this mean there will be a fight over the ownership of Royden Group? The reporters immediately surrounded Edgar and the others.

"Mr. Edgar, the finance world is concerned about Royden Group's direction of development in the future. Would you care to comment a little about it?" Edgar frowned.

His eyes were cold.

Edbert winked at Xena, and she walked down the front steps and said with a smile, "You're here. Food is ready. Let's eat while we talk"

Xena looked at the reporters' confused expression and laughed, "We are simply having a family lunch. Please don't ask about work anymore."

The reporters exchanged glances.

Who would invite his ex-wife and a lawyer to a family lunch? But the reporters pretended to believe Xena's answer and left the Royden's family villa.

As soon as the front door was closed, all of them had different expressions on their faces.

Xena immediately put on a pitiful look.

"Edgar, why didn't you let me know before you came? The reporters will create stories again now that they saw you."

Edgar glared at her. He ignored her pitiful look.

"You did not inform me either before you submitted the acquisition form."

Xena kept quiet as she bit her lip and tried to look as innocent and pitiful as possible. But Edgar ignored her. He brought Jean into the house.

Edbert sat in his wheelchair gloomily.

When he saw Edgar and Jean approaching him, he smiled slowly.

"Even if you weren't going to come, I would still invite you."

He sounded kind and generous. But after all that happened, his smile now looked fake to Jean.

“You can stop acting. We are all busy people.”

Jean chuckled and walked in.

The house was spacious.

All the furniture in the house was vintage.

The fragrance of pine wood that came off gave the place an exquisite feeling. But the first thing that came into Jean’s mind was that Edbert did not fit this place.

“The acquisition of Eyer Group has almost come to an end. There is no way we can reverse it. Please do not blame Xena for it. She is still young. She still has a lot to learn... Edbert planned to place all the responsibility on Xena. If anything happened, he would give Xena up without a second thought.

However, Xena, who was standing right beside him, could only say, “I misunderstood my father’s meaning and submitted the form. I’m sorry, Jean”

“I don’t need your apology. It’s too expensive for me.”

Jean took out an agreement from her bag.

“Since it cannot be reversed, I just want compensation. I don’t think it’s too much to ask for, is it?”

Surprise flashed in Edbert’s eyes.

After a while, he smiled.

“Of course not.

“Then, sign it.”

Jean had gotten a pen ready. She told Xena, “We only need your signature, Ms. Sparks.”

Edgar and Robert had already signed the agreement.

Xena looked at Edbert subconsciously.

Jean pretended to look surprised. She raised her tone and asked, “Why? Was Ms. Sparks lying? I didn’t know you had to confide in someone before making a decision. So was the acquisition of Eyer Group your decision or a misunderstanding of his orders?”

But the agreement was already in Xena’s hands.

“It’s alright. I have the whole day. I can wait for you to go through it. If you sign it, I will let this go. If not, I can call the reporters back. We can run through the legal process.” Jean blinked.

“Didn’t anyone warn you that you would end up with a lawsuit or even go to jail if I sued you?”

She turned to Robert and asked, “Stealing personal information under commercial crime. How many years will you need to serve for a crime like this?”

“Five, Robert replied curtly.

Xena looked at Edbert subconsciously.

Read Novel Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 526

Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 526-Mr. Martin was entirely professional and even brought out related legal documents.

As soon as he said it, Xena conceded.

“I’ll sign it!”

On the other end, Edbert’s face was ice-cold, but Xena was in a hurry and didn’t notice it.

Jean smiled.

“Your company should have some kind of integrity, shouldn’t you? Don’t tell me you’ll break your word once I walk out this door” She directed this at Edbert.

In an instant, the corners of Edbert's mouth twitched dryly.

He gripped his wheelchair tightly.

"We used to be a family. What makes you think that?"

Jean smiled indifferently and took the signed agreement out of Xena's hands unconcernedly.

"I have no other way. I've been framed too many times, so I always have to keep an eye out."

She handed the agreement to Mr. Martin.

"Let's have a good working relationship, Mr. Edbert"

Xena slowly calmed down at that moment. She gritted her teeth and said, "Jean, your company will belong to Royden Group next time. Don't ever be sad"

Is she rubbing salt into the wound? Xena wanted to see Jean's pale appearance.

Although Jean felt it was a pity, her smile didn't falter.

"How would I be sad? We'll still be working together in the future. I'm looking forward to it."

Edbert furrowed his brows tightly.

But Jean wasn't interested in clarifying his doubts. She walked out.

Edgar stood on one side, and his gaze followed Jean.

When he looked back at Edbert, his expression slowly became cold and merciless.

"Uncle Edbert, take care of yourself. You don't have to interfere in company matters and draw fire to yourself' He was tired of saying what he had to. Edgar had no other way if Edbert wanted to go down that path. The man turned coldly and was followed by Mr. Martin and Miles. The group of people came and went. Xena was angry and envious. She wished that she could rush outside to scold them. But at the next moment, Edbert yelled at her.

“What was written on the agreement?!”

At the door, Miles felt exuberant.

“Ms.Eyer, when will you come to work at Royden Group?”

This was what Edgar had wanted to ask as well.

In an instant, Edgar looked at Miles appreciatively.

“I’ll see how things go.I’ve been a bit busy lately.Since the matter is settled, I’ll be leaving,” she said before she hailed a cab and left.

Edgar didn’t even have the opportunity to stop her.

He watched her get into the cab and vanish from sight.

Mr.Martin, who was at the side, coughed lightly.

“Mr.Royden, you’ll cross the bridge when you get there, so you don’t have to be too hasty.I think the two of you still have a great mutual understanding.It’s possible to get together again”

But it was complicated.

After all, it is easy for women to pursue men, but for men to date women...

Edgar glanced at him, implying that he shouldn’t say anything.He opened the car door and got into the car.

Jean didn’t deliberately look for an excuse to leave.

She had something to do.

Since CRK Medical Center accepted Gigi, they discussed treatment plans.

However, a few days passed, and there was still no suitable conclusion.

She had an appointment with Andrew and wanted to ask him about the specifics.

When she arrived outside of his office, she saw a nurse crying as she ran out from the inside.

Jean knocked and saw that Andrew was slightly alarmed.

It seemed as though he had something in his hands.

When he saw Jean standing at the door, he immediately hid it behind him.

“Please have a seat, Ms.Eyer”

There was slight panic in his voice.

Jean didn't overthink it.

“As I said on the phone, I wanted to ask about Gigi's condition. When can she go for surgery?”

Andrew quickly shifted into work mode.

“We've assembled a team of specialists to discuss and analyze your sister's condition, but the results aren't ideal. Besides the concern of psychological issues and voluntary donors, her blood cells are deteriorating beyond usual. Maybe she will soon be classified as a more serious case.”

“Under usual circumstances, other patients will be at this stage for three to five years, but she's been deteriorating too quickly. I have reason to believe that she is affected by external circumstances.”

Jean's brows furrowed tightly.

“What do you mean?”

“You can interpret it as she's using it or has used something to worsen her condition.”

Andrew looked at the monitoring report in his hands.

“Although I don't know what it is exactly, I can be sure that the effects vanish after she stops using it.”

Jean thought of a distinct possibility.

Andrew looked at her expression and put down the pen in his hands.

“Ms. Eyer, you can trust me. You must communicate with me if there are any problems. Only this way can I find a suitable treatment for Gigi as soon as possible.”

“I can’t tell you now. I need time to verify it”

Jean’s hands slowly tightened.

“I’ll inform you at once when I find out.”

Andrew nodded.

“Alright.”

Jean got up to leave, and Andrew’s hands loosened.

The pen in his hands fell as a response on the desk.

It rolled along the desk’s flat surface and stopped at the photograph on the corner.

It was a dark photograph, but from the back, the great figure of a woman could be seen vaguely.

There was a small signature at the bottom right corner.

It was dated four years ago.

At that time, Gigi had accepted some small advertisements in the advertising circle and had just made her debut.

Andrew looked at the photograph, and the corners of his lips slowly curved.

“I will find a way to treat you.”

Jean was still worried when she left Andrew’s office, so she turned and walked toward the ward area.

At the door of Gigi’s room, she heard a few people pointing to the inside and discussing it amongst themselves.

“Isn’t that her? The man she spent a few years chasing is her biological sister’s ex-husband. How interesting.”

“How can girls these days be so shameless?”

Jean immediately walked over and looked at them.

“Have you never chased after men when you were young? Do you think you have the moral high ground to judge others just because you spend your days reading tabloids? How dignified do you think you are right now?”

“Who...Who are you? Why do you think you can criticize us?”

One of the ladies snorted rudely.

“She has to own up to what she did. She even sent her child overseas. This woman is heartless.”

Jean held back her desire to strike the woman with extreme effort. She took a deep breath in and stared at them.

“I’m her sister”

Those ladies had explicit expressions of surprise.

“It’s not up to you to judge if she’s at fault. If you disturb her again, I’ll come to your rooms every day and dig up everything you’ve done in the past. Let’s see who has the cleanest past!”

Their expressions changed in an instant, and they stepped back while cursing.

“What a lunatic’ “These two sisters are...”

“Do you want to continue?”

Jean was about to rush forward.

They ran away at once.

Jean stood at the spot, and her fists slowly tightened.

When she turned around, she saw Gigi sitting in a wheelchair.

Gigi had lost half her weight, and her face was slightly pale.

She smiled bitterly.

“They’re right. There is no cure for me” Both her soul and her spirit deserved to be abandoned by the heavens.

Read Novel Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 527

Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 527-Jean looked at her expression and opened her mouth to say something.

The words were on the tip of her tongue when she swallowed it back down.

“What do you want to eat at night?”

She walked around Gigi and wanted to change the subject.

But Gigi closed the door and asked, “Can you change my attending physician?”

She turned her head and had a complicated expression on her face.

When she looked up, a bitter smile was displayed on her lips.

“I don’t want...to see Dr.Walterson.”

Jean was slightly perplexed.

“What happened?”

Gigi shook her head.

“It shouldn’t be hard if you just inform Nathan.

If you disagree, then I don’t want to accept treatment; she said decisively.

As the two of them were talking, Sheena walked in with fruits.

She didn’t notice that Jean was around as she mumbled, “Those nurses are too much.Dr.Walterson is...”

Before she could finish, she noticed the two people in the room and immediately stopped.

“I...I bought some oranges and grapes.Try them.”

“Sheena, why does Gigi want to switch doctors? What on earth happened?”

The people at the door, Andrew’s expression as he stopped when he tried to speak, and what Sheena said added up.

Jean sat on the couch.

“Tell me. Otherwise, there’s no end to this’ “It’s not Gigi’s fault. They are too much!”

Sheena was enraged and told her everything that had happened in the last two days in a huff.

Ever since Gigi switched hospitals, there had been rumors spreading.

Whispers in the hospital said she sold herself to seduce famous directors, abandoned her child, and was even entangled with the attending physician.

The nurses in the inpatient building who admired Dr. Walterson viewed Gigi as a thorn in their side and thought she would play her tricks every few days. It made them uneasy.

“Gigi was afraid you would be worried, so she didn’t let me say anything.”

Sheena let out a heavy sigh.

“This should have been dealt with earlier so those people wouldn’t have gone overboard.”

Gigi cracked her knuckles, and her voice was soft.

“Also, I noticed that Dr. Walterson used to be my fan. I don’t want to be seen in such a vulnerable position.”

Gigi raised her eyes and looked over. Her eyes were as dry as a desert. She was cooperating with her treatment.

But she kept thinking of leaving the world! The three ate, and Gigi said she wanted to nap, so Sheena saw Jean off.

Sheena wanted to say something but stopped.

“I will talk things over with the hospital. Take note of Gigi’s emotions and let me know if something happens.”

Jean paused and continued, “I can’t ignore her.”

Sheena nodded at once.

“I understand. If not for you taking care of her, she wouldn’t be able to afford the cost of treatment.”

Everyone has to bear all sorts of pressure in life.

But Gigi was now at a low point.

She couldn’t take any more trials and hardships.

As for Jean, she wanted to help Gigi but was slightly powerless.

On the way back, Jean stopped by the graveyard.

She stood there silently for a long time and only left when she received a call from Rachel.

“This family isn’t destroyed as long as we’re still around. Don’t worry, Mom and Dad”

As soon as she walked into her house, she saw Julia on the phone.

When Julia heard the sound of the door opening, she immediately said, “You must make the time”

Then, she welcomed Jean with a joyful expression and took the bag in Jean’s hands.

“How is she? Is she alright?”

“Yes,” Jean responded.

Julia started chattering.

“I’ve contacted Hugo. You should hike with him this weekend and get in touch with nature. You can’t just stay at home. You need to...”

Before she could finish, Jean was nowhere to be seen.

“Ah? So do you have the time?”

Jean opened the door of her room in exasperation.

“No. I need to get ready for work”

The following morning, Jean went to Royden Tower. She went to Miles under the attentive gaze of all the employees.

“Is my office ready?”

“Yes! This way, Ms. Eyer.”

The pitch of Miles’ voice went up a few decibels as if afraid others couldn’t hear him.

In the blink of an eye, the news about Jean holding office at Royden Group spread throughout the company.

Many employees were curious and expectant...

“Have they really reconciled?”

“This unexpected acquisition must be a farce. Ms. Eyer must be willing to reconcile, so she gave Mr. Royden a way out.”

“Do you feel like Ms. Eyer is a lot more charming? Although she’s still as pretty, her figure is more fully rounded now.”

Other employees immediately rolled their eyes.

“Be careful. Mr. Royden will dig your eyes out if you comment on Ms. Eyer’s figure.”

Xena felt something was wrong as soon as she arrived at the office.

“Is she really here?”

Her assistant followed her.

“Yes, Ms.Xena.Miles outdid himself and modified the meeting room closest to Mr.Royden’s office into Ms.Eyer’s office.He only took one night.That office is more luxurious than Mr.Royden’s”

“Heh? Xena held the branded bag in her hands.It was the only branded bag she had in her life.But Jean received so much attention just by coming to Royden Group.She watched from afar as other managers surrounded Jean.She gritted her teeth and walked over.

Her assistant reminded her in a low voice, “Ms.Xena, Mr.Carlson said that you shouldn’t come into conflict with her’ But Xena was livid and disoriented from her rage.She walked over and called out, “Stop.”

Jean slowly turned.

“Is something wrong, Ms.Xena?”

Xena raised her chin and had a haughty manner.

“Although I allowed you to work at the office, the procedures are not done, and your office does not meet the requirements.I’m going to send people over to make adjustments.”

“Procedures?”

Xena said earnestly, “Yes, your onboarding procedures.”

She was like a high school student and was triumphant with just a few words.

She walked in front of Jean and instructed Miles, “Also, the office’s layout and decoration need to be modified.

How can the benchmark of a vice president be higher than Mr.Royden? You’ve been working for so long, Miles.Is this the way to do things?”

This argument was barely feasible.

If Mr.Royden doesn’t mind, why isMs.Xena getting in a huff? The managers who were with them had confused expressions.

They didn’t know that Ms.Xena was so concerned with company matters.Or are these two fighting over Edgar’s favor? Just as everyone watched how

Jean would react and how these two women would get into it, Jean retorted lightly, "So you want me to leave now?"

Xena was startled by the question.

Is she admitting defeat so readily? "Yes. Leave now. You can't step into Royden Group until I tell you to do so"

Read Novel Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 528

Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 528-Xena had never been so brash since she joined Royden Group.

She saw some of the managers looking at her in extreme astonishment.

In that instant, she was incredibly proud of herself.

She didn't even think about how detrimental Jean's following sentence would be.

"You're going back on your word, Ms.Xena.I can only contact the lawyer and discuss how some people stole business information and hid the acquisition filing from me."

Not many people knew about it at first.

Jean revealed it in front of all the managers.

Everyone at the scene was bright and understood it clearly after what Jean said.

Jean had something on Xena, and to ensure it wouldn't get out of hand, she allowed Jean to start a new post in Royden Group as vice president.

In that case, how does Xena have the nerve to strut around in front of Jean? She could go to jail with one word from Jean.Young girls these days weren't very bright.

The mood changed instantly.

Xena stood where she was as her expression turned white and red.

“Hmm? Have you gone mute?”

Jean glanced at her and turned to walk to the couch at the back and sat down. She looked up.

“I’m waiting for an apology.”

Xena felt humiliated.

It was as though countless pairs of eyes were staring at her.

She went forward and hesitated before she stammered and spat out two words.

“I’m sorry’ Jean looked at her in a reserved manner. Xena clenched her fists and spoke a little louder, “I’m sorry.”

Jean turned her head to the side and looked at Xena as she blinked.

She slowly asked, “Weren’t you speaking quite loudly when you questioned me?”

“Do young people these days only berate others but not admit fault?”

“If this was what Edbert taught you, you don’t have to fight over Royden Group.

It has better chances of being handed to some random passerby than falling into your hands.”

Xena took all of it head on.

Everyone behind them gasped.

Isn’t she insulting Edbert as well? Edbert and Xena were hypocritical in front of others.

They had been on the financial news in the morning.

Furthermore, Edbert had an outward image of being kind and gentle.

He would never be rude or insolent to anyone.

As for what he did...

Now, Ebert had departed the company, and Xena was left.

The directors often forgave Xena because of her young age.

No one had thought that Jean would expose such a thing without considering Edbert.

But discerning people would understand once they thought about it.

Royden Group spent half the amount absorbing Eyer Group.

Would Jean be friendly to Xena? Whatever Jean said was nothing since Xena was afraid to go to jail.

To look at the bigger picture, this company would still belong to Edgar.

If Jean were willing to remarry Edgar, both the Eyer Group and Royden Group would become one.

There was no point in splitting hairs.

Xena wanted to humiliate Jean, but she shot herself in the foot.

The blazing hot gazes from people around them made her very annoyed.

But if they continued to be deadlocked, Xena would only continue humiliating herself.

She wrinkled her brows and braced herself before she yelled, "I'm sorry!"

After that, she ran away crying.

She had taken advantage of her position to bully Jean, but it had backfired.

She ended up crying and feeling wronged instead.

Such tricks couldn't be played in plain sight.

Jean smiled lightly.

"How can she cry so easily? Rachel, do you think she can last a month?"

Rachel, who was at the side, clicked her tongue.

“No way”

Jean put on her shades again and walked toward her office.

The managers immediately followed.

They had to choose the right team at this time.

Otherwise, they would be the next ones to run from the company while crying.

What greeted Jean when she walked into her office was a curved full-length window.

The electric curtains opened automatically, and there was a faint fragrance of lilies in the air.

Everything from the chair to the decorations was stylish and chic.

With one glance, it was apparent that someone had designed it meticulously.

Rachel was slightly disoriented as she looked at it.

At the side, Miles smiled like he wanted to take credit for it.

“What do you think? I decorated it under Mr.Royden’s instructions.”

He thought that Rachel would praise him under such circumstances.

He never thought that...

Rachel quickly resumed her cold expression.

“With Royden Group’s power, is it difficult to decorate an office? Or are you saying you view your position so lowly that an office can make you pleased with yourself?”

Miles was dumbstruck.

He gritted his teeth in silence.

He shouldn’t have asked.

Fortunately, Jean thanked him.

“Thank you for your hard work.”

Miles’ young and frail spirit was consoled.

“You can rest now.

There’s a meeting in the afternoon to confirm the specifics of next week’s team building.”

“Team building?”

Rachel looked at him in surprise.

Miles nodded at once.

He didn’t dare to say anymore, so he left quietly.

This team building had been scheduled for next month, but the date was changed at the last minute because Jean started working at Royden Group.

Now almost the whole company knew how much Mr.Royden valued his ex-wife.

Therefore, there should be less provocation from people like Xena in the future.

Miles immediately told Edgar how he had received Jean and Rachel in the morning.

He emphasized the company’s warm reception to Jean and how she had gotten rid of Xena without much effort.

A gentle smile flickered across Edgar’s face.

Such an expression would only appear when Jean was the topic of discussion.

From Edgar’s face, Miles knew he was in a great mood.

So, Miles gave Edgar a timely reminder.

“Mr.Royden, it’s time to confirm next week’s team-building specifics!”

He had to strike while it was hot.

Edgar walked into the meeting room in high spirits.

He wanted to take advantage of his role and find an opportunity to speak to Jean alone.

But he found out from Rachel that Jean had requested to go on leave.

“She has requested one week’s leave.

Here is her request slip; Rachel said in a businesslike tone.

Besides Jean, she was the only person in the company to treat Edgar disdainfully.

It wasn’t because of a lack of respect, but instead Rachel’s knowledge about their personal relationships.

It was out of a sense of protection for Jean and only natural that Rachel disregarded Edgar.

“Ms.

Eyer isn’t feeling too well, so she requested time off.

There shouldn’t be a problem, should there, Mr.Royden?”

Her last question was her way of giving Edgar a way out.

If it wasn’t approved, she still had other ways.

Edgar’s joyful heart was extinguished entirely in that instant.

He raised his hands and took a pen from Miles.

He quickly signed his name.

“Alright, let’s start the meeting”

He wasn’t in the mood at all.

At this time, there was a voice outside the door.

“Mr.Royden, the reporters are here.Ms.Xena is ready”

“What?”

Edgar stood up straight, and his gaze was deep and cold.

The employee was startled.

“Aren’t you being interviewed together with Ms. Xena?”

Read Novel Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 529

Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 529-In that instant, everyone could feel the air in the meeting room going downhill.

The employee that came to pass the message was about to be turned into stone from Edgar’s cold and irrepressible rage.

If it weren’t for Miles smoothing things over, everyone would have been in for a disaster.

“Mr.Royden, I’ll take a look at the situation.”

Edgar furrowed his brows and raised his hand.

Miles walked out.

“What’s going on?”

“Ms.Xena has arranged for a reporter from the city’s television station, and they said they want to interview the key leaders of our company.It’s also about last year’s charitable investment in the new housing development.Ms.Xena’s assistant said that Mr.Royden knew about this, so...”

They took it as the truth.

They didn’t imagine that Edgar was utterly in the dark.

What was going on? Acting first and reporting later? Xena had quite the nerve.

It was no different from playing with fire.

“But those from the city’s television station are here. We can’t chase them away”

The employee was in a difficult position.

“Save us, Miles”

Miles furrowed his brows and turned around to take a look. He saw Rachel walking out.

Before he could say anything, Rachel said, “Ms. Eyer will be there. Make your arrangements”

Miles’ eyes lit up.

Rachel, who was before him, was his shining lady luck! “Don’t look at him with such an expression. I’m not a mind reader. I’m only doing my job and reporting big and small company matters to Ms. Eyer”

They wanted to make Royden Group a turbulent place at all costs! Didn’t Edbert want to take the company back? Then they would leave him with an incohesive company that Jean was tired of.

The sort that would scatter when the wind blew.

Half an hour later, the reporter from the city’s television station was slightly impatient from waiting.

“When is Mr. Royden coming, Ms. Xena?”

The reporter asked again.

They started complaining secretly when they saw that Ms.

Xena was a young girl who had just graduated.

Still, when they thought about how she was the cream of the Royden Group, they felt that her abilities might be outstanding. But after talking to her for a while, they realized it wasn’t the case.

Even though Xena had majored in such an area, she didn't have much practical experience in the workplace. She spoke weakly, and it seemed her heart wasn't even in today's interview.

Such a scene couldn't be aired in any part of the news.

Xena's fingers were interlocked, and she suddenly raised her head when she heard someone calling her. Her eyes were lacking spirit, and she looked like she was losing her head out of fear. She had forgotten her manners.

Her heart thumped, and she kept thinking about what to do if Edgar didn't show up.

Faced with the reporter's queries, she stuttered and couldn't say a word.

At this time, the door opened.

Jean walked in curtly with low heels.

Not only did she take the initiative to greet the reporters, but she also brought snacks and coffee for them.

"Thank you for your trouble. I want to discuss the general content for the interview..."

All her conduct and speech were natural and unrestrained.

The tailored skirt she had on was elegant and beautiful.

She gave others the feeling of being an elite woman in the workplace.

As they briefly discussed the interview content, the photographer took some photographs of her at a good angle as he tested the lighting.

It was good enough to be featured in a fashion magazine! The photographer took a few more shots.

No one talked to Xena while that was happening.

She tried to join in several times but failed.

The scene was indescribable.

Even the photographer couldn't help but exclude her from the frame, and Xena wasn't a conversationalist.

Even her demeanor pulled down the appeal of the interview.

"Should we officially start now, Ms.Eyer?"

The reporter confirmed one last time and signaled her colleague behind her.

"Can I include a personal question? You should know that it's hard to be public media.We need some simple.."

The reporter hesitated as she thought about how to word it.

Jean smiled indifferently.

"Yes."

She could easily imagine what they wanted to ask her.It was undoubtedly related to Edgar.

There was nothing she couldn't say.

Since she decided to join Royden Group, her revenge plan had been set in motion, and Edgar was one of the most important links.

There was nowhere to hide.

Seeing Jean put down her coffee cup, Xena imitated her, but she didn't know she wasn't in the frame.

Xena had invited them to show off her position in the company.

This was what Edbert had taught her.

She needed to stand steadily on her own two feet as soon as possible before getting a few projects for the company in the next quarter.

That way, the directors would praise her more.

And including Edgar in the interview was to create a better topic of discussion.

After all, Edgar was an acclaimed genius in the business world.

With him to shelter her from the wind and rain, Xena only needed to smile at the side.

Others would then think that she also had an innate ability as the daughter of the Royden family.

But she watched as her plan was wrecked.

Jean answered perfectly and flawlessly as she faced the reporters' questions.

"Ms.Eyer, can you tell us in detail about Royden Group's acquisition of Eyer Group? How did you suddenly think of selling the company in such a way?"

"I can only say that this is one of the business models for a strong alliance.It can't be said that Eyer Group has disappeared.We are going to go further"

Royden Group hadn't overpowered Eyer Group.

Instead, they used Royden Group's resources and networks to strengthen their power.

"Perhaps there will be changes one day in the future.It's not certain."

Jean smiled sincerely, and no one could guess what she was thinking.

At this time, the photographer received a signal from the reporter, and he cleverly zoomed in on Jean's face.

Even under such a high-definition camera, her face was still perfect.

She was comparable to a celebrity.

At this time, an additional tall figure appeared at the door.

His gaze was fixed on Jean's face, and there was a rare gentleness.

"Finally, let me ask you a private question.After your last marriage ended, have you found a suitable partner recently? Or do you have any expectations for future marriage?"

The reporter didn't have the nerve to ask her bluntly.

She was afraid that the question wouldn't be interesting.

If Jean magnanimously admitted that she had reconciled with Edgar, then the acquisition of her company was only an internal operation.

If Jean's reply had nothing to do with Edgar, then future news about Royden Group would be interesting.

As soon as the reporter asked the question, Jean raised her brows slightly and deliberately hesitated.

It allowed Xena to blab.

"Let me answer such a private question on her behalf, Ms.Reyes."

Xena immediately held onto Jean's wrist, making it seem like they were very close.

This made the distance between the two closer, and the photographer could not cut off her hand from the frame.

He could only include Xena's face.

Xena turned her head sideways and asked Jean, "I can Say it, can't I, Jean?"

Jean's expression darkened slightly, but she said, "Go ahead."

She wanted to see what Xena would say.

Xena turned and said to the camera, "Jean is such a capable and independent woman.She got pregnant without a husband at a time like this.Jean doesn't need a partner.She has been pregnant for three months but still maintains her figure.Isn't it obvious?"

Read Novel Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 530

Edgar And His Destined Wife Chapter 530-Pregnant out of wedlock! Jean wasn't seeing anyone and didn't have a steady boyfriend.

It was unclear who the child's father was.

Even with the reporter's professional etiquette, she couldn't help but reveal a surprised expression.

At this time, Xena's smile seemed panicked.

"Ch no, did I say something that I shouldn't have? Don't spread this outside."

She seemed to have paled in appearance as though she had committed a cardinal sin.

"Jean, I'm sorry. I...was too frank. It seems like I shouldn't have said anything."

Xena blinked and mumbled softly, "But even if I didn't say anything, everyone would have been able to tell sooner or later. There's no way to trick others when you're pregnant."

Trick? Jean's face was cold, and she pulled her hand away.

She answered icily, "This is my private affair. Is this considered a trick?"

And no one had asked her.

Moreover, she didn't need to clarify this to anyone.

Xena had an awkward expression, but she could feel that the air around them was strange.

Everyone didn't look at Jean as admiringly as they had.

Xena was delighted deep in her heart.

"I'm really sorry, Jean. I will contact those from the television station right away. I will never let them report about this at all costs"

Xena was making matters worse.

Xena wanted to bribe the media.

Did she think that the news wasn't explosive enough? And the reporter hadn't said a thing.

She had been planning and executing all by herself as she spoke.

Even the reporter who was interviewing Jean couldn't bear to watch.

She said, "Actually, this is Ms. Eyer's private affairs."

“But so many people have heard it,” Xena mumbled softly as she sized up Jean’s expression.

She still had tricks up her sleeve.

Just as Xena was about to say something again, the door opened.

Edgar went to Jean’s right side and put a vacuum flask in her hands.

“I’m late.”

It was as though there was a deeper meaning to what he said.

A visually beautiful scene was naturally formed as the two stood together.

The photographer immediately took a few photographs.

Xena’s expression was slightly nasty, but she repressed her envy.

As long as she didn’t bring it up, Edgar wouldn’t know that she had a ‘slip of the tongue’ and revealed the news.

“The interview hasn’t ended, has it?”

Edgar asked as he sat down graciously.

The reporter’s eyes lit up, and he immediately said, “Of course not. It would be great if you could discuss your insight and experience in the business circle.”

This was the absolute highlight that could boost the television station’s ratings.

It was too petty to report whether Jean was pregnant. It didn’t suit the style of the city’s television station.

Edgar smiled lightly, and his eyes swept outside the door.

Miles immediately walked in and said, “Ms. Xena, you have a guest.”

Before Xena could be astonished, she was pulled out by Miles.

As they walked, Xena came to her senses and said coldly, “No one is looking for me. You’re lying”

Miles couldn't be bothered to continue keeping up the act.

"Since you understand, Ms.Xena, please return to your office.Before Mr.Royden gives his instructions, you shouldn't take even a half-step out."

Miles had already been tactful as he passed the message from Edgar.

If he said it like Edgar, he feared that Xena would cry again.

Xena's eyes widened.

"On what grounds? I want to go back, and I need to be interviewed by the reporter."

"You don't have to waste your time, Ms.Xena.Every shot of you will be edited out, and there won't be anything related to you in the final interview."

With a single word from Edgar, such a result could be achieved.

Xena was dumbfounded.

She grew furious.

"Why is he treating me like this? Is it because I accidentally said that Jean was pregnant?"

Xena was overwhelmed and wanted to turn back immediately to contend with Edgar.

"Mr.Royden is trying to say that you had better not act rashly if you still want to stay in Royden Group."

No matter how dumb Xena was, she understood what it meant.

She slowly turned and gritted her teeth.

"I'm just telling it like it is.Even if Edgar wants to protect Jean's reputation, he can't..."

"Mr.Royden is protecting their child" Miles said lightly.

His gaze was cool.

“Ms.Xena, you may think I’m meddlesome as I remind you that you can’t touch the internal disputes in Royden Group.You better get away as soon as possible.Otherwise...you won’t even know when you’re used as bait.”

Miles walked around Xena and left after that.

After he left, two bodyguards dressed in black suits immediately appeared at the other end of the corridor.

They came to Xena, one in front of the other.

“This way, Ms.Xena’ Even though they asked nicely, if Xena dared to be uncooperative, they would show no mercy and use force.Xena was virtually ‘abducted’ to her office.Furthermore, there was a surveillance camera in her office, right on her desk.

“From now on, everything you do will be reported to Mr.Royden at once.”

Upon hearing the cold and expressionless directions from the bodyguards, Xena gritted her teeth in a fury.

“He can’t treat me like this!”

But no matter how much she fussed around and screamed, the bodyguards ignored her.

Conversely, the reporter became more enthusiastic as she continued the interview because Edgar was very cooperative.

As someone who thought television interviews were beneath him, he was going all out today.

“Lastly, could you please talk about your mental process of starting and going into a business? Or do you have any suggestions for young people who have the opportunity to go into the finance industry?”

Edgar frowned.

“Am I very old?”

“I didn’t mean that.It’s your position and rich experience in the finance circle.”

The reporter immediately smoothed things out.

His deep eyes slowly lifted, and his voice was deep but extremely convincing.

He spoke simply and didn't mention anything wrong about the industry.

Finally, he said, "I hope that no matter where they are, they don't do something that they will regret for the rest of their life."

Upon hearing that, the reporter's curiosity was piqued.

"Mr. Royden, do you mean to say that you've done something that you'll regret for the rest of your life?"

The baton of conversation was passed to him again.

"Yes"

He didn't avoid it at all.

Before the reporter could ask another question, he declared his feelings openly.

"I lost the person I love the most because of my ignorance. It's too late to regret now: The reporter and the photographer were dumbstruck and had curious expressions. Jean wanted to stop him, but it was already too late.

"Although she's next to me, it's like a whole galaxy between us."

It wouldn't have been so damaging if anyone else had said it.

But it came from Edgar, someone who never wasted time on things like relationships.

Today, he seemed like a lovesick fool who was staring at his ex-wife stupidly.

The photographer caught the moment when their eyes met. He clicked the shutter with satisfaction.

The photograph went viral in the next few hours.