

Chapter 221

Buching My Daughter?

Everyone was also baffled, but since the misunderstanding was resolved, it was fine.

Several people even comforted: “Thanks for your hard work.”

Zuri got up, scratched his head with embarrassment, but immediately ran over to take care of the old man.

At this time, a middle-aged man walked over quickly and said, “Dad! Are you okay?”

Behind him was Braxton.

Zuri, the nurse, quickly said, “Don’t worry, sir, I’m fine. I may have accidentally fallen because I was too sleepy during the vigil last night...”

A nurse helped her and said, “Yes, Zuri stayed on guard last night. We saw her busy when we were on the night shift.”

Another nurse also laughed and said, “So Zuri fell asleep standing up? It must be a dream, so I can say such absurd things as being pushed by other children.”

Zuri smiled embarrassedly, without making any excuses, and just wiped the old man’s saliva without saying a word, that’s called gentleness and meticulousness.

Susie was about to expose her when Braxton suddenly said, “That’s not necessarily true. I heard that the kid from the Murray family is quite strong and mischievous. How about pushing him out when the nurse confused?”

Braxton’s eyes darkened, and he looked at Susie with a secret sneer.

He wanted to curry favor with Mr. Knight, but he also thought about how to make Mr. Knight leave a bad first impression on the Murray family.

As a result, the kid was out of luck and fell into his hands!

Susie’s face tensed, and she was about to speak when she was interrupted by another voice:

“Braxton came as soon as he opened his mouth. What’s the matter, bullying my daughter has no backing?”

Kellen strode over with a food box in his hands, with a cold face: “This corridor is monitored, do you want to check the monitoring?”

A trace of panic flashed in Zuri's eyes when he heard the monitoring.

Braxton choked suddenly: "I'm just guessing, the nurse doesn't look like a liar."

Kellen sneered: "Does that mean my daughter lied?"

He gave the nurse Zuri a cold look.

Zuri quickly said, "It's just a fall, it's all my fault."

She always has an image of a good person in front of people, and said sincerely at the same time:

"Mr. Knight, I'm sorry, I will definitely pay attention in the future, and I won't fall asleep standing up again."

Braxton looked at the middle-aged man beside him: "Mr. Knight, look..."

The Murray family's bullying went to the head of the nurse hired by r Knight. Isn't this the same as directly bullying Mr. Knight?

Mr. Knight is very filial, whether it is a misunderstanding or not, let him not have a good impression of the Murray family first.

Just when Braxton thought that Mr. Knight would be cold to Kellen, he saw him snap: "Mr. Morton."

Braxton's heart skipped a beat.

18674

Mr. Knight knows Kellen?

Mr. Knight kept rejoicing at this time, fortunately, he took a look at Kellen from a distance and recognized him!

It's hard not to remember Kellen's appearance.

He frowned and said, "Braxton, don't talk nonsense without proof! If there is nothing wrong, Braxton should go back first!"

Then he looked at Kellen again: "Mr. Morton, I'm really sorry."

This time it was Braxton's turn to be dumbfounded.

Mr. Knight looked at him very badly, very badly!

Originally, he wanted Mr. Knight to have a bad impression of the Murray family, but it backfired and made Mr. Knight dissatisfied with him...

Braxton quickly said, "Mr. Knight, I'm sorry, I just cared about your father, so I didn't think too much about it for a while."

Mr. Knight didn't speak.

Kellen glanced at Zuri, the nurse, and walked down the donkey: "It's okay. But Mr. Knight has to be more careful about people."

Mr. Knight: "Yes, thank you Mr. Morton."

He almost cried from the bottom of his heart: Kellen's daughter was wronged, and he had to vent his anger even if there was nothing wrong with him, no one would give him any face!

But now she gave him a face!

As everyone knows, Kellen will definitely not check the monitoring, this sentence is just to scare people casually.

Even if he had to check the monitoring in the end, he could silence the monitoring in minutes.

35 68%

11 58

Just when everyone thought it was over like this.

Susie said suddenly: "But this aunt is really bad to grandpa. Uncle, you should change to another aunt."

Zuri was startled, and hurriedly said, "Don't talk nonsense..."

Susie's eyes were clear: "I didn't talk nonsense! Grandpa was drooling just now and wanted someone to wipe it off, but Auntie didn't care. I came to help Grandpa wipe up the drool. Auntie said I was nosy."

Zuri looked shocked: "I didn't!"

Everyone looked at Susie in surprise, this is impossible...

This nurse, Zuri, is known as a good nurse.

She has taken care of the paralyzed elderly in several families. Even if the elderly passed away in the end, she chased after her and gave her a pennant, full of praise for her.

Susie was very calm, grabbed Kellen's hand, and said, "Dad, they don't believe me..."

There was a hint of hostility in Kellen's eyes, but he was extremely gentle when facing Susie: "It's okay, I'll let them believe it."

He took out his mobile phone and called Zachary: "Zachary, come come over and check the surveillance for me."

Zachary across the phone: "?"

No, isn't it a quick thing if you want to check the monitoring? I still need him to go...

Immediately, Zachary immediately realized that it must not be easy to check this monitoring! For example, to cut out some key pictures or something.

"Okay, I'll be right over," Zachary said

Kellen hung up the phone: "I can't see my daughter being wronged, everyone come in and sit down!"

Mr. Knight was speechless.

Can this sit still??

Who dares to sit in front of him, it would be like sitting on pins and needles!

He gave Braxton an even more irritated look.

Braxton was speechless.

Braxton was very annoyed, and gave Susie a sneaky look – it was all her fault!

It doesn't matter to her whether the nurse is good or not? Anyway, Mr. Knight's father is going to be transferred to his nursing home.

It's all right now, after such a disturbance, Mr. Knight has a bad impression of him, so he may not be transferred to his nursing home.

Susie said: "Actually, it doesn't need to be so troublesome, we can let grandpa talk about it himself!"

Mr. Knight was stunned for a moment, and the old man was also stunned.

A nurse said embarrassingly: “You may not know, the old man is not in good health, he can’t speak now...”

My hands cramped, curled up, and shook so badly that I couldn’t even write.

Susie said, “I know, but I can cure Grandpa, it only takes one, two, three, four... a hundred minutes?”

Braxton suddenly smiled.

He was thinking about how to explain the old man’s condition in a logical manner, and when he mentioned that he had to go to his place for recovery, she sent him to his door again.

This time, he will definitely seize the opportunity, and he will never make any mistakes in the field of rehabilitation.

Braxton clasped his hands behind his back, shook his head and said, “A child is a child, let alone a hundred minutes, you can’t do it in a day or two or even a year or two!”

“He suffered from hemiplegia due to a stroke. We also know that hemiplegia is difficult to cure, and it is almost a lifelong regret... But our nursing home has a lot of research on hemiplegia and has very rich experience.”

“He has just been discharged from the hospital, and while the muscle memory has not been completely lost, he has been trained with professional and effective rehabilitation training methods. I dare to use my position to guarantee that he will be able to speak again within two years —at least, not Will be drooling again!”

He speaks eloquently and confidently!

Chapter 222 Susie gives the old man a massage

Braxton talked a lot, and he was confident that Mr. Knight would reconsider.

But Mr. Knight looked at his watch: “One hundred minutes... just over an hour, and I happen to be free.”

Braxton was speechless.

Dare he say this long paragraph in vain?

This set of rhetoric is very professional. Basically, after he finished this long paragraph, there will be no family members of patients who can’t handle it!

But Mr. Knight didn't look at him directly, but looked at Susie: "But what are you going to do? Will it be dangerous?" ~

Mr. Knight was willing to give Susie a try because of Kellen's face.

He had already figured it out, if Susie just beat her back and squeezed her legs, it didn't matter, then she could do whatever she wanted.

But if you take medicine or something, then absolutely not...

Although he has scruples about Kellen, he can't afford to trade his father for glory and wealth.

Just thinking about this, Susie took out a soft cloth bag from her schoolbag, which contained the things she needed.

"I'll give you a massage!"

"This won't work..." Mr. Knight said hastily when he saw the contents of the bag.

Braxton suddenly wanted to laugh again, thinking that he had no hope again and again, but Susie gave him hope again and again!

He shook his head with a stern face: "Kids know how to massage? It's so nonsense! Isn't this making your father suffer..."

Seeing Mr. Knight's expression of resolute disapproval, Braxton finally heaved a sigh of relief, and now he is stable.

"Mr. Knight, it's getting late, it's better to send the old man to the nursing home as soon as possible! We will have a professional rehabilitation team..."

Mr. Knight stood up, with a hint of regret in his eyes: "I'm really sorry, thank you for your concern."

It doesn't matter whether it is monitored or not, and the truth is not the truth.

The old man was a little anxious, he would rather die than live like this, and he was more willing to give Susie a try.

It's better than being picked up by outsiders.

Mr. Knight patted the old man's shoulder reassuringly, "Dad, don't worry, this is the best rehabilitation nursing home, and you will definitely get better."

The old man's eyes suddenly became desperate.

Braxton was so happy in his heart that he stood up and called on the phone: "Okay, I'll call someone up now."

Kellen said lightly: "Then I wish you a speedy recovery."

If you can't cure it, you can't cure it, not everyone is lucky enough to let his baby do it!

Suddenly Susie said: "Uncle, grandma told you to obey."

Mr. Knight was stunned: "Which grandma?"

17 34%

11 59

Susie: "Your mother!"

This time not only Mr. Knight was stunned, but Braxton was also stunned.

She didn't even know that her mother had passed away!

Mr. Knight smiled and was about to speak when Susie said: "Grandma said..."

The little guy put his hands on his hips, stretched his face, and stretched out his other finger to point: "If you dare not listen to her, I will dream of looking for you tonight, believe it or not! Let Susie give your father a massage!"

Susie continued to output: "I think you can't tell who is good and who is bad. You start to get confused when your mother is not here?"

Everyone was dumbfounded.

Only Mr. Knight and the old man stared blankly at Susie as if struck by lightning

Susie learned it perfectly, her staring eyes, movements, expressions, tone, and tone are exactly the same as his mother!

The most important thing is that Mr. Knight has a prominent status now, but few people know that when he was born, his family was poor and could barely support him. His parents gave him a humble name in order to allow him to live well— A cheap name is easy to feed.

Today, except for Mr. Knight's parents, almost no one knows his original name.

Braxton saw the shock on Mr. Knight's face and thought that Susie had offended Mr. Knight.

He frowned and said: "This is too rude, the dead are the most important, didn't your teacher teach you?"

Originally, he wanted to say that the parents didn't teach him well, but he changed his words abruptly when he thought that Kellen knew Mr. Knight.

Kellen's eyes turned cold.

Unexpectedly, before he could get angry, Mr. Knight raised his hand and slapped him: "Shut up!"

Braxton covered his face, stunned by the beating, completely unable to recover—

Mr. Knight hit him just now? Impossible, Mr. Knight is refined and polite, absolutely impossible to hit someone!

But I heard Mr. Knight say: "Miss Susie, then my father will entrust you!!"

Susie nodded, her small face was serious: "Don't worry~ Susie has been studying for half a year!"

Mr. Knight was busy, asked someone to take what he wanted, and personally sent the old man and Susie to the next ward.

Then he waited anxiously outside, waiting for Susie to finish her massage.

Braxton was at a loss.

How did this plot take a turn for the worse?

The development is wrong!

If a normal adult did this, others would definitely think it was professional, but now Susie's small appearance looks like she is playing.

The old lady next to her comforted: "Don't be afraid, I believe in the little girl."

Susie followed up and said, "Grandma said don't be afraid, trust the little girl."

The old man is not afraid, it will be better than now if he is cured, and he can see the old woman after death.

His eyes were cloudy with tears. He didn't believe in ghosts in the world before, but now he knows that she is always by his side.

outside the door.

Mr. Knight waited anxiously.

Braxton should have left, but he didn't believe a child could be massaged, and had to wait to see her make a fool of himself.

Kellen checked the time, more than an hour, enough time for him to check Braxton.

The time passed by every minute and every second, and it has exceeded one hundred minutes.

This floor is a VIP ward, if it weren't for everyone's scruples about their status, they would have to surround the door.

Now they are sitting at the door of the ward, pretending to breathe one by one...

"Why haven't you come out for so long..."

O

"Speaking of which, they are really relieved. They really let a child and an old man enter the ward by themselves..."

"Do you think there is a doctor hiding in the ward? Or are you saying that you can't get off the stage and just left quietly?"

Braxton listened to other people's whispers, the longer Susie didn't come out for a long time, the more at ease he felt.

The nurse Zuri is very smart, she doesn't say anything, and looks like she has been wronged – anyway, she doesn't believe that a child can massage.

Just then, the door snapped open.

The old man was leaning on the wheelchair, just like the one he just entered.

The first thing Zuri looked at was whether the old man was drooling. If it was drooling, it meant that nothing had been cured.

But the old man happened to look over, raised his hand tremblingly, pointed at her and said, "She's lying!"

The old man's voice was very weak, but it was like a thunderbolt, which stunned everyone!

"Isn't it?! Really cured!?"

"Impossible, absolutely impossible! Children can massage?"

"But he really spoke..."

At this moment, both Braxton and Zuri's brain nuts were buzzing, and a very bad feeling came to their hearts...

Chapter 223 Exposing & vil Deeds

The old man seemed very excited, and his panting became short of breath.

Susie patted him on the back: "Grandpa, don't worry!"

Only then did the old man let out a sigh of relief, and said, "This nurse is very bad!"

His hand was still trembling, but he refused to let it go, referring to Zuri.

"Watch at night? Bah! She just didn't support the bed frame, and slept on my bedside. As soon as she heard that someone was coming to check the ward, she immediately got up and pretended to check it for me."

"I'm drooling... I want her to wipe it off, but she looks impatient..."

"I fed food yesterday, and deliberately poured soup into my nose..."

"Change my clothes, take the opportunity to vent and pinch me, scratch me with your fingernails..."

The more the old man said, the more wronged he was, his face was full of excitement and grief, and his cloudy eyes widened a little.

Mr. Knight stared blankly at his father, he's really healed... really healed! ?

Zuri's heart went cold, she was shocked that the old man could speak suddenly, and even more panicked because of being exposed, she was so anxious that she couldn't say a word.

Mr. Knight's face was extremely ugly.

He never thought that the nurse who was selected after thousands of choices would be such a vicious person.

He also saw that Zuri came out of a nursing home, and thought that it wouldn't be so bad...

Mr. Knight thought of this, and gave Braxton a cold look.

Braxton has been stunned for a long time!

At this time, Zachary also came with a monitor, and he went to Kellen to say a few words.

Kellen nodded, and he immediately turned on the screen projection function of his mobile phone, and projected the monitoring screen to the TV screen.

In the monitoring screen, it was the old man who was drooling and screaming, and Zuri's eyes were full of disgust, and he was indifferent.

Then Susie went up, picked up a towel to wipe the old man's saliva, Zuri scolded her fiercely.

It's exactly what Susie said!

The monitoring stopped here. Although there is no picture of why Zuri fell out, but seeing her fierce expression, everyone subconsciously thought that she fell and framed Susie herself.

"This person is really too bad!"

"so horrible!"

"Fortunately, I didn't invite her... I'm afraid when I think about it."

Mr. Knight was livid with anger.

He was already very angry when he heard what the old man said, and he was even more angry when he saw it with his own eyes.

He made a phone call, and after a while several people came and took the nurse Zuri away.

Zuri kept yelling: "I was wrong, Mr. Knight, I was really wrong! I've been so tired for the past two days... Really, I'm not usually like this!"

No matter how much she yelled, Mr. Knight remained indifferent.

Panicked and regretful, Zuri broke free from the hands of those people and kowtowed. Unfortunately, Mr. Knight was unmoved, and she was still taken away in the end.

Susie looked at Kellen.

Kellen seemed to be able to see what she was thinking, and said: “Being kind to the wicked is doing evil to ordinary people. It’s just retribution, not worthy of sympathy.”

Susie nodded and stopped talking.

Dad is the best couple in the world, listen to Dad!

On the side, Braxton remained silent, trying his best to reduce his sense of existence, wishing to turn himself into air.

But I heard Kellen say: “If my daughter is unhappy today, don’t even try to run away.”

There was a flash on the TV, this time showing Braxton’s “Great Feats”.

The sanatorium was established seven years ago. It was originally a small sanatorium. Because it is located at the foot of a suburban mountain, with fresh air and rich negative oxygen ions, it has gradually become the first choice of the rich.

After Alana went to recuperate there five years ago, the Murray family invested a lot of money in it, and the nursing home developed by leaps and bounds, attracting countless investments, numerous research affiliations, and talents flocking...

Ever since, he became famous all of a sudden.

The dean was originally just a seller of rehabilitation and recuperation instruments, just because he graduated from a famous medical university and after he got up in a sanatorium, he quietly bought countless titles for himself, “advanced training” countless times, and published countless papers...

“Thirty-two papers in five years??” A doctor was shocked: “We can’t write a really rigorous paper in three years, okay?”

The screen flashed, showing evidence that Braxton’s dozens of papers were ghostwritten by his assistant.

The so-called expert name is also based on a few brothers from the same school and his expert professors.

What is even more shocking is that Braxton is also involved in pyramid schemes.

Based on the research results, Braxton has come up with a short-wave magic blowing device that looks like an electric fan. Blowing it can cure hemiplegia and stroke. It can make patients who have been paralyzed for ten years stand up, and even blowing it It can beautify the skin, remove dampness and detoxify... In short, there is nothing he can't do.

This short-wave god blowing is very popular in the market, with a first- level agent, how much money can you get for each agent—

The act of illegally obtaining wealth by developing personnel or requiring the developed personnel to pay a certain fee to obtain membership qualifications is suspected of pyramid schemes.

To sum it up in one sentence, a liar puts on a cloak of an expert and deceives everyone.

There was an uproar all around.

Braxton fell into an ice cellar.

All his details have been stripped out, and he will definitely not be able to continue in this line of work.

“Rumours... are all rumors!” Braxton said repeatedly.

Just when Martin came, he immediately looked at Martin: “If I am really like this, how can Mr. Murray rest assured that Alana will recuperate in our nursing home?”

Braxton looked at Martin eagerly as if looking at straws-hoping for him to let him go for the sake of taking care of Alana so hard all these years!

Everyone was also puzzled, yes, the Murray family is not ordinary

If Braxton was like this, why did Alana recuperate there for five years?

Martin's words answered everyone's doubts.

He said lightly: “The Su family is so big, who has the time to investigate an ant.”

When you buy a handful of vegetables, will you investigate the background of the aunt who sells vegetables?

In Martin's eyes, the nursing home is just a relatively large “nursing home”. Alana lives in the nursing home just to relax.

And that wasn't the case at the Braxton nursing home at first, and Alana has been well cared for there.

Everyone opened their mouths... ants, uh.

Braxton felt deeply humiliated. In the eyes of the Murray family, he was just an ant. He thought that at least he was also the benefactor of the Murray family!

In the dead silence, Susie's childish voice sounded: "So it's a fake, no wonder Susie always wants to talk back to this grandpa!"

So it's not that she's rebellious, she's still obedient, it's that this old man is too bad.

Braxton blushed. He was not a person with a deep background, so he behaved like a villain in every way. Now he was exposed in public, and he no longer has the face to stand in front of others.

"Okay... Okay, your Murray family has a great career, so what can you say? I admit it!" Braxton forced his respect, shook his sleeves and left.

Kellen: "Zachary, give him a treat, and by the way, give him a ten-year prison meal package, plus a pair of gold bracelets."

Zachary: "It doesn't seem luxurious enough, let's send a bucket and a pair of slippers! Send some good roommates by the way."

Braxton staggered and almost fell.

"You... you!"

He has already confessed, what else do they want!

Braxton was angry and aggrieved, unwilling and regretful, and almost vomited blood to death...

**

After Zuri was dragged away, her nursing qualification certificate was revoked, she was also blacklisted, and an announcement was made.

Even videos on popular platforms exposed her, completely cutting off the way out.

o

Zuri gritted her teeth and walked home, cursing as she walked, "Such a big family is against me, a petty citizen! Small belly!"

The Murray family is so rich, so why bother with her, a laborer who earns money through hard work?

When Zuri was full of resentment, suddenly a sack fell from the sky.

Before she could figure out the situation, she was severely beaten.

After a long time, those talents left...

Zuri tore open the sack tremblingly, startled and frightened.

She wanted to cry but had no tears, and dragged her almost broken leg towards her home.

This is an old complex with no elevators.

Enduring the severe pain, Zuri walked up step by step. The pain made her unable to straighten her neck, and she could only look at the stairs in front of her.

At this moment, a pair of feet suddenly appeared on the stairs in front of her eyes!

Zuri's pupils shrank suddenly...

Chapter 224

Zuri almost screamed, and suddenly raised her head – she saw an old man in old-fashioned black cloth standing in front of her, looking straight at her.

He was on crutches and his face was waxy.

This old man looks familiar, she seems to have seen it before.

But she didn't realize it, she thought it was an old man who ran out from a neighbor's house, and she yelled angrily: "Crazy! Standing here in the middle of the night without sleeping!"

Zuri cursed while patting her chest.

I was so startled that I twisted my feet, and the more I thought about it, the more angry I became.

"If you're in your seventies and eighties, you still come out to wander around in the middle of the night, so hurry up and die."

She held on to the handrail of the stairs and walked up. When she walked up to the old man, she cursed: "Get out of the way! Get out of the way."

The old man stepped aside slowly.

Zuri walked up while cursing, her house was on the fifth floor, her leg was broken and she dared not make a sound and had to climb the fifth floor, her heart was already very angry.

Finally, she went up to the corner of the stairs on the third floor, and saw an old man standing at the top of the stairs staring at her.

This time it was an old woman.

o

The old woman was even more exaggerated, wearing a white dress, which surprised Zuri again. she cursed again.

Today she was completely exposed, and the whole internet was full of voices scolding her, she didn't want to pretend anymore.

Passing by the old woman, Zuri glared at her.

At this glance, she suddenly found that the old woman was on tiptoe.

Zuri's heart skipped a beat-

How could an old woman still stand so firmly on her toes?

She glanced back, and found that the old man followed her at some point, just a few steps behind her.

Zuri suddenly became frightened. When did the old man come up? Why was there no sound at all... He was clearly on crutches!

Zuri's back was drenched in cold sweat, frightened to produce a medical miracle, dragging his broken leg and running fast!

Go home, she wants to go home!

Looking at the stairs going up one step at a time, Zuri just hoped not to see anyone else on it.

Who knows what to be afraid of more and more, before reaching the fourth floor, I saw another old man standing at the stairs on the fourth floor.

This time, the old man was wearing a hospital gown-whose old man still wears a hospital gown when he goes home, Zuri fully realized at this moment, she was damned.

Looking at the old man in hospital clothes in front of her, she fin remembered—

Isn't this the old man who was hospitalized last time, the one who just finished lung cancer surgery?

Zuri took a step back in fright, but a faint voice came from her ear: “You stepped on me.”

She turned her head abruptly, her hairs standing on end-that old man and old woman had come behind her again at some point!

She was about to run up, but when she turned around, she saw the old man in hospital clothes sticking in front of her again!

“Zuri, I’m coughing up phlegm... I’m so sick!” He said quietly, “Help me...”

Zuri seemed to smell the stinky stench...

Of course she did.

After this old man underwent lung cancer surgery, the doctor told him to cough up phlegm frequently.

As a nurse, she has to help the old man get up at least seven or eight times an hour, and pay special attention to his wounds... Who can do this?

Not exhausted?

So after the first day, she was lazy, and she didn’t pour out the phlegm she coughed the day before. When the doctor’s family members came, they said they had coughed up.

On the third day, the old man’s cough became worse and worse. He even woke her up when she was sleeping at night!

People who can’t sleep well at night, especially if they are woken up in the middle of the night, have a temper.

O

When she got angry, she pinched the old man’s ureter-the catheter was connected to the catheter bag after the operation and hung on the bedside, and the doctor would tell the catheter bag to be opened before it was full

Zuri squeezed the catheter bag, allowing the urine to flow back.

The next day, the old man died of acute infection.

The doctor himself said that if you can’t cough up phlegm, you are prone to infection. It is also a lung cancer operation, and death from infection. after operation is also very common. Although the family is very sad, they don’t think about other things.

[Noisy, noisy, let's see if you're still noisy! ] Zuri remembers that when the old man was carried away, she said that.

“ah.....”

Zuri screamed and ran wildly, but no matter how hard she ran, she couldn't reach the fifth floor.

She ran and ran, and every time she looked up, she found that she was either on the third floor or the fourth floor.

At every stairway, there will be an old man waiting for her.

From the first three, to the next five, eight, ten...

Zuri lost her legs from running, and curled up in the corner of the stairs in horror: “Don't come here, don't come here!”

When she was in despair, she suddenly found a little girl standing at the top of the stairs on the third floor—Susie!

“Miss Susie, help, help!” Zuri scrambled to get down.

But I couldn't climb to the third floor.

O

Susie pursed her lips and looked at her, and asked, “There is a grievance and a debtor. The grandparents will come to you because you killed them. Why do you do this? Do these grandparents have any grudges against you?”

Zuri squeezed the catheter bag, allowing the urine to flow back.

The next day, the old man died of acute infection.

The doctor himself said that if you can't cough up phlegm, you are prone to infection. It is also a lung cancer operation, and death from infection after operation is also very common. Although the family is very sad, they don't think about other things.

[Noisy, noisy, let's see if you're still noisy! ] Zuri remembers that when the old man was carried away, she said that.

“ah.....”

Zuri screamed and ran wildly, but no matter how hard she ran, she couldn't reach the fifth floor.

She ran and ran, and every time she looked up, she found that she was either on the third floor or the fourth floor.

At every stairway, there will be an old man waiting for her.

From the first three, to the next five, eight, ten...

Zuri lost her legs from running, and curled up in the corner of the stairs in horror: “Don’t come here, don’t come here!”

When she was in despair, she suddenly found a little girl standing at the top of the stairs on the third floor—Susie!

“Miss Susie, help, help!” Zuri scrambled to get down.

But I couldn’t climb to the third floor.

O

Susie pursed her lips and looked at her, and asked, “There is a grievance and a debtor. The grandparents will come to you because you killed them. Why do you do this? Do these grandparents have any grudges against you?”

788 Vouchers

Zuri’s face was pale, sweaty, and his pupils were dilated... It was scary to watch.

She cried: “No, no hatred...”

The old woman in white clothes said quietly: “Then why did you feed me shit and then smother me with a pillow...”

Zuri trembled in despair: “I didn’t mean it, I was just too tired, I didn’t mean it.”

Susie pursed her lips.

They all killed others, so there is no malice?

I only heard Zuri crying and saying: “Because the elderly are too difficult to take care of, I am very tired, but I have to earn money to live...”

Elderly people who are paralyzed in bed and unable to take care of themselves are actually a burden to their children.

Basically, out of ten families, seven or eight families are overwhelmed and exhausted because of this, and they also hope to be relieved as soon as possible, right?

That’s why she killed so many old people without being discovered.

Later, she felt that this matter was normal. After all, it was a burden. The children couldn't do it because of morality, so she did it to relieve them...

Maybe they were secretly grateful to her!

O

Susie's face was tense, "You have to make money to live, but you can't kill your grandparents!"

"Besides, the children of grandparents certainly don't want their grandparents to die."

Zuri cried and said, "I wasn't like this in the beginning, another senior of mine taught me this way. I really, I wasn't like this at the beginning..... I really didn't mean anything, really..."

Seeing that Susie was indifferent, she looked at the old people in front of her again: "Your children will be liberated after you die, otherwise you can't move when you are alive, and you are a drag on your children... Instead of dragging your children down and living without quality of life, why not go to What about death? You see, I am only thinking about your children..."

Susie couldn't understand what she said.

Ghosts are scary, but she discovered...some people's hearts are even scarier than ghosts.

She pursed her lips, and suddenly didn't want to care about the matter in front of her.

Originally, she should have persuaded these grandparents to leave and not to stay in this building anymore.

But she wants to leave now.

Susie did as soon as she thought of it, turned around and went downstairs.

Zuri was terrified and rolled down in a panic: "Miss Susie, Miss Susie!"

"Please don't go! Please save me!"

"Miss Susie, help me, don't you have the heart to die?"

"ah—"

Susie went downstairs and saw Kellen waiting for her.

There were screams from upstairs...

It was so loud that Kellen couldn't hear it, nor could the neighbors around him.

Zuri is chased and killed by the old people she killed.

The next day, those who got up early to work found a figure curled up in the corner of the stairs on the third floor, screaming in fright——

Investigators came and found that Zuri had died of exhaustion, had dragged his legs off, was drenched in sweat, and had sunken cheeks.

The news that Zuri was frightened to death quickly spread on the short video platform. Some people said that she had committed too many evils and was frightened to death by innocent souls.

Alana stayed in the hospital for three days, and under Susie's protection, she became more and more energetic.

This day Zachary came to Kellen for something, and after the conversation, he sat on the sidelines and fiddled with his phone.

He took care of all the surveillance and videos about Miss Susie's strength.

Susie sat on the sofa watching TV carefree, raised her hand and said, "Uncle, I don't want to watch this anymore, I want to watch SpongeBob SquarePants, can you change it for me?"

Zachary: emmm

o

"Okay!" He immediately ran over with a smile, looking for SpongeBob SquarePants for Susie.

Susie stood up on the sofa, and the little man put his arms around his shoulders with great effort, and patted him proudly: "Thank you uncle, I wish you a promotion, a fortune and a wife!"

12:03

Zachary was instantly overjoyed

"Hahaha! Let me borrow your good words."

He added silently from the bottom of his heart: As long as your father is stable and doesn't ask his superiors to resign every day, he will be happier than getting promoted and getting rich and marrying a wife.

Kellen took out his mobile phone: Okay, the baby said that he would give Zachary a promotion, a fortune and a wife.

Getting promoted and getting rich is easy to say, but marrying a wife? This is not his area of expertise.

Chapter 225

There was a knock on the door.

Susie turned her head and found that it was Mr. Knight, who was pushing the old man, and beside him was a man who looked like an assistant, carrying a large bag of fruit and a luxurious Barbie doll package.

He smiled and handed over the Barbie gift box and said, "Susie, this is for you."

Susie: "Wow, thanks uncle!"

Mr. Knight shook his head: "It should be me thanking you, my dad is much better."

He also found it miraculous, it was just a massage, and the old man's speech became more and more clear.

Susie smiled and said, "You're welcome! It's just a big piece of cake!"

Zachary silently corrected: "That's a small thing."

Susie nodded frantically.

Mr. Knight couldn't help laughing, and took a deep look at Susie.

What other people have done is eager to claim credit in front of him, but Susie seems to have done an insignificant thing.

In the past three days, he didn't even ask for anything.

That's right, with a background like the Murray family, Susie didn't need to please anyone at all. Maybe she just really felt sorry for the old man, so she reached out her hand.

In the past three days, he wanted to visit countless times, to see if Susie could give the old man another massage.....

But I am always embarrassed and feel that I am asking too much.

“Mr. Morton, Miss Susie, if the Murray family needs help in the future, I will definitely help you!” Mr. Knight looked at Kellen.

The old man and Mr. Knight have thin skins, so they are embarrassed to ask Susie to help with treatment.

But the ghost of the old lady beside him certainly hoped that his old man would be better.

So she said, “Miss Susie, can I beg you to treat my old man again?”

Susie, who was watching SpongeBob SquarePants, turned her head: “Ah, this is fine!” Say it earlier.

Susie sat on the sofa and said, “Grandpa, look at me!”

O

She pretended that she was unable to move in a wheelchair, and twisted her waist: “Come with me right, inhale, exhale, fart!”

~

three circles to the left, three circles to the Grandpa: “Ahem!”

Three circles on the left and three circles on the right are easy to say.

But fart... can't let it out!

How did the little guy manage to move freely???

Susie taught seriously for a while, her little face was covered with sweat.

“After you go back, you should practice regularly according to what I taught you!”

The old man grinned, but still struggled to speak: “Well, okay, thank you!”

He was very grateful from the bottom of his heart, Susie not only let him regain a bit of human dignity, but also let him see the old woman that day.

He died without regret.

Susie ran to the side and lay down on the tea table to draw again.

After finishing the drawing, hand it over to Mr. Knight: “You need to massage the old man according to these points. Susie has marked the order, so follow the order.”

Susie looked proudly at the little figure on the paper. There were many dots on the little figure, and numbers were drawn on each dot- fortunately, she learned to write from one to one hundred, which super powerful.

“It takes half a year to practice and massage the legs for half a year before you can get a massage!”

Mr. Knight looked at the conscientious Susie in front of him, cute and responsible.

After Mr. Knight and the others left, Alana woke up after a nap.

Recently, I really eat and sleep well, and I feel that my face is a little fatter.

“I gained three catties after staying in the hospital, I really accepted it.” Alana complained in her mouth, but her eyes were full of complacency.

It was her Susie who took good care of!

Her Susie is the best boa in the whole world!

“Also, can you stop the injection...” Alana glanced at the hanging needle on his wrist.

Even when she is old, she is still afraid of needles.

Craig was puzzled, with a cold expression on his face, and criticized: “The injection is for your own good, so let’s be satisfied that you can recover so well!”

Alana suddenly became angry

She grabbed the pillow and threw it on Craig, pointing to the door: “Get out!”

The old man looked puzzled.

What’s wrong with him?

The door was pushed open, and Susie poked her head in: “Grandma, you’re awake!”

Alana immediately became happy: “Susie, come here, grandma hugs you!”

Still her Susie is good!

As soon as Susie came, she felt more than half better!

12 04 D

Susie ran in and hugged Alana, and put the cloth bag aside by the way.

The cloth bag was opened, and inside were all kinds of silver needles.

The smile on Alana's face froze immediately.

can you?

Are you sure that such a long needle pierced her???

"Don't be afraid, it doesn't hurt at all, Susie already has practical experience a few days ago!"

Alana was speechless.

The old lady got out of bed in a panic: "I'm going to the toilet..."

Both Susie and Craig were staring at her...legs.

Craig said, "A medical miracle..."

Chapter 226 The Evil Nurse

Alana didn't want a massage, when Martin came in and asked, "What's going on?"

Susie said, "Uncle, grandma doesn't want a massage."

Martin looked at Alana with a serious face: "What about the promise?"

Alana was speechless, and was pushed onto the hospital bed just like that.

Holding the silver needle, Susie's face was serious: "Grandma, be honest!"

Alana thinks the massage takes a long time.

Susie was engrossed in the massage when Mitch returned with Clara.

The little guy is so cute, holding the silver needle, his little face unknowingly becomes very serious, making him look even cuter.

"My apprentice is amazing." Mitch looked at Susie's technique and praised: "I taught her the theory, but she seems to have practiced it."

Clara also nodded: "Of course my daughter is amazing, I gave birth to it."

Mitch was speechless.

Not long after, Alana had finished her massage and was lying on the bed hopelessly.

When she was massaging, she was quite strong and could hold her still.

Susie patted Alana with her hand: "Good boy, I'll be lighter next time."

Alana sat up, tried to lift her legs, and was surprised to find that her legs had much strength.

“Can I go?” she asked happily.

Susie waved her hand: “No, take a good rest for three days.”

Alana: “You can walk in three days?”

Susie: “Re-massage in three days.”

Alana was speechless.

Clara floated aside, couldn’t help laughing and said: “The old lady still refuses to see a doctor...”

When she was sick, the atmosphere at home was very quiet.

But Clara remembers that the atmosphere at home was very happy before she was diagnosed with leukemia, but everything began to change after she was hospitalized.

“That’s great, I haven’t seen your grandma like this for a long time.” Clara touched Susie’s little head: “Thank you for your hard work.”

Susie shook her head: “It’s not hard at all!”

Although her mother is a ghost now, Susie is very content.

Because she has parents, grandparents, uncles, and brothers and sisters around her...

She can also spend many, many days with her mother.

Martin walked in and said, “The discharge procedures have been completed, let’s go!”

Michael carried Alana to the wheelchair, and Craig took the wheelchair and pushed it.

Susie jumped up and down in front: “Go back! Alex and Grandpa Turtle must miss me very much!”

The whole family could not help but smile.

After the Murray family left.

An old man who just finished surgery was pushed to the VIP ward of Alana.

1 G

A nurse was busy, carrying urinals and stool basins, fetching hot water, and arranging hospital items neatly.

“Doctor, how is my dad...”

The doctor checked the old man and said: “I haven’t had anesthesia yet, but I told you before... Alzheimer’s disease... Take care...”

The family members looked sad.

The nurse stood by and listened carefully to the doctor’s orders.

After the doctor finished speaking, she quickly confirmed: “I have to expel phlegm every 20 minutes, and I can only eat liquid food. Can I drink liquid food, pork rib clear soup? Lean meat porridge is a bit thick, is it okay?”

The doctor said: “A little bit is fine, don’t eat too much.”

After he finished speaking, he looked at his family members: “You have also stayed up all day and night, and you should also pay attention to rest.”

A family member nodded.

They observed the nurse just hired for a day, she was very honest and caring, and she could write down everything the doctor ordered.

So they were very relieved, and went back to wash and rest for the time being.

After everyone left, the nurse first looked around the ward.

It was found that there was no monitoring or the like, and since it was a single VIP, there were no other patients or family members nearby.

She immediately threw the towel away, and sat there not wanting to move.

“Acting this day is really exhausting.”

Generally speaking, as soon as the patient is pushed back, a nurse or doctor will come to check every few minutes, especially the nurse, who will come very diligently at the beginning.

So she could only look at the sofa outside with greedy eyes, and she could only sit by the hospital bed to rest at this time.

The towel just dropped by the nurse just happened to cover the old man’s face, pressing down the old man’s oxygen tube, and the unconscious old man struggled instinctively.

The cardiopulmonary monitor beeps.

The nurse sneered, took out his mobile phone with great interest, and took pictures of the old man, smiling in a low voice while taking pictures:

“Look, he was covered by a towel, struggling like this, just like the chicken I killed during the Chinese New Year!”

After taking a picture, she put away her phone and posted it in a group.

I saw that most of the videos and pictures in the group are bloody...

When the nurse watched her video being praised, her eyes glowed green.

No one saw that there was a ghost lying on her head...

mobile

The door outside creaked, and the nurse immediately put away phone, picked up the towel on the old man's face, and pretended to wipe his face.

While quietly taking the detector from the old man's finger.

12:05

The old man's face turned red, and he took a few breaths unconsciously.

The nurse came in, checked the old man quickly, and asked, “Did something happen just now? The monitor has been alarming.”

The nurse said blankly: “No, right? I just wiped the patient's face and hands...”

The nurse looked at the old man's hand and found that the monitor had fallen off.

“Hey, you can't take this off when you wipe your hands. This is to monitor the patient's breathing, heartbeat and blood pressure. You can't be careless just after the operation!”

The nurse apologized again and again: “I'm sorry, I don't know...”

The nurse checked again and confirmed that the patient was fine before going out.

Only then did the nurse lose face, and muttered, “It's really annoying.”

The evil ghost was lying behind her, biting her neck, sucking something like blood...

The nurse felt a sore neck and raised her hand to rub it.

Chapter 227

Murray family estate.

Zion slumped on the sofa, looked outside boredly, and then looked back at the turtle in his hand

“It’s so boring...” He turned the tortoise upside down on the table and turned it around.

Alex stood on the banister, fluttering his wings and squawking.

Zion glanced at the fully fledged, green parrot.

“It’s just that you have wings, I can’t catch you.” Zion said, “Otherwise, I’ve already plucked all your hair!”

Alex flew outside: “I’m male, I’m male!”

Zion was speechless.

Wade, who was tinkering with a fishing net, laughed loudly: “Zion, is there something wrong with you, you want to pull out a bird.”

Hamza looked up at him quietly, and said lightly, “It’s rare that I didn’t play the game. Are you waiting for Susie?”

After a pause, he added: “As for?”

There will always be a sound when Susie comes back, as for them stretching their necks here and so on.

Zion was pierced, and snorted: “I’m bored in the room, can’t I come out and play with the turtle?”

Hamza sneered.

Wade asked Hamza back: “Aren’t you waiting too?”

Hamza didn’t raise his head: “I’ve been sitting here reading a book, who’s waiting?”

Lucy ran out of the kitchen grabbing a chicken leg, “Huh? What are you talking about? Susie is back?”

Zion rolled his eyes: “Your hearing is close to half-deaf.”

Lucy turned around and ran out again: “Susie is coming back!”

But as soon as she ran across the lawn, she saw a few cars driving outside. Susie really came back!

As soon as Susie got out of the car, the first thing she saw was Alex who rushed over: “Help! There are hooligans trying to strip me!”

Immediately after, a chicken leg was thrown into her mouth: “Here, here you go, eat!”

Susie: She looked dazed.

Before she could even react, a bird stood on its head, with an extra chicken leg in its mouth.

Susie subconsciously picked up the chicken leg and took a bite: “Wow, it’s so delicious!”

Lucy said proudly, “That’s right, I baked it with salt!”

Zion pretended to chase after Alex, and ran out: “You dead parrot, stop for me... Hey, Susie, you’re back!”

Susie: “What are you doing?”

Zion pointed at Alex on her head: “I’m scratching it.”

Susie, Lucy, and Zion chatted suddenly.

Susie didn’t know what to say, and waved: “Go, follow me!”

16.78%

o

The little guy now has two more little followers, and these two little followers are still her older brothers and sisters...

The three of them ran to the main building in a hurry.

With one hand in his pocket, Wade walked out very “reservedly”, and was about to speak.

But seeing Clara rushing in, she sighed, “Ah... it’s better to be at home!”

Seeing Wade, she even stroked his hair: “Hello, little Wade!”

He kneaded while talking, and then passed through his face and flew into it.

Wade felt that Clara’s hand was like ice, mist, and knife, and he couldn’t help shivering.

Help!

The dead aunt suddenly attacked me!

Alana was discharged from the hospital, the house was full of joy, and the smell of chicken was everywhere.

“Dinner is ready!” Kellen yelled.

Susie ran to the side and lit a stick of incense, and inserted the incense into the mud outside the building, facing the main building entrance.

Then he and Ada brought out the chicken, put it on the table, and worshiped the ancestors first.

The smell of chickens suddenly lingered in the yard, which felt like Chinese New Year!

Susie regretted: “There is only one string of firecrackers left, if there is another string of firecrackers, it will be perfect!”

25 704

The firecrackers sound like the New Year!

Suddenly a firecracker was thrown over, followed by a crackling sound!

The children were so scared that they ran away!

Michael laughed loudly: “Uncle is here, isn’t it just shooting?”

Susie was anxious: “Fifth Uncle, are you making a surprise attack?”

Smiling, Michael picked up Susie and carried it on his shoulders.

At the dinner table, Susie still made a bowl of rice first, and arranged the meat and vegetables in an orderly manner.

Then stick the chopsticks on top of the rice.

“Mom, eat!” She put the rice aside.

Alana looked at Susie worriedly, the little guy missed his mother again?

But I saw Michael also put vegetables into the bowl: “Eat more, eat more!”

Martin suddenly picked out the cilantro that was stuck in the chicken – Clara didn’t eat cilantro.

Alana glared at Martin and Michael.

Children fool around, and they fool around too!

On the side, Clara acted as if she couldn't hear anything, and hushed and ate by herself.

A bowl of food quickly loses its taste...

With a wrinkled face, Susie quietly looked through her wallet.

She quickly brought the cold and tasteless meal in front of her, and pushed her small bowl over, sticking her chopsticks into the rice.

55 25%

Clara: "Hey, there are more!"

Susie's little face was somewhat tangled, and she pinched her fingers and counted secretly.

Mom needs to eat a chicken for a meal, at least 200 yuan a day, a month

Is...a year is...

Ah, she can't afford to support her mother more and more!

Seeing that Clara had "eaten" all that could be eaten, Susie opened her small wallet painfully, and there was only 200 yuan left in the red envelope!

The adults chatted about something at the dinner table. They said that a friend's father was hospitalized, and he would go to see him after he was discharged. Martin said that he could go on behalf of the Murray family, and there were not so many people needed...

Looking back, Susie looked at him eagerly and said, "Uncle, I'm going too."

Martin wanted to refuse, but he was stunned and turned into one word:

"Okay."

For Susie, I really don't speak principles at all...

**

Three days later, Alana massaged again.

o

I don't know if it's her illusion, but I always feel that this massage is more painful than the last one.

But Susie said it was normal, so she had no choice but not to ask.

Alana finally understands to be afraid – after a few days of massaging, her legs have become more and more useless, and she could still stand up anyway, but now she can only lie on the bed, her whole body hurts.

Susie also seemed to be struggling, her forehead was covered with sweat, and her little face was also flushed.

“Susie, if it doesn't work, let's forget about it?”

Susie raised her head immediately: “No? Who said I can't? Stand up!”

Alana was speechless.

Looking at Susie, Alana said: She can't stand up either!

Then I met Susie for a massage, and the speed was getting faster and faster.

Alana immediately regretted it!

She shouldn't have said the word 'no'!

Susie looked at it with satisfaction: “Look, grandma, I'm super powerful.”

Craig held the newspaper and pretended to read it, the corners of his lips pursed into a straight line.

Alana wiped off her sweat, her lips trembling: “Amazing..... Our Susie is the most amazing!”

Unexpectedly, after the massage, Susie lay down beside her and fell asleep!

Just leave her alone?

Clara was watching, and Susie told Martin that today's silver needles would be kept for an hour. She knew that her mother and uncle would wake her up, so she fell asleep with great care.

Alana: “Susie...”

Susie rolled over.

Alana: “Susie...”

Susie was dazed and grabbed the pillow and rolled to the side, sleeping with a look of 'don't disturb me'.

Craig said: "Susie is tired from massaging, you let her rest for a while."

12:06

Alana had nowhere to vent, and when she caught Craig, she said, "You're the only one, what else can you do besides just sit and watch you!"

No. he didn't say anything this time, why was he still scolded?

He doesn't know how to massage either, what else can he do other than watch

Martin came in with the medicine and said in a low voice. "Susie told me to rest for an hour."

He looked at the time: "I've already set the alarm clock."

Alana closed her eyes and passed out....

Martin's heart tightened.

But Alana soon started snoring lightly.

Martin was speechless.

Craig was speechless.

Fifty minutes later. Susie was called out by Clara and Martin at the same time

She yawned, her eyes were blurred, and she was still a little bit out of focus.

Martin looked at her helplessly, he knew the little guy would be in a daze, so he set aside five minutes for her to recover

It was almost time before he said, "Susie, it's time to start."

Susie: "Oh oh oh!"

She looked and saw that grandma was still asleep.

o

The little guy's eyes lit up: "It's just right, finish it while grandma is asleep.”

This way grandma won’t be nervous.

Craig’s newspaper had long since been put down.

No one noticed, Alex poked his head in.

Seeing that the atmosphere seemed a little tense, it tilted its head to observe.

As soon as Susie took the last step, Alex yelled: “It’s on fire! It’s on fire!”

Alana was awakened, opened her eyes suddenly, turned over and ran outside: “Where is the fire?”

Martin and Craig stared in astonishment at Alana who ran out.

Susie was also dumbfounded.

Just before the massage, she asked the master, “After this massage, will grandma be able to stand up tomorrow?”

The master said contemptuously that he couldn’t do it tomorrow because he could walk quickly after the massage.

Now Susie finally believed it!

Alana found out that she had been cheated, and looked at Alex angrily when she returned: “Alex, I stewed you!”

Alex fluttered to Susie’s shoulder: “Don’t stew me, don’t stew me

Alana was speechless.

She’s letting it go in the kitchen now!

Susie pointed at Alana’s leg: “Look, grandma!”

Alana lowered her head, was stunned for a moment, and immediately stretched out her hand: “Help me, I’m suddenly afraid of heights.”

She was able to stand up now, standing up firmly, unlike the feeling of emptiness some time ago... On the contrary, it made her feel a little unrealistic!

Craig supported her and asked, “Susie, can your grandma walk a few steps?”

Some time ago, Susie and that Braxton were fighting each other. He remembered that Susie said that she could not exercise after recovering.

Susie put away the silver needle and said, “Okay, grandma can walk tonight!”

I didn’t fall that much before, but now I can dance!

Craig secretly breathed a sigh of relief, and immediately let go of Alana: “Susie said you can walk, take two steps, it’s okay to take two steps.”

Craig swears he was really thinking about Alana’s lap when he said that.

But he didn’t want to be scolded by Alana again: “You just take two steps if you have nothing to do!”

Accompanied by the family, Alana walked a few steps carefully.

Then go faster and faster, very happy.

“I can really go?” Alana was delighted: “I can really go!”

A few days ago, she was able to walk, but she had to hold on to something. If she didn’t, she would walk very slowly, with an indescribable sense of powerlessness.

Now it is different, now she feels that she is standing firmly, and it is no problem to run a few kilometers!

Chapter 228 Alana Stands Up

Michael was so shocked that his mouth opened into an O shape. Susie said that massage could make grandma stand up, but he still didn’t really believe it.

Unexpectedly, he actually stood up.

After dinner, Alana took a pair of red fans and couldn’t wait to lead the whole family out.

“Don’t run away, go dance with me!”

Really, Alana was so happy that she didn’t know how to express the joy in her heart, so she went to the park to dance.

Alana danced happily, and forced Craig to take a small video of the whole process and send it to the family.

Ever since, Paul, who had just completed a flight mission, turned on his phone, which vibrated non-stop. He quickly opened and took a look—

I was stunned on the spot!

Is it his mother who is dancing in this series of more than a dozen short videos??

Jonathan, who was catching up on sleep and preparing for filming at night, was awakened by the vibration. During his rest, he blocked everyone's information, except for his family members——

He clicked the family group to look, and sat up from the bed in an instant sober.

This red-faced old lady is his mother??

After rescuing a patient, Ryan sat down exhaustedly and took out his mobile phone before he had time to read the message just now——

As a result, I saw Alana jumping 18 short videos in a row.

Alana Stands Up

With a ding-dong, Craig sent out another new one.

The whole group was silent.

The latest clip shows Alana drinking water during the intermission, and said with a radiant look: "Did you see it? I can stand up and dance! All this is due to Susie."

Alana's eyes were proud: "Susie massage cured me, our Susie is really a little blessing!"

Susie massage?

Susie made the old lady stand up?

All the brothers of the Murray family were stunned and unbelievable!

Michael: [Brothers, why are you still standing there, brag! ]

Kellen: [Who cured the old lady so well? Oh my daughter, that's all right.]

Everyone in the Murray family was speechless.

Martin: [like]

David: [like]

Paul: 【It's amazing. Susie too... was amazing! 】

Jonathan: [Our Susie has nothing to say, she is actually a little genius doctor! 】

Ryan: [The focus is on our little baby... Susie, would you like to take the chief physician exam with me? 】

Humanoid camera Craig: [Sent a new video] (Continuing 360-degree shooting without dead ends)

Holding the phone, Susie found a picture.

Their little boy can send messages!

Martin's eyes were soft, and he chose a small video of the old lady dancing and the family at the same time, and sent it to Moments.

In less than two seconds, a lot of people replied.

[Seeking a doctor!]

[Which old genius doctor is it, with unrivaled medical skills, amazing! ]

[Seeking introduction!!]

【Please introduce +1】

[Please introduce +2】

The Jones family had just taken Elder Mr. Jones out of the hospital, all of them looked sad.

The old man is sure that he is really demented, he is unconscious, his eyes are dull, and he can't even eat, drink and go to the toilet normally.

After staying for a few days, I was able to eat and sit up after being discharged from the hospital, but the doctor said that I could not stand up on my legs.

At this moment, the eldest son of the Jones family, who had no focus on Moments, suddenly found Martin's news.

He widened his eyes and subconsciously stood up.

Alana can stand up?

o

He hurriedly wanted to call Martin, but he saw that Martin just sent a message: [I heard that your father has been discharged from the hospital. I plan to visit tomorrow. Are you free? ]

The eldest son of the Jones family's hands were shaking, and he quickly replied: [I'm free, as long as you come, I'm free anytime! ]

Chapter 229

The old men of the Murray family and the old men of the Jones family had some friendship in the past. When the Murray family and the Jones family were doing business, Martin and the eldest son of the Jones family were also considered old friends.

At this moment, Matthew wished he could take the old man to the Murray family immediately, but when he thought that the old man had just been discharged from the hospital, he forcibly endured it.

the next day.

Martin brought Susie to visit. Matthew was waiting outside the door early, but Martin brought a child.

Matthew only saw her once when Susie was on her birthday. At this time, he took a quick look at Susie, told his family to take good care of Susie, and then hurriedly took Martin to the study.

Susie sat obediently on the sofa and looked at the Jones family curiously.

Clara said from the side: "He and your grandfather are friends."

Susie was immediately full of admiration for the old man of the Jones family whom she had never met.

She turned her head and asked, "Auntie, can I go and see my grandfather?"

It was Matthew's daughter-in-law Olivia who took care of her. S. liked Susie from the bottom of her heart.

Many children like to look here and there when they are in other people's homes, and even cause damage, but Susie really sits quietly, with her hands on her knees obediently, and no one can't help liking it when she sees it.

"Okay!" Olivia said: "But just now, my aunt just pushed the old man out to relax, and he is in the garden, let's go!"

Susie nodded, which melted Olivia's heart, and the tiredness and tiredness of many days disappeared.

in the garden.

The nurse knew that the Jones family had a visitor, and it was said that it was someone from the Murray family.

Matthew asked her to push the old man out to relax, presumably to have a good chat with Mr. Murray!

So the nurse thinks that no one will come to her. They talk about things and receive guests. Will they come in a while.

The old man was dumbfounded, like an old child, he also wanted to eat nuts or something, he stretched out his hand and said something indistinctly.

The nurse glared at him.

Like a prank, she suddenly grabbed the nut shell in her pocket and threw it at the old man's head.

The old man was so frightened that he quickly closed his eyes.

The nurse held the mobile phone with a smile, grabbed a big mouthful of nuts, chewed them in his mouth, and then spat them out: "Come on, your teeth are bad, I'll chew them for you."

She spat out a large chewed nut on the slipper, and even grabbed handful of sand and sprinkled it on the nut.

"I even added salt to you, eat it!"

The old man is demented now, so he doesn't know what is clean or not.

When the nurse gave him food, he took eyes like a child.

Joy

The nurse took pictures with his mobile phone and laughed: "Everyone, look at this old stupid donkey. He is so old and demented that he doesn't understand anything. He even wants to eat the nuts I spit out."

"The old man is really dirty and disgusting!"

"I'm still too kind. I should have peed a little more just now."

There was malice in the nurse's eyes, watching the old man grab the handful of chewed nuts and stuff them into his mouth...

o

Just as the handful of nuts were about to be stuffed into the old man's mouth, something flew over and hit the old man's wrist with a snap.

The dirty thing in the old man's hand suddenly fell off and sprinkled all over his body.

The old man also screamed in fright.

The thing fell on the soft grass of the flower bed, rolled around twice and turned out to be a turtle.

The tortoise turned over proficiently as if it was used to it, and lay motionless on its stomach.

Alex in the pet bag poked his head out and shouted at the top of his voice. The corner of Mitch's mouth twitched.

Olivia stared blankly at Susie and the noisy parrot, then at the turtle, completely unresponsive.

She was startled when her eyes fell on the old man, and ran up in a hurry.

I saw some dirty things all over the old man's body.

Olivia quickly helped him take the picture, and asked, "Dad, are you okay?"

The old man grabbed his wrist, looked at Olivia aggrieved, and said something in his mouth.

The nurse was so frightened that she didn't even notice when Olivia came!

She didn't have time to turn off the phone, so she put it in her pocket, and he hurriedly stepped forward to help the old man clean it up.

"Ah... Ma'am, I'm sorry! I went to the toilet in a hurry just now. I saw the old man greedy for nuts for a long time, so I secretly brought some out for him..."

nons

"I didn't expect that he would make himself like this..."

The nurse looked guilty.

The master preconceived that she was good, and she hinted that she felt sorry for the old man who secretly brought him snacks – generally speaking, the master would not be too suspicious.

Unexpectedly, a childish voice sounded: "Auntie, you are lying!"

The nurse was taken aback and looked at Susie who was beside her.

Where did this come from?

She made a blank look: "I don't have it, this... kid, don't talk nonsense!"

Chapter 230

The nurse didn't see Olivia for the first time just now, because she also firmly believed that Olivia didn't see her at the corner of the garden.

Just don't admit it!

As for what a kid said, can you believe it?

Olivia's face was very bad. After hearing Susie's words, she was suddenly not sure what the nurse was going to do.

She had no choice but to say: "The old man's mind is not clear. It's not that you won't be allowed to go to the bathroom, but you can push the old man back before you go! You go back and forth for at least ten minutes. What if something happens to the old man?"

The nurse looked annoyed: "Yes! I was too careless, Ma'am, I'm sorry, I will definitely pay attention next time... No, no, there will never be a next time!"

Susie stared at the nurse and said clearly, "You didn't go to the toilet just now, you were holding something to feed the old man."

19.35%

Although she didn't see it clearly, but mother saw it clearly!

Master saw it clearly.

Both mother and master asked her to quickly stop the old man's movements, so she threw Grandpa Turtle out.

And she also saw clearly that this aunt has ghosts on her head!

The master said, this ghost is called a black heart ghost, if he can be stalked by a black heart ghost – then this aunt must not be a good person.

When the black-hearted ghost saw Mitch, his first reaction was to run, but Mitch pinned him on the head of the nurse.

The nurse was very annoyed in his heart, and could only show a confused expression on his face: "He's just eating nuts...he didn't eat anything."

Susie pointed to the slipper that fell under the old man's feet: "First, auntie, your slipper is under grandpa's feet, don't you just wear one slipper to go to the toilet?"

The nurse was speechless.

Susie pointed to the nut skins all over the floor again: “Second, grandpa doesn’t know how to eat nuts, but these nut skins are very clean.”

The nurse was speechless.

Susie pointed to the lump of nut paste on the ground again: “Third, if grandpa eats nuts by himself, he shouldn’t be able to eat the nuts cleanly while chewing the nuts, spit them out and eat them again? And this nut paste has The sand goes together.”

O

The little guy directly copied what his mother said, and said that he also learned it...

The nurse was anxious and looked like he had been wronged. He stuttered and showed his honesty: “Well, I don’t know what’s going on! My slippers, didn’t I just run too fast and my shoes flew away? ...”

39.22%

12 09 i

“And I peeled the nuts for the old man at the beginning, so the skins of the nuts are clean... Maybe after I went to the toilet, he grabbed it and ate it himself in a hurry?”

Olivia frowned: “What about the sand in the nut paste?”

The nurse opened her mouth: “Maybe it fell on the ground, but the old man picked it up again...”

Susie looked like a little adult, and shook her head seriously: “Auntie, look at it? There are flaws in lying. How can grandpa pick things up in a wheelchair? You can’t bend down to pick things up in a wheelchair!”

When my grandma was in a wheelchair, she couldn’t pick up things by herself if she dropped them, they were all picked up by others.

So it’s impossible for Grandpa to drop the nutmeg and pick it up again.

Susie looked at Clara, her eyes seemed to speak: Right, Mom?

Clara gave a thumbs up: “My baby is so smart, he learns so fast!”

Olivia frowned and said, “Yes, this is absolutely impossible.”

This time the nurse couldn’t find a reason at all.

She had a look of “I have a reason but I can’t explain”, and she was so anxious that she kept saying, “I really don’t know, this, this, this...what’s going on, why don’t you check the monitoring? ”

The nurse dared to check the monitoring because she had stepped on it in the past two days and knew where the Jones family could not be captured by the monitoring.

Olivia sneered: “Okay, then check.”

Matthew and Martin were alarmed, and when they came out, Olivia had already told someone to check the monitoring.

Matthew frowned: “Is there some misunderstanding?”

This nurse was selected by him from a large professional company. She has received many awards and has been certified by the industry.

Olivia said: “If it’s a misunderstanding, just check the monitor!”

Martin’s tone was light, but he was extremely firm on Susie’s side: “Our Susie won’t lie.”

Matthew didn’t say anything more.

Surprisingly, when the surveillance was called out, this corner of the garden did not happen to be photographed...

The nurse’s eyes turned red, and she said aggrievedly, “Forget it, those in our profession are often misunderstood by the master, we are all used to it...”

She looked at Susie with a helpless tone: “Maybe this kid is wrong, but it’s okay, it also made me reflect on myself, I was indeed careless, it was my fault.”

Susie was speechless.

Clara spat indignantly: “Bah! You’re in your forties or fifties, and you’re still doing this! What a bad luck!”

Mitch squinted slightly, and said softly, “Susie, check her phone

Susie immediately turned to look at Martin: “Uncle, check her cell phone.”

The nurse’s heart skipped a beat, and she panicked for a moment...