

Eight Uncles 100

Chapter 100 He's the Grandson of the MacNeil Family

Everyone in The MacNeil family was thrilled.

Only one of the young men hesitated and asked, "Grandpa Jerome, don't you feel it strange why Chief MacNeil suddenly agreed to come?"

The young man named Rylee MacNeil was the son of Jerome's younger brother.

Rylee came to Clodston to develop and live with the MacNeil family.

Jerome twirled his beard and answered indifferently, "We're all surnamed MacNeil. It's normal for Chief MacNeil to come."

No matter why, it's fine as long as he comes!

Rylee shook his head again. "I always feel something strange about Chief MacNeil. He even embarrasses the deputy. I wonder why he agrees to come."

Giuliana stared at Rylee. "Rylee, why did you always think badly? Why can't Chief MacNeil come to celebrate my birthday?"

We're the family members of a first-class hero! Shouldn't Chief MacNeil come to celebrate my birthday?

Davion solemnly said, "Rylee, don't guess nonsense!"

Rylee shut up immediately but could not hide his resentment.

He thought Jerome's family was all useless. They were lucky enough to snatch Erick's honor. If Erick's first-class merit glory fell on him, he would have been wealthy.

Tristan MacNeil, the grandson of The MacNeil family, rolled his eyes thoughtfully.

Although Rylee failed the public examination for several years, Tristan knew Rylee was capable.

So Tristan pretended to ponder, then said, "Grandpa, I think it strange too. It's better to be more cautious."

Hearing what his grandson said, Jerome thought it made sense.

"Cruz, go check it out."
